that can be played with Harem Skirts or anything of that sort. He spoke of the age of the game, and how easily it had originated, stating that it was played sixty or seventy years B.C. He quoted a number of ancient verses to prove the fact.

He informed them that the Association was formed in Peterborough, for the reason that there were few people in the city but believed that talent existed in it. The hopes they cherished were carried out to the full extent. The first year, they established a City Championship, and at the end of the year 1909, this was successfully carried through. This year they hope to carry out the former events with an additional event for the ladies. Any person could play who had the willingness to do it. He also hoped that this year they might add a men's doubles, or a mixed doubles. He thought that they should have separate courts, where the city Inter-Club matches could be played, but at present the Club does not possess the funds to purchase these.

Mr. W. Wood, Treasurer, was absent, and in his absence Mr. Cluxton presented his report, which showed a receipt of $30.45, and disbursements of $26.75, leaving a balance of $3.70. Mr. Cluxton also made a number of kind remarks regarding the press of the city, in which he thanked them for, what he termed, their liberal support of the Club.

CAPT. H. CLUXTON,
Hon. President Peterborough Lawn Tennis Club.

Mr. Burnett then presented the Club Cup to Mr. S. Hall, the Y. M. C. A. representative. He stated that he was pleased to be present and witness the second year of the Peterborough Lawn Tennis Club. In his opinion tennis was the finest outdoor sport there is. It was indulged in in Europe in the fifteenth century, and was introduced into England about that time. At that time they used their hands instead of racquets, as they do now. The square courts and racquets of to-day are only about thirty years old. It was introduced into the United States in 1874, and had shown remarkable developments since 1880.

Mr. Hall stepped forward and received the cup, and made an appropriate speech, in which he thanked Mr. Burnett for the kind words he had said about the Y.M.C.A. He was of the opinion that they could supply two teams this year, and expressed the belief that if any other club was going to win the Cup, they would have to "play some."

Mr. Cluxton informed them that the Collegiate Institute and West End Club were going to drop out this year. He thought that Mr. Burnett's remarks were to the point.

He then asked Mr. F. D. Kerr to present the City Championship cup to Mr. W. Landry, which he did in a very amusing speech. Mr. Landry made a few suitable remarks as he accepted the cup.

Mr. Myers was not present to receive the cup, which he won last season.

Mr. R. J. Devey was called upon to present the lady's prize to Miss Marguerite Burnett. She was not present, but Mrs. Burnett received the prize on her behalf. Mr. Devey presented the prize, with a neat speech, in which he asked Mrs. Burnett to express to her daughter the appreciation of the Club of her efforts in the field, and their pleasure at presenting the prize.

Mr. Nat Greenhalgh proposed a toast to the ladies. It was responded to by Mr. Devey, speaking on behalf of the ladies.

Rev. Mr. Carpenter proposed a toast to the Press. It was duly responded to by representatives of the three local papers.

Election of Officers.

The following is the list of officers elected for the present season:

Honourary President—Mr. Cluxton.
President—Mr. S. Hall.
Vice President—Mr. G. A. Smith of St. John's Tennis Club.
Secretary—Mr. Gerald Hall.
Treasurer—Mr. Fred Cressman.
Representative at Ladies' Tournament—Mr. R. J. Devey.

Mr. F. D. Kerr moved a resolution of thanks to Mr. H. B. Collier, as President of the Club. He requested that the Club send a letter to Mr. Collier, expressing their regret at his removal to Toronto. This was seconded by Mr. R. J. Devey. Mr. Cluxton's name was also included in the vote of thanks, at the request of one of the members present. Mr. F. D. Kerr was given charge of the matter of arranging matches with outside teams.

The Secretary's report showed 52 entries in the Men's Singles and seven clubs entered.

This very profitable, enthusiastic and enjoyable dinner and entertainment was brought to a close by singing the National Anthem.

CRITICS CALL HILLIARD LANG BEST BOY IN WORLD AT HIS WEIGHT

Toronto Sportsmen Would Eagerly Subscribe to a Fund to Back Him Against Any 142 Pound Man on the Map---Toronto Boy Who Meets Joe Lannon Here on Friday Has Improved Wonderfully.

That Peterborough fight fans will have the treat of their lives in the bouts at the Grand Opera House on Friday night under the auspices of the Peterborough Athletic Club is certain. In addition to the appearance of Hilliard Lang against Joe Lannon and of Tommy Sturch, there will be two other grand bouts, in all, twenty-one rounds of clever boxing. Lang and Sturch were the headliners at Hamilton on Monday night and listen to what Lou Marsh has to say in the Toronto Star, concerning the programme on that occasion:

Toronto boxing fans only turned out 2500 strong for the excursion to the Hilliard Lang-Paddy Lavin bout at Hamilton last night, but the stay-at-homes get the "Ha! Ha!"

Any man who went up to Hamilton last night and did not get his money's worth, with the two bouts put on, should be sent to a young ladies' seminary to learn crocheting.

Two better bouts have not been put on on this side of the line in years. The semi-wind-up, an 8-round affair at 133 pounds, between Billy Turley of Toronto, and Tommy Sturch of Toronto, rivalled that famous little struggle between Willie Hughes and Fred Lansdowne at the National show, while the Lang-Lavin muss was the same slashing go everybody predicted.

A Close Thing.

The Lavin-Lang bout went the limit and therefore there was no decision under the rules, but, at the same time, while a fair and popular decision would have been a draw, if a man were compelled to render a verdict he must have handed the award to Lavin.

Lavin had only a shade the best of it—just enough to vary the balance, that's all—but he had it.

The battle brought home to Lang's many Toronto friends the folly of stacking the ruddy-haired wonder up against a heavier man.

Lang can battle till the cows come home at 146, yet last night he was asked to give away at least 12 pounds. Lang himself weighed about 146 while the Buffalo boy would have had difficulty in getting under 158 pounds.

Lang was virtually taking on a middleweight. He gave Lavin 10 pounds, and both height, reach and experience had yet at that he was always dangerous, and slowed up Mr. Paddy a half a dozen times. Lavin is a very clever boy, and he can hit some too. That Lang held him to a draw is an eloquent tribute to the Toronto lad's class, as a welterweight.

Champion at One Forty-Two.

After last night's bout Lang need not give away weight to top notchers. On last night's performance Toronto sportsmen would eagerly subscribe to a fund to back him against any 142 pound man in the world.

It is up to Manager Charlie Conkle to claim the welterweight title and challenge every 142-145-pounder on the map.

Has Improved Much.

Lang showed a wonderful improvement in style. His defence, except against Lavin's left jab, was excellent, and he never "slung a better right" than he did last night. True, once in a while Lavin's clever ducking made the Toronto lad's efforts look a little crude, but he reached the elusive Lavin often enough, with rousing wallops, to make the Buffalo boy's head sing and keep him ducking for the storm cellar until the cyclone rolled by. Lang took a punch to land one all evening, and when he was sent out after his man in the fourth round seldom backed away.

But, after all said and done, Lavin had a margin on points. He scored very often with a left jab, had an almost perfect body defence, and once worked a spectacular shift and left hand rip that looked like "finis". Lang rocked Lavin three or four times but only once did he look like winning out by the K. O. route, and that was in the fourth, when he reached Lavin's stomach with a right uppercut that slowed Lavin up.

A Nice, Clean Bout.

The Turley-Sturch bout was very even. In the earliest rounds Turley could not keep his feet on the slippery canvas, and he was down half a dozen times. After the resin arrived he did better, but Sturch had some the better of the milling. He damaged Turley's eye, and had him tired on end. Turley was always on the aggressive, however, but he was away off in his judgment of distance. Several times he swung himself off his feet, punching the smoke. Sturch had a trifling margin, after a bout that made the crowd cheer.

PETERBOROUGH TENNIS CLUB HELD ANNUAL BANQUET

A Number of Speeches Were Made by the Members of the Club---Reports Were Read---Presentation of Prizes ---Officers Elected.

The annual banquet of the Peterborough Lawn Tennis Association was held in Coleman's Banquet Hall last evening, and a most enjoyable evening was spent. There was quite a large number of enthusiastic tennis players present, the majority of whom may be credited with delivering very humorous and entertaining speeches. In addition to this, Mr. R. J. Devey favored those present with a few pleasing piano selections, and a very entertaining violin solo was rendered by Mr. Hackardt, much to the pleasure of the audience.

Mr. W. H. Cluxton presided during the programme, which followed the very sumptuous dinner. He made a few introductory remarks to the effect that his opinion was that at that stage the best part of the programme was drawing nigh, as they had assembled principally to talk about tennis, and to make up their minds whether they would play at tennis, or play tennis in the coming season. In his opinion, it was not a game

RICHARD HALL & SON

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

CHRIST, the Lord, is risen, and therefore I must get a new hat and gown with which to celebrate this great anniversary."

Sounds terrible doesn't it?

Makes me positively shudder at its bald irreverence.

And yet that is substantially what thousands of Canadian women are saying by their manner of celebrating Easter Day.

"What are you going to have new for Easter?" Nearly everywhere in the last few weeks of Lent you hear that question.

And in the dressmaker's little back room, at the tailor's shop, in the sweat shops and in the millinery work rooms, overwrought nerves, tired fingers, and throbbing eyes are kept at their tasks twelve and fifteen hours a day to answer that question.

Truly we are doing almost as well with Easter as we have with Christmas.

I know a girl who stayed home from church last Easter because "I didn't have a single new thing to wear and I felt so shabby."

I know two other girls who went to church on Easter for the first time in two or three months to wear their Easter suits and hats.

Just think for a minute what Easter means.

Easter is the day above all Christian holy days — even above Christmas, it seems to me—which should hold the fullest significance for Christians.

It celebrates the greatest belief of mankind, the belief in immortality.

Easter is the day which gives its meaning and its right to be to that magnificent chant of St. Paul's which sums up the greatest outcome of the Greatest Man's life—

"O, death, where is thy sting?
O, grave, where is thy victory?"

And we are making this wonderful of wonderful days, a day dedicated to clothes, a day when we can stay at home from worship because we are shabby, or go because we have new garments to show off, a day to prepare for which we let our less fortunate sisters suffer the agonies of overwork.

No, there is nothing wrong in liking beautiful things. There is nothing unseemly in discarding one's dark winter garments and trying to make oneself more in harmony with the beautiful spring things about one.

But it seems to me there IS great harm in allowing the clothes interest to obscure the meaning of Easter as much as we American women are in danger of doing.

Don't you agree with me?

PETERBOROUGH FARMERS ENTHUSE OVER ALFALFA

Those Who Have Grown It Have Met With Success and Have Found It an Exceedingly Heavy Yielding Crop.

IS GOOD FOR HORSES

Not a Peterborough farmer can be found who has ever grown alfalfa but is enthusiastic over this great crop. Every farmer who has grown alfalfa and grown it according to the most approved practice, sowing the inoculation, (nitro-bacteria) has met with success. They find alfalfa an exceedingly heavy yielding crop. The forage is relished by all classes of farm stock, horses, cattle, sheep and swine, and even the poultry respond in increased egg production when fed upon alfalfa leaves or cut alfalfa hay or meal.

Good for Horses.

It has been known for a long time that alfalfa is good for horses, although many horsemen, owing to prejudices and never having fed alfalfa, are inclined to be dubious of its merits as a horse feed. Last week satisfying testimony as to the sterling qualities of alfalfa hay for horse feed was secured by an editor of Farm and Dairy from a Smith Township farmer. Mr. R. Smith of the 5th line of Smith cut his first crop of alfalfa last year, he having four acres which he seeded the year before. He secured four tons to the acre, the second cutting being very poor. Last fall they fed the alfalfa hay to their horses and worked them on it for a considerable time, not giving them any grain at all; the horses worked well and kept up in good condition on the alfalfa alone. Mr. Scott seeded 2 1-2 acres more to alfalfa last year and is sowing four acres more this spring; thus he will have 10½ acres, all told, seeded to alfalfa.

A Rent Raising Proposition.

While searching for some Peterborough County farmers who had grown alfalfa, and who were not satisfied with it, Mr. Marsh, who, at the present time, is contributing a special series of articles on alfalfa culture in the columns of Farm and Dairy, came across a very interesting case. A farmer not far from Peterborough, who is a tenant, sowed some alfalfa on the farm he has leased, and has secured splendid results from it. The piece he sowed to alfalfa was a light soil on a side hill, and from this land the best crop he has ever secured was five bushels of barley to the acre. Last year with his first crop of alfalfa with this land he secured three tons to the acre, which returned, if alfalfa is as good as bran or in any way near as good, bran being worth $22 a ton, it is easy ot calculate what a profitable crop alfalfa was to him. Asked if he intended sowing more alfalfa this man made reply to Mr. Marsh as follows: "No, I shall not sow any more just now. If I did my landlord would want to double the price for his farm and I intend to buy it."

Our Farmers Will Sow Alfalfa.

It would seem useless to search for further arguments in favour of every farmer in Peterborough County growing alfalfa, and, indeed, scores of our leading farmers will grow alfalfa beginning this season and taking advantage of the assistance that they will receive through the special alfalfa competition, which has been arranged for the farmers of this county. From all quarters we hear of farmers who are planning to sow a considerable acreage to alfalfa, and although the price of alfalfa seed does seem high they reckon that it is worth the price and that if it is high in price they can soon start in to raise alfalfa seed themselves and thus take advantage of the high price with profit to themselves.

All of our readers who are intending to grow alfalfa should enter the Alfalfa Competition; information in regard to which may be had on application to the Secretary of the competition; Care of Farm and Dairy, Peterborough, Ont.

A REAL CIRCUS ON THE STAGE

When Frederic Thompson's big success, "Polly of the Circus," comes to the Grand on Monday, April 10th, with Georgie Olp in the leading role, a surprise will be in store for theatre-goers. "Polly of the Circus" was one of the big New York successes and ran for one solid year at the Liberty Theatre in that city, where crowded houses attested its great popularity. The play with all its effective scenes, quaint characters and elaborate stage effects is one of rare delight. The company is excellent, and the scenic equipment is lavishh and elaborte. Five big circus acts are employed in the big circus ring in the third act, equipment is lavish and elaborate. "Little Hip," one of the highest salaried acts on the vaudeville stage. Another feature is Barlow's trained pony act. Also aerial, trapeze, acrobatic and riding acts.

"Little Hip," the Trained Baby Elephant with "Polly of the Circus"

ANNUAL BANQUET

The boys' annual banquet will take place Thursday night at 7 p.m. in the boys' rooms. Every member of the department is requested to be on hand. A good programme is being arranged.

Thursday at four-thirty p.m., a special meeting of the boys' physical committee will be held.

The boys' Social committee is requested to be on hand early Thursday evening to assist the Ladies' Auxiliary with the banquet.

ST. PETER'S LADIES' LITERARY

The St. Peter's Ladies' Literary Society will hold their last meeting this season on Friday evening, April 7th, at St. Alphonsus' Lyceum. The year's work has been very successful, and the meeting on Friday evening, being the last, will be an exceptionally good one. Miss Margaret Ward will read a paper on "Brother Azarias," and a good musical programme will also be presented.

Committee on Appointments.

Gentlemen.—Your committee on Appointments beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

1. That Miss Effie McQuarrie be appointed on the Public school staff to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Miss Mann, at the minimum salary of $450.00 and duties to start after the Easter vacation. Miss McQuarrie is the holder of a Second Class Professional Certificate, and is highly recommended.

2. That Mr. George F. Colling, of Seaforth be appointed on the Collegiate staff to succeed Mr. R. N. Merritt who has resigned. Minimum salary to be $1400 and duties to start 1st May or after the Easter vacation if possible.

Mr. Colling also comes highly recommended, and your committee are of the opinion that both of the teachers will fill their respective positions to the entire satisfaction of your Board.

W. H. HILL,
Chairman.

A letter was read from Inspector J. L. Hughes, of Toronto, relative to the Penny Savings Bank and suggesting that the system be adopted in Peterborough. Inspector Mowatt felt that it would encroach upon the time of the teachers to a great extent. It had been adopted in Brantford, which is a city about as large as Peterborough and had not proved a success. He thought that it might be worked to better advantage in the larger cities, such as Toronto, where the principal's duties were lightened by the appointment of assistant principals, with the result that the principals of the schools were enabled to devote more time to the operation of the Penny Bank.

The matter was referred to the Supervision committee.

The attendance at the Collegiate Institute for the month of March was: Average per day 301; enrolment 319. For the Public schools during the same month the average was 1,779 and the enrolment 1980.

Fire drill had been practised in each of the schools during the past month the time averaging from 36 to 80 seconds.

The meeting then adjourned until further notice.

THE QUEEN'S

Toronto the Queen City of Canada is the important business and tourist centre of the Dominion, its many handsome elevations, artistic public buildings, imposing edifices, public drives, parks and gardens, are the admiration of many thousands of visitors throughout the year.

One of the best hotels in Canada is located here, the old established "Queen's", a hostelry that is especially popular with all discriminating people, standing in its own beautiful and extensive grounds, it has an air of quiet and refinement that appeals strongly to the home-lover, its name is far reaching, and many remember with pleasure the hours spent within its hospitable walls.

The "Queen's" is operated on the American and European Plan, the rates being: Rooms without Bath (American Plan) $3.00 per day up. Rooms with Bath (American Plan) $3.00 per day up. Rooms (European Plan) $1.50 per day up.

In connection with his report, Dr. Morrison drew the attention of the Board to the need of providing for effective lighting. He considered that the occasion of making repairs to the above buildings would be an opportune time to take this important matter into consideration and supply a remedy for any defect which might exist in that respect.

Inspector Mowatt called the attention of the Board to the fact that two of the rooms of the Central school are affected by a glare of light which pervades the rooms. This state of affairs is caused by an improper arrangement of the windows as regards the lighting of the rooms. It was suggested that a special grade of glass be used with a view of cutting down the light.

Over Crowded Schools.

The next important subject to come up for discussion, and one that should be worthy of the attention of the proper authorities that are responsible for the existence of such conditions, especially as it concerns the vital interests and welfare of the large number of children who attend our Public schools, is the subject of overcrowding of the Public schools.

Dr. M. A. Morrison—

Dear Sir,—I beg leave to report that at the present time there are between fifty and sixty pupils in attendance in each of the junior and primary forms of the King Edward, South Central, Park street and East City schools. This leaves no room for the admission of new pupils at Easter, and the senior primary rooms are also filled. The only solution to the difficulty is the adoption of the half day system in these schools, for those pupils who may want to enter at Easter. It is to be hoped that after the midsummer holidays that adequate accommodation will have been provided for all pupils. Hoping that the suggestion may meet with approval, I remain,

Yours respectfully,
A. MOWATT, P. S.

In connection with the above, Inspector Mowatt stated to the Board last night that this was the first year that the Queen Alexandra school had been over-crowded. There were only five unoccupied seats in the school at the present time. This is a conclusive proof of the increasing population in that particular section, and is of sufficient importance to warrant some definite action being taken in the matter to improve the present existing conditions which are general throughout the city.

Dr. Morrison moved that the matter be left in the hands of the chairman and the Inspector.—Carried.

A motion that the half-day system be adopted after Easter was also carried.

HOLD CONFERENCE

Gospel Hall Christians to Stand by the Whole Bible

The Christians at the Gospel Hall have arranged to hold a three-days' conference of Christians who are determined to stand by the Bible in its entirety, believing in the verbal inspiration of the whole from Genesis, first verse, to Revelation, last verse. The conference will begin on Good Friday morning. It is not to be a convention of Gospel Hall Christians only, but everyone who loves the Lord Jesus in truth, is invited. There will be four meetings every day, closing with a special Gospel meeting Easter Sunday night. A large number of invitations have been sent to London, Hamilton, Toronto, Belleville, and many other smaller places. All the visitors from out of town will have all meals served in the Hall, and be entertained in homes at night. —Com.

ECZEMA FOR 30 YEARS

What is so annoying and disfiguring as itching Eczema? Mr. Fred W. Clark, Petworth, Addington Co., Ont., writes that his mother suffered from Eczema on both legs for 30 years unable to get relief or cure from doctors or medicines. She found that Dr. Chase's Ointment brought great relief and it soon made the cure complete. He states that no one could have the disease worse or suffer more.

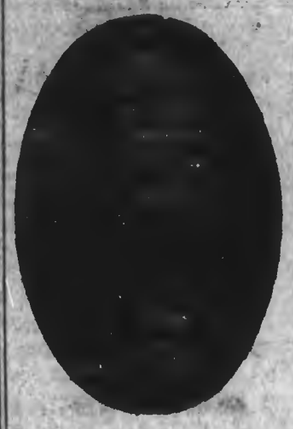
MUST PASS ON OCEAN

So Governor-General Will Not Take His Proposed Trip Up the Mackenzie River

Owing to his departure from Canada early in September, just prior to the coming of the Duke of Connaught, Earl Grey has decided to abandon his proposed trip during the summer up the Mackenzie River to the Arctic



HIS EXCELLENCY, EARL GREY

Ocean, and thence around through Bering Straits to Victoria on the cruiser Rainbow. Preliminary arrangements for the trip had been made, but his Excellency has concluded that he would not be able to finish this second trip through the Canadian hinterland in time to carry out the usual arrangement of having the departing Governor-General pass the incoming Governor on the Atlantic.

The proposed visit of his Excellency to the West Indies has also been abandoned.

IT IS CURABLE

Dyspepsia may be completely eradicated if properly treated. We sell a remedy that we positively guarantee will completely relieve indigestion or dyspepsia, or the medicine used during the trial will cost the user nothing.

This remedy has been named Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. Certainly no offer could be more fair, and our offer should be proof positive that Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are a dependable remedy.

Inasmuchhr as the medicine will cost you nothing if it does not benefit you, we urge you who are suffering with indigestion or dyspepsia to try Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets. A 25-cent box contains enough medicine for fifteen days' treatment. For chronic cases we have two larger sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies only at,—The Rexall Store, McDermid and Jury, corner George and Charlotte streets.

WINNIPEG C.N.R. STATION

The Fine Structure Will Be Opened In July

The new station at Winnipeg which has been constructed by the Canadian Northern Railway at a cost of $1,500,000 for joint terminal occupation with the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway and other railways desiring these facilities is almost completed. This building is on the site of old Fort Garry, which was the nucleus of Winnipeg. The new structure has been a year and a half under construction, and the cost has greatly exceeded the estimates. The main building is 350 by 140 feet in area, and it is surmounted by a dome 190 feet in its greatest diameter, and 100 feet above the street level. In connection with it are eight elevated tracks with platforms of cement, each 1,650 feet long, and capable of accommodating two trains of eleven coaches each. The approaches are by covered subways to all platforms, and no person can cross the tracks.

ARE THE COLONIES ARROGANT?

Hon. George E. Foster, speaking at the Sons of England banquet, Toronto, expressed the view that the colonies are becoming too arrogant. He did not think the overseas dominions should have the power to make international treaties. Such power would certainly tend towards selfishness. Mr. Foster said the spirit of loyalty to the Empire and the glory of the old flag must be inculcated in the minds of our youth.

HON. GEORGE E. FOSTER

THE ENERGY FOOD

The Vim and Vitality One Gets From Oats

There is something in oats which creates spirit and energy. No other grain can bring results like them. Everyone knows what oats do for horses. They have the same effect on man.

An extract of oats is employed as a tonic. A diet of oats multiplies one's vitality. That's why energetic men—men of vim and spirit—are said to "feel their oats."

In Quaker Oats the finest oats—Canadian grown—are subjected to 8 siftings. Just the rich, plump grains are used. There is only ten pounds of Quaker Oats in a bushel.

These grains have the maximum of richness and energy. They are also the most delicious. To eat Quaker Oats once a day for a month will show to the limit what tonic effects—what bubbling vitality one can get from oatmeal. One never knows how good eat food is, or what it can do, until he tries Quaker Oats.

Made in Canada.

IMMIGRATION SCENES

Many Races Mingle in Station at Winnipeg—Pictures of Various Nationalities

There were two hundred new comers housed at the Winnipeg Immigration hall one evening a short time ago. They proceeded the next day to various points. The guests were of six or seven different nationalities—French peasants of Alsace, Ruthenians, Poles, Hollanders, Russian Germans, and Germans. The rotunda of the C.P.R. was a place of many nations and several races. Within a radius of thirty feet were represented the white, yellow and black races. On one seat a big, pleasant-faced negro sat amid his luggage; a little way off, two Galicians, in their odd hats with beehive crowns and turned-up brims, nodded and gesticulated; and, on a bench facing these, were a row of Chinamen, cloth caps tilted forward over their braided and knotted queues, in their eyes a curious, blank look, like gawky schoolboys.

Five races were seen, cheek-by-jowl, on one short bench. At one end, a black-haired Assyrian sat alone, his hat tilted forward, his hands in his pockets, and his legs stretched disconsolately out before him; before him an Alsatian wrote laboriously on a piece of note-paper spread on the back of the seat; next to him two Polanders talked animatedly; next these again a fat mulatto woman lolled sleepy-eyed, her bundle in her lap; and, at the other end of the bench, a Swiss boy and girl sat side by side. Many stopped to look at the last two, for there were tears in the girl's eyes and the boy ceaselessly and tenderly pressed her hand, holding it against his cheek. "They are brother and sister," said the linguist from the Immigration offices, "family attachment was very strong among the Swiss."

FIRST THROUGH TRAIN

From Portland, Me., to Edmonton—Protecting Immigrants

The first Grand Trunk train bound direct from Portland, Me., to Edmonton, Alta., carried 175 Welsh people for the West. The party was in charge of Mr. R. Courtney, London England.

Mr. Courtney said these prospective settlers have considerable capital and they intend to take up land.

Mr. J. M. Clark of the Ontario Immigration Department announced that a party of twenty-eight Scotch and North of England farmers, each with $1,000 to $5,000 and over, to invest in Ontario land, would arrive the next week.

Hon. J. S. Duff, Minister of Agriculture for Ontario, had impressed upon Mr. Clark and his subordinates the desirability of exercising particular alertness to prevent intending British investors in Ontario farms laying out their money before they had become acquainted with conditions in this province. It was desirable that such persons should look around the country and become conversant with the prices of land and methods of farming before they located themselves on land.

DOUKHOBORS BUY LAND

The Doukhobor colony at Nelson has further extended its territory by purchasing from Devine Brothers the well-known Manhart ranch on Kootenay River, opposite Tarry's. The property is about fifty acres in extent of which some ten acres are cleared and about five acres are planted in bearing fruit trees. The price was $12,000.

ECZEMA WAS SPREADING

TILL D. D. D. CURED IT

This is a translation of a letter written us in French, on April 16, 1910, by Mr. Dan Babineau, Cap Lumiere, N.B.

"I had been suffering with eczema for about 6 months, and had consulted several doctors who did not do me any good. The disease was spreading and I was most uncomfortable. I thought I would go crazy. All my friends were telling me I would lose my hands unless I found the right treatment.

One day I read in the Messenger about your D. D. D. treatment and asked for a sample. It did me so much good that I immediately ordered two large bottles. It took eight bottles altogether to cure me of this terrible disease. I shall never be without a bottle of D. D. D. in my home."

The records of ten years of complete cures of thousands of the most severe cases show that D. D. D. stands to-day as the absolutely reliable eczema cure.

Write to-day for free trial bottle to the D. D. D. Laboratories, Dept. P E., 49 Colborne St., Toronto. It will give you instant relief.

THE HAREM SKIRT

Mademoiselle Dumart, the Harem Skirt girl, made a big hit at the Brock street roller rink last night and one of the biggest crowds of the season was on hand to greet her appearance. Nearly all the skates were in use and the crowd of spectators was much larger than the average. Mademoiselle Dumart wore a sterling variety of the jupe culotte, but it was artistic and seemed to please the crowd. In addition she was a charming skater.

Interest At Fever Heat Over Friday Night's Boxing Bouts

Interest seems to be at fever heat over the outcome of the P. A. C. boxing contests at the Grand Opera House Friday night. To all appearances there will be a large outside contingent here. Seats have been asked for by Cobourg, Port Hope, Keene, Lindsay, and no doubt a following from Toronto. Every one is fit and ready and Mr. Breen is pleased at the reports from the training camps.

Both Lang and Sturch are none the worse of wear after their strenuous bouts at Hamilton Monday night. In fact Tommy Sturch is thankful that he was matched for Peterborough a week before he knew that he was going to box Turly, as he was in the pink of condition and says he will make Champion Moore step every inch of the way.

Lang says that outside of a bruised eye, he is in the best of shape.

Keep your eye on the Picton-Compton go, as it will sure be a hustler. These boys lose no time in letting you know they are in the ring. And both Wilton and Peters are anxious to get together.

The first bout will be called at 8.30 sharp and the main one at 9.45.

CHANGE IN BUSINESS

The Knickerbocker Company Taken Over by Mr. A. Zacks

It will be noticed that the premises of the Knickerbocker Company are receiving attention at the hands of Mr. James G. Graham, contractor. On inquiry from the Knickerbocker Company, The Examiner find that a change has been made in their business, which was formerly carried on by Zack Bros., Mr. A. Zack now being the sole owner, and it is his intention to run an entirely cash, one price store. He is having a modern front put on the store, new fixtures installed and adding a brand new stock of goods, which will make his store one of the best in the city. The brother, Mr. Hyman Zacks, has taken over the management of a clothing establishment at 163 Simcoe street, representing The Standard Clothing Company.

Both these gentlemen have conducted the business of the Knickerbocker Company very satisfactorily and the two stores, under their separate management, should receive their share of patronage from the Peterborough public.

OBITUARY

MARGARET RENA McCARNEY.

Death came with startling suddenness to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John McCarney, 21 Bethune street, at noon to-day when their eldest daughter, Miss Margaret Rena McCarney, aged 21 years, was stricken with heart failure.

Deceased was apparently in the best of health and was at work as usual during the forenoon. During the noon hour she was stricken with a pain in the region of the heart and she expired immediately, and before medical aid could be summoned.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

MARGARET RENA.

The death occurred at 12.30 to-day of Miss Margaret Rena, twenty-one years of age, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Rena, of 21 Bethune street. She leaves to mourn her loss, three sisters and two brothers. The sisters are: Misses Catharine, Martha Anna, and Geraldine. The brothers are Messrs. John and William Christopher. All reside in the city. Death was the result of a lingering illness.

The funeral will be held to-morrow at 2.30 from the above address ot the church of the Sacred Heart and thence to St. Peter's cemetery.

MRS. ANNE HUMPHRIES.

The death occurred last night at Nicholls Hospital after a long illness, of Mrs. Anne Humphries. Deceased was in her 70th year, and was a relect of the late Job Humphries. The late Mrs. Humphries was born in Scotland and emigrated to this country when a young girl. She adorned her life by zealous work in the Master's vineyard, and was of a sweet disposition and unselfish character. She was highly esteemed and beloved by all with whom she came in contact. Deceased leaves to mourn her loss, six children, three sons and three daughters. The daughters are: Mrs. Thompson, Gladstone, Man.; Mrs. Murray, Hastings, and Mrs. Francis, Peterborough. The sons are George, in the West, William, and Harold at home, in Westwood.

The funeral will take place on Friday at 2 o'clock, from the family residence in Westwood, and proceed to Westwood cemetery for interment.

POLICE COURT

The evidence was taken in the case of a blacklister in the police court this morning, but the case was adjourned on account of the absence of the accused. Mr. J. Stewart, License Inspector, gave evidence to the effect that he saw the prisoner in the city last evening at 4 o'clock. He called a local liquor dealer who stated that a man came into his store on Saturday about 6.30 p.m., and asked for a flask of whiskey. He suspected the identity of the man from his appearance and called him by name. He replied that that was not his name, but that he was often taken for him. The witness said that he was not sure and could do nothing but believe him. He gave him a 25c flask and later in the evening found out that he had been deceived. Another witness gave corroborating evidence. Mr. Stewart stated that the accused was put on the list on the 13th of Feb., 1911, the notice being served on him by Mr. Stewart personally. The case was adjourned until Monday.

FREEMASONRY

Rev. Father Bourke Preaches a Vigorous Sermon

MONTREAL, APRIL 5.—In the course of a vigorous sermon Rev. Father Burke, Paulist Missioner, said there was a great difference between Freemasonry, as practised in Great Britain and English speaking Canada, which condemned no religion, and the Freemasonary of continental Europe and Emancipation Lodge, of Quebec which sought to blot out the light of heaven and take the name of God out of the text books.

Mr. A. G. De Lumen is representing the National Cash Register Co. in the Peterborough territory, formerly operated by Mr. A. J. Masey, who has severed his connection with same.

Mr. DeLumen is an expert in store systems and would be glad to demonstrate at any time how a National Cash Register can be used to advantage in any store. Present address, 273 Bagot street, Kingston.

LIGHTS WERE OFF

A number of citizens wondered why they were left in darkness last night. The cause is very simple when it is ascertained. The Otonabee Power Company have been making extensive repairs to their plant during the past week, and as a consequence the power was affected at intervals. One of the power wheels has been under repairs for the past few leaving only two wheels to generate the power. This explains the cause of last night's troubles. Everything will be in first class shape by Saturday night and better satisfaction than ever will be experienced by the patrons of the Otonabee Power Company.

A CAMPAIGN TO MAKE CITY BEAUTIFUL

Editor Examiner.—

Dear Sir,—I would like to submit a few pertinent questions to your beauty loving readers and add a little suggested comment:

Do you like flowers? Have you a lawn or garden? Are you interested in learning new ways and means for the beautifying of your home surroundings? Are you prepared to assist in making Peterborough known as the city of beautiful gardens, and the most beautiful city in Ontario?

A campaign is being inaugurated to increase the membership of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society to at least 500 members and thereby assist it in the good work it is doing towards home and civic improvement in the city. When it is known that towns with not more than half the population of Peterborough have horticultural societies with a membership nearly double that of the Peterborough Horticultural Society, and have therefore a larger number of citizens actively interested in the beautifying of their home town, and are also drawing a grant from the government of from $50 to $100 more than is received by the Peterborough Horticultural Society, it will be seen that the citizens of Peterborough are not taking full advantage of their opportunities in this direction.

Members besides being entitled to all privileges of the society receive a number of valuable premiums such as plants, seeds and bulbs, and also a subscription to The Canadian Horticulturist, the well known horticultural magazine published here in Peterborough. As an inducement to increase the membership, plans are under way for the offering this year of some especially attractive premiums to members.

The Peterborough Society has done much for our city in arousing our interest in civic improvement and the beautifying of our homes and public grounds. They have taken full charge of our parks and have wrought great improvement in Queen Victoria Park during the past season. It is the duty of the citizens to support the Society liberally by joining it and assisting it in the good work it is doing. The larger the membership the larger will be the government grant, which is given on a pro rata basis.

A public meeting of the members of the Horticultural Society and of all interested citizens of Peterborough will be called in a short time to discuss plans for the coming season. Fuller announcements will appear in the course of a few days. Let the citizens of Peterborough work together for a membership of 500 and the making of Peterborough the most beautiful city in Ontario. Particulars may be secured from the secretary of the Society, Mr. Frank Wise, of the Little Lake Cemetery.

Yours truly,
LOVER OF CIVIC BEAUTY.

WHY NOT AN IRISH CHOIR?

Editor Examiner:

Dear Sir—As a loyal Irish woman, I should like to ask why we should not have an Irish choir visit Canada? We have had English choirs like the Sheffield Choir, the Westminster Abbey Choir, the Welsh Ladies' Choir and Scotch choirs, galore—the Glasgow Select Choir, etc., etc. But never a taste of the rale shtuff—an Irish choir. I should like to see a representative Irish choir, say from personal preference, the Wexford choir, organized and pay a visit to Canada. Then we should hear real singing—real music—for in no land under the sun is there sweeter music—or as sweet—than the national airs of Ireland. I think pilgrim music is the form of choirs, organized minstrelsy, will never come to its own, till the land of minstrelsy and song, dear old Ireland, has a representation in the field. If we want to use music and harmony to strengthen the tie of Empire we should not leave out the strongest strand in the rope. We should have some patriot organize an Irish choir and then we should hear music that would waken echoes of the heart for Irish music comes from the heart and goes to the heart—like a draught of rich, red, wine.

Yours very truly,
ERINA.

A WELL KNOWN RESIDENT REMOVED BY HAND OF DEATH

Mr. Robert Coulter Passed Away Last Night---Was Well Known Military Figure---Had Seen Long and Arduous Service.

Just before midnight last night the death occurred in this city of Mr. Robert Coulter, a veteran of the Crimea, Mr. Coulter has been in declining health for some years and his death, though deeply regretted, was not unexpected.

Deceased was born in the parish of Mullabrack, near the town of Market Hill, County of Armagh, Ireland and enlisted in the First Battalion Rifle Brigade on the 6th of September, 1848. Under the colours of this famous battalion, he saw much of the world, and were his experiences put in narrative form, they would add many a thrilling chapter to stories of adventure. The medals in his possession, bore witness of many a thrilling period in the life of the deceased, although he rarely exhibited these, and then only to his intimate acquaintances. They comprise a Cape of Good Hope medal, a Turkish and South African medals, a medal for the Crimea with clasps for Alma, Inkerman and Sebastopol, and a medal for British North America service, together with four good conduct badges.

It was in the First Battalion that General Buller of South African fame served his apprenticeship as a soldier. The wife of deceased died only a short time ago, while on a visit to her son in Toronto. Deceased was a resident of this city for a great many years and to his daughters, Mrs. A. A. McIntyre and Miss Bessie Coulter, Many will extend sincere expressions of regret.

The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon from the residence of A. A. McIntyre, 567 Aylmer street, at 2.30 and proceed to Little Lake cemetery for interment.

CONSTABLE BENNETT IS HONOURABLY ACQUITTED

No Evidence to Warrant the Charge of Perjury Laid Against Him Arising Out of the Recent Civil Action of Innis vs. the Village of Havelock.

Fred Bennett, village constable of Havelock, appeared before Magistrate Dumble at Havelock yesterday, on a charge of perjury laid against him by Mrs. Innis, of Havelock, the charge arising out of the recent civil action of Innis vs. the Village of Havelock It will be remembered that Mrs. Innis brought suit against the Village to recover damages for injuries she was alleged to have received, through, it was claimed, a defective sidewalk. The action was heard here and dismissed, and an appeal was also dismissed. Mrs. Innis thereupon laid a charge against Frederick Bennett.

After hearing the evidence of the complainant, Magistrate Dumble honourably acquitted the prisoner, stating that there was absolutely nothing against him.

Mr. L. M. Hayes of Peterborough, appeared for Mr. Bennett, while the Crown was represented by Crown Attorney R. E. Wood.

FUNDS NEEDED FOR NEW PROTESTANT HOME

As a definite arrangement has been concluded between the City Council and the Board of the Peterborough Protestant Home, the work on the new home will be started as soon as possible. The plans for the building are now being drawn up by Mr. Sanford Smith, of Toronto, whose grandfather, the late Sheriff Hall, gave the present building. These plans will be submitted to the Board next week.

As the Board have undertaken to pay half the cost of the building, and also to supply the furnishings, they ask the citizens of Peterborough to help them in this good work. There is no doubt that this project for the care of the aged and needy, will appeal to all.

Mr. Travers, of the Bank of Montreal, has kindly consented to receive all subscriptions which may be made for this object.

PIONEER OF THE WEST VISITING PETERBOROUGH

IMPRESSED WITH CITY

Peterborough is favoured with the presence of a distinguished visitor, in the person of Mr. W. A. Shepard, President of the Board of Trade, Borden, Sask. Mr. Shepard is in the city on a three months' visit, in the interests of the west, and for the purpose of getting information, etc., for the establishment of a Pictorial and Railway Guide, as an aid to emigrants from Europe. Mr. Shepard, who is an old resident of Belleville, is in company with Mr. Joseph Brundrette, brother of Mr. Brundrette who was former G.T.R. agent in this city, and who is now in the employ of that company in Toronto. Mr. Shepard has not been in Peterborough for thirty years, and he stated to an Examiner reporter to-day, that he was agreeably surprised at the rapid strides the city was making. He said that it was keeping equal pace with the western cities. That is saying quite a lot for the old city, when it can be said that it is keeping pace with, say Vancouver, Mr. Shepard also spoke of the business like and smart appearance of its citizens as compared to its sister towns in the north west.

Mr. Shepard is a strong boomer of the west. He is here principally for the purpose of securing material for a Pictorial Publication illustrating the towns and cities, and the advantage of the entire west. He is staying at the Oriental, and expects to be here for at least three weeks. He was formerly an agent for the Manitoba and Western Colonization Company, and is a genuine old pioneer of the western provinces. He assisted in the subduing of the Sioux, in the days of the famous Sitting Bull, and was a close friend of the late Dr. John McDonald, of Port Arthur. Mr. Shepard took the first census of Winnipeg in 1874. He traversed the wild west long before a railway was put through, travelling by canoe and dog train, and helping in the troubles of the suffering Indians, who were afflicted with smallpox. He did much for the colonisation of the west, and is still an active member of the organisation, which is at present doing brilliant work in developing the great Canadian west. He has had a wide experience in Western Ontario, and Western Canada, in general, and can tell blood curdling incidents of adventures in the west, both with the cold and with wild animals and Indians. His remarks about the city are very complimentary, and it is great encouragement to its citizens to hear such opinions expressed.

WONDERFUL COUNTRY

Special Wire to the Examiner.

TORONTO, APRIL 6.—Speaking before the Board of Trade to-day on the Temiskaming country, or that part of Ontario between North Bay and Hudson's Bay, J. L. English said not only was it rich in minerals, but what was of more permanent advantage, it was richer in agricultural possibilities than part of the west.

THURSDAY APRIL 6, 1911

A BRIGHT SPOT.

A bright spot in Mr. Fielding's budget speech:

"There is another way in which to measure the proportionate diminution of our public debt. Twenty years ago it would have taken six years' revenue to pay the net debt; ten years ago it would have taken five years' revenue to pay the net debt; to-day less than three years' revenue would pay the whole net debt of Canada." (Applause.)

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL.

Urging our readers to bear in mind the appeal in yesterday's issue for increase of membership of the Horticultural Society in the interests of city beautification, we also urge their attention to the article printed on this page to-day dealing with the annual civic cleaning day of a United States' city. The careful reading of both should prepare our citizens to take a deeper, livelier and more practical interest in the subject of the city beautiful. The Examiner engages to not let them hereafter forget their duty and privilege in this regard.

A REMARKABLE BUDGET.

The great annual financial event in the administration of Canadian affairs is the budget announcement; and this year's is remarkable and unprecedented in many ways.

It was the fifteenth consecutive budget speech made by Hon. Mr. Fielding — something unparalleled — for no finance minister of Canada has had the privilege of occupying this responsible position for so long an unbroken time, or the glory of submitting annual budgets presenting a crescendo of splendid showing, growing in excellence and reflection of national prosperity under Liberal rule—each year showing a grand gain upon its antecedent.

Mr. Fielding's budget speech was the shortest ever made in Canada, occupying exactly forty-five minutes. But its import was in inverse ratio to its brevity.

It announced the greatest revenue in the history of the country—one hundred and seventeen millions of dollars.

It announced the greatest surplus in the history of Canada—thirty million, five hundred thousand dollars—a surplus not very far short of the total revenue of the country when Mr. Fielding took office on July 20th, 1896.

It announced the greatest expenditure on capital account out of revenue. Out of an expenditure of thirty-five millions on capital account, thirty-one millions was paid out of current revenue.

It announced the greatest total of Canadian trade, nearly 800 millions, with an increase for eleven months of $76,978,800.

The debate arising out of the presentation of the budget, was the shortest on record. It lasted, including Mr. Fielding's address, only two and one-quarter hours. Mr. Fielding spoke forty-five minutes, Mr. Foster, ninety minutes, and the budget debate was over, no one moving its adjournment. This is unparalleled. On other similar occasions the budget debate dragged its slow length along for weeks of dreary oratory, in which nearly every member of the House gave tongue.

On this occasion Hon. Mr. Foster, financial anatomist of the Opposition, gave his usual (though brief) perfunctory criticism, covering the same ground he has travelled over ever since he has had to deal with a Fielding budget—a nut, he finds it, the harder to crack the older it grows.

The sudden collapse of the budget debate is the strongest possible negative as the budget itself is the strongest possible positive, evidence of the splendid financial and general administration of Canada's business interests by the Liberal Finance Minister and the Liberal Government. When the Opposition outrages all precedent in refraining from finding fault, things must be going on well. This recalls the rule of success laid down by Mr. Fessenden, when he was Principal of the Collegiate Institute. When a newspaper reporter would apply to him for news he would answer that there was no news—"when everything is going smoothly—when there is now news—it is a sign that the school is doing well." When the Opposition in parliament is paralyzed into silence by the splendid features of the budget of 1911, it is a sign that everything is going smoothly; that the national school is doing well.

THE TIRE COMPANY BY-LAW.

On April 25th, the qualified ratepayers of Peterborough will be called upon, and have the privilege of giving their assent to the by-law to assist in the establishment of an important new industry in Peterborough, the Independent Tire Company of Canada.

The by-law to be voted upon proposes the loan of $40,000 ,or practically the loan of the credit of the city, and on terms which provide a very promising industry without any risk of financial loss.

The loan of $40,000 to be advanced by the city carries interest at 4½ per cent., and the security is to be the site, completed factory buildings and installed machinery—these to be of the value of at least $75,000.

The loan is only available by the company upon the fulfilment of these conditions—the first half, $20,000, to be paid over on the completion of the buildings on a suitable site, both without incumbrance. The second instalment of $20,000, is to be paid over to the company only when, (within three months from the beginning of operations) the buildings are completed, machinery installed, and manufacturing operations going forward, and at least sixty hands employed.

At the end of the first year the company must be employing 100 hands, and must continue to employ that number during the currency of the loan. Another condition of the loan is that the company must have a fully paid-up capital of $150,000, and that any amount not required for construction and equipment of factory buildings, must be retained as working capital.

The loan must be repaid at the rate of $2,000 per year, beginning December 31st, 1912, so that the liability of the company is continuously being lessened, which operates to strengthen the security of the city in the form of a blanket mortgage upon the site, buildings and machinery. It is estimated that the assets of the company, when in operation, will total something like $180,000, to secure a loan of $40,000, a liability rapidly lessened by the annual repayment of $2,000, with the security required to be kept up to its value.

There are two or three considerations for the ratepayers to remember in deciding for or against the by-law.

The prospects of the successful operation of the company seem to be of the best. Their staple manufacture will be rubber tires, and the automobile industry, only in its beginning, and sure to expand, will be certain to create a large demand, one of the conditions of successful operation.

The proposed loan will assist the establishment of a prospectively successful and important industry, without risk, on the part of the corporation. The security offered, apparently quite ample, will remain permanent, while the liability will be continuously reduced.

It may be urged that the company might make an independent loan. It it did so it would have to pay a much larger interest. In seeking the loan from the city the company is practically asking only the loan of the city's credit, higher than that of any private company and permitting to borrow money at 4½ per cent.

In this connection it may be recalled that it is nothing unusual for manufacturing concerns, not alone new ones, but long established ones, to depend on borrowed funds. It is a well-known fact that the banks are helping carry, to a certain, if varying, extent, nearly all the manufacturing industries of this or other countries. That is one thing the banks exist for, to promote the operation of the industrial and commercial enterprises of the country.

So that Peterborough, in lending its credit with the banks and financial institutions to the Independent Tire Company is only doing indirectly what is done in effect for the industries of the country at large every day.

The ratepayers are asked to carefully consider the facts. We want new industries. We must have them if we are to grow, if we are to be and become a growing city. While other cities and towns hold out inducements and assistance we must, if we expect to keep level in the race, do likewise.

Timely Suggestions For A Spring Civic House Cleaning Campaign

A Spokane paper has the following about cleaning up a city, which may be valuable information to Peterborough and other places:

One of the most unique and wholesome spectacles ever witnessed on this continent will be the cleaning and special Arbour Day celebration in Spokane the latter part of April, when the city commissioners will co-operate with the residents in an effort to make Spokane a "spotless town." Mayor William J. Hindley will proclaim a public holiday to start the campaign, after which the City Beautiful committee of the Chamber of Commerce and allied organizations will take charge.

"Our arrangements are not yet completed," Mayor Hindley said, "but I believe we can bring out from 45,000 to 50,000 men and women, including railway and bank presidents, manufacturers, wholesale and retail dealers and society matrons on the opening day to assist in beautifying the residence districts. The city cremetory department will take care of the business streets and alleys and special detachments of firemen will be on hand to avert fires. The refuse will be destroyed under their direction.

New an Annual Thing.

Aubrey Lee White, president of the Spokane park commission, is the originator of the municipal cleaning day plan, first worked out in this city early in the spring of 1906 through the City Beautiful committee of the 550-600 club, now headed by C. Herbert Moore, formerly mayor of the city. It has become an annual institution in Spokane, and has been taken up by other cities in the United States and the Dominion of Canada.

Twenty thousand men, women and school children participated in the first annual cleaning day, five years ago. The army of volunteer workers, composed of people from all walks of life, was under the direction of City Engineer Henry G. Lilienthal, who was marshal of the day. The men and boys were armed with shovels, pruning implements and rakes, while the women and girls assisted in planting trees and shrubs and flower seeds. They worked from early morning until the sun passed from view behind the western hills and the results were highly satisfactory.

Five hundred teams were provided by the 150,000 club, mill-owners, business houses and residents generally to haul the garbage to the municipal incinerating plants, and special firemen were stationed in various parts of the city and outskirts to supervise the destruction of refuse by bonfires. Business was suspended during the hours the people were engaged in cleaning the city.

The 150,000 club turned out its entire membership of 3,200 in command of Ben. H. Rice, then secretary of the organization and the Ne-Mow-E-Nak-Ops, the woman's auxiliary, headed by Mrs. F. F. Emery, assisted the school girls with the planting of shrubs and flowering vines and seeding plots of ground. Ten thousand packets of flower seeds were used. When Spokane awakened the next morning the city presented the appearance of a new pin.

Success From Start.

Beautification and artistic improvements were noticeable in all parts of the city and it was generally conceded that the first cleaning day campaign was one of the most successful semi-civic movements carried to a successful conclusion in Spokane and the Northwest. Then and there it was decided to devote one day each year to this work. Afterward the campaign was extended to cover six days, closing with an Arbor Day celebration the last afternoon of the week.

Another movement in connection with the cleaning day plan was the organization of the Spokane Tree Planting Association with 10,000 active members among the children above the third grade in the public schools. Pupils promising to plant one or more trees or shrubs a year are eligible to free memberships. The certificates presented to the children contain full instructions in taking up and transplanting trees and shrubs, also hints on caring for the plants. To defray the expense of the organization special membership cards were sold to adults at $1 each.

The City Beautiful committee is declared to be one of the best organized bodies in America. In addition to the chairman and permanent secretary, there is a vice-chairman in each ward, a captain in each precinct and a lieutenant in every block within the incorporated city limits. There also is a joint committee of 20 business men making up the sub-committees on cleaning day, public buildings, parks, driveways and alleys, streets, bridges and tree planting. The joint committee meets twice a week, when plans are submitted for discussion, and upon adoption the work is carried out through the captains in the various wards.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Mr. Fielding's opponents regard him as the surplus member of the Liberal government.

Hon. George E. Foster, in speaking of the prosperity of Canada, as revealed by the statements of Mr. Fielding's budget speech, claimed that this prosperity was due to the "National policy" inaugurated by his party and practically continued by the Liberals. In the next sentence, almost, he denounced the Liberal Government for the burdens in the way of taxation they were laying on the people.

Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, says the Stratford Beacon, the man, next to Manager Travers, who knows most about the wrecking of the Farmers' bank, is still at large. It is not creditable to the prosecuting officials that this man was permitted to escape. The public cannot help suspecting that he would have been the first man jailed after Travers' arrest, had it not been for the fear of the exposures he might make. Dr. Beattie Nesbitt is not without political power in Toronto.

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

THE man-who-thinks is about to take part of his summer vacation.

The other half he will take in late September or October.

Say his critics: "But it must be terrible to have to work all through the hot summer."

And this is the explanation of his conduct which the man-who-thinks gives—that is, when he cares enough for the critic to bother to give any.

"I used to take my summer vacation regular as clock work, the first two weeks of August up to five years ago. Thought I couldn't get through the summer unless I did. And then things happened so I had to take a week in May and a week in October and I liked it so well I've done that ever since.

"In the first place I never feel so much like going on a vacation as I do when the ice is just out of the lakes.

"And in the second place, I am never more tired than I am at the end of the winter rush. I don't see now how I ever got through the summer without the strength I built up in that week.

"And in the third place, think of the joy of escaping the summer crowds. I am sure to get a star room and the best of attention. I always meet a few interesting people but never get into a mob.

"And anyway, in my mind the most comfortable place in summer is just home. I don't know any time when I appreciate my own tub and shower, my own cool and well screened room and the surety of knowing just what I'm going to eat any more than in July and August.

"It's a mighty bad time to change your diet. How many people are sick if they stay at home and take proper care of themselves? But, just look at the people who go off and over eat and overdo in the hot weather and get upset by it.

"And then if there's anything more thoroughly dirty and uncomfortable than travelling in summer I have yet to find it. I remember one year when I went to L—— Lake, because I'd heard what a beautiful and restful spot it was. I had to take a sleeper that left at eleven. It took me until three to get asleep on account of the heat and I was called at half past five. I waited three hours at a little junction, where you couldn't get a thing to eat. Then I spent four hours on a train that stopped at every farmer's back door and in the middle of the day on the hottest day of the summer I drove fifteen miles in an open team along the hottest, dustiest road that two scraggly old dopes of horses ever tottered down. I came so near having a sunstroke that there wasn't any fun in it. It was a restful spot when you got there, all right, but it took me about half the time I was there to get over that journey and the other half getting up courage for the return trip. No, sir, no travelling in summer for mine, not if there's any way of getting out of it."

Sometimes the critics of the man-who-thinks are converted so that they avow their intention of trying his plan some time.

Always they admit, "There's something in that."

Don't you agree?

Ruth Cameron

DOCTOR ADVISED OPERATION

Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Canifton, Ont.—"I had been a great sufferer for five years. One doctor told me it was ulcers of the uterus, and another told me it was a fibroid tumor. No one knows what I suffered. I would always be worse at certain periods, and never was regular, and the bearing-down pains were terrible. I was very ill in bed, and the doctor told me I would have to have an operation, and that I might die during the operation. I wrote to my sister about it and she advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Through personal experience I have found it the best medicine in the world for female troubles, for it has cured me, and I did not have to have the operation after all. The Compound also helped me while passing through Change of Life."—Mrs. LETITIA BLAIR, Canifton, Ontario.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has proved to be the most successful remedy for curing the worst forms of female ills, including displacements, inflammation, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result has been worth millions to suffering women.

Mr. and Mrs. David Trew, of Springville, Are Going to New Home in Saskatchewan—A Purse of Gold to Mrs. Trew.

WILL BE MUCH MISSED

Mr. and Mrs. David Trew and daughter Miss Vilda left to-day for the West, going to reside in the new home their two sons have provided in Erinfold, Sask. Mrs. Trew and her daughter have been faithful and earnest workers in the Springville Presbyterian church and their absence will be greatly felt.

Last evening a gathering was held in the church for the purpose of saying farewell to the family and wishing them success in the west. A short programme was provided and refreshments served. During the evening an address was read to Mrs. Trew by Mr. Alex Laing, while Mr. Harry Clarke made a presentation of a purse of gold. The address was as follows:

Mrs. Trew.—The members of this congregation and others in the immediate vicinity desire on this, the occasion of your departure from us, to express to you our appreciation of your sterling worth in our midst and the high esteem in which you are held by the community. In the affairs of the church you were always faithful and did your duty with a perfection and grace worthy of imitation. You fulfilled your position in the post office to the entire satisfaction of all the patrons and as a neighbour you were always willing to do your part at any sacrifice. Whilst in these words we express, though very inadequately, our feelings towards you, we desire to manifest them in a more tangible way by handing you this purse of money and we pray that God's blessing will rest upon you and your family in your newhome.

Signed on behalf of the congregation and members of the community.

Rev. Dr. Marsh, Minister,
John McIntosh for the session,
Harry Clarke chairman of the Managing Board.

Rev. Dr. Marsh made a suitable reply on behalf of Mrs. Trew.

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC

Have Inaugurated Their Pacific Coast Steamship Service

The Grand Trunk Pacific Coast Steamship Company have commenced the operation of their summer schedule, giving a direct and fast service between Seattle, Victoria, Vancouver, Prince Rupert, and Stewart. Northbound the steamers leave Seattle at midnight Sunday and Wednesday, and Vancouver, Monday and Thursday.

The palatial steamships "Prince Rupert" and "Prince George," already famed for their swiftness and excellence, will perform the service. During the late winter both ships underwent a thorough overhauling and are now more handsome than ever. The "Prince Rupert" and "Prince George" have been pronounced time and again since they went into commission, last summer, the most magnicent and best steamships in the Pacific Coast trade.

These two ships were so popular and such a great success last season that the Company have decided to commence the operation of the summer schedule without delay.

The indications are that there will be not only a large tourist trade this coming summer, for which these steamers are so admirably suited, but a very heavy movement into the fertile valleys of the interior of British Columbia, especially to the large tracts of rich bench lands along the Skeena River, which are well adapted to fruit growing.

During the winter the Grand Trunk Pacific have made extensive improvements to their dock facilities at Seattle and Victoria. The dock at Seattle has been pronounced by shipping men to be the finest and best equipped dock on the whole Pacific Coast. The dock at Victoria is also of the most modern and improved type, splendidly arranged and conveniently located.

In connection with the schedule of the steamers "Prince Rupert" and "Prince George," the steamer "Prince Albert" will handle passengers to and from Queen Charlotte Island points.

"The Strange Case Of Eleanor Cuyler"

By KINGSLAND CROSBY

The two parties of detectives separated and silently sped away in the darkness, while Wotsirb made his way back toward the fire. He had much to think of. First of all his business was to restore Miss Cuyler to her father. It was safe for her to travel, he thought; at any rate he would run the risk, as it was highly desirable to get her within reach of a physician, in case she should develop serious illness as a result of the shock to her nervous system. Then, if possible, he must have an interview with the fugitives who were out there in the woods. He hoped they would be captured before sunrise—he had a few words to say to them.

"Oh, Mr. Hambidge," he called, as he approached the house.

"What is it?" asked the lawyer, coming to him.

"Somewhere between here and Tyson's farm you'll find the waggon we came out here in, and another like it. Go there, please and tell the drivers to get ready to take us back to Titusville right after daylight. Then push on to Tyson's, and buy whatever you can find for breakfast—coffee, eggs, milk, bread, and so on. We can cook it out here. Bring young Jim Tyson back with you to get his colt."

Hambidge started on the errand, and Wotsirb kept on toward the house, meeting Barrett on the way.

"Anything new?" he asked briefly.

"Miss Cuyler's getting along O.K." the New Englander replied. "Heart action somewhat accelerated, of course, and respiration not quite normal; but otherwise in a satisfactory condition."

"Are you a doctor?" the Secret Service man said, with a smile.

"Yes," Barrett replied. "At least I used to be. I don't practise nowadays."

"Luck again!" Wotsirb mentally exclaimed; then said aloud: "It is necessary for me to know Miss Cuyler's actual condition."

"As far as I can tell from superficial examination," the other responded, "Miss Cuyler has been kept under the influence of some opiate administered hypodermically, at frequent intervals and in very small quantities. What it is I have not determined, but the effects of the last dose are wearing off rapidly. She is, of course, extremely nervous, but I do not think she is seriously ill in any way."

"How about yourself?"

"Oh, I'm all right. I've got a lump like a hard-boiled ostrich egg on the back of my head, here. That's what stunned me."

"Did you see any of the gang?" Wotsirb asked.

"Yes, all of them." And he briefly related what he had seen and heard while he lay concealed in the bushes earlier that night.

Wotsirb nodded approval at the accurate statement.

"Now then," he said, "I want to know if it is safe to take Miss Cuyler home at once?"

"It's the best thing you can do," Barrett replied emphatically. "The sooner she gets away from this scene the better. What do you propose?"

"I want to drive with her to Titusville as soon as it is light enough—in time to catch the early express for Buffalo. It carries a Pullman, and we will take a stateroom for her, of course. You and Winthrop will look after her. At Buffalo we'll board a New York Central train, and push right on."

"It's a good plan," said Barrett.

"We'll ask Hambidge to stay in Titusville long enough to settle hotel bills, and bring along our hand-baggage."

"And to hand my resignation to the editor of the Morning Herald," the Secret Service man concluded, with a cheerful grin.

XXIV.

Breakfast was cooked out of doors, and they were eating it when one of the Pittsburg detectives appeared at the edge of the woods and beckoned to Wotsirb, who arose and went to him.

"Captain Bailey sent me to say we have pinched the bunch," he remarked briefly.

"Two men and one woman?" Wotsirb inquired.

The other nodded.

"Where are they?

"Back there about a quarter of a mile, in a ravine. The little guy with black whiskerz was scootin' through the bushes like a scared deer when he ran plump into me arms. He let out a yell and started to scrap so I had to t'ump him up a bit. Later on he said he had a wrestling match with somebody in the woods a couple of hours ago, but made a get-away. He thought I was the party."

"No," said Wotsirb, "that was Mr. Winthrop—he told me about it afterward. . . . . Where did you say the others are?"

"Back there in a deep holler. The lady she'h fell over a log, and sprained her ankle bad, or broke it—so's she can't walk, hardly. Some hefty, she is, and the other man, the big broad-shouldered guy, was standing by her. So they was easy."

"What else?"

"We found three satchels near 'em in the bushes, filled up with farmer's clothes, and a white wig, and a big bonnet and such-like truck."

"See that curve in the road?" asked Wotsirb.

The Pittsburg detective nodded.

"Just beyond it is a mass of rock. Tell Bailey and Thompson to bring the prisoners to me up there. Go through the woods and don't let them come in sight of this house—understand?"

"Yessir."

Wotsirb came back to the group around the fire and spoke to Barrett, who walked off with him up the road. The light of early morning had already come to the open space about the house, but the long-abandoned curving roadway, lined with trees and tall bushes, was still obscured as they passed over it to the great rock where they sat down and waited.

The chill of night lingered in the air, which was fragrant with the damp odours of wild flowers and grass-stems dripping with moisture. Far above them the topmost leaves now and then stirred gently, and birds were beginning to peep. A chipmunk flashed along an old fence-rail across the way, suddenly stopping to regard the strangers with black, beady eyes, then, with a whisk of his tail, diving out of sight in the ruins of a stone-wall.

Barrett was about to ask a question of Wotsirb, when they heard a trampling of bushes, and a few moments later a ghostly procession could be seen coming toward them through the woods—six detectives carrying several satchels, and surrounding three prisoners. One, a stout woman, hobbled painfully over the rough ground. Back of her came a slender young man, with black hair and carefully trimmed black beard, who wore dark goggles. He was handcuffed to another man, much shorter, much heavier, smooth-faced, who was dressed as a priest.

The strange group came directly up to the rock whereon Barrett and Wotsirb were waiting, and there halted.

For a full minute Wotsirb sat motionless as a statute, regarding the prisoners with a countenance of severity. Never had Barrett seen such an expression on a human face. Never did he expect to see its like again.

Finally Wotsirb spoke, his sharp tones shattering the damp silence of early dawn.

"Captain Thompson, how much time can we get for this band of kidnappers under the laws of New York?"

"Twenty-five years at hard labour, sir."

"I guess we can do better than that in Pennsylvania—eh, Bailey?"

"Life-imprisonment, considering all the counts," the Pittsburg detective replied.

"I have something in mind that would be better yet," Wotsirb said, after a pause. "It would be easy, wouldn't it, to take these crooks across the border into Maryland and 'frame-up' a case there?"

"Sure thing!" Bailey promptly responded. "We can slide into Baltimore with 'em on a train, and turn them over to the police with no trouble at all."

"Fact is," Captain Thompson, interrupted with unconcealed glee, "it is my own impression that we followed them out of Pennsylvania and put the nippers on 'em while the train was in Maryland territory."

"The main beauty of this plan," Wotsirb explained, turning to Barrett, "is that under the laws of Maryland the crime of kidnapping calls for the death-penalty."

The Stomach Needs Help

The Liver, Kidneys and Bowels Must Be Kept Active to Ensure Health

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

Not one person in a hundred can get along at this time of year, without using something to enliven the action of the liver, kidneys and bowels.

Too much eating of heavy artificial foods, too little outdoor exercise, this is the explanation.

The liver and kidneys are overworked in their efforts to remove the poisonous waste matter from the system. They fail and become torpid and clogged. The bowels become constipated and stomach derangements follow.

There is one medicine which will overcome this condition more certainly and more quickly than any other, and this is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

This medicine gets the bowels in action at once and by awakening the liver and kidneys ensures the thorough cleansing of the filtering and excretory systems.

With the poisonous obstructions removed, the digestive system resumes its healthful condition, appetite improves, pains and aches disappear as well as irritability and depression.

You cannot imagine a more satisfactory treatment for biliousness, constipation, backache and kidney disease than Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. One pill a dose, 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

TWENTY-FIFTH ANNIVERSARY OF THEIR WEDDING

Interesting Event at the Home of Mrs. W. Jackson on Monday Night—Many Beautiful Presents Received.

ENJOYABLE OCCASION

Special to The Examiner:

The home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Jackson, 318 Charlotte street, was the scene of a very happy event on Monday evening, March 6th, 1911, when they celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding. The occasion was honoured by about thirty of their most immediate friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson received their friends in a very cordial manner, assisted by Mrs. F. H. Falkner and Mrs. J. W. Bryans, of Havelock and the Misses Flo and Mary Eason, city. They were the recipients of many beautiful and costly presents, suitable for the occasion, which evidenced the high esteem in which they are held by their many friends. Including the presents was a piece of silver from Mrs. Jackson's mother, Mrs. W. Spilsbury, that has been in the family over a hundred years, it being a part of a set used in the late Captain Spilsbury's family of Colborne, Ont. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson were married at Bethany, Ont., by the Rev. Mr. R. S. Courtice, March 5th, 1886. About eighteen years ago they moved to Peterborough and have resided here ever since.

During the evening, games of different kinds were indulged in. Miss Greta LeBarr rendered two recitations which added to the enjoyment of the evening.

A sumptuous and dainty repast provided by Coleman Bros., was served and a most sociable and enjoyable time in general was indulged in. The assembly dispersed about midnight, but not before wishing Mr. and Mrs. Jackson many happy returns.

A WORD TO MOTHERS

The Chief Cause of Spring Eruptions and Chills Explained—Every Mother Should Read This Article

At this season of the year most people are troubled with Spring eruptions and skin irritations. This is an indication that the blood is full of impurities and can only be removed through the kidneys—the human filters.

In 99 out of 100 cases disordered kidneys are to blame for Spring weakness and disorder. Overworked, they have ceased to become effective and perform their functions very imperfectly. They have permitted impurities that should have been arrested in the human filter beds to get into the system—the blood is overloaded with these impurities and impoverished conditions result.

This is the time all thoughtful mothers are anxious to ward off the dangers to her family that arise from weak and disordered kidneys. She knows that the old-fashioned way of purging is opposed to nature. The sick ones need toning and bracing up and not weakness by purgatives. Booth's Kidney Pills are not a laxative but a kidney tonic. They go to the seat of the trouble and commence to build up health in the same way as a builder builds a house. The kidneys are toned up, the blood becomes purer and in a remarkably short time the glow of health is seen and felt.

As Booth's Kidney Pills are a guaranteed remedy, you are perfectly safe in giving them a trial. The proprietors would not dare to guarantee them if they were not sure that they were the very best remedy for kidney trouble and would do all they claim for them. They are so well and carefully compounded that they are suitable for both young and old.

"My daughter, Elva, who is in her seventh year, suffered for the past two or three years with a weakness in her back and in the region of her kidneys. She could not lie in bed and the cold chills settled in her back. She was weak and languid and her health was not at all good. I had tried many different prescriptions but could find no good in any of them. I would have to apply hot plasters to her back at night, but this only gave slight temporary relief. I learned of Booth's Kidney Pills and commenced giving her this treatment, following the directions closely. I soon found Booth's Kidney Pills going to the cause of the trouble and giving her the long sought results. Her back gradually strengthened and she is better and stronger in every way. She has not suffered an attack of the trouble since and I am thankful for what Booth's Kidney Pills did for her."—Mrs. Oliver Johnson, Havelock, Lucknow, Ont.

FREE OFFER.

So sure are the proprietors that Booth's Kidney Pills will do all that is claimed for them that they are willing to send every reader who suffers from kidney and Spring weakness a trial box free. Just address your letter to the R. T. Booth Co., Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont., and mention this offer.

SHOULD A GIRL TELL HER PAST?

F. R. Reiterates His Opinion That She Should Confess Her Faults Before Marriage---"Anxious Mother" Says There is no Need of Telling the Intended.

I have read the letter signed "A Near Suffragette" with mingled feelings of surprise and, may I say so without wishing to give offence, disappointment. Surprise that the writer should not have had perception enough to see that the point raised by Miss Cameron in her "Chit-Chat" was this, viz.: That the unfortunate girl had perforce to make her confession "nolens volens" at some time or other; and the question at issue is, would it be better to tell her fiance before, rather than after, marriage, and so throw herself on his mercy (and let us hope, forbearance) and take chances; or should she wait until after marriage and so make sure of her married position. Bear in mind, that this is not a discussion on whether she should or should not own up her weakness, but as to the time of that owning up. This, to my mind, appeared to be a foregone conclusion with Miss Cameron, and it was on this basis that I penned my article, for it seemed to me that the versatile authoress of Chit-Chat laid it down as an axiom that the confession is bound to come at some time or another. Now if a man be a low "cad," and there are some such I grant, he may twit the woman after marriage with what she has in heart-broken manner owned up to him. But "Te Deum laudamus" that all men are not cads; at least I hope not. I don't think they all are in my country, and I would fain believe that they are not in this fair land.

Instinct, so strong in the female sex, will guide the woman; for as I have before observed, instinct is strong in a woman. It is instinct that causes her to act first and reason afterwards, and in this she is the veritable antithesis of the man. Sure, instinct always tells her whether a man admires her and loves her, long before the man has done or said anything to give himself away. The love of a woman differs from that of a man in a material manner. A woman frequently loves a man because she loves that she should be loved by that particular man. A man who loves a woman, loves her—even though she may not reciprocate his love—until she does something to disgust him; something petty or mean or spiteful; in other words, cattish.

I repeat, that to my mind, it is better for the girl who has to go through the hoop to do so before marriage. Can you women who are like Caesar's wife, above suspicion, picture to your minds the agony of suspense, the torture, the fear, endured by the girl who, we will assume, loves her husband devotedly, but who has this sword of Damocles hanging over her head. She feels she is idolized by the man who has taken her as the wife of his bosom; yet her existence is a hell upon earth. Just her "very dearest friend (?)" in a fit of pique or jealousy, maybe should let on to the husband. Or, perhaps, even the man who placed her in her equivocal position may, as in the famous Thaw case, be the unutterable cad who gives her away. Is it not better, I say, for her to tell her intended husband—no need to tell him either until the marriage is definitely arranged—in time before it is too late. If he turns her down, she knows the sum of her misery, and there is the end of her day dream poor girl. But what if he finds it out after, as sooner or later he is sure to do. Some men would be generous and condone the offence; others would take the opposite stand—not so much in some instances on account of the lapse, but on account of the deceit and the wound to their pride and vanity.

Well, "Nearly a Suffragette" agrees practically with me on this point—that those of her own sex are likely to "pass on" the slip of the erring girl, and she agrees also with me in my remarks as to the harshness of judgment when meted out by woman on woman. I thank her for this. I do not, however, altogether agree with her—let her put it down to any inordinate vanity or conceit if it so pleases her—that I have altogether misjudged my own sex. I think the majority of us have sympathy with the erring girl. Of course, when I allude to a girl with "a past," I naturally refer to a girl who has been unfortunate enough to make a single lapse. I do not, for the purposes of this discussion bring into the category a girl who sets little or no value on her purity, who, in short, drags her chastity in the mire forall comers, or who sells it to the highest bidder. Such are outside this question. The question of confession to a priest or minister or Sweeney is not the point at all. The repentant soul will probably derive spiritual comfort from the two first named. The crux of the whole matter is, should she confess her shortcoming to her intended husband, so that part of "A Near Suffragette's" letter can be eliminated, except that I may say the burden of the cross may be too heavy to be borne. The penance, too acute to be endured in silence, after marriage, and in this I agree with "A Near Suffragette," or rather, she agrees with me, that of the two paths it is better to own up before.

Now, be it understood, I do not profess to pose as a saint. If I did, I don't suppose I should find anybody green enough to believe me. No, I am not a Pharisee, thanking my God that I am not, as other men are. I lead—or try to lead—a clean life, yet I should quail before the eye of my "best girl"—were I fortunate enough to possess one—did she but cross-examine me about my moral past. I don't care who he may be, but every single man has in his mind's eye ONE girl whom he admires and respects, nay, reveres and loves more than all the others, and he would not like her to know, even if she be only a dear friend, whose acquaintance he values highly, a little part of his picadilloes. And well indeed is it for him that she doesn't ask him! Personally, I surmise that I am no better, and probably no worse, than the rest of men. But how could I face the gentle eye of some sweet girl whom I might love and who might care for me, and answer her as to every detail of my past moral life. Lucky therefore for us it is that they do not ask us awkward questions. Neither should we ask them. I should not dream of such a thing. Yet, if they should have "a past" it would be better for them to be straightforward and own up before hand, rather than after. That we have a past is more or less taken for granted.

F. R.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—In regard to a girl telling her past, I am a woman and have dear girls of my own, and I might, in the future, have nothing to boast of concerning them. When I was a girl I met with temptation, but was taught by my dear mother to always pray and to tell Jesus my trouble, and if He saw best to make me more of a humble servant through those failures. I feel sure I would wisely, for, by ways that are unknown, God leads us. He gives wisdom to know of what a Friend we have in Jesus. All our sins and griefs to bear; what a privilege to carry everything to God in prayer. And He also tells us, we all, like sheep, have gone astray, every one to his own way; so I think it is not necessary for a girl to tell her past to her intended. If he be a Godly living man he will not want to know her past, as long as he finds her present up to his desires and wishes, that her past failures may have been the purifying of her present and made her a better wife, mother, and friend. With God there is no respect of persons.

Just a few lines in regard to that "Suffragette" in last night's Examiner. I am so sorry to have to say it was one of my own sex. We would never read of a man speaking of his sex as she did her's, when she called some of God's handiwork a riff-raff. When my little daughter read the "Suffragette" column, she asked her father to explain the paragraph about the price question, and her father snatched the paper away and put it in the stove, much against our wishes, for we had not yet read our paper through. The little girl cried bitterly and said her Collegiate teachers complained of them not reading the papers more than they had been doing. I think it is a shame to use such discourse in print, where young women and young men are discussing such literature. That woman thinks she stands high, but she wants to be praying, lest she fall. How dare a woman speak of another being in the gutter, for fear God might place some of her own dear ones there, just to show that with Him all things are possible and that we must not boast.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,

AN ANXIOUS MOTHER.

HIS LAST TERM?

Whisper Has It That Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M. P. P., Has Decided to Retire

It is reported that Mr. T. E. Bradburn, M.P.P. for West Peterborough at the conclusion of the present parliament will retire from the representation of West Peterborough in the Legislature.

An Examiner reporter interviewed Mr. Bradburn to-day in reference to the matter and in answer to the question if he had decided to retire he said: "It is a long way off yet. I might not get the convention or something else might happen. I am not prepared to say anything about the matter at present."

ANNUAL REPORT DE LUXE
ROYAL BANK OF CANADA

The Examiner has to thank the manager of the city branch, Mr. Vincent Eastwood, for a copy of the forty-first annual report of the Royal Bank of Canada. This brochure of eight pages is not only the last word in artistic printing, but a veritable, statistical cyclopedia of the resources, and fiscal, financial and commercial achievements of Canada.

As is to be expected, prominence is given the report of the 42nd 'annual meeting, which shows the Royal bank to have a paid up capital of $6,200,000, with a reserve fund of $7,000,000 and total assets of $92,540,346. Significant figures are comprised in the statement that during the year three quarterly dividends at the rate of eleven per cent. per annum were paid and one at the rate of 12 per cent.

The aggressive character of the management is shown by the fact that during the year, in addition to the thirty-four new branches acquired through the absorption of Union Bank of Halifax, twenty new offices were opened, distributed over practically every province of the Dominion. The list of branches of the Royal bank is interesting from the fact of the important number of agencies established and operated outside of Canada, in Newfoundland, Cuba, twelve offices; Porto Rico, Bahamas, Trinidad, Jamaica, Barbados, etc.

The list of shareholders seems to be largely composed of Maritime province names, suggestive of the idea that our seaside cousins are strong on brains and robust banking business.

An interesting appendix of the reports consists of statistics relating to the Dominion of Canada, relating to its area, revenue and expenditure, public debt, banking returns, World's and Western wheat production, Canada's wheat exports to Britain and foreign countries, grain shipments from Port Arthur and Fort William, principal western grain crops, field crops in Canada, trade statistics, summary of imports and exports with United Kingdom and principal countries, statistics relating to minerals, canals and railways, immigration, religious denominations, population census, etc., and an abridged customs tariff. These statistics are both concise and comprehensive, and represent a score of blue books boiled down and presented in compendious and easily consulted form.

The value of the condensed knowledge department of the Royal Bank's annual report is added to by the accompanying folder map in colours, showing the grain elevators (with capacity) in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta and the main railway lines upon which they are situated, as well as the flour and meal mills, and their daily capacity. In a word, there is little knowledge, in a general way that enters into the matters of commerce, trade and money making, lacking in the statistical compedium contained in the 41st annual report of the Royal Bank of Canada.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE FAUN.

One of the most notable theatrical offerings of the season was the presentation of "The Faun," Edward Kloblauch's fantastic comedy, at the Grand last night, which served to introduce for the first time to Peterborough theatre goers the celebrated actor, Mr. William Faversham, and his talented wife, Miss Julie Opp. The production was one of the most pleasing of the season, the clever satire being admirably acted and staged, while the lines fairly bristled with bright, sparkling wit, which kept the audience in a happy mood from start to finish. Startlingly unusual in its effects and methods "The Faun" was a refreshing novelty that bore beneath its fun and humour a lesson that will bear studying.

From the costumes of the posters one might judge that "The Faun" disports himself about his native glades and grottos. But the action, in reality takes place amid the upper reaches of society. Emerging from a geranium bed, the Faun (Mr. Faversham, of course), comes upon a peer about to put himself under the turf because his horse has ruined him on top of it. Anxious to have a glimpse of high modern life, he will use his mythologic kinship with all things that live in order to pick winners for the sporting peer. He dons modern garb. Of course he manages to set Stonbury right at Tattersall's, but the Faun, with his adherence ot truth and obedience to his impulses, renders himself hugely obnoxious to Lord Stonbury's circle. The lectures he delivers ot scheming mamma, anaemic daughter, pompous K. C. and others are far from palatable to these creatures of modern artificiality. But he perseveres with his belief that a human being is an animal after all, and creates nothing but unhappiness in the effort to gainsay nature. Some of his doctrine is passing frank, and he is roundly scored for talking free love before ladies—unmarried ones at that.

"What," he exclaims, in surprise, "would you restrict it to the married women?"

Still his idea, laid down with convincing comedy, wins partial acceptance, and he succeeds in getting the right male to marry the correct female and live happily—for some time afterwards, at least. Even a suffragette this priest of nature manages to restore to her original sex.

Mr. Faversham, in a role that is widely divergent from anything he has attempted in the past, showed himself thoroughly at home and gave a most pleasing and acceptable conception of the part. From his first startling appearance, clad only in a leopard skin, until his wild leap for the open air and back to nature, at the climax, his work was artistic and convincing. So impressed was the audience that he was given half a dozen curtain calls at the end of each act. The support was admirable. The entire cast seemed to have caught the spirit of the author, and no play seen here in a long time was better acted. Miss Opp was a host in herself, and the minor roles were in capable hands.

Scenically, the production was a gem.

FINE OF $50 INFLICTED IN THE GAMBLING CASE

Variety of Cases Heard by Magistrate Dumble This Morning—Theft Charge Was Dismissed.

BOYS IN COURT

Ross McColl, J. Copperwaite and Joseph Shearer, who appeared in the Police Court on the 30th of March, charged with stealing 50 bags of chop from the Quaker Oats Co., appeared in court this morning, with the exception of Shearer, who, it is stated, left for parts unknown. The case had to be adjourned until he could be located.

Abraham Lowe, a junk dealer, appeared in Court, charged by Abraham Crouter, with having received stolen goods and Wm. Clarke, Lowe's employee, appeared, charged with having stolen a waggon, one set of harness and a robe from Abraham Crouter. Both Clarke and Lowe pleaded not guilty to their respective charges. Short evidence was taken in the case, but it was finally dismissed. Crouter was put in the box, and gave evidence to the effect that he had bought a horse from Lowe some six weeks ago for $37.50, and paid $1.00 down. He said that soon after Lowe came to him and asked for security, at the same time presenting a paper, on which it stated that the horse remained in the possession of Lowe until paid for, likewise a waggon robe and harness, which belonged to Crouter.

Crouter could not read the paper, but trusted to the honesty of the other and signed the bill. A few days ago, Lowe told Crouter that it was about time that he was making another payment on the horse, to which Crouter replied that he could pay nothing until summer. Lowe took possession of the rights of the security, and sent his employee (Clarke) over to Crouter's to get the waggon and harness. Crouter, not knowing the contents of the document he had signed, charged the offender as stated. His Worship, Magistrate Dumble, after carefully considering the evidence, dismissed the case. The horse will likely be sold by public auction on the Market on Saturday.

The two men, who appeared in Court a few days ago, charged with keeping a disorderly house, or common gambling house, over 371 George street, appeared in court to-day. The case was again adjourned until Tuesday.

Five other men were charged with being frequenters. They pleaded guilty and judgment was reserved until Tuesday.

One of the offenders, who requested that he be given judgment to-day, realized, probably for the first time, that "The way of the Transgressor is hard," when His Worship, Magistrate Dumble imposed a fine of $50.00 this afternoon at 2 o'clock. The young man wanted to get the trial over with, as he wanted to leave the city. Another of the party asked for sentence and was likewise fined $50.

WANTED TO KILL POPE AND SHOT AT A PRIEST

Austrian Created a Sensation During Mass at St. Peter's—Policeman Was Wounded.

FINALLY DISARMED

ROME, APRIL 4.—During a mass at St. Peter's this morning an Austrian entered the church and levelled a revolver at the priest, Mgr. Orsi. He then shot a policeman who rushed to disarm him. The congregation, which included many Americans and English, became panic-stricken and rushed out of the building. The man was finally disarmed.

The man who did the shooting was a bricklayer by the name of Pietro Desanti, 42 years of age. He stated that he was a native of Austria. He added that he is neither a Socialist nor an Anarchist, but an Anti-Clerical, who hated all religions and priests.

Continuing his narrative to the police, he said that he came to Rome last August, with the fixed intention of killing the Pope. At first it was his intention to secure a place as a gardener in the Vatican grounds and wait an opportunity to shoot his Holiness as he was taking a walk in the gardens. After thinking it over, he realized the impossibility of this plan or of the alternative of reaching the papal apartments, owing to the strict surveillance maintained by the Vatican guards. In view of all this he at last decided to kill a priest and for that purpose he purchased a revolver and went to St. Peter's, where he waited till the mass was ended. Then he drew his weapon, and aimed at the celebrant as the latter passed him on his way to the sacristy.

Much to his regret, he said, he missed the priest, but he would try again if he ever got the chance.

Disinherited by Relatives.

Desanti also told the police that his hatred of religion was due to the fact that an uncle and aunt who had reared him had disinherited him, at the instigation of the priests, and had left their money to the church. When he found that this plan was on foot he killed his uncle and aunt and after being tried and convicted, for the murder, he was sentenced to death.

Afterwards this was commuted to life imprisonment.

He served twenty years and was then released. Upon regaining his liberty he emigrated to the United States where he worked hard and saved sufficient money to enable him to come to Rome. His idea all the time was to kill the Pope.

Mgr. Orsi, who narrowly escaped death when the first shot was fired, said that he heard the bullet whistle within an inch of his head. He saw a policeman running toward Desanti, who was evidently on the point of firing again. Suddenly a man who was standing near, struck the would-be assassin a violent blow on the arm, and a second shot struck the policeman, who, although wounded in the arm, succeeded in disarming the assailant.

The Pope, when informed of the outrage, was terribly shocked and grieved. He told his attendants that he attributed the sacrilege to the growing movement of Anti-Clericalism in Italy. He sent his blessing and a message of sympathy to Mgr. Orsi, at the same time congratulating him on his fortunate escape. Later he forwarded a donation of $200 to the wounded policeman and expressed the intention of conferring upon him the Pontifical Order of Pro Ecclesia Pontefice.

The police do not believe that Desanti is mad and for that reason he will be charged with attempted murder. The side chapel in St. Peter's, where the outrage was committed, will have to be reconsecrated.

AN OPEN VERDICT

In Case of Farmer Charged With Shooting Neighbour

Special Wire to the Examiner.

NORTH BAY, APRIL 6.—The coroner's jury, in the case of Laurent Morin, alleged to have been shot by a neighbouring farmer, John McDougal, returned an open verdict, expressing no opinion as to the cause of death. It was evident from the witnesses that a family feud existed between the Morins and McDougals and it is worse than ever since the old man's death. McDougal is being held by the police.

TEACHER'S NERVES

Teachers often have the reputation of being cross when the trouble is with the nerves rather than the disposition. Mr. A. Sutherland, Principal South Bar School, Sydney, N.S., writes: "I was nervous and worried, had indigestion and headache and other ills. Doctors failed me. Tea was dipped on me to recommend Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food for I believe it has entirely cured me." Tired brains and feeble nerves are soon restored by this celebrated food cure.

IS AIMED AT JAPAN

Mobilization of Troops in Texas is Explained—Diaz is Well Pleased with the Situation

MEANING OF MOVEMENT

El Paso, Texas, April 6—An explanation bearing all the marks of authenticity, clearing up the American-Mexican Japanese situation was given here yesterday by one of the most prominent Mexican-Americans in the country. According to this informant, President Diaz was paving a way to refuse a coaling station on Magdalen Island to the Japanese, even before the renewal of the American Government contract came up for discussion.

"Diaz," said the Mexican-American, "found himself between the upper and nether milestones. He was impressed with the influx of Japanese into Mexico and in particular with the knowledge that they had mapped its entire western coast. Slow, insistent pressure was brought on him to give Japan a coaling station in Magdelana Bay. On the other side was the U. S. and the Monroe doctrine."

He temporarised until, to his considerable relief, came an unmistakable intimation from Washington that Japan was not to have the station, although the same privilege for the U. S. was not insisted upon. Diaz then informed Japan that he did not care to lease any part of his country to a foreign power.

"Not knowing what might be the result of the Mexican attitude in Japan, President Taft ordered the mobilization of a division of American troops in Texas. In Mexico every citizen realizes that in the event of Japan aggression, which, however, baseless the fear may be, is still feared, Mexico must rely upon the assistance of the U. S. Japan never has attempted the colonization of large bodies of Japanese on certain tracts of land in Mexico, but the aggregate immigration figures from the land of the Rising Sun are impressive."

"Are not these immigrants mostly coolie laborers?"

"Mexico does not need to import labor; they are mostly veterans of the Russo-Japanese war. They are not brought to Mexico to make an army of protection against the Americans. They came of their own accord, and for their own ends.

"And bear in mind, they do not make maps for fun and we know that many of these immigrants have had no other visible occupation."

Program of Woman Mayor.

Hunnewell, Kas., April 6.—It may seem strange enough to have a woman for mayor, but what about a woman for chief of police too? Yet Mrs. Ella Wilson, the first woman ever to be elected to a mayoralty, says she proposes to make such an appointment in her effort to make the town "dry."

Her program includes prohibition of liquor traffic; prohibitive tax on pool rooms; purification of water supply; appointment of medical officer to compel proper ventilation of stores and factories and public buildings of all kinds; provision of proper places of amusement for the young and the encouragement of healthy athletics for young men.

She will name Mrs. Osborne a candidate for judgeship, for chief of police, and Mrs. S. Hilton as city treasurer.

Moberly Bell Dead.

London, April 6.—Charles Frederic Moberly Bell, managing director of The London Times since 1908, died suddenly at his office yesterday of heart disease.

He was born in April, 1847, the son of the late Thomas Bell of Egypt, and in 1875 married the daughter of the late Rev. James Chaloway. He was the correspondent of The Times in Egypt from 1885 to 1890, when he became assistant manager. He has written much of Egyptian affairs. He visited Canada a year or so ago.

TO KEEP ITS PULP

New Brunswick Follows the Lead of Quebec—Measure to Forbid the Export of the Timber

AN IMPORTANT BILL

Fredericton, N. B., April 6.—In the Legislature yesterday Hon. Mr. Grimmer, Surveyor-General, introduced a bill to prevent the export of pulpwood from the crown lands of the province.

The act provides that every timber license or permit conferring authority to cut spruce or soft wood trees or timber, not being pine, suitable for manufacturing pulp or paper on the ungranted lands of the crown, shall contain and be subject to the condition that all such timber cut under the authority or permission or such license or permit, shall be manufactured in Canada, that is to say into merchantable pulp or paper or into sawn lumber, woodenware utensils, or other articles of commerce or merchandise, as distinguished from the said spruce or other timber in its raw or unmanufactured state. There are provisions for the enforcement of the regulation, and also exempting such logs as may be required for fuel or building purposes.

The regulation applies to all licenses or permits hereafter issued, whether for the first time or in the renewal of licenses or permits heretofore issued or granted, and the act comes in force when proclaimed by the Governor-in-Council.

STOMACH TROUBLES

Cured by Vinol—Here is Proof:

Seymour, Ind., I was troubled with a chronic stomach trouble and five weeks ago it got so bad I had to give up work. I had tried various medicines without relief—and was finally induced to try Vinol. After taking the first bottle I was greatly benefited. Am now on the third bottle and ready to resume work. Am rapidly gaining in weight and strength." Edw. Nieman. (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine.)

It is the curative medicinal elements of the cods' livers, combined with the strengthening properties of tonic iron contained in Vinol which makes it so successful in restoring perfect digestion and at the same time it builds up the tired, overworked and run-down system.

Try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not help you. Mc Dermid and Jury, corner George and Charlotte streets; also Payne's drug store, corner George and Simcoe streets.

HURTS HOME RULE.

Irish Member Says Veto Is Bad For Emerald Isle.

London, April 6.—Moreton Frewen will soon resign his seat in Parliament for the northeast division of Cork County, as he opposes the Government's veto bill and desires to create a vacancy for Timothy Healy, who was defeated in the last election. Discussing his proposed retirement yesterday Mr. Frewen said:

"I am convinced that the veto bill includes every wrong method for winning public opinion in England to rational home rule views. A second chamber of destruction instead of construction is incompatible with the federal solution, which is the only solution. It is quite impossible to achieve such a constitutional rearrangement as is desired without the co-operation of both great parties.

"The furious passions that are being stirred up must make the generous financing of the new Irish Government and the completion of the land purchase hopeless for many years. To have coaxed the Tories, to have conciliated the classes and creeds; this would have been quite easy, indeed, thanks to the federal movement for which Lord Grey is chiefly responsible. The leaven was already at work, but now we are likely to be undone. However, it is not possible for me to advance such views. To do so in this crisis would be to weaken Mr. O'Brien and his new movement, upon which is contingent that broader settlement which I anticipate with confidence, when this present attempt is seen to have miscarried."

Quite Incidentally.

Ottawa, April 6.—Former Senator Beveridge of Indiana, who has been in Ottawa to study Canadian politics at first hand, probably to use as material for articles, while he is incidentally talking a little reciprocity quietly across for the United States to-day.

BRADBURY ON THE PACT

Member for Selkirk Performs Some Acrobatic Feats in Discussing Reciprocity Agreement

ABOUT THE I. C. R.

Ottawa, April 6.—Mr. Bradbury is a political gymnast. For nearly three weary hours he wrestled with the problem of facing both ways when the reciprocity debate was resumed in the Commons yesterday afternoon. "I may say, as has been said by other great men," he finally modestly assured a sitting House, "that we are taking a leap in the dark." The member for Selkirk advocated free trade in manufactured products, particularly agricultural implements, but he opposed any enlargement of Canadian markets by a tariff-free exchange of natural products.

Before the reciprocity debate was resumed yesterday, a variety of matters engaged the attention of the House of Commons. First was the formal announcement by Hon. Geo. P. Graham, Minister of Railways and Canals, confirming the report that the contract for the Quebec Bridge had been awarded to the St. Lawrence Bridge Co., which is a combination of the Canadian Bridge Co., Walkerville, and the Dominion Bridge Co., Lachine. As announced, the contract price was slightly under nine millions of dollars. The Minister promised to table all correspondence in a few days.

Mr. Foster drew the attention to the fact that the new Anglo-Japanese treaty has been signed. He asked if the Government had any information to impart as to where Canada stands in this regard.

Mr. Fielding replied that for the present Canada was not included in the terms of the treaty. The Government was now considering whether it would be advisable to adhere to the terms of the agreement between Great Britain and Japan or to make an arrangement of her own.

Haughton Lennox (Simcoe) noted that the U. S. Government had established a publicity bureau under the Presidency of Champ Clark, which was compiling statistics dealing with reciprocity. He asked the Government to get a supply of publications of this sort issued at Washington for the use of members of the House.

Mr. Fielding said the Government had not had any communication with Champ Clark, and suggested that all Mr. Lennox had to do was to ask the Parliamentary librarian to get this information for him.

Mr. E. L. Borden asked what the Government proposed to do about the bank act, a notice in reference to which had been on the order paper for four months. He saw no reason why the bill should not have been in the hands of the banking and commerce committee.

Mr. Fielding said that the same question had been put to him the other day, and that his answer was on Hansard. The effect of that statement, it might be well to note, was that it is neither probable or essential that the revision of the act should be undertaken at the present session.

E. N. Rhodes (Cumberland) read an article and editorial from a Maritime Province newspaper, to show that the I. C. R. was establishing an unenviable record in the matter of wrecks and accidents. The paper said that there must be something wrong with the management of the road, and that it was the duty of the Minister of Railways to institute an enquiry.

Mr. Graham said that he had not heard of any such difficulty. He denied emphatically that the I. C. R., considering its mileage and traffic, had any more accidents than any other railway. The trouble was that when the Government-owned railway had an accident, it got scare headlines in the newspapers, whereas the same kind of an accident on a company-owned line would be tucked away in a corner.

The House then went into committee of ways and means on the reciprocity resolutions, and Geo. Bradbury (Selkirk, Man.), continued the debate after the lapse of a month. He condemned it from the standpoint that it was calculated to destroy what had been accomplished in Canada during the last thirty or forty years. He considered as the result of the pact that the farmers would be "the worst picked people in Canada."

Ralph Smith (Nanaimo) made a speech in favor of the agreement from the standpoint of the consumer. He expressed the views at the outset that Mr. Broder did not represent the opinion of the majority of the farmers of the country, because it was the farmers who had made the strongest demands for a reduction in the duties. Mr. Broder cried out for a full measure of free trade." If the Conservative party would not give its support to a small measure, the people of the west who want more would not be likely to put their confidence in them.

Andrew Broder, following Ralph Smith (Nanaimo), attacked the agreement from the point of view of the farmer. He asked how it was that the Government was going to give the farmer higher prices for his produce and cheaper food to the consumer. He regarded the argument as foolish. He agreed with Mr. Smith that the consumer should be considered, but he contended that the man in the furrow was the man who ought to be considered first, and he was not ashamed of his position.

Horse Rolled on Him.

Kingston, April 6.—Daniel McLean, a farmer of Pittsburgh, met with an accident which may prove fatal. His horse stumbled and fell. McLean got out to extricate the horse from the harness, and the animal rolled on him, breaking three ribs, and, it is feared, injured him internally.

Fell From Scaffold.

Ottawa, April 6.—R. R. Chisholm, a contractor from Alexandria, fell from a six-foot scaffold on Monday and his injuries terminated fatally yesterday.

New Anglo-Jap Treaty.

London, April 6.—The new Anglo-Japanese commercial treaty, which was ratified at Tokio on Tuesday, provides for reductions in the rates of the new Japanese tariff on the chief British textile and metal imports from Japan.

In the case of grey cotton tissues, the duties are reduced from one-third to one-fourth, and on the most important tissues, pure wool and cotton mixed and linen yarns, a reduction of one-fifth is made.

Of certain classes of iron and steel plates, including galvanized sheets and tin plates, there is a concession of from two-ninths to two-fifths per cent., on pig iron one-sixth, and on points one-third per cent.

Specialties in Japanese manufacture will continue to be admitted to the United Kingdom duty free. The treaty will remain in force twelve years.

"SLEEPLESSNESS."

Thousands of people all over this land lose night after night on a sleepless pillow. The eyes do not close in the refreshing slumber that comes to those whose heart and nerves are right.

Some are troubled with weak and smothering spells; others palpitation of the heart; others have their nerves unstrung; but whatever the cause—it comes entirely from a derangement of either the heart or nerves, or both. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills offer the blessing of sound, refreshing slumber. They do this by their invigorating effect on the heart and nerves and will tone up the whole system to perfect condition.

Mr. H. Jewel, Keswick, Ont., writes: "I am glad to have the pleasure of telling you what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills did for me. I would have weak spells, seemed to lose my breath, and would have to get up in the night as I could not sleep. I tried many medicines but found nothing good until I used Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I took three boxes and it is three years ago since I did so, and I haven't been troubled since."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

PETERBOROUGH IS NOW ON THE FIGHTING MAP

Milwaukee Manager Wants a Boy Here for Gus Christie—Would Like His Man to Meet Hilliard Lang, who Fights Joe Lannon Here To-morrow Night.

Seats are going fast for the big programme of boxing bouts at the Grand Opera House to-morrow night under the auspices of the Peterborough Athletic Club and the indications point to a big crowd. Several blocks of seats have been sold to some of the clubs in the city, whose members are going in a body. Seats are on sale at the box office now and fans should waste no time in getting their places booked, as the choice places are going fast.

All the contestants have been heard from and they all express themselves as being in good shape. While the greatest interest naturally centres in the Lang-Lannon go, the fans should remember that the preliminaries will be about as fast bouts as have ever been seen here, and the programme in its entirety is one of the best ever pulled off in Canada.

Peterborough is getting on the fighting map, as evidenced by the following letter received by Manager Breen from Con O'Leary, the well known western fight promoter:

"See the match makers of some of the clubs around there for me and try to get a match for Gus Christie with Hilliard Lang. I am hot after Moha with Christie, but Moha won't weigh for him, as Moha is a middle weight now and posing as a welter. I would like to get the 28th date. Do they fight straight rules or clean break down there? I also have a boy, Willie Driscoll, 122 pounds, and young Fitzgerald, 118 pounds, that can deliver the goods. Christie beat and knocked out Brown of Chicago, who fought Lang a draw at Winnipeg, so you can tell the match makers what kind of a boy he is."

WHAT THE HAMILTON SPECTATOR SAYS OF "MONTANA"

Hamiltonians having a longing to "go out west" were at least gratified in a measure by spending a few hours in the western atmosphere that pervaded the Grand last night. "Montana." Harry D. Carey's great sensational drama, was presented for the first time in Hamilton at popular prices. The play is intensely interesting from the rise of the curtain until its fall on the last scene. The plot is a plain, straight-away story of life in a section of the west where the picturesque still looms strong in reality as well as in popular fancy. The large audience was thoroughly pleased, and showed its appreciation by long and continuous applause.

The company presenting 'Montana' is fully up to the requirements, prominent among which is the ability of the male portion of the cast to handle a "gun" readily. Harry D. Carey and Edward Raymond played their roles in a most acceptable manner. Fern Foster makes a most charming Fl Harper. The remainder of the cast gave excellent support to the stars.

Mr. Harry D. Carey and Fern Foster will be remembered by local theatre-goers for their splendid work in "Two Women and That Man," which appeared at "The Grand" last season.

HARRY D. CAREY, as Jim Graham, foreman of the "Bockhorn Ranch," in the Great Western Play, "Montana" at The Grand" Saturday, April 8. Matinee and Night.

POST CARD COLUMN

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—To the merchants of Peterborough we wish to express our thanks for the confidence placed in us—we desire to thank them for the contracts sent us through the Peterborough Light and Power Co.

We appreciate this confidence to this extent—the writer guarantees his personal supervision over all construction on the electric signs going to Peterborough. All the novelty features will be carefully tested and tried, leaving in no case, regardless of expense, anything undone that will tend to add attractiveness. We cannot refrain from right here saying our vast experience has perfected our signs, established our standard, made our reputation and proved our guarantee.

We send our congratulations to our competitors on their increase in business. May it continue to grow, and may they be a worthy competitor of The Holman Electric Sign Co., Ltd.

To those who believe rival electric sign companies are simply armed camps of belligerents, this greeting may come as a surprise. But why should we hate a fellow-labourer because he has not toiled in vain. Why should we snarl and falsify about the success of the companion manufacturer. Why should we make personal insinuations affecting the personal honour and integrity of a rival, simply because we are business competitors? We should not. Anyway, feelings of envy and jealousy have no place in the mental attitude.

We hope the dice-box of fortune contains many more happy returns for our friends—our competitors.

Again thanking you, we are, with our very best wishes,

Cordially yours,

The Holman Electric Sign Co., Ltd.
JAMES HOLMAN.

FOR BALD HEADS
A Treatment That Costs Nothing If It Fails

We want you to try three large bottles of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic on our personal guarantee that the trial will not cost you a penny if it does not give you absolute satisfaction. That's proof of our faith, in this remedy, and it should indisputably demonstrate that we know what we are talking about when we say that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic will grow hair on bald heads, except where baldness has been of such long duration that the roots of the hair are entirely dead, the follicles closed and grown over, and the scalp is glazed.

Remember, we are basing our claims upon what has already been accomplished by the use of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic, and we have the right to assume that what it has done for thousands of others it will do for you. In any event you cannot lose anything by giving it a trial on our liberal guarantee. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community only at our store.—The Rexall Store, McDermid and Jury.

CANNOT FAIL TO INTEREST WOMEN

Alberta Lady Tells of Her Cure by Dodd's Kidney Pills

Was weak, nervous, run-down and suffering from Rheumatism — Dodd's Kidney Pills made her a new person.

Beauvallon, Alta., April 5.—(Special.)—Women who are nervous, run-down and suffering from Rheumatism, cannot fail to be interested in the case of Miss Gertrude E. Beyome of this place. She was exactly in that condition. To-day she is as she puts it herself "a new person." Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her. Here is her statement given for publication:

"My Kidney Disease started from a cold two years ago. Rheumatism set in, and I was weak and nervous, and in a run-down condition. I was attended by a doctor who did not appear to understand my case. Three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills made a new person of me."

Is not Miss Beyome's condition an exact description of nine-tenths of the ailing women of Canada? The doctor did not understand her case. It was simple enough. It was Kidney Trouble. And Kidney Disease is the one great cause of women's troubles. Dodd's Kidney Pills always cure it.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

OBITUARY

MR. GEORGE FOLEY.

An old and highly respected resident of Peterborough passed away last night at 8 o'clock, in the death at St. Joseph's Hospital, from blood poisoning, of Mr. George Foley, of 467 Elm street. The deceased was born at Coldsprings, but had lived in Peterborough for many years, and had a host of friends and acquaintances here, to whom the intelligence of his death will come as a shock. He was fifty-two years of age.

He is survived by his wife and six children, John of Hamilton, Mildred of Carievale, Sask., and George, William, James and Melville, at home. Mrs. Edward Morency of Montreal, and Mrs. Robert Bell of Peterborough, are sisters, and Mr. Peter Foley of Midland, a brother of the deceased.

The funeral will take place on Friday at 9 o'clock, from the family residence, to St. Peter's Cathedral, and thence to St. Peter's cemetery for interment.

MRS. JOHN CONROY.

Mrs. John Conroy, of Otonabee, passed away after a lingering illness at her home in Otonabee on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The deceased was seventy-one years of age and was a well-known resident, whose many good qualities had earned her the esteem and liking of everyone with whom she had come into contact. She is survived by her husband and five sons and five daughters. The daughters are Mrs. Patrick Quinlan, Mrs. E. Flaherty, and Mrs. M. O'Brien of this city, Mrs. J. Collins and Miss Maggie of Otonabee, and the sons are Alex. and David of Douro, Patrick of Otonabee, James of East City, and John of Vancouver, B.C.

The funeral took place on Monday morning from the family residence, Otonabee to St. Peter's cemetery.

MRS. P. M. RICHARDSON.

The death occurred last night at Nicholls Hospital, April 5th, of Chloes Myrtle Doxsee, beloved wife of Mr. P. M. Richardson, 496 Bolivar street, Peterborough, after a month's illness. All was done that could be done, but her time had come and at 9.30 she fell asleep in Jesus. God had called her to Himself. Mrs. Richardson was well known and very highly respected amongst a large circle of friends and acquaintances, who extend their sincere sympathy to her sadly bereaved husband. Mrs. Richardson was a member of the Canadian Order of Chosen Friends.

Deceased is survived by her husband, also her mother, Mrs. J. W. Doxsee, Peterborough; five sisters, namely, Mrs. J. S. McAllister, Kingsford; Mrs. A. M. Kenyon, Oddens; Mrs. R. S. Fennell, Norwood; Mrs. T. B. Martin, Calgary, Mrs. G. W. Sayles, Millbrook, and three brothers, Harry G. Schenectady, N.Y.; Ed. and Earl, Peterborough.

Funeral from the family residence of the Canadian Pacific railway station at 7.40, Saturday, and thence to Pontypool, where interment will take place.—Com.

How To Save Money
A Pointer to Housekeepers

Look at the financial side of Zam-Buk's use. A cut sustained in the home, the store, or the workshop, a sore which is unattended, results, say, in festering or blood-poisoning. You have to lay off for a day or two. What does that mean when pay day comes round? Zam-Buk insures you against such an injury, prevents all danger of blood-poisoning, takes out the smarting and heals.

Heads of Families know how costly doctoring is. Be wise and act on the preventive line. A box of Zam-Buk in the home is so all-round useful. The baby's rashes, the older children's cuts and bruises, the inevitable burn, cut, or scald—for all these, as well as for more serious ailments, such as piles, ulcers, eczema, ringworm, etc., Zam-Buk is without a rival.

Dangers of Shaving.—You get a cut at the barber's shop. A little Zam-Buk smeared on the wound prevents all danger. If any ailment has been contracted, Zam-Buk cures. Mr. George Hobden, 166 Manitoba Street, St. Thomas, Ontario, says: "I contracted barber's rash, and the whole of my left cheek broke out in one mass of red, watery pimples and sores. These spread to the other parts of my face until face and neck were covered with running sores. How far the disease would have spread had it not been for Zam-Buk, I don't know. I applied this balm, and in a short time Zam-Buk effected a complete cure."

Zam-Buk Soap is as good as the balm, but in a different way. Washed in Zam-Buk Soap the skin is disinfected and disease germs lying upon it are killed. Mothers will find it unequalled for baby's bath.

Zam-Buk Balm and Zam-Buk Soap are sold by all druggists and stores at 50c. for the balm and 25c. tablet for the soap.

Married at Eleven Years.

Ottawa, April 6.—A young girl of 11 appeared in the Hull Police Court yesterday on a charge of disorderly conduct. She gave the name of Mrs. A. Beaudin, and on enquiry the magistrate discovered that she was married at 11 years and was deserted three months afterwards by her husband. The charge against the child was held over until to-morrow, and in the meantime the police will investigate the circumstances surrounding her life.

MINISTER OF FINANCE APPEARS AT HIS BEST

Hon. Mr. Fielding Answers His Critics in One of the Finest Exhibitions of Argumentative Mastery That Parliament Has Heard This Session.

AMENDMENT DEFEATED

Ottawa, April 7.—It was one of the finest exhibitions of argumentative mastery that Parliament has heard this session—clear-cut, logical, inspiring and unanswered—the Minister of Finance at his best. Hon. Mr. Fielding was drawn into the firing line unexpectedly yesterday afternoon, when the Opposition precipitated the result of their caucus earlier in the day in the shape of an amendment calling for detailed comparative statistics in prices and cost of production in Canada, the United States and the twelve countries affected by the favored-nations treaty.

The motion was lost by a vote of 98 to 64. Clifford Sifton voted with the Opposition, as also did Arthur Gilbert and the remainder of the Nationalists. W. B. Northrup, who was conspicuous in the recent agitation against Mr. Borden, did not appear, and W. M. German and Lloyd-Harris were both out of the House.

It was a breezy day in the House. The Opposition members were persistent in interrupting speakers, and the repartee at times was brilliant. Mr. Fielding made his best effort this session.

After the amendment had been lost, Dr. Reid (Grenville) read a number of statistics which had been furnished by different departments bearing on the trade pact, which had not been printed. It was the only way, he said, that this information could be brought before the country, and for nearly two hours the doctor read masses of figures.

The debate on the main motion continued until the early hours of the morning, Mr. Paterson favoring the members with a homily on courtesy.

He objected to the jokes which had been made at the expense of his "biscuit" business. When he went into the Ministry he had sufficient means to make him independent of his investment in Brantford, and he thought any person who made reference to the matter again was no gentleman.

Mr. Perley said every day people were becoming more opposed to the reciprocity agreement. As to the effect of it he believed that the Opposition had more information than the Government, but what they wanted was some official figures. The Government had stated that the farmers would get better prices. It was known that this would not be the case. With official information before them the Liberal speakers would not be able to go to the farmers and buncoe them.

The Minister of Customs had admitted that all the statistics they had at Washington were those the United States had given them. They had no information of their own regarding the comparative prices of farm products. The excuse offered was that this country was so poor that they could not afford to have these statistics prepared.

Mr. Perley declared that there was only one reason why the Government refused the information—because they wanted to deceive the farmers. The farmers had been told that they would get higher prices, and the Government did not want to let the facts out.

The Government should cause to be forthwith laid on the table of the House in respect to the products and commodities included in the proposed reciprocity agreement with the United States full and reliable information respecting prices and cost of production: (A) in Canada, (B) in the United States, and (C) in the twelve other countries to which Canadian markets will be open under the said proposal.

"And that the Government has been hitherto failing to prepare such information and to submit the same to Parliament."

Mr. Fielding's reply was spirited. His speech was interrupted frequently, and there was continued cross-firing between the Minister and members of the Opposition.

"Has reciprocity always been the policy of the Prime Minister," asked Mr. Boyce.

"Yes," countered Mr. Fielding. "There never was a time when reciprocity ceased to be desirable in this country until this agreement came about. There was a time when it did not seem to be desirable when there was no prospect whatever of obtaining it."

Mr. Fielding then went on to say that there was no information on the subject beyond what he had given. If there was any, he would like to see it.

Mr. Fielding then read resolutions from the National Grange of the United States, which protested against reciprocity on the ground that the Canadian farmer, by reason of the lower general tariff, preferential trade arrangements and by purchasing manufactured goods at a lower price than in the United States, enjoyed an advantage over the United States farmer, who would be exposed to "unfair competition."

He denied that when in Washington he and Mr. Paterson did not possess all the information that was necessary. As for the United States commissioners it was to be remembered that the American Government had decided on an important change in its fiscal policy involving a reduction in duties all along the line. A tariff commission had been at work reviewing the situation, and of necessity had compiled a large mass of figures. What Canada sought was a free interchange of natural products, and it was not essential to have corresponding statistics. The Government believed that if the American market for natural products could be opened up it would be good for the people of the Dominion, and there was no need of more statistics to demonstrate the truth of this.

No doubt, he said there were farmers and others on both sides of the line who were afraid of the changes which were proposed. Protection, like conscience, made cowards of us all, and the higher the tariff wall the worse the effect.

He believed that there would be a great breaking away from party lines on this question. The Government was staking its existence on the issue, and if, in the course of a few months, when the elections were held, the people decided that the Government was wrong, the new Government would be free to [illegible] the arrangement. He [illegible] ever, if they would ever repeal it if once it came into effect.

Mr. Borden said that when the Finance Minister stated there was no need for further information as to the statistics demanded, he spoke with either utter recklessness or deplorable ignorance of conditions. Why should he single out the Canadian manufacturer and say he should be protected from United States competition and not the Canadian farmer also.

Mr. Borden said the United States were given the knowledge that Canada now asked before the agreement was discussed, through the United States ways and means committee, through tariff experts reports, through the Presidential message. American statesmen were enabled to discuss the question intelligently with knowledge of the basic facts, while Canadians had, as it were "beat the air."

Hon. Sydney Fisher recalled that in his speech on the reciprocity agreement he had offered to give a number of the statistics that were now asked for. But the member for Lambton refused the courtesy of allowing these figures to be placed on the Hansard without reading. Yet a certain honorable gentleman opposite had brought in another set of statistics which he had read to the House and had claimed they were the only reliable ones. What was the use of giving statistics if they would not be accepted?

W. S. Middlebro (North Grey), in a brief speech, said that the United States were not concerned with the tariff concessions granted at Albany a year ago. The effect of those concessions was never observed. The threat to impose the maximum tariff was a club used by President Taft "for the purpose of extracting from the Minister of Finance a promise that he would come back a year later and negotiate a reciprocity treaty."

LINER PRINCESS IRENE RUNS ON A SANDBANK

Seventeen Hundred and Twenty Passengers on Board and a Heavy Sea Running—Big Steamer Lay Helpless All Day Yesterday.

New York, April 7.—Seventeen hundred and twenty passengers, within sight of the first of the big lights which marked the finish of their transatlantic voyage, spent a sleepless night on the great steamship Princess Irene of the North German Lloyd Line, fast in the sands off the seaward coast of Long Island, on the edge of the "Graveyard of the Atlantic," and less than 50 miles from the harbor of New York. As night fell, a high ground swell was battering the full height of the vessels' superstructure.

After running her big nose in the sand during the fog early yesterday morning, the liner lay helpless throughout the day, surrounded by tugs and revenue cutters, efforts to pull her free at afternoon high tide failed and because of a rough sea no transfers of passengers was attempted. The decision was then reached to leave all hands on board pending renewed attempts to drag her clear early to-day. If these fail, transfer will be made to the Prinz Friedrich Wilhelm of the same line, which will be sent to the scene from her dock here to-day.

At low water last evening, the stranded liner lay with her length of 535 feet broadside to the beach on the one hand and the sea and wind on the other. The incoming tide urged on with a wind which increased during the evening to nearly 30 miles an hour, rocked the vessel visibly, as seen from the shore and every other swell rolled up her black sides and spat about her white superstructure. The fog of the morning had been blown away and a wisp of moon lighted the scene.

As the night wore on, lifeguards patrolled the beach with surf boats and buoys, in readiness for any emergencies and pinned little faith in the sturdy efforts of the tugs to pull the liner off. They recalled the grounding of the St. Paul some years ago, and how she was stuck fast for ten days in just such a sandy bed. Two big wrecking tugs, however, kept their lines to the stern of the ship and reinforced by the derelict destroyer Seneca, waited for the further aid of the tide after midnight. The scene of the grounding is about ten miles east of Fire Island, approximately 45 miles from the battery and 1,000 feet from the beach of treacherous sand pit, which skirts the outer edge of Long Island. Creeping carefully in the murky weather, the Princess Irene did not strike hard.

WESTERN COAL STRIKE LIKELY TO BE LONG ONE

International Union Has Endorsed Action of the Mines—General Exodus From Lethbridge.

MINERS GOING AWAY

Fernie, B.C., April 7.—Secretary Carter of the district local received the following telegram from Vice-President Stubbs and C. Garner, chairman:

"International executive board fully endorse the position taken by the district. Representatives will be sent at once to co-operate with district officers in carrying out the work in connection with the suspension. Deny absolutely rumors regarding non-support. International will support to the full extent."

This message signifies that a long struggle may be looked for. All movements on the part of the miners indicate preparations for fighting at every point. President Powell returned to Fernie yesterday morning, but is going to Frank to-night.

The attempt at Passburg to have the miners turn out 100 tons of coal per day was the cause of a little excitement at that place, but no violence has been offered, and this is true of all places where men have quit work. A visit to Coal Creek yesterday morning, found a state of absolute quiet. Nearly all the single men have left that camp. One boarding house, which usually feeds 75 to 80 men, are now feeding only 25 to 30. The drives have been cleaned and now that the international boards seem to have endorsed the action of the district eighteen, the next move is hard to predict.

Lethbridge, Alta., April 7.—Miners are leaving the different camps in trainloads, having decided that the strike will be a long one. Lille and other small towns in the pass are nearly deserted, and the sale of tickets in Lethbridge for Europe is unprecedented.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES

During the voyage of the steamer George Washington, an American, who were suffering from the delusion that members of the Black Hand were seeking to murder him, stabbed Dr. Vogiherr, the ship's physician.

Obed A. Langville, assistant postmaster of Mahone Bay, N.S., died last night after a few days' illness, in his 62nd year. Within two years the postmaster at Mahone Bay, and two successive assistant postmasters have died.

The recommendation of the Railway Commission that the C.N.R. be prosecuted to the full for operating an unauthorized line in Manitoba, has gone to the Justice Department. The amount of the fine, if imposed, will be about $90,000."

Lady Amy Galt, widow of Sir Alexander Tillich Galt, G.C.M.G., died yesterday at her, Montreal home. Lady Galt, who had reached her 78th year, was the daughter of the late John Torrance. Her husband was a member of the Macdonald Cabinet.

Jury to Try Him.

Toronto, April 7.—Gordon Russell, lawyer, yesterday elected to be tried by a jury on a charge of forging a document purporting to be a lien on a property of W. H. Reid to secure payment of $400. He will be tried in next sessions.

Judge Denton raised the bail from $3,000 to $4,000 in two sureties of $9,000 each, and refused to accept accused's own bond.

Alfred McCue, the Indian charged with perjuring himself in the trial of Ben Asquabe, another Indian, pleaded guilty and will come up for sentence to-day. Counsel Henderson, for defence, had expected the man to plead not guilty, in which case he would be traversed to the next sessions.

There will be 40 sentences for Judge Denton to pass to-day.

Hyman's Tannery Burned.

London, Ont., April 7.—The storage department of the big tannery of Hon. C. S Hyman was badly gutted by fire early yesterday. The blaze was due to defective electric wiring. The loss is placed in the neighborhood of $12,000.

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF KNOX COLLEGE HELD

LADY ARTHUR PAGET
Known throughout Europe as one of the most brilliant hostesses of the present generation, who surpassed her former entertainments at a large luncheon party given for the Prince and Princess Louis of Battenberg. Lady Arthur's entire house was a mass of crimson tulips and roses, and the lavishness of her entertainment was the admiration of all. The party, as usual, was followed by bridge.

Sir Mortimer Clark Tells the Presbyterians That They Must Keep Up the University Standing.

REPORTS FOR THE YEAR

Toronto, April 7.—Sir William Mortimer Clark startled the faculty, students and friends of Knox College a St. James' square Presbyterian Church last night by an arraignment of their Canadian northwest home mission policy. The address was a feature of the annual convention of the sixty-seventh session of Knox College.

Sir William said that unless the Presbyterian Church in Canada maintains a thoroughly educated ministry, the church must necessarily decline. The churches everywhere were forced by a lack of students for the ministry. He believed that the Presbyterian Church in Canada had adopted a retrograde policy by importing a number of uneducated men from Britain for the northwest. The effect would be to lessen the influence of the ministers there because the imported men were not qualified by education to maintain the present standing of the ministry in the northwest. They are of an entirely lower type, and he feared that after being there for a time they would get into the regular ministry by "some side door method." It was the aim of Knox to send out a thoroughly educated body of men who would be a tower of strength to the church.

Principal Gandier said the year's work had been hampered by the inadequacy of the old college buildings. They were sadly out of repair and as little as possible was spent on them in view of the steps being taken to secure a new college edifice. He congratulated the church upon the excellent calibre of the graduating class of 17 men, all of whom had either the M.A. or B.A. degree.

J. K. Macdonald, reporting for the building committee, said the delay in preparation of the plans had been to their advantage as they had secured an additional frontage of 100 feet, made up of the Biggs, Maclaren and Browse properties, and a university property.

Explosion Shakes Nanaimo.

Victoria, April 7.—The powder magazine on Protection Island, Nanaimo, exploded at midnight Wednesday.

Two distinct shocks shook Nanaimo, shattering plateglass windows. The flames lit up the harbor and the city. The first explosion was of dynamite, and the second of a store of gasoline.

John Jones, night engineer, discovered the fire, notified the engineer, and was returning when the explosion occurred. He was thrown 40 feet, sustaining probably fatal injuries.

Killed Four and Himself.

Billings, Mont., April 7.—Cliff Root, an old-time stockman, yesterday murdered his father-in-law, F. A. Kheber, his stepson, James Bridges, a Mrs. Thompson and his own wife, and then killed himself.

The tragedy occurred at the Root home on Halfbreed Creek, about fifty miles from here.

All the victims were shot, except Mrs. Root, whose head was crushed with an axe.

Sixty Crown Witnesses.

Goderich, April 7.—Crown Attorney Seager has announced that there will be sixty crown witnesses called to testify against Edward Jardine, when, on Tuesday next, he comes up for trial, charged with the murder of Lizzie Anderson. Only about 35 witnesses gave evidence at the various sessions of the inquest, and the increased number shows that the crown has not been idle in the interval.

A recent report stated that Jardine was in failing health, since his alleged confession a few weeks ago, and that he was losing flesh. On the contrary, he is gaining steadily in health, and the jail officials state that they see no change in his conduct. Neither his reported confession, nor the approaching trial seem to affect him in any way.

Sir Henry Buys Winnipeg Range.

Winnipeg, April 7.—It has been stated here that Sir Henry Pellatt has bought the old rifle range at St. Charles, near Winnipeg, paying the Militia Department $600 per acre. It is certain that this is a speculative investment, but local opinion is that something is behind the deal. It is also stated that the Militia Department is in treaty for the purchase of the old Happyland property on Portage avenue for a new drill hall and barracks site, on the assumption that negotiations between representatives of the Manitoba Legislature and the Department will lead to the transfer of the present barracks' grounds to the Provincial Government as a site for the new Parliament buildings.

Not Fit to Eat?

Montreal, April 7.—Two or three tons of fish in a city cold storage warehouse are being withheld from sale until the bacteriologist and chemist of the medical health department have made a report.

"People have an idea that because fish is kept in cold storage it cannot deteriorate," said Dr. Louis Laberge yesterday morning. "That is an error. There is a certain amount of deterioration which makes it necessary for us to inspect cold storage fish 44 times. Our inspector says this fish is not fit for food, and the merchant says it is. If it is not dangerous we will let it go."

Will Redecorate Church.

Kingston, April 7.—Chalmers' Presbyterian Church interior is to be redecorated and re-furnished this spring, at a cost of $4,300. The contract has been given to the Thornton-Smith Co. of Toronto.

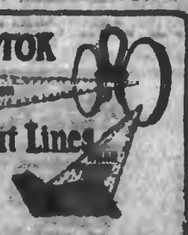
FAR VISION
Without Lines in the Lens



The only near-and-far glasses that can be universally worn without discomfort and without suggestiveness of "old" appearance. The "near" and the "far" lenses are one solid glass. No "lines," no cement—and perfect sight with the discomfort and unsightliness left out. They cost more than the ordinary "cement bifocals" but if you are particular of comfort and appearance they are worth the difference. We have scores of people in this city using these Kryptoks who are highly pleased with them.

TENDERS FOR DREDGING

Sealed Tenders addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Dredging, Ontario" will be received until Tuesday, April 25, 1911, at 4 p.m., for dredging required at the following places in the Province of Ontario:—

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the forms supplied and signed with the actual signatures of tenderers.

Combined specification and form of tender can be obtained on application to the Secretary, Department of Public Works, Ottawa. Tenders must include the towing of the plant to and from the work. Only dredges can be employed which are registered in Canada at the time of the filing of tenders. Contractors must be ready to begin work within thirty days after the date they have been notified of the acceptance of their tender.

A separate cheque for each place for which a tender is submitted must accompany the tender. This cheque must be equal to five per cent. (5 per cent.) of the amount of the tender, based on the approximate quantities set opposite the name of the place, but in no case must the cheque be for a less sum than $1,500. The cheque must be accepted on a chartered bank, and payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
R. C. DESROCHERS,
Secretary.

"The Strange Case Of Eleanor Cuyler"

By KINGSLAND CROSBY.

As he heard this the younger man with black beard and goggles uttered a gasp, swayed, and sank to the ground.

His heavily-built companion looked down at him contemptuously.

The woman cursed.

"Let him lie there a moment," Wotsirb commanded, "the soft-boned little swine! And take the bracelets off His Reverence. Bring him nearer—it's not very light here, yet, and I want a good look at him. . . . . By the way," he added, turning to Captain Bailey, "did you find anything on them?"

"Yessir. Both men had guns, and this fat buck had a blackjack also. Here it is," he concluded, holding up the weapon.

"That's what made the lump on the back of your head," Wotsirb remarked to Barrett. "If you want him to know how it feels, you can batter him up a bit with it—we won't interfere."

The Bostonian shook his head, disgusted at the suggestion.

"Of course I knew you wouldn't," Wotsirb hastened to add, "but as a matter of professional etiquette, I was bound to give you the opportunity. . . . Well, your Reverence, this is a pretty mixup you've got into, isn't it?"

The fat man glared at Wotsirb, but made no reply.

"I didn't expect to see you here, honestly I didn't. Had no idea it was you doing this job until ten minutes ago when these gentlemen brought you out of the woods. . . . Let's see; last time I saw you was in Paris—d'ye remember? You had a nice, easy berth then, keeping an ex-President from South America—or was it Central America?—from being assassinated? And to think of a man of your experience would be fool enough to undertake this crazy job! Really, Beretsin, I'm ashamed of your lack of judgment. . . . . .

"Before I forget it, who's your little friend there, that fainted a while ago? He's coming around all right, now. Here, one of you men, snatch off that black beard—I want to see what he really looks like. . . . . To be sure! If it isn't the gentleman who gave me such a nice drive into Titusville!"

The slender man sprang up with an angry exclamation on his lips. It turned to a cry of pain when a detective standing near swiftly gripped him by the throat, shaking him as a terrier would shake a rat.

"Easy, easy," said Wotsirb; "None of them is to be done up—just yet."

He paused and inspected the prisoners before addressing them directly, which he did a moment afterward in quiet, conversational tones.

"Now, you three, listen carefully, for I've got something to say to you. . . . . It would be the easiest thing in the world for me to run you over the border into Maryland, and convict you of kidnapping Miss Cuyler. Personally, I should enjoy the sight of all three of you dangling on the end of a rope. But that would mean a lot of trouble and expense to the State. And honestly, I don't think such vermin as you are worth a single dollar of taxpayers' money.

"Taking everything into consideration, I have decided to give you a choice in the matter. Now, of course I have no authority to ship you out of the country. I admit that. But I'll leave the whole thing with you. If you want to go back to France on the first steamer well and good. If you want to go to Maryland on the rat trap, and be convicted and hanged, it's all the same to me. Take your choice. Only remember, that if you go back to Paris you'll have to stay there. I will at once write the Bureau a full statement of the case, and if you ever attempt to cross the frontier you will be picked up on sight. The International Police, you know, has a long, long arm, and a grip that never relaxes. . . . .Now, my dear Beretsin," Wotsirb softly concluded with the kindliest of smiles "which will you do—go to Paris or go to the gallows?"

The prisoner grunted one word.

"Paris."

Then the Chief Consultant of the Federal Secret Service turned to his assistants.

"Captain Bailey," he said, in sharp crisp tones, "you are relieved of duty and will return to your office. Captain Thompson and his men will take the prisoners to New York on the train leaving Titusville at noon.

"From New York, Thompson, you will sail by the first steamer, and deliver these crooks at the Paris headquarters as soon as you can get there, but merely for a line-up and Bertillon measurements. I will write the Bureau to-day.

"It is light enough to travel now, and my party will be going past here very soon in a waggon. I don't want them to see any of you. Take your prisoners back into the woods and stay there until we are gone."

Again he ceased speaking, and glanced at his watch. Then he remarked, reflectively:

"It's just as well this woman's ankle is badly sprained—she won't try to get away. If the others make a break you can shoot them without any trouble. . . . . .

"Now, one last order for all of you. Not a word of this case to anyone—this is Washington business."

He gave a gesture of dismissal and watched them as they went back into the woods.

When they had finally disappeared he turned to the man by his side. "Come on, Doctor Barrett! We must go back to the house and get ready to start. That waggon ought to be here any moment now. It's half-past four, and pretty nearly sunrise."

XXV

Mortimer Cuyler entered his banking house shortly before eight o'clock that Saturday morning. He was one of a very few in the Wall Street district who clung tenaciously to the old-fashioned habit of starting business early in the day, and frequently was at his desk long before his partners and clerks arrived.

To-day he appeared cheerful, almost jubilant. He had routed his enemies. Foreign financiers had ceased their warfare. The anthracite strike was settled. Wall street had responded to restored business confidence, and his prestige was greater than ever.

Cuyler stepped from his cab full of energy, every line of his being expressive of alertness, decision, command. For the first time since July 18—the day Mrs. Hazard had telephoned him about Eleanor's unaccountable absence—he had slept throughout the night; and this morning he marvelled that he should feel so little anxiety about his daughter. To be sure, he had received Winthrop's telegram of two nights previous saying that Eleanor's locket had been found at Corry, and as the message had been sent from Poughkeepsie he reasoned that the painter was then on his way to the Pennsylvania town. This information, in a measure, verified Wotsirb's advices from Titusville. Probably that was responsible for the spirit of hopefulness that had taken the place of his inward despair.

At any rate he was profoundly thankful that things looked better.

As the banker swung into his private office, his eyes bright, his step firm, Johnson followed immediately, and handed him a telegram which had just been delivered. Cuyler tore open the yellow envelope, marked "Personal: Rush" and read the message once, twice, thrice; to make sure of its import. Then, handing it to Johnson, he turned without a word and walked over to the nearest window.

Corry, Penna., July 28.

Your instructions carried out. Miss Cuyler leaves Buffalo with me this morning at 9.28, train 4, due Grand Central Station 7.55 to-night.

BRISTOW.

Scarcely had the secretary read it, when an attendant, knocking at the door, brought in another message, the ink of which had scarcely dried.

"Quick Johnson!" said Cuyler, holding out his hand. Another yellow envelope fluttered to the floor. The second telegram read thus:

Corry, Pa., July 28.

Eleanor sends love. Hopes you can meet us at Albany. Train due there 4.05. Somewhat nervous, but nothing serious. Rapidly regaining her strength. Have wired Mrs. Hazard.

Winthrop.

Cuyler pulled out his watch.

"Sit down at the table for orders," he said quietly.

Johnson whipped note-book and pencil from his pocket.

"Ready, sir," he responded, and the other man commenced to dictate, calmly, but in rapidly spoken sentences.

"I am going up State on the Empire Express, probably as far as Utica, to meet my daughter.

"Notify Captain Hasbrouck to proceed at once to Albany with the Norseman, and wait there for me. It is possible that we may get there a little ahead of him.

"Telephone Mrs. Hazard to come to the city at once. You will meet her at the ferry, and take her to Albany by train, also taking a maid for Miss Cuyler. . . . Notify Doctor Northup that it is my urgent wish for him to accompany you and Mrs. Hazard.

"Leave word for Mr. Bloodgood that I am called out of town. He can wire me on board the Empire if necessary up to twelve o'clock."

Again he glanced at his watch.

"That's all," he concluded, starting out of his office.

Another minute and he was in a cab racing uptown toward Forty-second street.

The horses' steel-shod hoofs, clicking over the hard paving-stones, formed an awkward accompaniment to a hymn-tune Cuyler had sung Sunday after Sunday, almost forty years previous, in an old white church which stood on a hillside and looked down upon the Vermont hamlet where he had been born. He was a stripling then, and sang in the village choir because another sang there—a slender slip of a girl who later was to become the wife of his youth and Eleanor's mother.

The rosy-cheeked lad long ago had changed into a care-worn, grey-haired man—the most powerful of modern financiers; one of the great figures of the world. For decades he had not thought of that hymn-tune, but as he hurried toward his train to-day it swelled and surged through his heart.

On sped the cab, skimming by trucks, grazing surface-cars, half circling careless pedestrians—past Canal street, Fourteenth, Twenty-third, Thirty-fourth; and down the last clear stretch toward the Grand Central Station, with five minutes to spare.

Its glistening wheels whirred over the stones, the horse's hoofs clicked rhythmically; and seated within, Mortimer Cuyler hummed over and over again the opening words of that familiar song of thanksgiving:

"Praise God—from whom—all
Blessings flow!
Praise Him—all crea-tures
Here—be-low!"

Deep lines graven by half a lifetime of struggle, anxiety, conflict, were gone from his face. It was illuminated with joy and gratitude.

In Dread of Something

You Can Scarcely Tell What—It May Be Hysteria, Insanity, Nervous Collapse

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

When the nervous system breaks down you live in a constant dread of something terrible about to happen.

Physical suffering cannot be compared to the mental agonies of the nervous wreck who fears that his mind may give way or that his body may be paralyzed.

In this condition you must suffer alone for friends cannot understand or sympatize with you. They tell you to cheer up or that it is only imagination.

You can only throw off this depression when the nerve cells are restored to health by such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. Your digestive system has failed to supply proper nourishment to the nerves and you are compelled to seek aid from other sources.

It will take some patience and persistent treatment, but there is no way by which you can so certainly restore health and vigour as by the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

The best time to restore the nervous system is long before such a critical condition is reached. Such symptoms as sleeplessness, headaches, nervous indigestion, muscular weakness, loss of energy, failure of memory and power of concentration, irritability and discouragement tell of a failure of the nervous system and warn you of the approach of serious trouble.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

A WOMAN'S BACK.

Not One Woman In Twenty Has a Stong Back.

The kidneys are to blame nine times out of ten.

When the blood isn't properly filtered the poisons that ought to be carried off by the kidneys are sent back through the system, and it's hardly to be wondered that backaches and lame backs come to make life miserable.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a specific for all kidney troubles. They begin by expelling all the poisonous matter from the kidneys, and then heal the delicate membranes and make their action regular and natural.

Mrs. A. H. Hutton, Jr., McCreary, Man., writes:—"Two years ago last spring I had a very severe pain in the small of my back. When I would rise it seemed as if my back would break. My kidneys were very badly out of order, and I would have to get up three or four times during the night. I took one box of Doan's Kidney Pills and they effected a cure."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50 cents per box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by the T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

If ordering direct specify "Doan's."

DON'T MAKE THE SAME MISTAKE

Start Right—Save Money—and Get Well By Taking GIN PILLS for the Kidneys

It is a great mistake to experiment with unknown, untried remedies, if there is any trouble with Kidneys or Bladder. It usually results in a waste of time and money, and serious injury to the health. GIN PILLS have cured thousands of cases of Kidney and Bladder Trouble, Backache and Rheumatism. GIN PILLS have proved their value. GIN PILLS will cure you. Be guided by this letter and take GIN PILLS.

GALETTE, ONT.

"My husband used GIN PILLS for Backache and Kidney Disease which formerly troubled him a great deal. The pain in his back was dreadful and the kidneys failed to do their work properly. As he became worse, we found it necessary to begin treatment and unfortunately, wasted time and money on remedies that were little or no good.

After taking one dose of GIN PILLS, he found them to be exactly what he needed, and after taking two boxes of GIN PILLS, was completely cured. We heartily recommend GIN PILLS at every opportunity to our friends and relatives."

MRS. JAMES B. MILFORD.

GIN PILLS are known from one end of Canada to the other. They are recommended by thousands of those, who—like Mr. Milford—have tried them and can testify by actual experience to the good that GIN PILLS do.

Remember this—GIN PILLS are sold on a positive guarantee to give prompt relief or money refunded. Get six boxes at your dealer's—take them according to directions—and if they do not do exactly as we say they will, return the empty boxes to your dealer and your money will be promptly refunded. 50c. a box—6 for $2.50. Sample box free if you write us, mentioning this paper. National Drug and Chemical Co., Dept. B., Toronto.

CATS AND DOGS ARE DYING OFF

A Strange Disease Resembling Strychnine Poisoning is Working Havoc Just Now in London

It would appear that an epidemic of a little-known disease is sweeping through London, dealing death to hundreds of cats and dogs. The ailment, which is comparatively new to England, having made its first appearance in Bristol a few years ago, is known to veterinary surgeons as Stuttgart, or contagious gastro-enteritis. At present the epidemic is most marked in the southern suburbs, but several valuable cats whose homes are in the West End have in the last few days died from this mysterious malady.

In its earlier stages the symptoms of the disease closely resemble those of strychnine poisoning, and, according to several veterinary surgeons interviewed by a representative recently this similarity has been mainly responsible for the numerous reports received by the Royal Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals that poisoners are at work destroying household pets. A similar outcry was raised six weeks ago in the Cullompton district of Devonshire, where cats were dying in great numbers, but analysis failed to find any traces of poison in the stricken animals. Coincident with the Cullompton epidemic a similar scourge was reported from Northamptonshire and Hertfordshire.

Practically nothing is known of the bacteriology of the disease, but everything points to its being of microbic origin. The probability is that several distinct germs are present, some akin to the bacilli which cause acute intestinal complaints in human beings and others resembling the putrefactive or septic germs found in acute gangrenous conditions.

SIMPLE METHOD OF COOKING MEAT

Herr Lampert Surprised a Group of London Chefs With His Novel Experiment

A group of London chefs, representatives of the great catering firms, and other culinary experts, gathered in the dining-room of Buecker's Hotel, Finsbury Square, recently to face a threatened revolution in their own particular art. Herr Lampert, a notable chef from Frankfort, had reached London on his crusade of reform, and had proclaimed, through his representative, Mr. A. Strauss-Collin:—

(1) That roasted meat or poultry needed no basting or fat if cooked by his method in a paper bag;

(2) That boiling could be effected without water;

(3) That the too familiar phenomenon of the shrinkage of joints during cooking was a needless waste, which he had now entirely succeeded in preventing.

Herr Lampert, a stout, genial German, lit up his invention, a small, black, box-like oven, heated by gas and furnished with a thermometer. The hot air merely circulated outside an inner shell of iron, warming without tainting the food.

Four large slices of turbot were first placed in four bags of damp-proof and grease-proof paper, which were securely sealed by folding and refolding, and placed in the oven. Half a dozen tomatoes, a small pigeon, a large fillet of beef, some rolled saddle of mutton, and a piece of sirloin, weighing 1 lb., 14 oz., were each placed in paper receptacles, and followed the turbot into what was practically a Turkish bath. There was no suspicion of the smell of cooking.

In twenty-five minutes the unscorched envelopes containing the turbot were removed and torn open. Instead of being burned the delicate fish was firm and beautifully white. Under the persuasion of a fork the backbone came cleanly away, and the flaky flesh tasted as if it had been perfectly boiled.

Perhaps the fillet of beef provided the greatest surprise of the day. As soon as the paper cover was pierced a gush of warm brown meat essence ("gravy" would be a most inadequate description) filled the plate. The meat seemed to have increased in size and was as tender as the tenderest chicken.

NO JEWISH OFFICERS

The Prussian War Minister Crushes the Proposal

Anti-Semitism is by no means a dead letter in modern Germany, as the Jews have just learned in the course of the Army debates in the Reichstag. For years they have been waging a hopeless campaign designed to give young Israelites the right to wear the Kaiser's uniform as army officers. Periodically, the question crops up in Parliament, and the Minister of War, with his hand on his heart, regularly deprecates the prevalence of a belief that Jews do not enjoy equal rights in the army with their Christian brethren. The present War Minister, General von Heeringen, recently spoke with unaccustomed plainness. He said that there could be no thought of tampering with "that freest of our institutions"—the right of regimental officers in the Prussian Army to choose their own comrades by election. This means, of course, that there will be no Jewish army officers in Prussia, for the corps of officers is incorrigibly saturated with anti-semitism. It has even been said that the Kaiser has sought in vain to bring about a modification of his officers' attitude toward Jews. His Majesty himself has no antipathy to the race. Men like Herren Ballin, Rathenau, Simon and Koppel, enjoy his friendship, favor and confidence, but their sons are hopelessly black-listed as far as army honors are concerned.

Chronic Bronchitis—Nervous Debility

The sincere words of praise of Miss Sarah G. Bates, who was cured after she had given up all hopes of recovery, are certainly encouraging to all sufferers.

In her letter she says: "I had been sick several years with chronic bronchitis, liver disease and general nervous debility, but could not get any relief until I commenced taking Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Now I am much better and know your valuable medicine is what has caused it. I can recommend it to all sufferers from chronic diseases."—Sarah G. Bates, Arctic, R. I.

When you feel weak and run down and all out of sorts, you need a pure tonic stimulant that will build you up, enrich your blood, quicken your heart action and restore your strength in a healthy manner.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

the world's greatest medicine, has been doing all this for the past fifty years. It is an absolutely pure, gentle and invigorating stimulant and tonic. It overcomes all weakening, wasting and run-down conditions of the body, brain and muscle, giving the system power to throw off and resist coughs, colds, grip, catarrh, bronchitis, asthma and lung troubles; it is a wonderful remedy in the prevention and cure of consumption, pneumonia, malaria, low fevers and all weakening and wasting conditions if taken as directed.

All liquor dealers, or direct, $1.25 a large bottle. Refuse substitutes and imitations; they are impure and dangerous. Send for medical booklet and doctor's advice, both sent free.

RADIUM ERRAND GIRL

A Special Corps of Them Organized in Paris

A special corps of girls is being organised in Paris to carry radium to and fro between the laboratories where it is manufactured and stored, and the hospitals, and the consulting-rooms of the physicians who use it.

They receive good wages, $40 and $50 a month, and the risks attendant upon handling the mysterious mineral and carrying it constantly about with them are considerable. They have to be very careful, and take elaborate precautions, otherwise they are liable to be burned by the radium emanations—and such burns develop very quickly into nasty, spreading ulcers, which are exceedingly difficult to heal.

Each tiny speck of radium—worth many hundreds of dollars—has been in a sealed glass tube, from which the air has previously been extracted, and this again is placed in a small leaden box before being handed to a messenger for conveyance anywhere.

The girls wear gloves lined inside with lead sheeting, and their waistbelt, inside which is fastened the thin flat box containing the tube of radium, is also lead-lined.

The reason for this is that it has been found that the tiny particles which are constantly being given off by the mineral—its emanations—will not easily penetrate lead, although they readily pass through glass and most other metals.

Still, even after taking every precaution, the fact remains that an errand girl, while actually conveying radium, is continually being bombarded by its emanations, the particles travelling at a rate of several thousand miles a second. So, perhaps, after all, she is not over-paid.

MONEY FOR HOME MISSIONS

The Presbyterian Home Mission Board will spend $267,000 this year, in part as follows: For the mission work among foreigners, $3,000; building fund for New Ontario, $2,500; mission work in British Columbia, $29,000; mission work in Alberta, $43,000; mission work in Saskatchewan, $46,000; mission work in Manitoba (including Galician), $31,000; Synod of Hamilton and London, $3,100; Synod of Toronto and Kingston, $28,500; Synod of Montreal and Ottawa, $16,000.

FLYING CONTEST PARIS TO LONDON

A Great Event Which Seeks to Link by Aeroplanes the Chief Cities of Five European Countries

Aside from the Coronation, which, of course, overshadows everything else this year, the most interesting event of the summer will be the great international flying contest from Paris via Liege, Berlin, Utrecht, Brussels and London, and back to Paris, which will link up for the first time by aeroplanes the capitals and chief towns of five European countries. Step by step there is nothing in it to daunt the aviator of to-day, but those who accomplish the whole task will have performed a feat which will remain as the starting point in a new era of aviation. The longest single stage in this flight over Europe is from Paris to Liege, for which distance two days will probably be given. This is less than the distance from Paris to Bordeaux, or from Paris to Clermont-Ferrand, and both these distances have recently been covered by Bellenger and Renaux, respectively. In fact, long cross-country flights now take place daily in France which pass almost unnoticed, but which are quite up to the "form" which will be required to cover the various stages of the European circuit.

It has already been decided, in view of the great length of the course, that competitors may use more than one machine. It is considered much too severe a test to expect one aeroplane to cover the distance between the four capitals, with all the risks of accidents and breakdowns by the way. An aeroplane still remains a rather fragile apparatus, and a competitor might be compelled to land on a bit of bad ground, damage his machine, and so be put out of the race. If any competitor manages to accomplish the whole distance on one machine, however, it will make his feat all the more glorious and will be the most striking proof yet afforded of the reliability of the aeroplane. The same provision for changing machines was made in last year's Circuit de l'Est, but Le Blanc and Aubrun, the two victors, went through the whole circuit on the machines with which they started. During a great part of that race the triumphant French airmen skirted the German frontier, and at the end of it there was a paean of self-congratulation in France at this moral humbling of her neighbor, who, possessing no aeroplanes herself, was supposed to have looked on with great chagrin at this brilliant display of a military rival. In fact, there was one "incident," due to a French airman flying over into German territory, which caused much heated comment, and the Mayor of Strasburg even suggested the invading French aviators should be saluted with bullets. There will be none of this spirit in the circuit of Europe. The race is causing great interest and enthusiasm in Germany, and the flight of aviators from Paris will be welcomed at Berlin not with bullets, but with cheers. They will become more interesting with every frontier they cross, and London, as the fourth capital to be touched in the race, will not lag behind in her show of enthusiasm for the aerial invaders.

A photograph of one of the many physicians who are sending every effort to stamp out the plague that is daily killing thousands of Chinese in Manchuria. The doctors are clothed from head to heels in antiseptic linen; their faces are covered with a linen mask; they breath through a pad of lint soaked in carbolic acid; and goggles and gloves complete the modern armor in which these exponents of hygiene and medicine daily go abroad on errands of mercy and succor. When back from his round of visits, the physician sheds most of this weird costume, retaining only the carbolic pad of lint through which he breathes. The rest is thoroughly sterilized and put in shape for another day's campaign against the deadly sickness.

HAREM SKIRT DANCE

A New Movement Designed for the Unpopular Dress

To suit the new harem skirt, the professors of the Paris Dancing Academy have introduced a new dance from the East, which might be called the cheroot dance, from the name of an Ottoman garment. It is said to be just the thing for persons wearing harem skirts, as it will show the harmonious movements of the limbs. The scheme, we are told, may be for a single pair or for a number of couples, like any modern round dance. After the couples are taught how to step out, we are in the instructions at a certain point the following prescriptions: "Her the lady, having disengaged the lower part of her leg, makes two steps, turning round." This "graceful" movement, we are told, could not be appreciated if the wearer had on an ordinary long skirt. But the harem skirt does not seem to be making much progress. Perhaps this is reserved for the harem skirt dance.

How Londoners Made History

The Lord Mayor unveiled at the Royal Exchange a panel fresco depicting the Trained Band marching from the City to the support of Edward IV. at the Battle of Barnet, which broke the power of Warwick the Kingmaker and materially altered the course of English history. Is there anything else you eat that is so pure as

St. Lawrence Sugar

Compare the report of the Provincial Government Analyst, with the Analysis of any other sugar. You will find that "ST. LAWRENCE GRANULATED" is the equal of any other sugar, not only in Canada, but throughout the civilized world.

Read Prof. Hersey's Report:

MONTREAL, 22nd February, 1909.

I HEREBY CERTIFY that I have drawn by my own hand ten samples of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co's EXTRA STANDARD GRANULATED SUGAR, indiscriminately taken from four lots of about 150 barrels each and six lots of about 450 bags each. I have analyzed same and find them uniformly to contain 99.99/100 to 100 per cent of pure cane sugar, with no impurities whatever.

Provincial Government Analyst.

Not only compare the analysis, but compare the sugar—and you will see for yourself that ST. LAWRENCE GRANULATED is purer and better than any other sugar.—20 lb. bags—also by the pound and barrel.

The Fountain Head of Life Is The Stomach

A man who has a weak and impaired stomach and who does not properly digest his food will soon find that his blood has become weak and impoverished, and that his whole body is improperly and insufficiently nourished.

DR. PIERCE'S GOLDEN MEDICAL DISCOVERY makes the stomach strong, promotes the flow of digestive juices, restores the lost appetite, makes assimilation perfect, invigorates the liver and purifies and enriches the blood. It is the great blood-maker, flesh-builder and restorative nerve tonic. It makes men strong in body, active in mind and cool in judgement.

This "Discovery" is a pure, glyceric extract of American medical roots, absolutely free from alcohol and all injurious, habit-forming drugs. All its ingredients are printed on its wrappers. It has no relationship with secret nostrums. Its every ingredient is endorsed by the leaders in all the schools of medicine. Don't accept a secret nostrum as a substitute for this time-proven remedy of known composition. Ask your neighbors. They must know of many cures made by it during past 40 years, right in your own neighborhood. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.

A MYSTERY OF THE MOORS

A Short Story

I had been away for a day on business, and it was not until I was seated in the train on my way home that I remembered I had not ordered a conveyance to meet me at Northwold. As it was three miles walk over the moors to the village where I was staying, and it was already growing dark, I felt a little uncomfortable at the prospect, but I consoled myself with thinking that tramps were unknown in these parts, and that a long and lonely walk was the most I had to fear.

I set out bravely enough, looking for familiar landmarks to guide me in the uncertain light, for the path was only a winding track, and if I once wandered off it I might be hopelessly lost. As I walked, the charm of the summer night took hold of me, the strong, sweet air made me light of heart and foot, and in a dreamy repture I watched the crescent moon as it climbed slowly up the sky, throwing shafts of silver on the brown moorland; but my exaltation was suddenly quenched. When I looked round again, expecting to see the spire of the village church, I discovered, with a shock of surprise, that my surroundings were quite unfamiliar; I had been too busy dreaming and making pictures to notice where I was going.

I stood still and tried to form an idea where I could have wandered; but I was completely at a loss. The moors rolled on for miles all round me, but I had never been in this part before, of that I was quite sure. There was a wildness and a desolation here which were new to me. I seemed infinitely far away from civilization and the world.

"I can only go on and hope to come upon something familiar presently," I said to myself, and beginning to feel uneasy and rather alarmed—for a night alone in these wilds was not an adventure to be viewed with equanimity—I walked rapidly forward.

But I seemed to wander farther and farther from the right way, and at last I stood still and owned to myself, with a throb of fear, that I was lost; that it was no use going on. I looked round hopelessly, wondering whether I should be half dead from cold and exposure before the morning, for there was no place of shelter on these wind-swept moors, when I saw a faint light shining in the distance.

"It may be some laborer's cottage," I thought. "I'll go and see. At least I should be under cover there." And I walked on more hopefully.

But as I drew nearer I saw that the light came from a large house standing in extensive grounds, which had evidently been reclaimed from the moors. After a moment's hesitation I unlatched the gate, and walked up the grass-grown drive. As there was a light in the hall somebody must be about, and under the circumstances they could hardly grudge me shelter until the morning; but I pulled the great handle of the bell rather nervously; how the neal echoed through the silent house! I waited a minute in suspense, then I heard soft footsteps approaching the door. It was opened slowly and with difficulty, as though the hands behind it found the heavy wood hard to move, and a tall white-haired woman, thin almost to emaciation, stood before me.

"I beg your pardon," I stammered, "but I have lost my way on the moors." The piercing dark eyes in the ghastly withered face filled me with a vague alarm, my nerves were already rather shaken, and this silent, white-haired woman made an imposing, almost formidable, figure.

"Come in," she said, and the voice made me shiver, it was so toneless and inhuman—like a voice from the grave, I thought. "I did not recognise you at first; I thought it might be somebody else."

Wondering what she meant, but afraid to ask, I followed her into a large room, lit with wax candles, and furnished in the fashion of a hundred years ago. Indeed, there were some things in it which even to my inexperienced eyes appeared much older than that. I looked gratefully at the great logs burning on the hearth, for I felt faint and chilled.

"You are cold," she said. "I am always cold, though they tell me it is summer now; but the moors don't change much winter or summer, and I never see anything else."

I began to explain who I was and how I came to be wandering about so late alone; but I think my hostess scarcely gathered the meaning of my words.

"You will want something to eat and drink," she said. "I will fetch it for you."

"Please don't trouble," I replied. "Your servants have gone to bed; I shall manage very well until morning. I am grateful enough to you for taking me in."

"There is no one in the house but me," she said. "I always send the servants away this night of the year; I like to be alone as I was then; but I can easily get what you require. I should feel hurt if you refused my hospitality."

This was said with the air of a grande dame, and I could make no farther remonstrance, but I felt far from comfortable at hearing that we two were alone together; her conversation and general surroundings were so strange and mysterious. I might have been safer out on the moors. I thought, but it was too late to retreat now.

She returned very soon with a tray of refreshments, which included a small bottle of Burgundy. I was glad of the wine, for I was almost exhausted; and to my unaccustomed palate it tasted exceptionally good. When I had had a couple of glasses my courage returned and I faced the situation more calmly. After all it was evident that my hostess was kindly disposed toward me; if she was a little eccentric I must humor her. People who are much alone get strange fancies sometimes, and often live more in the past than in the present.

"It is curious you should have come here to-night," she said in her dull, monotonous voice. "You must be about the same age I was then."

"I am twenty-five," I replied, determined to be as matter-of-fact as I could, lest I should be carried away whither I knew not.

"I thought so. That was my age forty years ago, when it happened." I was betrayed into a gesture of surprise; I should have given her another ten years at least.

"Ah, you think I look older than that; well, it is not surprising. When you come to the end of everything that matters at twenty-five and twenty, but drag on existence for another forty years, you have endured an eternity of time. All I ever meet any children on the moors they look at me with frightened eyes as though I did not belong to the world. And I was always fond of little children."

She was not talking for effect, that was evident; but rather as though speaking her thoughts aloud.

"But I was never a pretty girl like you are," she went on. "Perhaps it would have been better for me if I had been. I had wealth and a great capacity for affection, but that was all."

"It is a good deal," I ventured. "Money generally smooths the way to happiness."

"Don't say that!" she cried fiercely; "it is not true. It smooths the way to treachery and cruelty and pain," and she pressed her hand to her heart. "I know, for I have been through it all."

"I beg your pardon," I said, "but I have felt the want of money, and that is not a pleasant thing either. I have to earn my own living. I am down here on a sketching expedition now. I love my work, but I could wish that it had a higher pecuniary value. Poverty rubs off so much of the romance."

"You do not belong to the moors?"

"No, I come from London, from a third-rate suburb, where you would not be able to live and breathe after all this beauty and sweetness."

"From London! That was where she came from, the woman who robbed me of my husband's love. . . Nobody knows the story; I should like to tell the truth to someone before I die, and I shall not live to see another year. I like your face; I think you would understand. I will tell you. You might have been sent to me on purpose. I shall be glad to know what a good woman thinks of what I did. Not that I regret it," with a sudden fierceness; "not that I have any remorse! I would do the same thing over again to-morrow."

I could not have stopped her if I had wished; and I shrank instinctively from the confidence, I was filled with a great pity for this lonely woman, and longed to help and comfort her. I could see that here was no common tragedy.

"Friends warned me against him, told me he was an adventurer and was marrying me for my money," she began, "but I would not believe them. What woman would who loved as I did—who had been waiting for someone to love for five and twenty years? You see, I did not win or give affection easily, and I held even him at a distance as long as I could; but his voice and smile shook my pride and coldness—he had all the arts and graces that please a woman, especially one who had only known the rough, unpolished men of the moors—and when he made me see the beauty of life by the light of his love I surrendered myself, with a sigh of delight, to the unaccustomed warmth and brightness. I was very happy in those days for six months life seemed all joy. People said I had grown young and giglish as I never was before."

Half timidly, I laid my hand on hers, and she did not repulse me; there was something in her voice I could hardly bear to hear.

"Then he began to grow weary of the moors and the uneventful life, and he made excuses to go to London more and more often. I would gladly have gone with him—as I would have gone all over the world—had he asked me, but he did not, and I was too proud to offer what he did not seem to desire. When he came home now and then for the shooting and hunting, he generally brought friends with him—people I did not know and did not like. They made up their parties and arrangements without me; I became a nonentity in my own home. My old servants showed their indignation silently but plainly; one or two friends tried to speak—to tell me things—but I stopped them at once; I would listen to no word against my husband. I was not a woman to fight over trifles; quarrels, especially matrimonial ones, had always seemed to be vulgar and degrading. I waited patiently still, hoping against hope."

"It was a cruel ingratitude," I said hotly, "when you had given him so much." There must have been a strong chord of sympathy between us, for I could enter into her feelings as though she had been of my own blood.

"Yes, but I don't know that that counts for much, my dear; in some nature clashes against nature even while it takes . . . the day came when . . . when, I could do . . . myself no longer, when my own . . . the honour of my house . . . never known a stain . . . that I should speak. By accident I overheard my husband making protestations of constant devotion to one of the guests a woman who had been insolent to me more than once, and to whom I had only shown the normal politeness that any position required. I had noticed my husband's infatuation for her, but by this time I knew his roving fancy, and I did not attach any particular importance to it; but what I had overheard told me that the matter was serious.

"Had you no one to help you?" I asked pitifully. "Was there nobody to take your part?"

"I took my own, child. I had always been accustomed to depend on myself. I summoned my husband to a private interview. I told him what I had heard, and I insisted that the woman should leave the house at once. . . . He laughed in my face.

"'She shall stay as long as I please,' he said insolently. 'Do you think I am going to be shut up in this dull hole with only you for company? It is very good of my friends to take pity on me.'

"'You can go, too, if you wish,' I said calmly, 'but I know that she shall. It is necessary to remind you that this is my house, and for my own sake and the sake of those who lived here before me, I will not have it disgraced.'"

"Then he lost control over himself, and I had to endure such words and insults as, had I been a man, I would have made him answer for at once; being only a woman I was forced to listen in silence. As he went away he turned at the door with an evil smile on his white face and said,

"'We are going out for a ride together now. You will see us both at dinner.'

"'You shall neither of you enter this house again,' I said quietly, looking him straight in the eyes. 'I have done with you for ever.'

"His laugh echoed contemptuously down the corridor, but I was beyond being angered with it, though I knew he had probably gone to tell the woman all that had passed between us. I was quite sure in my own mind that I should never be troubled by either of them again, although as yet I did not know how this would be brought about.

"Half an hour later I saw them ride away together, the woman looking back with a mocking laugh in case I might be watching. The rest of the guests had gone into the city to some festival, and I knew that they would not return till late. I told the servants that they could go too, as I should be alone, and should not want them.

"Then I waited for what would happen.

"At that time there was a moat round the house with a drawbridge, dating from some centuries ago when the house was built and protection was needed against any wandering band of marauders. It was growing dusk when at last I saw two figures riding up to the bridge, but I recognised them at once. They seemed in high spirits. I could hear their laughter from the other side. As the horses stepped on the drawbridge, I held up my hand.

"'Stop,' I cried. 'Go back!—go back before it is too late.' But they only laughed more loudly and came on.

"I had everything in readiness, and when they reached the middle I let down the bridge, and they were both precipitated into the moat below. It was deep and they must have been killed instantaneously, for I never heard a sound."

"How terrible," I cried, shuddering a little away. "But they had driven you mad between them; you did not know what you were doing." My sympathy was still all with this wronged woman.

"I had warned them," she said, "and I meant to keep my word. I could not have borne to meet either of them again."

"But," I said hesitatingly, "did no one ever suspect? Did nothing ever come out?"

"No. It was supposed that the servant in charge of the drawbridge had left it in an unsafe condition. I was never suspected; my devotion to my husband was too well known. I did not feel called upon to make any confession. They had only met with their just reward, and no slur must rest on the old name. I had the moat filled in and the bridge taken away, but sometimes now," her eyes losing themselves in the distance, "I see them riding up. As yet, they have always stopped on the other side, but soon they will cross the bridge. I am expecting them every day, and I am not afraid."

BIG MOUNTAINS UNDER THE SEA

It was at the captain's table on an Atlantic liner that a young woman idly inquired just how far the ship was from the nearest land. Several passengers would have said offhand, "About eight hundred miles." But the captain referred the question to a quiet gentleman, who looked at his watch and a chart, and amazed his hearers by answering, "Just about seventy yards."

"The land I speak of," continued the captain's friend, who was an expert oceanographer, "is just thirty-six fathoms beneath this ship. It is the summit of the Laura Ethel Mountain, which is twenty thousand feet above the lowest level of the Atlantic basin. If it were some two hundred feet higher, or the sea were two hundred feet lower, you would call it an island."

In effect the Atlantic is a huge continent boasting a superficial area of 25,000,000 square miles. It is 9,000 miles long and 2,700 broad. The depth of the water that covers it is by no means so considerable as people used to imagine. Oceanography as a science may be said to date from only about 1,850; but, thanks chiefly to the labors of the cable-laying and cable-repairing ships, our knowledge of the configuration of the bed of the ocean grows greater every year.

The Laura Ethel Mountain, discovered in 1878, is the uppermost peak of one of the most celebrated of the submarine elevations in the Atlantic. Mount Chaucer, at the eastward of it, was revealed to oceanographers in 1850. Sainthill, which is westward of both, has the honor to be the first mountain discovered in the Atlantic. It became known to science in 1832.

Prior to the laying of the first Atlantic cable, Lieut. Maury, U.S.N., made it known that a wide plateau exists beneath the ocean, running from Ireland to Newfoundland. It seemed so admirably suited to the purpose of cable laying that he modestly called it Telegraphic Plateau; but in the newest charts it bears the discoverer's name.

The location of "Davy Jones's locker" might be said to have been established with the discovery of Sainthill. It has been estimated that at the base of this eminence the relics of not fewer than five thousand wrecks lie scattered. Or one might ascribe that gruesome distinction to the Faraday Hills, discovered in 1883, and lying between Mount Chaucer and Laura Ethel Mountain. These hills are noted among oceanographers for the amount of wreckage of which they are the monument.

There are the cavernous depths, of course, in the Atlantic, as well as majestic heights. Four miles and a half may be taken to be the greatest. The average is probably about two English miles. Heights and depths alike are merely hidden land, which may some day be exposed by the mighty workings of nature.

Meantime comparatively few changes go on. Beneath the ocean there are no frosts, no lightnings, no glaciers, no meteorological agents at work. If it were not for the eddies and the destruction and accumulation of animal life, these Atlantic hills and vales might rest as immutable as the "peaks and craters of the moon," where there is no atmosphere to cause decay.

THE CARE OF HENS

Information as to Proper Feeding and Cleanliness

A hot meal should always be given to fowls in the morning. Equal parts of sharps, bran and pea or bean meal, with a dash of mustard, the whole made friable with boiling water, is a good daily ration. The mixture should never be wet and stodgy, but should fall to pieces when crumbled in the hand.

At midday the birds should have, on alternate days a sprinkle of grain and some boiled meat—such as butcher's waste or lights—thrown into their scratching shed, which should be littered with straw or chaff, so that they will have to work for their meal. A small handful of grain for each fowl is about the right quantity.

The last meal should always be grain, and should be given as near dusk as possible. Grain takes a long time to digest, and, consequently, keeps the birds warm during cold nights. Wheat, oats, and barley are all good, particularly oats. Occasionally a little maize may be given, as it is heating; but as it has a tendency to form fat, it should only be supplied now and then.

Plenty of clean, fresh water in a clean vessel should always be within reach of the fowls, and when it is remembered that 70 per cent of an egg is composed of water, the importance of supplying enough to birds that are in lay is obvious. Water which has been frozen over should never be given to birds, nor water into which snow has fallen, as snow-water, for some inapplicable reason, seems to cause the birds to waste.

Scrupulous cleanliness should always be maintained in the fowl-house, and if no dropping-boards are provided under the perches, a deep layer of peat moss, dry earth, ashes or sawdust must be placed there and removed once a week or so.

PURIFIED HIS BLOOD

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Banished Mr. Wilson's Sores

When the sewers of the body—bowels, kidneys and skin ducts—get clogged up, the blood quickly becomes impure and frequently sores break out over the body. The way to heal them, as Mr. Richard Wilson, who lives near London, Ont., found, is to purify the blood. He writes:

"For some time I had been in a low, depressed condition. My appetite left me and I soon began to suffer from indigestion. Quite a number of small sores and blotches formed all over my skin. I tried medicines for the blood and used many bottles of sarsaparilla, but without satisfactory results. What was wanted was a thorough cleansing of the blood, and I looked about in vain for some medicine that would accomplish this.

At last Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills were brought to my notice, and they are one of the most wonderful medicines I have ever known. My blood was purified in a very short time, sores healed up, my indigestion vanished. They always have a place in my home and are looked upon as the family remedy."

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills cleanse the system thoroughly. Sold by all dealers at 25c a box.

VILLAGE MAYOR WAS THE DEVIL

The Strange Dream of a Poor Peasant Woman Proved to be a Reality

A poor peasant woman living in the lonely village of Wagmilye, in Hungary, was notified by the post-office authorities in the neighboring town that a sum of $1,000 was lying there for her which had been sent by her husband from North America. They asked her to bring witnesses to establish her identity when she came to claim the money. The woman went to the mayor of her commune, who gave her a certificate. It was, however, too late to obtain the money on that day. During the night two horrible apparitions appeared to the woman in her lonely cottage. These "ghosts" said that they were the Devil and his brother Death, and that she must give the money that she had brought from the post-office that morning to the Devil, as otherwise he would give her over to his brother Death. The Devil said that her husband had stolen it in America, and that thus it belonged to him. The woman, who was terribly frightened, said that she had not yet got the money. The "ghosts," it is alleged, compelled her to swear that she would deliver it to them next day and departed. The peasant woman went to the post-office and asked for the money. The postmaster said that he wanted witnesses, and she replied that she could not pay them to attend as the money belonged to the Devil in any case. She then related the incident of the night before. The postmaster gave her the money and let her go home, but acquainted the police with her story. They watched the hut that night and arrested the "ghosts," who, it is alleged, turned out to be the mayor of the commune and a relation, who had, when the police appeared, already taken possession of the money.

NEW ZEALAND SHEEP

The Depredations of a Parrot About the Size of a Pigeon

A correspondent of the Edinburgh Scotsman gives an interesting account of the supposed origin and depredations of the New Zealand Mountain Kea, or parrot, a bird about the size of a pigeon, which infests the barren wastes above the snow line. Originally a vegetarian, and insectivorous, it is believed to have acquired the taste for mutton and sheep's blood by alighting on their backs and hunting with its beak for ticks and grubs. Curiosity and hunger were the stimulating motives of the bird, resulting in the backs of the sheep being torn to pieces down to the kidneys and other organs. What was destroying the sheep was a mystery till about 1868 or 1869, when a shepherd discovered that the new foe of the flock was the Kea, on the head of which a long price has since been set, and he is now hunted as a profession.

RICH HERMITS

Eccentricities of Millionaires are Many—Some Live All Alone in Garrets

The "vanity of riches" has never been more strikingly demonstrated than by the story of Mr. G. E. Dering, who died at Lockley Hall, Welwyn.

For the greater part of half a century this lord of many acres and of a quarter of a million of money had been content to lead the life of a hermit in his magnificent home surrounded by a thousand acres of park land. His valuable pictures—by Holbein, Fra Bartolomeo, and other old masters—have stood for a generation stacked three deep with their faces turned to the walls.

Gorgeous carriages, rich with heraldic painting, lay rotting in his coach house; his front door was overgrown with ivy as high as the stone shield of arms that crowned it. Not even a lamb was allowed to bleat within hearing of the lord of this desolate mansion; and even the high road was diverted, that no sound of traffic should vex his ears. Thus, amidst dust, decay, and desolation, lived and died the owner of $125,000 a year, shunning the world and scorning his wealth.

While Sir Henry Delves Broughton was sitting at his attic-window, a man infinitely richer was walking the streets of St. Petersburg in the guise of a beggar, pocketing the alms of charitable passers-by, and gleefully carrying back his spoil to his miserable two-storeyed cottage in one of the city's slums.

This was the only "palace" of the multi-millionaire Solodovnikoff, where he lived, amongst his decrepit sticks of furniture, with an old housekeeper. Here he would sit shivering through the cold winter days, too miserly to allow himself a fire, or even to brighten the dark house with the light of a solitary candle. For twenty years he was only known to wear one suit, a "thing of shreds and patches," scarcely a vestige of the original cloth remaining. And yet this sordid-living hermit was one of the greatest landowners and railway magnates in all Russia—a man who left behind him a hundred million roubles. Far wealthier than many kings, he led a life from which most peasants would have shrunk.

A few years ago there was no wealthier man in all Paris than M. Colasson, who for a generation had lived as a pauper in two rooms of his magnificent palace in the Rue Galilee. During all this period he never once left his splendid prison, and no one was ever allowed to enter it except his one faithful attendant, who kept him supplied with his daily food of bread and eggs. As in Mr. Dering's case it was the death of a father that consigned him to his hermit-life, so with M. Colasson it was the tragic death by fire of a loved nephew and heir, in 1874, that decided him to forswear the world and all its vanities.

Within a few weeks of the death of M. Colasson there died in an attic in a Berlin slum one Herr Schwarz, who was known to and pitied by his neighbors as the poorest of the poor. He sallied out daily into the fashionable quarters, dressed in rags and carrying a sack in which he collected crusts.

He lived alone and died alone, a mere bag of bones surrounded by riches; for in his room was found $140,000—in gold coins, stocks, in scores of loan and bonds, and in bank-notes, with which his pillow and mattress were stuffed.

For many years Mr. Phelps Stokes, one of America's richest men, lived in one of the slums of New York, leading the life of the poor among whom he worked, and spending on himself in a year less than his income for a day. A few years ago Mr. Kads How turned his back on his palace in St. Louis and renounced his right to a million of money, to spend his days in voluntary poverty in one of the most wretched slums in the city. Here, in a solitary room in a home for waifs, the ex-Croesus cooked his own meals, made his own bed, and counted himself extravagant if he spent more than two dollars a week on his meals.

IRISH TRADE MARK.

Redmond Wants It Protected in the United States.

London, April 7.—John E. Redmond, leader of the Irish Parliamentary party, has given out the correspondence between himself and President Taft concerning a proposition to secure by special legislation protection in the United States of the Irish national trade mark.

In a letter dated March 11, Mr. Redmond calls attention to the increase of exports from Ireland to the United States, and says that an attempt was recently made by an American citizen to procure the registration of a mark identical in design with the Irish mark. In view of the injurious effect such an attempt, if successful, would have on the export of Irish goods, and because the American law has no provision by which the national trade mark of Ireland can be registered, as in the United Kingdom. Mr. Redmond asks the President to use his "powerful influence in securing the passage of a special act recognizing the Irish national trade mark," so that it may obtain registration in the United States.

Replying to this letter on March 20, President Taft writes: "I think such a provision would be a fair and equitable one." The President admits that he is getting opinions on the subject from the Secretary of the Interior and the commissioner of patents.

In a letter dated March 27, the President states that he is forwarding copies of letter from the secretary and the commission which had not been given out, concerning the proposition to amend the law by making provision for national trade marks. The President, in concluding, says: "I am very doubtful whether this is likely to be considered at the extra session, but I shall certainly bring it to the attention of Congress at the regular session in December."

Construction Building Ships.

Melbourne, April 7.—A contract has been signed between the Federal Government and New South Wales for the construction in the latter's dock yard of a protected cruiser and three destroyers. Pearce, Minister of Defence, says Australia is not discouraged at the cost of adopting the endorsed naval scheme, and is fully prepared to find the money.

Archibald Colquhoun, speaking at the United Service Institution on sea power in the Pacific, says Australia's naval policy is capable of expansion. It is not complicated, like Canada, by jarring forces of nationalism and imperialism. Certain political complications made Canada blind to certain obvious dangers. It should be the aim of British policy to encourage mutual intercourse of Canada and Australia.

Setback to Reciprocity.

London, April 7.—The Newcastle Daily Chronicle says the revelation of expanding revenue and increased prosperity of home industries has not done anything to help the Ottawa supporters of the tariff adjustment. The expansion of state railways built from revenue makes it less necessary to worry about special terms with the U. S. A.

Problem of Separation.

Kingston, April 7.—Queen's University trustees will take up the question of separation from the Presbyterian Church. At the last meeting of the general assembly the trustees were requested to try and come to a unanimous agreement, as there was strong opposition to the recommendation regarding constitutional changes. So far there has been no attempt made to secure the voice of the graduates upon the matter, and the graduate vote is very strongly in favor of separation.

Anti-separation trustees are dissatisfied that no attempt has been made to come to an agreement, as the general assembly requested. They asked for a conference, but none was forthcoming. They still ask where will Queen's get its endowment if it yields up it Presbyterian connection.

It is said that a big effort is being made to bring the leading anti-separationists in the general assembly into line, and have a final decision made in June.

MARKET REPORTS.

Liverpool Wheat Futures Close Higher, Chicago Lower—Live Stock —Latest Quotations.

CHICAGO, April 6.—After showing a good advance, wheat to-day closed weak at 1-8 to 3-4 decline compared with 24 hours before. One reason for the setback was a widely circulated private crop report, declaring that winter wheat has gained 2.6 per cent. in condition since December. Corn finished a shade to 1-4 down; oats off 1-8 to 1-4; and hog products 7 1-2 to 17 1-2 low.

The Liverpool market closed to-day ¼d to ⅝d higher on wheat and ¼d to ⅜d higher on corn. Paris wheat closed 1¾c higher; Berlin, ½c lower; Buda Pest, ¼c lower, and Antwerp, 1½c higher.

Montreal Grain and Produce.

MONTREAL, April 6.—There was little or no demand from foreign buyers for Manitoba spring wheat here, but reports from Winnipeg stated that a good business was worked. The local demand for oats was better and sales of 35,000 bushels of number 2 Canadian western were made at 37¾c per bushel, ex store. The export trade in spring wheat flour continues good and further sales were made of 10,000 sacks. The local trade is improving some.

Drank Carbolic.

Smith's Falls, April 7.—Jas. Smith, aged 28, of this village, committed suicide yesterday afternoon by drinking carbolic acid. The man took the fatal dose in the Russell Hotel yard, afterwards making his way into a nearby harness shop, where he fell dead. The coroner decided an inquest was unnecessary. No cause is assigned for the act. Smith leaves a widow, to whom he was married only a year ago. He was a son of John Smith, contractor, of Smith's Falls, who died three weeks ago.

Italy's Electoral Reforms.

Rome, April 7.—Premier Giovanni Giolitti presented his associates in the new Cabinet to Parliament yesterday and outlined the policy to be pursued.

Of prime importance was the matter of electoral reforms, he said, and the Government would advocate the granting of the franchise to all who had seen military service, or males who had reached the age of thirty years. Compulsory pension for working men would be introduced.

The financial situation of the nation was good, but a stop must be put to the growth of expenses.

Concerning foreign relations the Premier said that these were excellent with Italy's allies, and good with her friends.

Sunday Opening.

Chatham, April 7.—The Chatham Free Library board last night discussed the advisability of keeping the library open longer during the day, and also of having it opened several hours on Sundays. Action was deferred.

Rabbi Tried to Smuggle.

Syracuse, N.Y., April 6.—Samuel Goldstein, a rabbi in a synagogue in Montreal, Que., was indicted here yesterday on a charge of smuggling uncut diamonds into the United States at Rouse's Point on March 14 last. The diamonds were in Goldstein's possession when he was arrested.

The prisoner pleaded guilty, and Judge Ray sentenced him to the federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., for one month and fined him $500. If the fine is paid to-day the sentence will be modified.

The rabbi, when arrested in March, claimed that he had been given a package by a friend to deliver in New York, and that he was not aware that it contained diamonds, or that he was attempting to smuggle them.

Girl Whips Would-be Masher.

London, Ont., April 7.—A young woman standing at the corner of Richmond and Dundas streets was approached by a young man Wednesday night, who asked to accompany her home. The girl dropped her purse and went at the man before a crowd of spectators, administering several blows and knocking his hat into the gutter.

"I don't know you; how dare you," she cried. The young man fled before the police arrived.

FOUR EAST CITY STORES BROKEN INTO AND ROBBED

Premises of Jas. R. Bell, J. C. Sullivan, Geo. Wheeler and T. B. Maniece Receive a Visit From Gang of Thieves —Windows Are Broken and a Quantity of Goods Carried Away—A Bold Series of Burglaries.

The East City business section was the scene of a series of bold and successful burglaries last night or early this morning, four stores along Hunter street, between Burnham and Mark streets, having been entered, and in each case the thief or thieves, more probably the latter, got away with a quantity of goods, the total value of which will be in the neighbourhood of $60.

The stores entered were the grocery store of Jas. R. Bell, the liquor store of J. C. Sullivan, Geo. Wheeler's butcher shop and T. B. Maniece's grocery at the corner of Mark and Hunter streets. The mode of robbery in each case was practically the same, the windows of the stores having been smashed with a stone or with the hand and an entrance made in this manner. In two cases, the thieves did not get inside, but contented themselves by getting away with some of the articles in the window. In no case was there any cash taken, for the simple reason that no money was left in any of the stores.

Jas. R. Bell's grocery store in the Albion Hotel block was apparently the commencement point of the operations. Here the front window was broken and a good size stone found this morning on the inside of the store indicates how the glass was smashed. Nothing is missing from here except a quantity of oranges which were kept in a basket in the window. The thieves contented themselves with carrying off the fruit and then departed in search of further fields to conquer.

Next in line came J. C. Sullivan's liquor store and the same method was adopted here, the intervening stores having been passed over. The front window was shattered and the gang made a haul of all the bottles they could reach from the outside, getting away with a quantity of brandy and whiskey.

Wheeler's butcher shop was next honoured with a visit. Securing entrance in the same way, the thieves were apparently trying to ransack the till and in doing so upset a long counter and a pair of scales, badly damaging the latter. They then made a getaway, taking with them a large piece of beef as a souvenir.

Maniece's grocery store adjoining was the last port of call. The glass of the door was smashed and the thieves climbed into the store through the opening. In some manner, either intentional or accidental, a large plate glass window was also broken. The thieves made their biggest capture here, carrying away a quantity of maple syrup in tins and canned goods to the value of about $10.

It is remarkable that the gang were not disturbed in their operations. They had evidently selected the south side of the street on account of the fact that there are few residences there, while on the north side there are people living over the stores and these were left untouched. Mrs. Warde, who lives at the corner of Hunter and Mark streets, diagonally across the road from Manjece's store in the old town hall block, heard the sound of broken glass, but thought nothing of it at the time.

The burglary was discovered early this morning by a young man who was returning from a social function, and who noticed the broken windows and gave the alarm.

A number of suspicious characters have been hanging around the railways several of whom were arrested recently, and it is thought that the burglaries may have been committed by some of those gentry.

PETERBOROUGH PUBLIC LIBRARY HAS NOW A MEMBERSHIP OF OVER A THOUSAND

Interesting Figures Given at the Meeting of the Library Board Last Night — Mr. Dela Fosse Delegate to the Convention.

TO GO TO TORONTO

A regular monthly meeting of the Peterborough Public Library Board was held in the Board room yesterday.

Those present were Messrs. E. H. D. Hall, chairman; Mayor Morrow, Dr. McNulty, H. R. M. Kenner, D. Spence, J. Corkery, D. Walker and A. Mowat.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The following communications were received:

From Mr. Matthews, informing the Board that it would be impossible for him to be present at the meeting.—Received.

From Miss Caroline Peck, applying for the position of Assistant Librarian, should one be needed.—Received.

From Dr. E. A. Hammond, Secretary of the Peterborough Medical Society, thanking the Library Board for granting the Medical Society the use of a room.—Received.

From E. A. Hardy, Secretary of the Ontario Library Association, advising the Board that the annual meeting of the Association will be held in Toronto on the 17th and 18th inst., and asking that delegates from the Peterborough Board be appointed to attend the meeting.

Moved by Mayor Morrow, seconded by Mr. Kenner, that the chairman of the Board, Mr. E. H. D. Hall, and the librarian, Mr. Dela Fosse, be appointed delegates from this Board, to attend the 11th annual meeting of the Ontario Library Association.—Carried.

And that the expenses of the Librarian be paid by the Board.—Carried.

Mr. Morrow then read the report of the Finance Committee, which was as follows:

Water Commissioners	$5.00
Standard of Empire	2.00
Ontario Library Association	2.00
Otonabee Power Co.	46.40
Peterborough Fuel and Cartage Co.	15.80
Trebilcock Bros.	1.45
Wm. Hamilton & Co.	1.25
H. Edmondson	4.40

This report was received and adopted.

Mr. Walker read the report of the Library Committee, which was as follows:

The present member list of Library, 1,360; number of volumes issued to date, 5,941; number of new volumes purchased to date, 340; account of fines paid $3.43.

The assistant, Miss Rose, appointed at the special meeting of the Board, entered upon her duties Thursday, March 23, 1911, and is still in the service.

The Library Committee also recommended the purchase of a set of "Highways and By-ways" of English counties.

Moved by Mr. Corkery, seconded by Mr. Mowat, that the matter of purchasing a carpet for use behind the Librarian's desk, be left in the hands of the Property Committee, with power to act.—Carried.

The revision of the rules and regulations for the government of the Board was then considered.

Moved by Mr. Kenner, seconded by Mr. Morrow, that the rules and regulations, as amended, be adopted.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Walker, seconded by Mr. Corkery, that the publishing and printing of the rules and regulations be left in the hands of Mr Kenner, chairman of the Revision Committee.—Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

ILLUSTRATION OF THE POWER OF EXAMINER WANT ADS.

"You'll have to take out that add!"
"Why, what's the matter? Have you sold your sideboard?"
"Sold it before 2 o'clock last night!"

This little conversation is significant and indicates in no uncertain manner the efficiency of Examiner Want Ads. as a connecting link. The gentleman in question advertised a sideboard for sale in last night's Examiner. Before nine o'clock he had satisfactorily disposed of the article he had for sale.

Another little example: A local barber had occasion to advertise for an apprentice to learn the business. He advertised in the Examiner Want Columns and got a satisfactory man for the expenditure of a few cents. You cannot get along without the Examiner Want Ads Every one reads them—that's the answer.

SENTENCE A YEAR IN CENTRAL

Wilbur A. Deremo, Who Says He is a Native of Peterborough, Appears on a Charge of Fraud

FALSE PRETENCES

Wilbur A. Deremo was last week sentenced by His Honour Judge Deroche to one year in the Central Prison for obtaining goods under false pretence from Mr. A. Wallace of Belleville. Deremo, a native of Peterborough, according to his evidence, had abandoned his wife and family in June, 1910, in Oil City, Penn., when he met another woman who accompanied him to Belleville. In sentencing the prisoner, his Honour said from his moral conduct not much mercy could be expected.

DR. MARSH TALKS OF THE PICTURE

Gives His Opinion of the Painting "The Shadow of the Cross" Which Has Caused So Much Comment

WAS INTENTIONAL

Rev. Dr. Marsh, of Springville, the secretary of the Royal Astronomical Society, was among those who visited the "Shadow of the Cross" painting at the Y. M. C. A. and made some investigation of the picture which has caused so much talk.

In an interesting interview with the Examiner over the telephone to-day, Rev. Dr. Marsh said:

"I was most courteously received by those in charge of the picture, and there was no reserve whatever. Everything that could be done to help me was done. I took with me some condensing lenses and a chemical spectroscope and made analysis of the diffused light and of the diffused light condensed. In either case I had not enough condensing apparatus to make a complete analysis, but the line indicated by the spectroscope was in the vicinity of uranium and helium. My opinion is that the light is not a phosphorescence,, but a florescence, and that florescent mineral answering to a substance between the helium and uranium lines has been used in the pigment, hence the luminosity of the background. I think that if the picture is kept in an entirely dark place for some time it would to a great extent lose that florescence, but as it is kept almost entirely before the electric arc lamp, the florescent mineral absorbs the light and thus gives out light when the arc is turned off. As to the shadow of the cross I cannot help but feel that that was intentional on the part of the painter; in fact that the whole thing was intentional."

Prince Rupert People Are Determined to Prevent any Repetition of the Outbreak Between Strikers and Police in Which One Man Was Killed.

Special Wire to The Examiner.

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., APRIL 7.—Business here is fairly suspended and all citizens this morning on the streets are armed with rifles and revolvers determined to maintain order and prevent a repetition of the outbreak between the strikers and the police which last night resulted in the death of one striker and the serious wounding of a policeman. Later reports indicate the trouble occurred over the importation of strikebreakers by the contractors engaged in blasting roadways and grading streets. The leader of the strike carried a red banner and most of the strikers followed him in the attack.

STEAMER GOES TO RESCUE OF SHIPWRECKED SAILORS

Special to The Examiner.

HALIFAX, APRIL 7.—The government steamer "Lady Laurier" from Halifax and "Earl Grey" from Pictou are being sent to St. Paul Island to bring off the crew of the abandoned steamer Haralow, numbering in all 140 men. The Haralow is a Newfoundland sealing vessel which stranded and forced all the crew to take refuge on the island. No provisions were saved.

"THE LITTLE PILGRIMS" WAS GREAT SUCCESS TO BE REPEATED

A large and appreciative gathering turned out last night and braved the elements for the express purpose of hearing an excellent rendition of that beautiful and devoutly interesting sacred play, known as "The Little Pilgrims," which was given in the All Saints Sunday School room by members of the school classes.

The play, which began with an imaginary ringing of a church bell, was a dramatic representation of the Anglican Church worship. The cast of characters was composed of members of the Sunday School. To add further interest to the production the performers were garbed in costumes consistent with the time and subject that each individual performer represented.

The performance passed off without a hitch, and it reflected great credit on the painstaking efforts of those who were concerned in the staging of the play. The cast of characters was as follows:

"Christopher"—Master W. Rose.
"Little Pilgrims"—Grace Yeats and Albert Lightheart.
Mother Church—Miss L. Lightheart

LAST CHANCE TO SEE "THE SHADOW OF A CROSS"

Saturday will be the last day in which the picture "The Shadow of the Cross" will be on exhibition at the Y. M. C. A. The picture will then be shipped to Port Hope, where it will be on exhibition for some time. This wonderful picture still evokes the wonder and praise of all who see it. While it has been on exhibition here a number of people have called in to see it, because their friends and relations in other towns have written them, advising them to do so. They had seen the picture and were anxious that their Peterborough friends should also have a chance to view so marvellous a work of art.

HUMAN HAND AND FOOT FOUND IN A BOX

New York, April 5.—The finding of a human hand and foot encased in a cigar box, evidence of a strange crime similar to the Guldensupp mystery, to-day started the police upon a thorough search of halls and area ways in 125th street in the vicinity of Park avenue, for the other parts of the body.

The only clews contained in two initials on a ring discovered on one of the fingers, failed to help the police. One initial on the outside of the ring was "A. F." The other on the inside, was "A. & W" Wrapped about the grewsome members was a white handkerchief and there were bits of papers in the box which looked like pieces of a circular printed in German.

The police learned that Alfred Felly, of 222 West Twenty-eight street, had been missing since December.

A fact indicating that the hand and foot had been used in medical work was that the arteries were filled with a carmine solution containing plaster of Paris, such as is used by medical students, so that the veins could be easily traced.

A close examination showed that the two members were entirely out of proportions. The foot was much larger than the hand, and it was clear that they did not come from the same body.

MILLIONAIRE SURRENDERS ON CHARGE OF BRIBERY

Special Wire to The Examiner.

ST. LOUIS, MO., APRIL 7.—Ellis Wainwright, a millionaire broker who was indicted in the crusade against Governor Folk and has been an exile in Paris ever since, appeared in court this morning and surrendered on a charge of bribery. Several public officials and city councilmen were indicted at the time and have since served sentences.

RESCUING THE PASSENGERS FROM STRANDED STEAMER

Special to The Examiner:

NEW YORK, N.Y., APRIL 7.—The breeze had freshened considerably this afternoon when the work began of transferring the twenty-seven hundred passengers and crew of the stranded St. Princess Irene to her sister ship Prince Frederick William on the Hill bar fifty miles out of the harbour. By considerable tact all semblance of panic among the foreign passengers has been averted, but fears are expressed that the actual transferring in the rolling water may cause trouble. Several life saving crews from the coast guard stations nearby are surrounding the vessels to avert fatalities. As for the stranded steamer itself there is cause for alarm that the injuries may be of permanent character. Some have expressed the opinion that once removed from the shoal she will go down like a stone. She carries a valuable cargo, in addition to the passengers. This spot is part of the proverbial graveyard of the Atlantic.

AN IMPORTANT BUSINESS ANNOUNCEMENT MADE

H. LeBrun & Co., the oldest clothing firm in Peterborough, and the second oldest firm of any kind on George street, desire to announce to the public that the store from now on will be under the active management of Mr. Joseph Picard, who has been associated with Mr. LeBrun since the opening of the business in 1873. Business will still be carried on under the name of H. LeBrun & Co.

Realising that the store of H. LeBrun & Co., has stood very high, not only in the mercantile world, but in the estimation of its patrons and friends scattered throughout this section of the county, and that this standard cannot be lowered one iota, if the success of the firm is to continue, we have laid down for our guidance a set of rules which shall govern our conduct of the business for the future.

The policies of the store will continue along the same lines that have been responsible for its remarkable growth up to this time. There will be no step backwards, in fact there will be no standing still; it will be our purpose to even exceed the splendid attainments of the past. Better assortments, better values, better prices, better service, better satisfied buyers, better everything possible, will be the goal of our ambition. We shall retain all the good features of the past days, and methods, and add to them new ideas that will result for the benefit of our customers.

CANADA'S CENTURY.

During the past few years, especially the past fifteen, Canada has spent very large sums in the construction of needed public works, especially those directed to the improvement of transportation, one of the essential means, the indispensable means, of national development. The St. Lawrence canals have been deepened, and also the St. Lawrence river, from Montreal to Quebec, and more than half the cost of building the eastern division of the Transcontinental railway has been met. The great expenditure required has been met out of current revenue, or with a comparatively small increase of the public debt. Yet the debt of Canada per head is less than it was twenty years ago. Then the net debt per head, was $40.00; to-day it is $43.96. If all the expenditure on permanent improvements had been done on borrowings, as was largely done under another regime, instead of chiefly out of revenue, the debt of Canada, per head and net, would have been at least a half greater than it is to-day. The country has been prosperous under Liberal rule, and the great increase of revenue, bears a logical relation to advance in other directions, notably the increase of total Canadian trade which has practically doubled itself in the past ten years. In 1902 Canada's total trade was $423,-816,144. Now it is nearly 800 millions, about $100 for every man, woman and child in the Dominion. Canada is splendidly fulfilling Sir Wilfrid's forecast that the Twentieth century belongs to Canada as the Nineteenth was that of the United States. The first ten-year instalment has arrived "on schedule time." Not only in the above regards, but in many other ways that would require a book to detail, is the evidence existent to prove the prevision that this is Canada's century.

INTERESTS SAFEGUARDED.

Hon. Clifford Sifton, though, as a politician and nebulous poseur, he is antagonistic to the reciprocity agreement should, as Chairman of the Conservation Commission, applaud the feature of the agreement as it relates to pulpwood. He should recognize the fact that our pulpwood is safe from slaughter. Hon. Mr. Fielding assured the United States on this point that he could not—and would not attempt to influence the provinces of Ontario and Quebec to depart from the policy of prohibiting the export of pulp wood in the log. As it was only on condition of this embargo being raised that the United States would consider reciprocity on pulp and the coarser forms of paper, of course there is no free exchange of pulp and paper, and the conditions remain as they were before negotiations. Mr. Sifton should feel satisfied in the matter of pulp and paper, and he and the industrial interests, for whom he speaks and who assume to be alarmed should be satisfied with Sir Wilfrid's declaration that "we have not hurt the manufacturer and we shall not do so." This is quite consistent with Mr. Fielding's attitude as stated before and during the negotiations. Mr. Fielding told the United States plainly that, as representing Canada, both he and his colleague, Mr. Patterson, would not, for a moment, consider any form of reciprocity in manufactured articles. This, Mr. Taft confirmed in a recent statement. Mr. Sifton knows, in regard to manufactured articles, generally, and industrial interests, generally, the Liberal Government will take no course in any adjustment of trade relations with the United States that would subject the industries of Canada to competition, so far as tariffs are concerned, with the more highly organized and more firmly established, industries of the United States.

CONSERVATIVE PARSON FOR RECIPROCITY.

Rev. R. E. Knowles of Galt, addressed the Canadian Club at Guelph on Friday evening last, his subject being "A Million for the Making." In the course of his address he declared that he was a Conservative himself, and had only cast one Liberal vote in his life, but he was, nevertheless favourable to reciprocity. Canada, he declared, was standing just at the portals of her future greatness. She was more loyal now than ever she was, and the speaker believed that in stirring up Canada's loyalty, the present reciprocity treaty and all the foolish talk about annexation had done as much good as another South African war. "After all, the things that trouble us most are the very things that do us the most good," said the speaker. It was disgraceful to contend that freer trade with our neighbours would make us less loyal to our mother country. Such talk was out of court and had been from the dawn of Waterloo down to the days of Paardeeburg. It was the natural thing for Canada to have free trade with her neighbours, the speaker contended, and it was just as natural that she should remain loyal as ever to the mother land.

DOOM OF THE LORD'S VETO.

Some of the members of the House of Lords have appeared to view quite complacently the possibility that five hundred new Peers may be created by the Liberal Government. One of the Dukes was reported some time ago as saying: "Let 'em come. Three-fourths "of them will be Tories within twelve "months." It is true that it has been the habit of new Peers, who are not Conservative when they are appointed, to experience a change of heart of the sort indicated in the reported Ducal remark. But the House of Lords, after the House of Commons gets through with it, will not matter much one way or the other.

As for the possibility of the Asquith Government having resort to the extreme measure of swamping out the Lords by the creation of new peerages, the indications are that such a course will not be necessary. The utter rout of the Conservatives on the Lords' Veto Bill is clearly indicated in many ways, notably by the changed attitude of the London Spectator. That journal up to a short time ago was a most strenuous advocate of the "last ditch" policy—the policy, that is, of driving the Government to adopt extreme measures. But now it advises the Tory Peers to surrender gracefully and make the most of what powe rover legislation will be left to them under the system of the suspensory veo. The Spectator thus finally confesses that the jig is up so far as the Lords are concerned.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

By the way, remarks the Hamilton Herald, independent Conservative, there has never been any sign of a revolt against Laurier within the Liberal party.

The suffragettes of England are dodging the census takers, to the tune of the cry, "no votes no census." That's only an excuse, it's not the suffr-age, but the age, question, that makes the ladies shy at the census enumerators.

What a blessing was the short budget debate at Otawa! The night of the debate the C.P.R. telegraph office transmitted 110,500 winged words. If the budget debate had taken the usual course, the number altogether would have almost been increased to 110 millions.

Mr. Andrew Broder, M.P., comes from Morrisburg; so does Sir James Whitney, says the Toronto Star. Whitney says that reciprocity spells disloyalty. Broder says that Conservatives who make such assertions are merely shooting off fireworks. Whom did Broder mean, and isn't "fireworks" a rather good description of somebody's language?

The most amusing feature of the Conservative campaign against the reciprocity agreement is, says the Winnipeg Free Press, that while the party organ here in Winnipeg denounces the agreement on the ground that it shows too much consideration for the manufacturers, the party organs in the East denounce it with no less indignation on the ground that it threatens the very existence of every industry in Canada.

We are told that reciprocity will kill or prevent the extension of the meat packing industry. Yet we find a few foolish British financiers who do not believe this story. As soon as the coronation is over a party of Bristol capitalists will visit Port Arthur in order to look over the ground with a view to the founding of a big meat-packing establishment at an estimated cost of $7,500,000.

Another province joins in placing an embargo upon the export of unmanufactured pulp wood. New Brunswick is passing an Act to prohibit the export of pulp wood cut from Crown lands. If the provinces continue in the adoption of such measures there will soon be inaugurated a perpetual close season for pulp wood, as effective and more politic than an export duty imposed by the Dominion Government.

TEN MILLIONS FOR AGRICULTURE.

(Canadian Farm)

Last week a Quebec member of the House of Commons asked that one-tenth of the annual revenue of the Dominion be devoted to the development of agriculture. Taking the annual revenue for the past few years as a basis, this would mean a total of about ten million dollars expended annually upon agriculture. The annual expenditure for agriculture at the present time is considerably less than one million dollars, and a considerable share of this appropriation is diverted to purposes not directly associated with agriculture. Would it be possible to make the appropriation ten or twenty times as large and get effective work for the money expended? With the present agricultural machinery at Ottawa and the methods in operation for aiding agriculture we have no hesitation in saying that it would be impossible to expend so large a sum to the best advantage. To launch out on an expenditure of ten million dollars annually in the interests of the farmer at the present time would be a waste of good money. At the same time the annual expenditure for agriculture could be largely increased with advantage to all concerned. The educational work for agriculture in many of the provinces is hampered for the want of sufficient funds to push it effectively. By more co-operation between the department at Ottawa and the various provincial departments in planning the work that each might do, it might be possible for the Dominion Government to give special grants to the provinces that could be expended in a very effective way.

The "Farm" is right in suggesting that the farming interests would be promoted by more co-operation between Federal and Provincial Agricultural Departments, especially if this co-operation is directed to the prevention of duplication of work and unnecessary over-lapping; but as to the idea of the Dominon supplying the provinces with funds for agricultural education, it is wrong in principle. The provinces have their jurisdiction plainly defined and can only be relieved of responsibility in respect of it, at the expense of efficiency of administration. The "Farm" is right in asserting that ten million dollars a year is more than can be properly expended, within waste. Besides, the farmer does not need it. Enough money is spent now for educative purposes. Give the farmer the advantage of education in the best farm and dairy methods, which is to say, the benefits of research, investigation and experiment that the farmer cannot make for himself, except in so far as he is aided by government machinery to this end. Give the farmer this knowledge, and that is all he demands. Give fair play in this and other regards and the farmer can literally, as well as figuratively, "hoe his own row." To secure this end, the Federal expenditure is ample and well applied.

It is a mistaken idea that all the Dominion expenditure made in the interests of the tillers of the soil is confined to the educational and research aspect of assistance. It is to be remembered that the Dominion has spent millions, if not hundreds of millions, in services that most directly benefit the farmer. It is all ver y well to help the farmer grow good crops, but these are commercially worthless without a good market, and good facilities for reaching it. The Government has spent millions on transportation provision—railways and canals, in subvention of steamship lines, cold storage, etc. The farmer reaps the full benefit of those and to a larger degree than the representatives of any other industry. If the cost of all that has been done in these and similar ways were consolidated, the total, at the ordinary interest charge, would represent an expenditure of more than ten millions a year—devoted to the service that alone makes the farmers' work worth while, the provision of a market and means of reaching it. The farmer is coming into his own through the medium of the reciprocity agreement that provides him with a market of ninety millions. For a generation the manufacturer has been aided by a protective and modified protective tariff, and it is none too soon that the farmer who has so largely borne the cost of the assistance of the manufacturer, should take his innings.

WHO LEADS THE LEADER?

(Montreal Herald.)

The position has not become any clearer by the lapse of a week since Mr. Borden strangled his threatened resignation. The concession that he does not really lead has been generally made, and all but officially stated. The cool impertinence involved in the intimation that Mr. Robert Rogers will take up a position in Ottawa where he can keep a check on the development of the party's plans and on occasion give it the benefit of his undoubted abilities as a practical politician, is convincing enough to any ordinary man of the hollowness of the pretence that Mr. Borden is really leading. The reminder that he is to make a trip through the West this coming summer inevitably suggests the query as to whether it is all worth while. If in Manitoba he is outclassed by Mr. Rogers, if in British Columbia he is outclassed by Mr. McBride, and if in Saskatchewan not he but Mr. Haultain is the acknowledged spokesman of the party on the most recent issue, how ludicrous it must look to have him parading through the place in the guise of a leader of the party. The asked or unasked question is bound to be, How soon is he going to quit?

On the other hand, the Sifton influence on the new development is as positive as the Borden influence is negative. He, at least, seems to be about the work of effecting an organization, or of putting himself at the head or in front of an organization already made for him. Mr. Bourassa may or may not be right about the component essentials of that organization, but at least it gives signs of life. The presence of Mr. Lash on the Sifton platforms is a good enough sign that the Toronto financial group who drew up and signed the anti-reciprocity memorial, mean mischief. The presence of Mr. T. Chase Casgrain (Zandrank) on the Sifton platform can be associated, without much strain upon the imagination, with the activity of the newspaper organ of Sir Hugh Graham (Zandray). It may or may not be significant, as Mr. Bourassa thinks it is, that at a time when there is something like an incipient revival of racial and religious controversy in Ontario, with Toronto for its centre, the first news of Mr. Sifton's intention to leave and then attack the Liberal party should come from the Orange Sentinel. However that may be, while around the official, titular head of the party there is an atmosphere only of doubt and distress, in the neighbourhood of Mr. Sifton there is the sound of hammers and the beating of drums. It is not for nothing that Mr. Walter Scott likened the Sifton movement to the Chamberlain movement. When Mr. Chamberlain wanted to get his way with the Unionist party, in which he was, after all, no more an outsider than Mr. Sifton is in the Canadian Conservative party, he gave all his time to getting the support of the rich and the control of the working organization. It looks the same here. But does anyone accuse Mr. Borden of permitting it or Mr. Sifton of asking permission of "the leader"?

Railway Freight Rates And Their Relation To Transport Of Wheat

It is frequently said on behalf of the railways in this country that the freight rates they charge on grain do not pay them for hauling the grain. The public are entitled to know just how true, or how false, this assertion is. Immense bonuses have been given to the railways at the public expense, expressly in consideration of their charging reasonable rates for hauling out the crop. So that even if it were true that the freight charges levied on grain did not suffice to pay the cost of hauling, it might justly be suggested on behalf of the public that the freight charges do not represent all the revenue derived by the railways from the hauling of grain. The immense grants made at the public expense in order to secure reasonable grain rates should also be figured into the calculation.

But, as a mater of fact, do the grain rates yield the railways enough to pay the operating costs of the grain trains? The assertion that they do not is coupled with the further assertion that the railways have to make up on the rates of westward traffic the deficit in their traffic receipts caused by their losses on hauling out the grain. There should be official information before the public in regard to this. Until the Railway Commission is given power to compel the railways to open all their books to inspection, the equitable basis for each class of rates cannot be arrived at. The actual cost of carrying any given amount of freight any given distance is capable of being calculated with absolute accuracy; but, with our present system, or rather lack of system, the railway companies keep that information religiously to themselves.

But there are certain statistics in bulk which the railway companies are compelled by law to furnish to the Dominion Government. Those statistics, the accuracy of which is required to be sworn to by the responsible officials of each of the railway companies, are published annually at Ottawa in a blue book. Now in the latest of these blue books the total operating expenses of the C.P.R. for the year ended June 30, 1910, is given at $57,767,540.42. These figures will be found on page 99 of the last Railway Statistics blue book. On page 108 of the same blue book will be found the figures of "Total Revenue Train Mile-"age" for the C.P.R.—that is to say, the total number of miles travelled in the year ended June 30 last by trains of all sorts, passenger and freight, on the C.P.R. that were revenue producing trains. That mileage is given as 38,767,562. The accuracy of these figures, we must not forget, is sworn to.

Now by dividing $57,767,540.42 by 38,767,562 we obtain the average operating expenses per train mile. The result of this simple arithmetical operation is, omitting decimals, $1.54 That is to say, the average operating cost per mile per train on the C.P.R. during the twelve months ended with June last was $1.54. Now let us apply this figure to a grain train, say, from Regina to Fort William, a distance of 328 miles. At the rate of $1.54 per mile, the cost of hauling the train from Regina to Fort William is $1.-265.92. The freight rate on wheat from Regina to Fort William is 18 cents per 100 pounds. The train consists of forty cars, each of 80,000 pounds capacity. Another simple operation in arithmetic enables us to arrive at the conclusion that the revenue which the C.P.R. derives from this train is $4,320. Or, to perform another arithmetical operation:

Operating expenses	1,205.82
	$3,114.18

Are we to conclude that the C.P.R. reaps $3,114.18 of net profit from the hauling of those forty carloads of wheat from Regina to Fort William? This is a question which everyone can answer for himself. Nobody outside the inner sactuary of the C.P.R. can know the exact truth of the matter. It may be, of course, that the hauling of that train is a more expensive matter than the hauling of the average C.P.R. train, all passenger trains and all freight trains included. But, on the other hand, why should it be? We can obtain some light on this by turning to the last annual report of the Interstate State Commerce Commission of the United States, where we will find the operating cost per train per mile on the Soo Line—which is the C.P.R. south of the international boundary—to be, omitting the decimals, $1.27, or 27 cents less than the figure at which we have calculated the operating expenses of our wheat train from Regina to Fort William.

But let us be more than generous to the C. P. R., and multiply its own sworn average Canadian operating cost per train per mile by two. This will give $2.411.64 on that train from Regina to Fort William. There still remains $1,906.36 of net profit to that philanthropic institution, the C. P.R., on that trainload of wheat from Regina to Fort William, allowing an ample margin for interest charges. So that there is no occasion for the shedding of any tears because the C.P.R. loses money on hauling wheat. And let us not forget that the cars which carry the wheat eastward come back laden with various commodities. And the wheat rates are only a fraction of the rates the C. P. R. levies on those commodities coming westward. But that is another story.

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

"WHAT kind of a man does a woman like best?"

Some weeks ago I put that question to my readers, promising them that some day we should have their opinions on the subject.

"Some day" has come.

Attention, ye swains who desire to know how to please the fairer sex. Here is a chance to get some honest unaffected opinions on the subject.

I have received many more than I could possibly print, but many repeat the same story, so I'm just going to try to give you the widest variety possible.

It may be interesting to know first what masculine characteristics received the most votes.

Cleanliness of person and strength, both moral and physical, I should say, headed the list.

Ambition, a sufficient degree of generosity to make a wife sure of enough pocket money, reverence for God, chivalry for women, and an affectionate disposition, were also much in demand.

One lady who ought to know something about the matter, having had three trials, says that affectionate disposition is by all odds the thing that counts the most. "I've had three husbands," runs her sad tale. "One and Two rest in the graveyard. The third is what the world calls a good man, but he is not a bit soft. The second was soft and I would rather be with him in spirit than where I am. I was happy with the second. Give me a soft, loving man every time. I have tried three kinds."

Here is what some more women think about this matter:

"The kind of man a woman can love must be strong, yet tender, true, honest and kindly, sympathetic. If the gods have added to this a sense of humour, believe me, it will make no difference if his hair is red and his eyes are green, he will not have any trouble in convincing the lady of his choice that he will be a pretty comfortable fellow to pull in double harness with along the road of life."

"The man a woman likes best? One who is strong, honourable and fearless, chivalrous and truthful. A man of few words but many deeds, of strength to withstand temptation, of grace to grow by suffering, of tender heart and unswerving devotion; a man in brief who meets the test of the 'Table Round' to reverence his king as if he were his conscience and his conscience as his king."

"Of course I dont pretend to know anything about men for I am only a college freshman, but even that manner of girl may have an ideal—so here goes, here's mine in two words—an unselfish man and a clean one."

"What sort of a man do all women love? Why, the sort of man who was born with the gift, or has acquired the art of conveying the impression, 'You are different from other women and I'm glad of it.' Such a man, whether consciously or unconsciously, gives the impression, 'You are what I've been looking for, what I've doubted the existence of, a woman who can understand and appreciate and inspire.' With such a woman a man could do his best in the world," and as we women do want a mission, a reason for our being, naturally we fall in love with the man who offers it to us."

"It is only necessary to go back to the Garden of Eden to establish the fact that women like best the man who is thoroughly imbued with the Devil. A good, straightforward, moral man is not 'in it' in comparison with the other kind. Adam did not dominate the heart of Eve. She was dissatisfied and therefore went out of her way to find something to relieve her dissatisfaction. She ran up against the Devil and listened to him to her own undoing and that of the whole world. And still the daughters of Eve like the best man who has the most original Devil in his make-up." (Need we interpolate that this break in the symposium was contributed by a man.)

Successful Gathering Was Held Last Night—Large Attendance and Bright Speeches Were Features—Splendid Address by Mr. Taylor Stratten.

The annual banquet of the Boys' Department took place at the Y. M. C. A. last evening. A large number of boys were present and a most delightful evening was spent by all. The presentation of the J. M. Lang all-round championship trophy, and the basket ball trophy, were events of the evening.

Mr. Downey, principal of the Central School, presided. He spoke on the necessity of building up a strong body, cultivating a sharp intellect and developing healthy, strong muscles. After a few other remarks appropriate to the occasion, he introduced Mr. J. J. Turner, Jr., who spoke very eloquently on the development of the body, imparting very valuable information to the boys present.

The banquet was a pleasant and successful affair, the very sumptuous repast being served by the ladies. At the close of the banquet a flashlight of the scene was taken by Mr. R. M. Roy.

The speech of the evening was made by Mr. Taylor Statten of Toronto, Provincial Boys' Secretary, for Quebec and Ontario. He gave a lengthy, profitable and intensely interesting address to the boys and brought out his points by illustrating them with stories, which held the boys' attention in a successful manner. He spoke of the boys who were always looking for more money and less work and pointed out very clearly that that type of boy was never any use, and showed that he never held a position long. Some boys start out with great expectation but show a poor result.

He related a rather amusing but instructive story, "The House that Jack Built." He said that Jack's father gave him $10,000 to build a house, furnish it, also buy the lot on which it was situated. Jack built a house in an isolated place, furnished it poorly and had $6,000 left out of the ten. Referring to the lot being chosen in the isolated position, the speaker said that he had seen boys who had picked out their position in life just in the same manner. He related an incident of a boy of his acquaintance in Toronto, whom he expected would make a splendid business man. He was one of those little dare devils, not afraid of anything, and everybody liked him. But five years ago he fell in with a bunch of notorious ruffians at an hotel, and when he (Mr. Stratten) spoke to the boy about it, he replied that the boys were alright. But it was not long until he threw up his job in an insurance office and took a position as porter at an hotel. He fell in with worse company and ended up as a stable boy. Mr. Statten stated that this boy wrote him pitiful letters and was sorry for his plight. Later, he got a little better, and got to be a jockey, but he was a sour fellow and not liked when he was in good society. Mr. Stratten stated that that was only one illustration, but there were hundreds worse. Some boys of good family go to the gaols simply because they did not pick out their location.

BODY AND CHARACTER

Mr. Statten went on to say that there was nothing grieved him so much as to see boys, who have the opportunity, lose them, and go to the bad as a result. He said there was a very close conection between the body and a strong character; physical culture is given, so that by strengthening the muscles the brain and the intellect will be strengthened. He informed them that it had been discovered recently that mind and muscle are very closely associated. In the Toronto Shelter there are generally 18 or 19 boys on Sunday morning. He had felt their muscles and found out that the flabby muscles were accountable as stated for the weakness of the intellect. Those who hate physical exercise are those who go to Mimico.

POSTURE AND CHARACTER

The speaker went on to show that posture shows character, and stated that the man who wears the back of his neck up against his collar button is the man who will make his way in life. Dr. Fisher gives as the reason that the boy with a hump on his back and head bent over, is the boy who cannot fight temptation, and the one who is easily tempted. The speaker stated that he had proved that fact and in his opinion the boy who stands straight on his legs, with head up, is the typical boy.

The speaker then related an incident of the typical boy who smoked cigarettes. He said that the typical boy that he saw was standing up in front of a drug store with a cigarette in his mouth, and he looked so horrid that he (the speaker) would liked to have had the boy's picture to show to those present as an illustration of the evil. The same boy was convicted of stealing and when caught and asked why, he could not give any reason but his will power was so weak he could not help it. He had no backbone, it was all wish bone, was the speaker's opinion.

He also told the boys that they must take exercise, and God had provided a way for them. He told them to play, and play hard, and he felt sorry for the boy who did not play. He said that they should put enthusiasm into it, and when the boy grows up, he will put enthusiasm into his work. He will be a straight man, and if he is mean or dirty in his play he will make a mean dirty man in his business. The speaker suggested that if he had a bad temper he should play basket ball, and he would soon get over it, for he would not be dealing with his sisters or his mother, but with a whole team.

Returning to The House that Jack Built, Mr. Statten went on to tell that the boy put up his $5,000 house, which turned out to be a very poor one, and the furniture likewise. That is the way his mind was furnished, was the point he wished to illustrate. He advised them not to let their minds pick up anything. They should learn to swim, and such like, for anything they learned when they were young they would enjoy when they got old. Going on with the story the speaker stated that Jack went to his father for the $10,000, which he duly received, but his father gave him the keys of the house also and Jack had to live in it. The speaker illustrated that the body, the boy, was at present building, was the one he would take to the grave, and he should spend the whole $10,000 on it, so to speak.

MUSICAL SELECTIONS

At the close of this very instructive address, Mr. Downey told the boys that they would soon be young men, and that they should learn not to be jealous of the boy who jumps the farthest or the highest, but instead they should always congratulate the boy who wins.

Then at a signal from Mr. Downey the boys gave a salute with handkerchiefs and three cheers for the ladies who provided the repast.

Dr. Lisle then favoured the audience with a solo, and the applause of the boys was loud and long.

Mr. Clifford Walton then rendered a piano solo, after which Mr. Wm. Miller sang a tenor solo, both contributions being much appreciated.

Mr. John Marsh very acceptably filled the position of piano accompanist for the evening.

PRESENTATION OF PRIZES

Then the prizes were presented by Mr. Statten. The first one was the J. M. Lang all round championship trophy, won by Mr. George Reid. It was a shield on which was engraved a boy jumping a hurdle, and the shield's locker, a beautiful gold medal.

The basket ball trophy was then presented to Mr. Clare Arnott. It was also a shield. Mr. Statten made a neat speech for both presentations, which were very appropriate for the occasion.

The audience was then favoured with a song by Mr. M. Carlisle.

At the close of the programme Mr. Downey got the boys to place their chairs against the table and stand up in order and sing the National Anthem, which they did, and marched out quietly. The whole affair was attended by a degree of success entirely satisfactory, and was even better than previous years.

The big New York production of "Polly of the Circus" will be seen at "The Grand" Monday night Don't miss it.

MR. W. A. SHEPARD WILL INTERVIEW CITIZENS AT THE NATIONAL

Through an unaccountable and very regrettable error of the Examiner, it was stated in last evening's issue, that Mr. Shepard was staying at the Oriental, when it should have read, at the Hotel National. Mr. Shepard will be pleased to interview, or be interviewed by citizens, who desire to call on him at the hotel. Any information that will assist him in his work here, will be gratefully accepted.

LOCAL BOY SCOUT GETS SILVER CROSS

Cecil Richardson is Honoured for Bravery in Connection With Saving a Life Last Summer—Announcement is Made From the Chief Scout.

TORONTO, APRIL 6.—Fifty Boy Scouts will represent Ontario at the Coronation, and the contingent will be selected from the ranks of those boys who have attained the highest proficiency badges during the past year.

This was decided by a committee appointed by the Provincial Council of Boy Scouts to deal with the matter.

A most successful meeting was held recently in Barrie to give the Boy Scout movement a good start off. Over one hundred and twenty-five boys were present and the movement met with the enthusiastic approbation both of the lads and of a large number of citizens who were present. Before the meeting was over eighteen patrols had been formed. This is to say that a hundred and forty-eight boys were enrolled.

Ottawa, April 5. — The award of medals and decorations to the following boy scouts for special acts of bravery has been officially approved by the Chief Scout: George Jackson, bronze cross, highest possible award, for gallantry in saving life at extra risk; Cecil Richardson, Peterborough, silver cross, for great risk to self; Alvard Lowry, a medal of merit (gilt), for a scout who does his duty exceptionally well, with grave danger to himself in saving life from drowning; Thomas Hobbs, Toronto, scroll of honour certificate.

POPULAR YOUNG MAN HAS PASSED AWAY

Mr. William J. Metheral, Well Known for His Keen Interest in Athletics, is Dead After Long Illness.

WILL BE MISSED

In the death at his home on Aylmer street this morning of William James Metheral, the eldest son of Ald. Jos. R. Metheral, Peterborough loses one of its best known, most highly respected and popular young men. The deceased was a life long resident of this city and enjoyed the esteem and friendship of a very large portion of the city's population. His unfailing good nature and many amiable qualities made him liked by all with whom he came in contact, and the intelligence of his demise will bring grief into many households. He had been ill for the past four months, and although his condition has been serious, his death this morning was unexpected and unlooked for by his friends, and will be correspondingly felt. He was twenty-two years and six months old and was born in Peterborough.

Especially among the sporting fraternity will the deceased be missed. He took a very keen interest in the athletic affairs of Peterborough and his influence had done much for sports of all kinds here. He was one of those who were concerned in the formation of the Strathcona Athletic Club and managed the hockey and baseball teams of that club successfully. He was most popular with the members of the club and with the players of the different teams associated with it and by no one will be more missed than by the Strathcona members, who by association with him for years, had learned to appreciate his sterling qualities. For several years he had been a member of the executive of the Peterborough Hockey Club and his advice was eagerly sought on all occasions.

The Late Mr. William J. Metheral, Popular Young Man Who Died This Morning.

The deceased was an attendant of the George street Methodist church. He is survived by his parents and by two brothers, Messrs. Walter and Arthur Metheral, both residing at home.

The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon from the family residence, Aylmer street, to Little Lake cemetery. The service will take place at 2 o'clock and the funeral will leave the house at 2.30 o'clock.

Cecil Richardson is Honoured for Bravery in Connection With Saving a Life Last Summer---Announcement is Made From the Chief Scout.

TORONTO, APRIL 6.—Fifty Boy Scouts will represent Ontario at the Coronation, and the contingent will be selected from the ranks of those boys who have attained the highest proficiency badges during the past year.

This was decided by a committee appointed by the Provincial Council of Boy Scouts to deal with the matter.

A most successful meeting was held recently in Barrie to give the Boy Scout movement a good start off. Over one hundred and twenty-five boys were present and the movement met with the enthusiastic approbation both of the lads and of a large number of citizens who were present. Before the meeting was over eighteen patrols had been formed. This is to say that a hundred and forty-eight boys were enrolled.

Ottawa, April 5. — The award of medals and decorations to the following boy scouts for special acts of bravery has been officially approved by the Chief Scout: George Vackson, bronze cross, highest possible award, for gallantry in saving life at extra risk; Cecil Richardson, Peterborough, silver cross, for great risk to self; Alvard Lowry, a medal of merit (gilt), for a scout who does his duty exceptionally well, with grave danger to himself in saving life from drowning; Thomas Hobbs, Toronto, scroll of honour certificate.

POPULAR YOUNG MAN HAS PASSED AWAY

Mr. William J. Metheral, Well Known for His Keen Interest in Athletics, is Dead After Long Illness.

WILL BE MISSED

In the death at his home on Aylmer street this morning of William James Metheral, the eldest son of Ald. Jos. R. Metheral, Peterborough loses one of its best known, most highly respected and popular young men. The deceased was a life long resident of this city and enjoyed the esteem and friendship of a very large portion of the city's population. His unfailing good nature and many amiable qualities made him liked by all with whom he came in contact, and the intelligence of his demise will bring grief into many households. He had been ill for the past four months, and although his condition has been serious, his death this morning was unexpected and unlooked for by his friends, and will be correspondingly felt. He was twenty-two years and six months old and was born in Peterborough.

Especially among the sporting fraternity will the deceased be missed. He took a very keen interest in the athletic affairs of Peterborough and his influence had done much for sports of all kinds here. He was one of those who were concerned in the formation of the Strathcona Athletic Club and managed the hockey and baseball teams of that club successfully. He was most popular with the members of the club and with the players of the different teams associated with it and by no one will be more missed than by the Strathcona members, who by association with him for years, had learned to appreciate his sterling qualities. For several years he had been a member of the executive of the Peterborough Hockey Club and his advice was eagerly sought on all occasions.

The Late Mr. William J. Metheral, Popular Young Man Who Died This Morning.

The deceased was an attendant of the George street Methodist church. He is survived by his parents and by two brothers, Messrs. Walter and Arthur Metheral, both residing at home.

The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon from the family residence, Aylmer street, to Little Lake cemetery. The service will take place at 2 o'clock and the funeral will leave the house at 2.30 o'clock.

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

"WHAT kind of a man does a woman like best?"

Some weeks ago I put that question to my readers, promising them that some day we should have their opinions on the subject.

"Some day" has come.

Attention, ye swains who desire to know how to please the fairer sex. Here is a chance to get some honest unaffected opinions on the subject.

I have received many more than I could possibly print, but many repeat the same story, so I'm just going to try to give you the widest variety possible.

It may be interesting to know first what masculine characteristics received the most votes.

Cleanliness of person and strength, both moral and physical, I should say, headed the list.

Ambition, a sufficient degree of generosity to make a wife sure of enough pocket money, reverence for God, chivalry for women, and an affectionate disposition, were also much in demand.

One lady who ought to know something about the matter, having had three trials, says that affectionate disposition is by all odds the thing that counts the most. "I've had three husbands," runs her sad tale, "One and Two rest in the graveyard. The third is what the world calls a good man, but he is not a bit soft. The second was soft and I would rather be with him in spirit than where I am. I was happy with the second. Give me a soft, loving man every time. I have tried three kinds.

"The kind of man a woman can love must be strong, yet tender, true, honest and kindly, sympathetic. If the gods have added to this a sense of humour, believe me, it will make no difference if his hair is red and his eyes are green, he will not have any trouble in convincing the lady of his choice that he will be a pretty comfortable fellow to pull in double harness with along the road of life."

"The man a woman likes best? One who is strong, honourable and fearless, chivalrous and truthful. A man of few words but many deeds, of strength to withstand temptation, of grace to grow by suffering, of tender heart and unswerving devotion; a man in brief who meets the test of the 'Table Round' to reverence his king as if he were his conscience and his conscience as his king."

"Of course I dont pretend to know anything about men for I am only a college freshman, but even that manner of girl may have an ideal—so here goes, here's mine in two words—an unselfish man and a clean one."

"What sort of a man do all women love? Why, the sort of man who was born with the gift, or has acquired the art of conveying the impression, 'You are different from other women and I'm glad of it.' Such a man, whether consciously or unconsciously, gives the impression, 'You are what I've been looking for, what I've doubted the existence of, a woman who can understand and appreciate and inspire. With such a woman a man could do his best in the world,' and as we women do want a mission, a reason for our being, naturally we fall in love with the man who offers it to us."

"It is only necessary to go back to the Garden of Eden to establish the fact that women like best the man who is thoroughly imbued with the Devil. A good, straightforward, moral man is not 'in it' in comparison with the other kind. Adam did not dominate the heart of Eve. She was dissatisfied and therefore went out of her way to find something to relieve her dissatisfaction. She ran up against the Devil and listened to him to her own undoing and that of the whole world. And still the daughters of Eve like the best man who has the most original Devil in his make-up." (Need we interpolate that this break in the symposium was contributed by a man.)

Successful Gathering Was Held Last Night--Large Attendance and Bright Speeches Were Features---Splendid Address by Mr. Taylor Statten.

The annual banquet of the Boys' Department took place at the Y. M. C. A. last evening. A large number of boys were present and a most delightful evening was spent by all. The presentation of the J. M. Lang all-round championship trophy, and the basket ball trophy, were events of the evening.

Mr. Downey, principal of the Central School, presided. He spoke on the necessity of building up a strong body, cultivating a sharp intellect and developing healthy, strong muscles. After a few other remarks appropriate to the occasion, he introduced Mr. J. J. Turner, Jr., who spoke very eloquently on the development of the body, imparting very valuable information to the boys present.

The banquet was a pleasant and successful affair, the very sumptuous repast being served by the ladies. At the close of the banquet a flashlight of the scene was taken by Mr. R. M. Roy.

The speech of the evening was made by Mr. Taylor Statten of Toronto, Provincial Boys' Secretary, for Quebec and Ontario. He gave a lengthy, profitable and intensely interesting address to the boys and brought out his points by illustrating them with stories, which held the boys' attention in a successful manner. He spoke of the boys who were always looking for more money and less work and pointed out very clearly that that type of boy was never any use, and showed that he never held a position long. Some boys start out with great expectation but show a poor result.

He related a rather amusing but instructive story, "The House that Jack Built." He said that Jack's father gave him $10,000 to build a house, furnish it, also buy the lot on which it was situated. Jack built a house in an isolated place, furnished it poorly and had $5,000 left out of the ten. Referring to the lot being chosen in the isolated position, the speaker said that he had seen boys who had picked out their position in life just in the same manner. He related an incident of a boy of his acquaintance in Toronto, whom he expected would make a splendid business man. He was one of those little dare devils, not afraid of anything, and everybody liked him. But five years ago he fell in with a bunch of notorious ruffians at an hotel, and when he (Mr. Statten) spoke to the boy about it, he replied that the boys were alright. But it was not long until he threw up his job in an insurance office and took a position as porter at an hotel. He fell in with worse company and ended up as a stable boy. Mr. Statten stated that this boy wrote him pitiful letters and was sorry for his plight. Later, he got a little better, and got to be a jockey, but he was a sour fellow and not liked when he was in good society. Mr. Stratten stated that that was only one illustration, but there were hundreds worse. Some boys of good family go to the gaols simply because they did not pick out their location.

BODY AND CHARACTER

Mr. Statten went on to say that there was nothing grieved him so much as to see boys, who have the opportunity, lose them, and go to the bad as a result. He said there was a very close conection between the body and a strong character; physical culture is given, so that by strengthening the muscles the brain and the intellect will be strengthened. He informed them that it had been discovered recently that mind and muscle are very closely associated. In the Toronto Shelter there are generally 18 or 19 boys on Sunday morning. He had felt their muscles and found out that the flabby muscles were accountable as stated for the weakness of the intellect. Those who hate physical exercise are those who go to Mimico.

POSTURE AND CHARACTER

The speaker went on to show that posture shows character, and stated that the man who wears the back of his neck up against his collar button is the man who will make his way in life. Dr. Fisher gives as the reason that the boy with a hump on his back and head bent over, is the boy who cannot fight temptation, and the one who is easily tempted. The speaker stated that he had proved that fact ,and in his opinion the boy who stands straight on his legs, with head up, is the typical boy.

The speaker then related an incident of the typical boy who smoked cigarettes. He said that the typical boy that he saw was standing up in front of a drug store with a cigarette in his mouth, and he looked so horrid that he (the speaker) would liked to have had the boy's picture to show to those present as an illustration of the evil. The same boy was convicted of stealing and when caught and asked why, he could not give any reason but his will power was so weak he could not help it. He had no backbone, it was all wish bone, was the speaker's opinion.

He also told the boys that they

MARGARET ANGLIN IS COMING

Margaret Anglin, whose appearance at "The Grand" in her new comedy, "Green Stockings," is set for this month unlike many actresses who adopt the methods of stars who has preceded her, sets herself no standards except her own. She holds that one can learn more of naturalness from the young than from any adult, no matter how talented. And naturalness is the note most intimately associated with this distinguished player.

"In acting, the novice can learn more from little children than from grown-up people," says Margaret Anglin. "Little children are absolutely natural and entirely graceful. Their emotions are true. As we grow, we become more and more repressed. It becomes necessary to conceal our emotions, but I do not believe in carrying repression to the degree to which some take it."

In "Green Stockings," Miss Anglin's naturalness is given splendid exposition. As Celia Faraday, the girl whose sisters have either married or become engaged—and has thus to wear at each succeeding wedding the 'green stockings' of spinsterhood, Miss Anglin is, and does all that a young woman placed in such circumstances obviously would. A very capable company of players has been selected by Miss Anglin's managers, Liebler & Company, to second her efforts in this new comedy by A. E. W. Mason and George Fleming.

Silver Seabright Bantams—Hen, 1 and 2 to Harry T. Lush.

A letter condemning the high express rates on live poultry is being forwarded to the secretary of the Confederation of Local Poultry Associations in Ontario.

VAGRANT IN COURT

A man named Wm. Nelson, was arrested in Havelock about a week ago, on a charge of vagrancy, and was brought to this city by Constable Johnston, of Havelock. He appeared before His Worship Magistrate Edmison, in the county court on that date and was remanded until Wednesday, when he again appeared. He was proven guilty of the charge, but was allowed to go on the promise that he would leave the city, and get out of the province within 24 hours. Constable Johnston, of Havelock, had to come to the city yesterday to give evidence in the case. The accused had been wandering around Havelock for some time, and people were afraid of him. His Worship warned the prisoner that if he failed to get out of the Province as he promised, that he would send him to the Central prison.

ARE REMANDED

Three vagrants appeared in the Police Court this morning. Their names were Thomas Lees, Wm. Brown, and Wm. Sharpe, and they stated that they came from Toronto. Lees pleaded guilty to the charge of vagrancy. Brown said he was not guilty of vagrancy, but he was guilty of trespassing on the C. P. R. He said that he had been working in the Massey Lumber Camp, but has been out of work now for about a month. Sharpe pleaded not guilty. He admitted that all three had ridden on the Grand Trunk from Toronto to Port Hope, and walked to this city. The Chief thought that it would be well to remand them for a week in order to find out what their past is like. His Worship Magistrate Dumble accordingly remanded all three for eight days.

The Correct Styles for Spring and Summer

THE chief designer of the Semi-ready Tailoring, who is a world-wide authority on men's dress, has cast the above sketches of four of the leading models for the current season. The Semi-ready shops, with their great wholesale organization and splendid system, occupy a commanding position in Canada such as is held by no other concern in its own country.

Not only do they get the choicer and more exclusive weaves and patterns from the English mills, but they are able to secure and to hold the most expert and talented skill in design and craftsmanship. Their garments this season are far in advance of their previous best.

Cressman's

THE GREAT PINK PEARL ROBBERY

A Short Story

"Priceless," said Mr. Russell, the head of the firm of Russell & Son, No. 300 Old Bond Street, as he stood looking down at the string of pearls on his desk. "They are practically priceless, Tom, and I really think I was an old fool to invest in them; but I don't suppose there's another such string in existence, pink pearls, and good and large—" he shook his head meditatively; "no, certainly there is not, but the question is who is to buy them?"

"Now's your time, Coronation year," suggested the lad beside him, somewhat flippantly, thought his father considering it was the pink pearls that were under discussion.

"People are spending so much money that it's just not the time," he said generally, laying the pearls back in their velvet case. "An American millionaire is our only chance, and American millionaires—" he sighed because American millionaires are not really quite so plentiful as Bond Street could wish them to be.

The lad beside him laughed and cast a thoughtful glance through the great glass doors that shut off his father's room from part of the shop to which the public were admitted.

"What about Lord Yelverton?"

"Well, what about Lord Yelverton?"

"Only that he's in the shop at the present moment, looking out for a present for Mrs. Chaves, Lady Bridget Thornton."

Mr. Russell stepped to the door and looked out too. His head man, Matthew Hodson, was showing to a well-dressed, pleasant-looking young man with a patch over his eye a varied assortment of necklaces and bracelets and the young man was turning them over with a somewhat dissatisfied air.

"They are so common-place," he said, though the average young woman looking at that sparkling heap of gems would hardly have applied that term to them.

"Are you sure he's Lord Yelverton," said Russell.

"Well, he says he is and Lord Yelverton has just come back from Africa having hurt his eye, he went down to his place in Pembrokeshire so says the Morning Post, but had to come back to consult an occulist and now they say he is going on to Vienna. That's all I know about it."

"I'm afraid he wouldn't give £10,000 for the necklace and I don't feel like letting it go for less."

"He might. He's had a long minority, came into a lot of ready cash, and his mother was a Meyer. We know the Meyers were—" the young man spread out his hands to indicate the boundless wealth of the Meyers.

His father looked at him with some admiration. "Upon my word Tom, you're beginning well. I tell you what if I make a good deal with these pearls I'll stand you a trip round the world. It always opens a man's mind.

"Right you are, Dad, go and interview the earl and good luck go with you." And Mr. Russell opened his door and entered the shop carrying the case with the precious pink pearls in his mind.

"I'm afraid, my lord," he looked at the glittering precious stones scattered over the counter, "you are finding some difficulty in making a choice and yet we have the reputation of having the largest assortment of precious stones in London, that is to say in the world."

"Oh they're good enough," said the young man discontentedly, "but what I want is something out of the common, something that is not duplicated on the next woman I take down to dinner or meet in the Park."

"I have it, the very thing," and he opened the case in his hand. "Absolutely unique."

The young man looked at the pearls. He even lifted up the string in his hand and weighed them thoughtfully.

"They are beautiful, of course, but I am no judge of precious stones. I want something different from other people."

"You need not be afraid them or buying this. Such pearls could not be matched in the Seven Seas. That necklace must have taken years to collect. It came into my hands by the purest accident."

"And the price?"

"£10,000 my Lord and I may say it is worth every penny of it."

"Whew! Well look here I must think it over, Mr. Russell. Might I ask you to send these things to my hotel, say at half past two. I'll think it over and look at them at my leisure then. I start for Vienna to-night and I want to get the transaction settled."

Now Saturday, as all the world knows, is a half holiday for West End shops but then transactions for pink pearls do not take place every day. Russell was booked for the country and a party of friends but there was really no reason why his son and his head man Matthew Hodson should not see the business through. Lord Yelverton meant buying, he felt sure of that.

Half past two, I think you said and what address, my lord?"

"Lord Yelverton, Central Hotel, Piccadilly, quite close here, and oh I say, make it half past three will you. I forgot I had another appointment," and he was gone in a flash.

At a little before half past three Russell's young son and Matthew Hodson presented themselves at the Central and questioned the clerk discreetly about Lord Yelverton.

"You know in the matter of jewels you have to be careful. It might mean a lot of money to us," said Hodson apologetically.

"Oh, of course, I understand, but I think you're all right this time. Has the best of everything, private sitting-room, no end of friends though he has only been here a couple of days. The Morning Post had it he was stopping at Rushton's but it's gone down a lot lately and he came over to us. His man who seems a decent sort of a chap says he's in a device of a way about his eye, is afraid he'll lose it and then Lady Bridget won't look at him any more. That's why he's clearing out to Vienna. Oh, he's all right."

Mr. Hodson wiped his forehead, for the day was hot, and besides this was a responsible business. He wished his principal had seen his way to managing it himself. All sorts of tales of assault and robbery were floating through his brain and he had only young Russell, a slip of a lad of nineteen, to back him.

Down came Lord Yelverton's man.

"Will you walk this way, please?"

Upstairs Hodson felt somewhat reassured. It was such a comfortable, ordinary hotel sitting-room and the young man who sat at the writing table was such an ordinary, good-looking young man, that his fears began to take a new form. Perhaps after all his trouble they would not be able to make a sale. These young sprigs of nobility—he had some experience of them—they liked jewels well enough, but they always wanted them at about half their value, or they wanted to enter into some preposterous arrangement by which they should be paid for in what in another class of life is known as the time payment system. He was determined this should be a cash transaction if he could manage it.

"£10,000 is a frightful price to pay for a string of pearls. It'll make my worthy grandfather turn in his grave. I doubt if the old gentleman ever gave £10 for a jewel, let alone £10,000," and he looked quizzically at Hodson. The jeweller smiled back. He liked the young fellow who spoke so frankly of his Jewish grandfather.

"Other times, other manners, my lord. He got his pleasure, perhaps, in amassing the money, and you—"

"Take mine in spending it. Oh, most certainly I do." He picked up the string of pearls and let them drop slowly through his fingers. "Yes, they are lovely. But I believe I prefer the sparkle of diamonds myself. However, Lady Bridget has commanded pearls, therefore pearls it must be. You are sure these are something entirely out of the common?"

"Even though your lordship has only returned from Africa so short a time, you surely must have heard of Mr. Russell's pink pearl necklace, the one they call 'The Pride of Jamaica.' If there are more where these came from, and I doubt not there are, the West Indies are going to boom, earthquakes or no earthquakes."

"The 'Pride of Jamaica!' Yes, certainly I did hear about some wonderful pearls that must have belonged to the old Buccaneers, but I did not know—I did not realise—"

"That is 'The Pride of Jamaica.' All those pearls belonged to Morgan, the buccaneer, with the exception of the three last on the left there. Where those came from is a secret only known to Mr. Russell; but I may tell you he predicts a boom in the West Indies."

"And what did you say was the cost of this unique thing?"

"£10,000, my lord."

"Too much, too much," and he tapped the table impatiently with his fingers.

"It's coming now," thought Hodson with a sigh. "The usual difficulty about the money. He'll want to take one pearl, have it set as a ring and pay for it three months hence."

"It's a fancy price," said Lord Yelverton again; "purely a fancy price. Take each pearl separately, and they would not bring anything like that."

"Of course their matching so perfectly enhances their value; but I think, my lord, if you were to take those pearls and sell them separately they would realize in the present value of pearls, and they are rising in value every day close on £8,000."

"Oh, it's the Jew grandfather in me likes to know that. Now to-day I am perfectly well able to present the lady I am going to marry," he smiled a little shyly, "with jewels like that; but suppose fortune's wheel took an adverse turn, could I realise? I see you smiling, but as I say it's the Jew grandfather coming out. Tell me now, could I realise at once on that necklace?"

"Certainly you could, my lord, if you did not sell the thing as it is, which I have little doubt you could do; you have only to break the string. You will have no difficulty then."

"Ah! break the string." The young man gave it a little thoughtful pull. "And suppose Lady Bridget's maid breaks the string and does not happen to be quite honest, will she have any difficulty in selling those pearls?"

Young Russell laughed and Matthew Hodson looked grave. "I trust Lady Bridget will certainly have an honest maid. Those things, as I said before, are priceless, and offer a great temptation. There is no doubt a dishonest man or woman, having patience and a little knowledge of the world, sayoir faire shall we say, could realise handsomely by putting those pink pearls on the market say at intervals of six months each. It could be done very easily, and that is a thing to be guarded against, but any lady who has valuable jewels runs the same risk."

"True," said Lord Yelverton thoughtfully. "Well, I suppose I must have them, and now another difficulty occurs to me. I don't carry £10,000 about in my pocket; it is now a quarter past four and the bank will be closed. I start for Vienna by to-night's mail; you won't take my cheque, I suppose, and leave me the pearls?"

Hodson hesitated and stammered. "Really, my lord, you see—ten thousand pounds—it isn't as if either I or young Mr. Russell here were the principals in the transaction. We are responsible to Mr. Tom's good father and—"

There was a look of mirth at his discomfiture in the eye that was not covered by the shade, and Lord Yelverton laughed aloud.

"No. I don't expect you to trust me to that extent. Shades of my Jew grandfather, forbid. Now, this is what I propose. You don't know me, I mightn't even be Lord Yelverton for all that you know to the contrary." Hodson made a deprecating gesture—"I might not, I don't think it would be so hard to deceive the hotel people. Now, I propose to leave these jewels in your charge. I'll give you a cheque for the amount On Monday, when you have ascertained that my name at Parr's is good for that amount, you can send on the parcel to an address I shall give you. Only for the sake of my reputation as a true and loyal knight I pray you see that they arrive at Castle O'Donorgue Co. Cork, Ireland, not later than Wednesday morning next."

"I am sure, my lord,"—began both Hodson and young Russell in the same breath, but Yelverton waved their profuse thanks lightly aside.

"I am not going to show myself there," he said confidentially, "till I get rid of this abomination," and he touched the shade over his eye, "so you must not fail me."

"Your commands, my lord—"

"All right, all right. Now where the deuce is my cheque book?"

There were a number of books lying on the table and he tossed them all over without success. Then he went through the drawers of his writing table and still no cheque book was forthcoming. He rang the bell furiously, Hodson noted that he was an important young man after all, and he had thought him so cool, and finally he put his head out of the door and shouted "Simpson, Simpson, where the dickens are you Simpson?"

Simpson appeared, immaculate and cool, and promptly produced the cheque book from among the books his master had been turning over in vain.

"Ah, invaluable servant, Simpson. There, gentlemen, there's a cheque for £10,000 which I have no doubt Parr's Bank will cash for you on Monday morning. Meanwhile you will have the pearls."

Both the jewellers bowed obsequiously. They had both the very highest opinion of Lord Yelverton.

"And now," said he, "I suppose you would not object to my putting these pretty things up in a box of my own. Your velvet case is very ordinary looking. Now I think you will allow this matches the 'Pride of Jamaica'" and he drew from a drawer a quantity of shaper arf arfrffodw a quaintly shaped bronze box. It was inlaid with silver in some outlandish pattern and would have made in itself a very pretty present without taking note of the costly jewels it was to hold.

"That's something like a jewel case," he said fingering it lovingly,—"old Javanese work—a meeting of the east and the west since the pearls come from the West Indies," Hodson has since ascertained that they don't do inlaid bronze) work in Java, "pity about that dint in the top, but that can't be helped. Comes of its antiquity I suppose."

"I think, my lord," said Hodson, "if you will trust it to us we could entirely remove it."

"Could you, could you really?" he said eagerly. "Well you shall have the chance some day but not now. I want to address this parcel myself, you understand," and he looked down as shyly as a girl.

"Of course, of course, let us have it after you are married, just for a short time, my lord and you shall have it back as good as new."

"Thank you, smiled the young man. He was carefully packing his pearls into the bronze box upon a bed of cotton wool. "There that will do I think. Now we must do this up in a neat parcel for the post. Brown paper, not a cardboard box first. I had the very thing a moment ago. Now where can it have gone to, I'm sure I saw it in this very room." and he rose up with the bronze in one hand and began hunting round the room.

But no cardboard box was forthcoming and he rang the bell again for Simpson.

"The box you wanted, my lord. Certainly, my lord; I put it in the sideboard drawer there."

"I looked there, you donkey," advancing to the drawer which was on the opposite side of the room to the two jewellers.

"Excuse me, my lord, the waiter must 'ave put 'is cloth over it," and the invaluable Simpson drew open the drawers sharply.

"There I told you so. Confound you, Simpson; look out. How—clumsy you are." For Simpson in his ardour, had tossed up the table cloth and knocked the bronze box out of his master's hand into the deep drawer. He picked it up hurriedly and looked at the dent in the top rather ruefully.

"That's all right, Simpson; no thanks to you though. That was there before, wasn't it?" appealing to Hodson. "The cardboard box Simpson. Now make yourself scarce, and finish that packing. It is nearly time we were off."

The cardboard box might have been made for the purpose it took the little bronze box so nicely. Then it was wrapped up in white foolscap. Hodson did this part of the business as being more in his line, [illegible] sealed with dainty coloured seal[illegible]x from the writing table and then [illegible]rd Yelverton took the parcel again, and in a neat little hand wrote the address.

The Lady Bridget Thornton,
Castle O'Donorgue,
Co. Cork, Ireland.

"There," he said with a sigh of relief pushing it towards old Hodson, "I've accomplished that. Be sure you keep that safe and be sure you post it in time to reach Castle O'Donorgue by Wednesday morning. You are sure you won't forget?"

Hodson was quite sure and the two jewellers showed themselves out, so pleased with their afternoon's work, that they treated themselves to a hansom back to the shop.

Mr. Russell was elated too, but he looked a bit dubious when he received a telegram bearing the one word "Sold" on Monday morning. the same day the Manager of Parr's Bank called on him in person.

"I am sorry, Mr. Russell, but that cheque is all wrong."

"You don't mean to say Lord Yelverton hasn't an account with you."

"Certainly he has, but he never wrote that cheque. It is a barefaced attempt to obtain money by false pretences, the signature does not in the least resemble his."

"But it must be all right," protested Russell.

"He left us the pearls," and Russell unlocked his safe and took out the oblong parcel addressed to Lady Bridget Thornton. "See there."

"I see a little parcel."

"I can't very well break it open."

"I should if I were you. This is either some great mistake or—"

That "or" filled Russell with disquietude. After all the young man had not kept his word. He called in Matthew Hodson, and he, beside that they might as well see that the pearls were all right. "Though I assure you, sir, the pearls were never himself now with vexation, agreed so to speak out of our sight. I helped him put them up myself. And there is the box."

Nevertheless when that dainty bronze jewel case was opened there was inside it only the commonest of Roman pearl necklaces. It might have been bought anywhere for a shilling.

"I [illegible]," grasped the dismayed Hodson, the thing was never out of my sight once he put the pearls in it. Ask Mr. Tom if it is not so."

And Mr. Tom ruefully thinking on his lost tour, and many other things which he would now lose, confirmed him and it was only after much questioning on the part of the detective they at once sent for them both remembered that momentarily the precious box had been knocked by a tablecloth into the sideboard drawer.

Detective Murray slapped his leg cheerfully.

"There you are," said he, "the scampe had a couple of boxes exactly alike. That dent? That's easy enough managed. Expensive boxes but what's ten pounds when you're sure of £10,000. Well, Mr. Russell, I'm afraid they've had a pretty good start and I daresay my Lord Yelverton has let in a few others, if he hasn't actually robbed them. He'll be wanted all over the place once this comes out. Never mind, we'll have him soon I hope in spite of the forty hours start and the lift a patch over the eye has given him.

But he was a false prophet. Russell and Son still mourn the loss of their unique pink pearls and Matthew Hodson shivers whenever he hears a pink pearl is in the market. There was a rumour the other day that one changed hands in New Orleans at a fabulous sum and though the seller is said to have been a mulatto from Jamaica Matthew Hodson feels sure that could be come face to face with him he would see that pleasant young man who called himself Lord Yelverton. Did not be—Hodson—carefully explain to him the best way to get rid of those pearls?

GIRLS WITH BAD COMPLEXION

The skin should really be so soft and transparent that the blood in the vessels beneath can impart to it the pale, rosy tint which is the ideal "bloom of health." Often, however, the skin becomes coarse and rough, and its cells filled with various impurities, which should be thrown off. This results in those "muddy," sallow complexions, spots, blackheads, etc.

Girls who are troubled in this way will find Zam-Buk and Zam-Buk Soap perfect skin foods. Smear Zam-Buk lightly over the spots, the eruptions, the sallow patches, at night, and notice how quickly your appearance improves. Wash each day with Zam-Buk Soap (only 25c. per tablet). As the rich, refined, herbal essences sink deep into the tissue, the hard, scaly-like patches are removed. The cuticle is softened. The cells beneath are stimulated to healthy operation. The pores resume their work properly, and a good complexion results.

You, the Unbelievers—You're Going to be Converted

There are two classes of men not yet wearing "Sovereign Brand" Clothes:

(1) Those who imagine they have to have custom tailoring;

(2) Those who think they are already wearing the "best value" brand of ready-to-wear.

By a series of advertisements to appear in this space, we intend to convince both classes of their error.

You may consider yourself beyond such influence—and we must admit it's hard to put into words the arguments that our clothes themselves so forcibly express.

But read the series anyway—its going to be worth your while.

A quicker way to be convinced, is to go to the shop in your town where Sovereign Brand Clothes are sold, and see for yourself the wonderful value they represent.

BOXERS ARE IN FIGHT FETTLE FOR THE BIG BOUTS THIS EVENING

Everything is ready for the P. A. C. opening boxing contests to-night at the Grand Opera House. Hilliard Lang with his ring adviser, Joe Buel, got here this morning. Harry Simpson, Canada's leading steeplechase rider, accompanied Lang, carrying a souvenir in trying to stop one of Lang's lefts last night in his training quarters. Frank Carroll, with Compton, Sturch, Picton and Peters also arrived. All are looking in the best of condition. Moore, of Montreal, also got in and is a likely looking boy.

Manager Breen got word that Wolton and Lannon will arrive this evening, being on their way here at the time of going to press, not being able to make connections at Toronto this morning.

A bumper house is assured, and a good night's sport will be enjoyed by all lovers of the manly sport. Bouts will start sharp on time.

NOT THE FIRST TIME FOR THE CHAMPION

Some Years Ago Jack Johnson Was Arrested for Prize Fighting in Texas—Golden Smile Will Need Repairs Now.

IS SERVING SENTENCE

Jack Johnson is still in jail at San Francisco and it looks now very much as if he will complete his sentence of 25 days for speeding. It must be pretty tough this being dropped from champion heavyweight pugilist of the world down to temporarily being the champion whitewasher in the county jail at San Francisco. It has been predicted all along that Johnson's finish would be disastrous. It was figured out that he would run into an Irish policeman in bad humour some night, and as a result the copper would break his night stick on Johnson's noodle, which has only recently been pronounced extra hard to crack. But Jack did not get this from a policeman. Judge Treadway of 'Frisco, is the man that gave Jack Johnson a solar plexus. He sent him to jail for 25 days for speeding, and the sheriff did the rest. Jack was at once provided with a whitewash brush and told to get busy. Wonder how many fancy moves the big black made in putting white streaks on the ceiling of the jail. Maybe Jim Jeffries will be kind enough to keep him in brushes.

This is the first time Johnson has been sent to jail since he became champion, but being caged up in prison is nothing new to him. Johnson was pinched many years ago in Galveston for prize fighting when he fought Joe Choynski. The treatment he received in a southern jail was the same given any other negro prisoner. Johnson, at that time, was unheard in the fighting game, and this was one of his early battles. Having many friends in 'Frisco, Jack will be well taken care of in the food line, and he will not want for anything, but in the meantime it will teach him a lesson not to get too gay with that big racing car he drives. They would not allow the Jeffries-Johnson fight pictures to be shown, but the betting favours a series of Johnson pictures taken in the county jail being shown

LINDSAY'S BASEBALL PROSPECTS

The Lindsay Warder says:

These beautiful spring days remind us that the snow will soon be all gone and the baseball season will start. And yet there has been nothing done towards the formation of a town league and after a most successful season for the hockey league there should be something done in the near future to get the league started.

In 1905-06 and '07 Lindsay had a splendid baseball league that provided abundance of sport for the citizens. For the past three years the league has not been so successful, but with the right management there should be no trouble getting the ball a-rolling once more. The game is an exceedingly popular one in Lindsay and has always been well patronized when good ball is played.

Think the matter over, all ye baseball fans and pick out a good man for the presidency. There are lots of ball players in town and perhaps a few "dark horses" that will make things interesting. The Bankers, the Typos, St. Mary's and Sylvesters would make a good league. It will not be long before the diamond is dry. Get together and organize.

Big Road Race

The committee in charge of the road race, under the auspices of St. Peter's T. A. S. Athletic Society on May 24th, are busy working out the details of the big event, which promises to be preeminently successful. The distance will be ten miles and the race will start and finish in the city, although the course has not definitely been selected. It has been decided to confine the race to residents of Peterborough county, feeling that it will do more to develop road-racing than it would in the event of being thrown open.

FOOTBALL

The management of All Saints' Football Club request all their players to meet at the C.P.R. station on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, to play a friendly practise match with the Brinton Carpet Works team on the Brintons' football ground. Every player that has joined and any player wishing to join All Saints please come, so that every one will get a work out.

PRIZE DRAW OVER

The prize drawing held in aid of the family of a deceased member of the Moulders' Union, was drawn in the Moulders' Hall, Hunter street, last night. The morning number was won, and was held by R. BILL BROUGHT IN TO PROMOTE MATRIMONY

A bill to promote matrimony by levying a tax of $5 annually on spinsters over 25 years of age, and by establishing a state bureau to help old maids find husbands was recently introduced in the lower house by Assemblyman Carl Hansen, of Mauiowoc.

"The bill is no joke," said Mr. Hansen. "The alarming decrease of marriages in Wisconsin demands intervention by the legislature. Wisconsin women are the prettiest women in the world, but still Hymen's harvest in this state annually decreases.

"Beautiful buds of Bagerdom kind, but bashful Badger boys talk of becoming benedicts. It is time bloom and blossom toobless man for the state to take a hand and help the bridal business."

The bill provides for a state matrimonial commission to consist of Governor McGovern, C. E. Shaffer, chief clerk of the assembly, and State Superintendent of Public Property William L. Essman. The committee is to superintend the collection of the $5 tax and apply the receipts in advertising the charms and accomplishments of spinsters who are looking for husbands.

The commission is to publish pamphlets containing pictures and descriptions of marriageable women and seek to introduce them to marriageable men. Maidens under 25 years of age are to be exempt from the tax on the theory that they don't need the help of a matrimonial bureau.

Brought Here For Burial

The eleven months' old child of Mr. and Mrs. Allen McBain of Niagara Falls, former residents of this city, passed away Wednesday, after a lingering illness. The remains were brought here for burial, accompanied by the deceased child's parents, and the funeral took place yesterday to Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. C. H. Coon officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. McBain will return to their home in Niagara Falls on Monday.

ANOTHER "INDIAN"

Arrested on Charge of Being Under the Influence of Liquor

Two local men, one of whom is a black lister, were arrested this afternoon at the corner of Brock and George streets. Both men were very intoxicated at the time, and had several bottles of liquor with them. They were arrested by Constables McGinty and Brown. On their way to the police station, the two men tried to empty their pockets of the liquor, but P. C. McGinty gathered the bottles up and made them bring them along. The men were searched at the station, the result of which has not yet become known.

SHOULD A GIRL TELL HER PAST?

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Know ye that ye are on treacherous ground in opening your columns to the froth that people may write about the open question of a girl's past?

As for me, I should prefer to have your paper outside my home than in it, with such stuff as it has contained on one or two occasions of late, in regard to this question.

Let's call this thing off for this time. As for the undersigned, he prefers to believe all people honest; all people pure, until they show themselves to be oth rwise—and they are easily detected. It takes sharper people than most of us to cover up these sins.

When a man comes out, as "F.R." is inclined to do, and adjudge all men to be guilty of "having a part," I know him to be "rotten," and you should not permit his assertions to go unchallenged, on behalf of the upright, clean living man, who, thanks to their Godly mothers, are without a "past" some such a one of uprightness as they may have heralded from the housetops.

Here's asking you to close your columns to this unprofitable discussion, which, although quite proper when conducted by the talented and evidently pure Ruth Cameron becomes outside of propriety, when handled by "F. R." and some others.

Yours sincerely,
One Who Stands for the Right.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Surely the blood of every true man will boil when he reads the lying insinuation made by "F. R." in last evening's Examiner. All men are not hiding some sin in their lives which they would fear to have sweetheart or wife become cognisant of. I have noticed in my associations with men in many parts of Canada that those who were themselves moral degenerates invariably considered all other men as being likewise. "F. R." practically admits that this is the class in which he comes.

Let "P. R." speak for himself. Pure men hardly care to be seen through eyes of a moral degenerate. We will speak for ourselves. Personally, I have nothing in my life that I would fear to have one I loved know of. I can offer the girl I marry a pure body, and in spite of "F. R's" insinuation on the purity of the opposite sex, I have not the least doubt the girl I shall choose to marry will be as pure as man can desire. I believe the majority of men can claim as much as I can, and look into the eyes of the one they love with a clear conscience. The whole discussion has a tendency to cultivate a spirit of mutual distrust between the sexes. This is not as it should be.

Mr. Editor, your paper goes into many homes in this city. In many of them are children, young men and young women. What will be the effect of such a discussion on their minds? Will not many ideas be planted there that are anything but conducive to happiness and mutual trust? I trust that you recognize your responsibility as editor of a home paper. If you do, such a discussion will come to a speedy end. In the hands of Ruth Cameron the subject was pure. In the hands of such as "F. R." it is not a fit subject for a place in your columns. Until proved otherwise, I prefer to believe all men honest and all women pure.

Yours truly,
An Indignant Man.

How Eyes Are Colored.

Brown eyes are due to a brown pigment laid down in the iris; blue eyes are due to a lack of such pigment. When both parents are brown eyed the children get the tendency to form iris pigment from both sides of the house, and the condition of the pigment is said to be duplex. If the children get the tendency from one parent only they still have brown eyes, but the condition is said to be simplex. If both of the parents lack brown eye pigment, that is proof that the power of producing it is absent from their germ cells. Now, what is absent from the germ cells cannot be transmitted; consequently two parents lacking brown in the iris (blue eyed) will never have children with brown eyes, but only with blue eyes. If both parents have brown eyes simplex, then one in four of the children will have blue eyes. If one parent has simplex brown eyes and the other has blue eyes, one-half of the children will have blue eyes. But if in both or either one of the parents the blue iris pigmentation is duplex all of the offspring will have brown eyes.—Dr. C. B. Davenport in Popular Science Monthly.

Jefferson Davis and His Nerves.

Jefferson Davis shrank from the sight of every form of suffering, even in imagination. When the "Babes in the Wood" was first read to him, a grown man, in time of illness, he would not endure the horror of it. His sympathy with the oppressed was almost abnormal, "so that," says Mrs. Davis, "it was a difficult matter to keep order with children and servants." All this shows that he was nervous, sensitive, which is a terrible handicap to a leader of men. He suffered always from nervous dyspepsia and neuralgia and "came home from his office fasting, a mere mass of throbbing nerves and perfectly exhausted." He was keenly susceptible to the atmosphere about him, especially to the moods of people, "abnormally sensitive to disapproval. Even a child's disapproval discomposed him." And Mrs. Davis admits that this sensitiveness and acute feeling of being misjudged made him reserved and unapproachable. It made him touchy as to his dignity also, and there are stories of his cherishing a grudge for some imaginiderat or imagined slight and punishing the author of it.—Gamaliel Bradford, Jr., in Atlantic.

That For His First Wife's Cooking.

"I wish you could learn to cook as my first wife did," he complained.

"If you had the ability my first husband possessed," she replied, "our income would be sufficient to enable us to hire the best cook in the country."—Chicago Record-Herald.

A Married Judge.

The descriptive reporter of a certain daily paper in describing the turning of a dog out of court by order of the bench recently detailed the occurrence as follows: "The ejected canine as he was unceremoniously dragged from the room cast a glance at the judge for the purpose of being able to identify him at some future time."

Work of Providence.

"The man died eating watermelon," some one said to Brother Dickey.

"Yas, suh," he said. "Providence sometimes puts us in paradise befo' we gits ter heaven."—Atlanta Constitution.

Wheels Were Changed.

A rather amusing incident exhibited itself on Charlotte street this afternoon, about 1 o'clock, when a North Monaghan farmer drove out of one of the Charlotte Street hotel sheds, with the wheels on one side of his buggy changed around. He proceeded on his way, unconscious of the change, much to the amusement of a number of people who happened to be passing that way at the time. He was at last stopped and his attention drawn to the incident, whereupon he put it down to a joke played by some of the boys, who were at the shed.

Car Off Track.

The C.G.E. trolley car, No. 10, was derailed at the corner of Park and Charlotte street to-day at 12 o'clock. The car was going past the C.G.E. and when it reached the switch, the front wheels continued on the Jackson Park line, and the rear ones took the C.G.E. branch, thus throwing the car sideways, off the track. A car was quickly despatched from the barns and succeeded in getting it on the track, in time to convey the C.G.E. employees home to dinner. No person was on the car at the time, and absolutely no damage was done.

The Merger And Its Effects

An instance of how the Merger works to the great disadvantage and injury to the small towns and villages throughout Ontario may be seen in an item that appears in the Tweed News of this week. The weekly paper of that village says:

The News is unable to get any official announcement, but it is currently rumoured and apparently the rumours are only too true, that the Powder Works are to cease to exist here in the course of a few weeks.

As our readers know, a big merger has been formed among a number of powder companies and the new company is closing up the outlying factories.

A large number of our people will be affected by this move and some of our citizens are inclined to take a gloomy view of the situation.

But we must remember our country is comparatively young yet and as our population and wealth increase and they are doing this by leaps and bounds we must share in the general prosperity and while one industry may centralize at some other point a number of others will be found to more than fill up the vacancy.

There is no reason in the world why a new powder company should not start up here and make just as much of a success as the old company, now losing its identity in a merger.

The only thing to be done is for our business interests to be united and alive and look out for new industries.

Navigation Will Be Late

This is April 8th and teams of horses are daily crossing over Rice Lake, Stony Lake and other bodies of water that constitute the Trent Canal. It is quite apparent, therefore, that navigation of the Canal will open this year fully a month later than last season. As a matter of fact boats were plying between Peterborough and Rice Lake on the 2nd of April last year, while to-day the ice is 28 to 30 inches thick, and is as firm as at any time this winter.

A year ago the 12th of this month the Government tug, "Bessie Butler" came down from Lakefield and was locked over the Lift Lock. It will be at least the 10th of May before a boat will this year be locked over the Lift Lock. In fact, navigation this year gives promise of being opened at a later date than on any season in years. Very little preparation has been made by the various navigation companies, thus far, for the season's operations, owing no doubt to the fact that the weather has not been of a class as to give the local navigators the old time feeling. However, a few bright warm days will cause the steamboat men to realize that they must after all get their crafts in shape, and there is reason to believe that a good, busy six or eight months is ahead of them.

To Light the Lift Lock.

A great improvement to navigation on the Canal between Peterborough and Lakefield this year, will be the lighting of the Peterborough Hydraulic Lift Lock. Arrangements are now about completed, it is understood, whereby an extensive lighting system will be installed that will afford navigation over the lock after dark. It is not to be inferred that the Lift Lock is to be operated at any time during the night, but it is most likely that under special circumstances it will be possible to be locked over at this point at a later hour than heretofore. In fact it may be possible that the remaining locks between Lakefield and Peterborough may be lighted at an early date. This would undoubtedly prove to be a great boon to navigation between these two points.

Logs For Newmarket.

Mr. Joe Young, owner of the tug, "Beaver" has just closed a contract for the towing of 12,000 logs from Buckhorn to Gamebridge. Gamebridge is at a point just where the Canal enters Lake Simcoe and is on the C. N. R. The logs will then be loaded on the C. N. R. cars and taken to Newmarket. These logs are owned by the Cane Woodenware Company who are beginning to pick up timber in this district.

When the Beaver finishes this contract she will commence towing cordwood to Peterborough. She brings down a great deal of cordwood from the back country each year.

New Boat For Hastings.

Messrs. Ed. Lynch and Ben Gibson, of Hastings have purchased from Mr. Boyd, of Bobcaygeon, his handsome private boat, the "Calumet." Mostly everyone familiar with the boats on the Trent Canal knows the Calumet. It is a splendid craft of 60 ft. and in excellent condition. Messrs. Lynch and Gibson intend puting the boat to general use, towing or any other work by which they can make money out of her. She will be brought down to Hastings just as soon as it is possible to get through the locks.

Cement for Healey's.

The Government tug, "J. B. McColl," will be busy for some little time after navigation opens. She will take from Hastings to Healey's Falls 8,000 barrels of cement to be used in the Canal construction work at that point. Three scows will be employed on the job. During the present season large quantities of coal and other supplies for the contractors will be taken down to Healey's Falls by boat.

The Regiment Will Be Strong

The first drill night of the season of the 57th Regiment, which was held on Tuesday night last, should afford a great deal of satisfaction to the officer commanding, and in fact to every officer, non-commissioned officer and man of the Regiment. It is some time since there was such a good turn out of all ranks at the opening night of the splendid drill. It was a good idea to have the Regimental Band present as it helped to swell the enthusiasm by their lively martial airs. The work of enrolling the recruits went merrily along and many of the Companies are up to full strength. A fine class of young men are offering and it looks as if the captains commanding the various companies will be able to pick and choose in filling up their ranks.

Lieut-Col. Arthur Stevenson, D. C., should have every reason to feel elated over the prospects of his regiment, and there is no reason in the wide world why the 57th should not measure up to the best in the Province, both in the matter of strength and efficiency. The officers of the Regiment were out in full force on Tuesday night, setting a good example to the non-coms and men. In fact there appears to be a determination on the part of all concerned to make the Regiment "go" this year in a manner that may surprise the citizens.

It is understood that an effort is being made with a view to putting on a military day here on the 24th of May, similar to the one held two years ago. It is authoritatively stated that two city Regiments will be invited to Peterborough for the 24th of next month. As a matter of fact a military day, with a brigade of at least three regiments does more to arouse the military enthusiasm of all ranks than one can imagine. It is therefore to be hoped that the citizens will afford the officers of the local regiment all the assistance that they can in the matter.

It is satisfactory to know that at least there appears to be a solution of the rifle range question. The matter has been hanging fire for a long while now, due to the failure to find a satisfactory site. It is stated that a site is now about decided on and that the militia men of Peterborough will soon enjoy the privileges of one of the best rifle ranges in the Province.

There is no doubt that the magnificent new armouries are responsible to a great degree for the present bright prospects of the 57th Regiment for the ensuing year. There are comfortable quarters for the men of all ranks; the regiment possesses one of the best bands in Canada and it only remains for the townspeople generally to lend their encouragement and Peterborough will be known as much by the superiority of its regiment as by its Lift Lock, its Quaker Oats, or its lack of municipal ownership of water power while located in the midst of it.

Trenton's Power Policy

The town of Trenton has been wrestling with the matter of the development of electrical power for a long time, but it looks now as if a solution of the problem is in sight and that every person in Trenton will be satisfied.

The chief difficulty in arriving at a settlement in the matter apears to have been in the fact that there were so many different persons interested in the surplus water rights at Trenton and immediately above it. There are two dams on the Canal, one at Trenton function and the other at a point about one mile further up the river. Certain privileges were owned in these dams by the Trenton Electric and Water Company, Limited, The Trenton Power Co., Limited, and the Town of Trenton. Then with the construction of new dams at these points by the Government of Canada for canal purposes, the Department of Railways and Canals became an interested factor.

After much litigation, negotiation and hard work on the part of those who had the best interests of the town as a whole at heart, it is now arranged that both of the dams in question shall be handed over to the government for canal purposes. The government will build substantial new concrete dams in their place and the water privileges will be materially increased thereby. The government in return will grant to the above mentioned interested parties without rental all the power privileges at dam No. 1 in perpetuity, each of these parties receiving power in proportion to the interest they already possess in dam No. 1.

As to dam No. 2, a lease is being obtained from the Government upon the following basis:

To the Corporation five hundred horse power free from rental, and the balance of the horse power to be developed on the said dam—to the Trent Power Company Limited and the Sydney Electric Power Company Limited in such proportion as said Companies may agree upon and at such rental as may be obtainable.

The agreement further says: In case a lease or leases of the said dam number two is or are granted as aforesaid to the said respective parties or their assigns, the said Company and the said guarantors on behalf of themselves and the Sydney Electric Power Company Limited, controlled by them agree to develop and deliver at customers terminals within the limits of the said corporation so soon as power house at dam number two is completed, power for use within the same not to exceed one thousand net electrical horse power to the order of the corporation in such quantities as may be required during the continuance of said agreement of March 1st, 1899, at the following rates:

20 h.p. to 50 h.p. at $18 per h.p. per annum.

50 h.p. to 100 h.p. at $16.50 per h.p. per annum.

Over 100 h.p. at $15.00 per h.p. per annum.

And after the expiration of the said agreement the said company shall develop and deliver the power of the said corporation at said dam number two five hundred horse power at the actual cost of development and delivery, said actual cost not to exceed twelve dollars per horse power per annum, this charge not including the said rental of $750.00 per year.

The Trenton Electric and Water Company Limited, also agree to sell light in Trenton at the scheduled rate of ten cents per kilowat hour with the following discounts on the usual terms:

For residence 30 p.c.
For Commercial lights 20 p.c.

There are, however, many other interesting clauses in the agreement which safeguards the Town of Trenton from any oppression by electric light companies. The town is guaranteed light and power at a price and in such quantities that it could not have improved its position by absolute municipal ownership.

It took a long time for the Trenton people to work out the scheme, but it looks good. About 3600 h.p. can be developed at the two dams.

THINGS IN GENERAL

Under the heading of "Cinching the Indian Vote," the Hastings Star makes reference to the presentation by Sir Wilfrid Laurier of a silver tea set to Mr. Johnston Paudash, the Hiawatha Indian. Of course the Star should have known that the Indians of Canada have no votes.

In discussing the reciprocity agreement the Port Hope Times says:

"The manufacturers were hit, but very slightly, and the insignificant lowering of duties against them, will in no way compensate the farmer or his good wife for their terrible loss."

The manufacturers of Port Hope will no doubt be glad to have the assurance of the Times that they were hit but very slightly and that the lowering of the duties on the products they manufacture is but "insignificant." This is what Liberal newspapers have been trying to assure them. It is a good thing to know that at least one Conservative journal admits this to be true.

At a meeting on Friday the village council of Fenelon Falls passed a by-law licensing and regulating the sale of cigarettes in the municipality. The license fee was fixed at $30. The penalty for violations is a fine of not more than $25 or less than 5, or thirty days in jail. The by-law came into force on the date it was passed. Mr. H. Webster is so far the only applicant for a license.

The Fenelon Falls Methodist congregation have decided to build a new church on the lot south of the parsonage.

Mr. A. E. Kennedy has the contract for the construction of the new Rockland, and building operations are to begin at once. A basement is to be put in the entire size of the building.

A South Verulam correspondent to the Bobcaygeon Independent says:

Another item of interest is furnished by Mr. Taylor, and this one is about a cow and a calf. Mr. Taylor is improving his dairy herd, being one of those who tests his cows, and he has now one cow with so large a development of udder, and so close to the ground, that the lively little calf which arrived lately has to lie down on its back and kick up its heels in order to get its natural beverage from its mother. There is no natural instinct to lead the calf to go through this very unusual performance, and it is quite a trick to teach the young idea. When its little tummy, however, gets yearning for liquid, it soon finds the way for vigorous absorption of nourishment. It is deprived of the satisfaction of bunting, and it gets as mad as a wet hen when the mother moves away, but when once it gets a good hold, my how it does kick and frisk its tail.

On Thursday there was a ball and supper in the town hall, says a Haliburton correspondent, under the auspices of the Haliburton Trotting Association, about 50 couples were present and a very enjoyable evening was spent.

Saturday last two deer, one of them a late last year's doe fawn, were chased by dogs from Harvey into the river near the lime kiln, says the Bobcaygeon Independent. They crossed to the Island and were safe. On Sunday, following their instinct to return to the ground from which they had been hounded, they took the river again but were unable to find a landing place. The larger finally got ashore on the Island and Garner Nichols, jr., happening to notice the fawn went out to it in a punt. There was no trouble in catching the little doe, for it was almost exhausted and would have drowned in a few minutes more. Nichols at once built a fire and with some brisk rubbing the fawn soon recovered its strength. It is now in Nichols' stable and is already becoming quite tame. Bounce, the pet deer caught nine years ago by Richard Nichols, has been over to visit the new arrival, but is decidedly stand-offish and does not seem to take to the rather frisky and flirtatious scampering of a youngster. If it is kept in the village it will be a pretty attraction to the summer visitors. A herd of deer roaming about the village would be a most taking attraction.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON QUESTIONS

Golden Text—For He shall give His angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways.—Ps. 91: 11.

1. Verses 8-10—Were wars ever really necessary?
2. Will wars ever cease, and what are the signs?
3. How did Elisha find out what the plans of the King of Syria were?
4. What reason is there, if any, to believe that some men to-day are able to tell what is in the minds of others?
5. Is mind reading any more wonderful than other phenomena with which we are familiar, for example, wireless telegraphy?
6. Will there ever be any regrettable events in the life of any man who carefully obeys the voice of God in his soul?
7. Verse 11—If a man's plans are repeatedly unsuccessful, is that a sure sign, or not, that they are not of God? Why?
8. Verse 12—Was Elisha's ability to tell what the King of Syria was saying, when at a great distance from him, natural or supernatural?
9. Are clairvoyants, clairaudients, and others who claim similar powers noted for their spirituality?
10. Verses 13-14—Why did Elisha allow himself to be shut up in Dothan if he knew all the King of Syria was doing?
11. What reason, if any, is there to believe that God sometimes plans to get his children into a tight or dangerous place?
12. Which good man at the end of life is the better off, the one who has had a constant fight with opposing forces all through life, or the one who has had an easy time, and why? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)
13. Verse 15—Was the fear displayed by Elisha's servants natural and free from all blame? Why?
14. Why, or why not, should a Christian be blamed if his heart trembles in the presence of grave difficulties?
15. Verse 16—Would any man ever fear if he knew the full mind of God and was his true follower?
16. Verse 17—Where is the spirit
17. What reason is there for the belief that we are surrounded by spiritual intelligences?
18. Is there any reason to think that our spiritual visions can be cultivated to see, and our ears to hear, the spirits by whom we are encompassed?
19. Verse 18—Did God smite the entire army with blindness or only the officers?
20. Verse 19—Did Elisha lie to the Syrians?
21. What is a lie?
22. Was Elisha justified in deceiving the Syrians?
23. Verses 20-23—When we have our enemy in our power should we do to him as he had tried to do to us?
24. What is the best way to treat an enemy when he is in our power?

Lesson for Sunday, April 16, 1911—Joash, the Boy King, Crowned in Judah.—2nd Kings xi.: 1-20.

Optical Institute Creed

We believe in the glasses we are supplying that in quality, style and accuracy, they are unsurpassed. We believe that honest glasses can be supplied to honest people by honest methods. We believe in working not writing, laughing and weeping, in boosting not knocking, in, and the pleasure of the practice of Optometry. We believe we are getting the Optical Practice that we are after and that there is plenty to get for men who are ready. We believe in to-day, & the work we are doing, in to-morrow and the work we hope to do, and in the rewards of both.

We believe in courtesy, in kindness, in generosity, in good cheer, and in honest competition. We believe this is an order for a pair of glasses ready for every man who is ready to take it. We believe we are ready, right now, & we are taking it

The only near-and-far glasses that can be universally worn without discomfort and without suggestiveness of "old" appearance. The "near" and the "far" lenses are one solid glass. No "lines," no cement—and perfect sight with the discomfort and unsightliness left out. They cost more than the ordinary 'cement bifocals' but if you are particular of comfort and appearance they are worth the difference. We have scores of people in this city using these Kryptoks who are highly pleased with them.

TENDERS FOR DREDGING

Sealed Tenders addressed to the undersigned and endorsed "Tender for Dredging, Ontario" will be received until Tuesday, April 25, 1911, at 4 p.m., for dredging required at the following places in the Province of Ontario:—

Tenders will not be considered unless made on the forms supplied and signed with the actual signatures of tenderers.

Combined specification and form of tender can be obtained on application to the Secretary, Department of Public Works, Ottawa. Tenders must include the towing of the plant to and from the work. Only dredges can be employed which are registered in Canada at the time of the filing of tenders. Contractors must be ready to begin work within thirty days after the date they have been notified of the acceptance of their tender.

A separate cheque for each place for which a tender is submitted must accompany the tender. This cheque must be equal to five per cent. (5 per cent.) of the amount of the tender, based on the approximate quantities set opposite the name of the place, but in no case must the cheque be for a less sum than $1,500. The cheque must be accepted on a chartered bank, and payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Public Works. If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

By order,
E. C. DESBROCHERS,
Secretary.

TRYING TO EXPLAIN

Western Conservatives Having a Hard Time in the House—Glen Campbell Makes Statements Before His Departure

AGAINST AGREEMENT

Ottawa, April 8.—The reciprocity debate was continued in the House of Commons yesterday. Glen Campbell (Dauphin) the pioneer from Manitoba, spoke against the agreement from the western farmers' standpoint. In the last analysis, he said, the Government had turned down practically every request preferred by the farmers, including their demand for free agricultural implements. The agreement would affect material injury to Manitoba, as well as prove a menace from a national standpoint.

Dr. Cash (Mackenzie) defended the the agreement from the point of view of his own constituents.

Clarence Jamieson (Digby) forced an admission from Mr. Fielding that United States fishermen could catch lobsters in the Bay of Fundy outside the three mile limit during the close season and sell them in the United States, but Canadian fishermen could not catch them for our own trade.

On the motion to go into ways and means, A. L. Fraser (Prince Edward Island) referred to the delay in filling the vacancy on the Supreme Court Bench of that province, which was created last October. He also brought up the Senate vacancy created by the death of Senator Ferguson two years ago.

The Premier said there had been difficulties, but he hoped to be able to make a statement after the Easter recess.

R. L. Borden declared that the only reason for the delay was political expediency.

Edgar N. Rhodes (Cumberland) initiated a debate on the application of the Industrial Disputes Act with regard to the situation amongst the miners of Nova Scotia, British Columbia and Alberta. He said these were the only men to whom the act had ever applied. He declared that a request had been received by the Government from all the lodges of the United Mine Works in Nova Scotia to have the act repealed, and the miners of British Columbia and Alberta were of the same opinion.

The act constituted an oppression of the working classes. There was no compensation to them for the loss they suffered during the thirty days in which they were not allowed to strike. He urged the Minister to make the provisions of the act clear beyond peradventure.

Hon. Mr. King said that the interpretation of the act was likely to be taken before the courts.

Glen Campbell (Dauphin) who left for the west last night, took advantage of some remarks made by Hon. Sydney Fisher in the House Thursday. He quoted from the Minister of Agriculture's speech to show that he had said that certain opposition members were afraid to vote on the main issue of the reciprocity agreement, but were anxious to vote on side issues. The Minister had added that they would have to vote on the main issue before the end of the session. Speaking for himself he would inform the Minister that there was no hesitation on his part about voting against reciprocity.

Proceeding, Mr. Campbell said it was not true that the farmers were getting what they asked for. What they were getting was quite a secondary thing. By some it was being made the first thing. "I refer," he said, "to this man called R. Mackenzie, and to a man called Henders. They are bringing it forward. They are farmers of a kind. They are agents, paid or otherwise, of the Grit party of Canada. I don't believe that either ever gave a Tory vote."

He would be glad to have the Minister of Agriculture come up and run against him in Dauphin. In conclusion he said that in the end he believed the farmers would realize that the reciprocity agreement was not in their interests. As for himself he would not do anything which would place another star and stripes on the flag which waves across the border.

Hon. L. P. Brodeur asked the House to adopt a motion authorizing the committee on marine and fisheries to hear representations in regard to the operation of the clause of the water carriage of goods act passed last session, which provides that shipowners shall not be responsible for wood goods by measurement.

R. L. Borden welcomed the motion. He said representations had also been made to him, and that it was desirable that the matter should be given consideration.

Steamer Turned Turtle.

Monongahela, Pa., April 8.—The big river steamer Henry A. Langhlin, belonging to the Vesta Coal Co. was wrecked by a high wind early yesterday morning, turned turtle, and went to the bottom of the Monongahela River, keel uppermost. Effie Hughes, cook, and Jane Lawrence, with the fireman, name unknown, were drowned. Eleven others of the crew swam ashore.

MADE WELL AND STRONG

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Toronto.—I gladly give you my testimonial in favor of your wonderful medicines. Last October I wrote to you for advice as I was completely run down, had bearing down sensation in the lower part of bowels, backache, and pain in the side. I also suffered terribly from gas.

After receiving your directions, I followed them closely and am now entirely free from pain in back and bowels, and am stronger in every way.

I also took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before my baby was born, and I recommend it highly to all pregnant women.—MRS. E. WANDBY, 92 Logan Ave., Toronto, Ont.

Another Woman Cured

Maple Creek, Sask.—I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I am now in perfect health. I was troubled with pains every month. I know other women who suffer as I did and I will gladly recommend your medicine to them. You may publish this if you think it will help others.—MRS. F. B. COOK, Maple Creek, Sask.

If you belong to that countless army of women who suffer from some form of famale ills, don't hesitate to try Lydia E. Pinkham Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs.

SENATOR FORGET DIES.

Was One of Montreal's Biggest Financiers.

Montreal, April 8.—A cablegram received in Montreal yesterday morning announces the death at Nice, France, of Senator L. J. Forget.

The late Senator had been in feeble health for a number of years. Some four or five years ago he was prostrated by what was feared was a slight hemorrhage of the brain. Last Dominion Day, while fishing in the Bonaventure River, he was taken ill, and was not again able to take up office work until September. He left in November for France, where he had since remained.

Born at Terrebonne on March 11, fifty-eight years ago, and the scion of an old family which came from Normandy, France, in the seventeenth century, Hon. Louis Joseph Forget was educated at Masson College, and, coming to Montreal when still in his teens, became engaged on La Minerve, the senior French paper of Montreal.

In the business world he was connected with many enterprises and big corporations. One in a position to know states that the benefactions made which became known represented but a very small part of what Senator Forget was constantly doing for other people. He was the President of the Board of Governors of Laval University, a life governor of Notre Dame Hospital and the General and Western Hospitals. A Past president of the Montreal Street Railway, vice-president of the Royal Victoria Life Insurance Co., a director of the Montreal Light, Heat & Power Co., and a director of the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation Co.

May Boost Theatre Licenses.

London, Ont., April 8.—There is going to be a boost in the theatre licenses if some of the aldermen have their way.

It is understood that one alderman is fathering a scheme whereby the theatre licenses will be boosted up to $500 each, and the five cent shows to $150. At the present time the two theatres and all the five cent shows in London pay only an $80 license. The Grand Opera House is owned by A. J. Small of Toronto.

To Encourage Pea-Growing.

Walkerton, April 8.—Two men from Michigan are canvassing the county selling seed peas, on condition that they get the entire crop at $1 per bushel, less the amount that the original seed cost. This is to encourage the farmers to grow peas. They have found it difficult to get good seed in the past, although the pea crop has increased in the last two or three years.

Winnipeg Milk Supply Bad.

Winnipeg, April 8.—That the milk supply from dairies around Winnipeg is for the most part unfit for consumption unless pasteurized and that the greater part of these herds should be shut, is the conclusion Dr. Douglas, city health officer, arrived at from reports of a number of recent inspections.

THE EAST GETS HYDRO

Towns From Napanee to Morrisburg Will be Served With Power Rate Same as Niagara

BECK AT BROCKVILLE

Brockville, April 8.—Eastern Ontario is about to come into its rights in the matter of cheap hydro-electric power, and as a result of a meeting held here yesterday afternoon of representatives of various municipalities, at which Hon. Adam Beck was the central figure, a new era of industrial development faces this portion of the province, which has long since felt that it had been neglected by the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission. The municipalities along the border between Napanee and Morrisburg have been prodding the Government on the power question for a considerable time.

The supposed inactivity of Mr. Beck, chairman of the commission, has proved to be only of the surface variety, for yesterday he enunciated a policy in black and white which came in the way of a most pleasant surprise, and was received with the greatest enthusiasm. It was a veritable knockout blow to the pessimists who had not dreamed of the Government being able to present such a favorable proposition. The Minister announced the fact of the commission having signed a contract with the New York and Ontario Power Co. of Waddington for the delivery of 15,000 horse-power within eighteen months, the terms being identical with the terms made by the Government with the Ontario Power Co. at Niagara Falls for the delivery of 100,000 horse-power. And what was exceedingly gratifying to the civic delegates was the further quotations of cost. The rates are as low as those prevailing in the Niagara district, and some cases even lower, which was not considered possible. He also stated that the commission could close with an offer from High Falls on the Madawaska for the development of 20,000 horse-power, which would serve a district between High Falls and Kingston, including a large portion of the Ottawa Valley.

These two sources of supply, he pointed out, would ensure a continuous service in case of a breakdown to either one of the plants, as connection could be made at the joint distributing station at Kingston, though the cost of the High Falls enegy would be slightly higher than the others. The total expense necessary to deliver the power from Waddington to municipalities between Napanee and Morrisburg forming the union upon which the commission based its figures would entail a capital investment of $862,000. The company agrees to deliver 5,000 horse-power in ten months, and after that in blocks of 100 until the contract limit is reached in eighteen months.

The price per horse-power delivered at the sub-station of the commission in the Province of Ontario are $13 for 2,000; $12.50 for 4,000, $12 for 6,000 and over, $11.50 for 8,000 and over, $11 for 10,000, and $10.50 for over 10,000. This contract must be given within 18 months from the date of signature, March 28, or the obligation of the city to deliver power ceases. There will be three distributing stations, one at Brockville, another at Morrisburg and a third at Kingston.

Napanee, the westerly limit, will be supplied from Kingston, and Lansdowne, Lynn and Athens from Brockville. Should Gananoque join, a fourth station will be erected there. Rural districts can be served in any direction within a radius of between 15 and 20 miles from the distributing points by low tension wires. This practically means that all the territory immediately interested in Eastern Ontario from Napanee to Morrisburg can get hydro-electric power at a nominal cost.

In passing, Mr. Beck conveyed to the meeting an idea of the original plan of the Government to cover the province from Windsor to Morrisburg. Their efforts in Western Ontario had been crowned with success. Prospects looked bright for the stretch from Toronto to Morrisburg until the Electric Power Co., Ltd., with headquarters in Toronto, appeared in the Trent district from Toronto to Belleville, and the corporations had practically thwarted the Hydro-Electric Commission.

Mr. Beck announced on the authority of the Government the adoption of a plan to supply both eastern and western Ontario whereby municipalities will be relieved of making the first payment on the bonded indebtedness incurred by the installation of electric power until five years have elapsed. This will give the municipalities an opportunity of getting on their feet financially. It has also been provided that those who join after the system has been installed in their districts will enter on equal terms with competitors.

Found Wife Lying Dead.

Cobourg, April 8.—William McGraw of Vernonville returned home to supper and found his wife lying dead upon the floor. She was in her usual health and spirits when he left home after the noonday meal. Coroner Latta of Colborne was notified, and ordered an inquest. The couple resided in Haldimand Township.

May Leave Out Inland Company.

Montreal, April 8.—It was stated yesterday that there was a possibility of the Inland Company being out of the contemplated navigation merger. William Wainwright, the vice-president of the Richelieu, is said to be strongly opposed to the consolidation with the Inland Company.

Hugh Guthrie Talks on Reciprocity in Toronto—Three Members of Dominion House Talk on the Pact

A PUBLIC MEETING

Toronto, April 8.—The officers and members of the Toronto Reform Association invited their Liberal friends to a public meeting in Association Hall last evening to hear a discussion on reciprocity by Hugh Guthrie, M.P. for South Wellington; Ralph Smith, M.P., Nanaimo, B.C., and F. L. Fowke, M.P., South Ontario.

The hall was filled with Liberal supporters. The chair was taken by F. S. Mearns. The stage was profusely adorned with Union Jacks.

"The wealth of this country," continued the speaker, "must come from its natural resources—the mines and the products of the farm, and it will add bountifully to the wealth of the country and the contentment of the people. No one can be injured by reciprocity, and I am quite sure it will pass both the Canadian Parliament and the United States Senate."

"Soon immigration will increase a million per annum," concluded the speaker, "and instead of a revenue of 17 1-2 millions you will have a billion dollars. The Liberals commend this measure to you believing it to be wise and that it will be the enobblement of Canadian citizenship."

Ralph Smith, M.P. for Nanaimo, B.C., spoke at length on the fruit, lumber and fishing industries of the west. He argued the fruit growers would benefit by the treaty because the fruit of British Columbia was equal to any fruit in the U. S. He thought the lumber trade would not suffer, because the new law would equalize the duty. He stated that very little had been done in regard to the fishing industry, as it had been impossible to organize capital.

Hugh Guthrie, M.P., for East Wellington, resented what The News had said of him in regard to the Orangemen, and he stated that he had never said anything offensive to the Orangemen. "We go away looking for producers for our markets," declared the speaker, "and we have the United States near at hand, the richest market in the world, right at our door. Let the railroads come and buy our produce; all we ask in return is money; let them buy our wheat, our timber and our minerals —we've no objection, for we would benefit by it."

Mr. Guthrie, in conclusion, declared that the reciprocity agreement would not affect our loyalty one iota, in fact, prosperity would strengthen and cement it. He concluded his speech by reciting a patriotic poem.

Threatens Bloodshed.

Madrid, April 8.—The continuation of the debate on the Ferrer case in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday was responsible for an exceptionally turbulent session. The Socialist leader, Pablo Iglesias, raised a storm by declaring that although he could not resurrect Ferrer he could repair the injustice of that trial. If he did not succeed he would try to overthrow the administration which refused reparation to the murdered man. The affair, he said, would not end there. Then he shouted:

"Do not be surprised, deputies, if justice is denied, to hear the clash of arms."

After the President had tried in vain to make Iglesias withdarw his words of menace, Premier Canalejas sprang to his feet and declared that the Government would oppose with all its energy and force of laws provided any attempt at revolutionary violence occurred.

Seceders Form New Church.

Ottawa, April 8.—There has long been a considerable lack of harmony among the congregation of Erskine Presbyterian Church over Rev. C. W. Nicol, who came here from Sherbrooke, Que. So many wanted him to return to the pastorate and an equal number opposed it. The matter was referred to the Ottawa presbytery, and they will advise against Mr. Nicol. Last night his supporters held a meeting and decided to withdraw from the congregation and to form a church of thgir own.

A SHIP IN A STORM.

The Peril When Wind and Water Rage in Opposite Directions.

In a storm at sea, with a gale blowing in one direction and the sea running in the opposite direction, it takes a stanch ship to stand the water pressure on one side and the contrary wind pressure on the other.

Stability is one of the greatest problems to the constructor of a steamship. Naturally the center of gravity should be low. The hull must be of such a form that when the vessel rolls to one side the center of buoyancy shall move sufficiently far to that same side for the forces of buoyancy acting upward to right the vessel.

A badly designed ship is liable to many dangers. If light in the stern the screw may come out of the water, race and be wrecked off. If too low in the stern when running before a storm breaking waves may fall on board and so tend to swamp the vessel. A ship may be topheavy; there comes a moment when the upward force of buoyancy no longer tends to right the ship, but instead exerts its force in pushing the ship still farther out of perpendicular, with the result that she capsizes.—New York World.

THE SILKWORM.

But For Man's Aid the Domesticated Insect Would Be Extinct.

A peculiar fact about the silkworm is that it is actually a domesticated insect. Neither the animals nor the fowls of the barnyard, remote as they are from the wild types, need so little restraint as this bombyx mori, which, prodigiously industrious though it be, has never been able to meet the world's demand for its span product.

As a matter of fact, the silkworm has been so domesticated through the ages that it would become extinct now were it not for the aid of man. Born into slavery, the caterpillars crawl contentedly over the narrow territory of their feeding trays, and, though the moths have wings, they have lost all desire to fly. This slavery began in China more than 4,500 years ago.

Nevertheless all the world's silk does not come from the domesticated insect. Not a little of the supply is "wild silk." This is the product of various insects belonging to the larger family of saturniidae. Chief among them industrially is the Indian moth called Antheroea mylitta, the source of tussah silk.—Harper's Weekly.

Felt Safer in the Mine.

In an article in the Atlantic Monthly Joseph Husband describes a thorough examination of a coal mine in the middle west. Work was discontinued for the time, and the miners were obliged to stay "on top" for a number of days. So great was the interest taken by the men in this work of examination that there was little complaining. One morning, however, as I walked back from the power house to the town I met Lake Davis, an old miner of about sixty, who came limping down the street toward the mine, and from him I heard the first complaint of the kind, and many like it followed, that I had yet encountered.

"The air on top ain't fit to live in," he said. "One day it's cold; next day it's hot. I've had rheumatism ever since the mine shut down. The only place a man keeps his health is underground." There were many others who shared his views.

Future of Lake Geneva.

The lake of Geneva, lying in the deep valley between the Alps and the Jura mountains, performs a remarkable work for the benefit of man. During the summer its waters store up a great quantity of heat, which is slowly radiated into the air in the course of the following autumn. Thus the freezing currents descending from the snow topped mountains around are warmed and tempered, and the atmosphere along the shores of the lake is maintained at a moderate temperature. But the remote descendants of the present inhabitants will experience quite a different state of affairs, for it is estimated that in 64,000 years the river Rhone will have turned the lake into a broad plain by means of the soil it is constantly carrying down from the mountains.—Cincinnati Commercial Tribune.

The best thing for any one to say who has nothing to say is to say nothing and stick to it.

Suffered Greatly From Heart Trouble.

NERVES WERE VERY WEAK.

Mrs. John Farrell, Rose Hill, P.E.I., writes:—"It is with the greatest of pleasure I write you stating the benefit I have received by using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

"About five years ago I suffered greatly from heart trouble, and my nerves were very weak. After seeing several doctors and using their medicine, I got no relief until a friend told me of your Heart and Nerve Pills. I took two boxes and they effected a complete cure. I can recommend them highly to all nervous and run down women.

"I have advised many others to try them and they have all been cured of the same trouble."

The proper action of the nerves, so important to the well-being of the heart, depends entirely upon the general condition of the nervous system. If there be nerve derangement of any kind, it is bound to produce heart derangement.

In Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills is combined a treatment that will cure all forms of nervous disorders, as well as act on the heart itself, and in this is the secret of their success in curing so many cases of heart and nerve trouble.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c per box, or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Scratched Until I Tore The Flesh

"It was in the latter end of the year 1908 that a nasty itch came through my skin, and I scratched it until I tore the flesh. I tried several ointments to no effect. I went to a skin hospital. They advised me to go to the ——— Hospital, but I refused. I could not sleep with the constant itch. I was that way until on or about the month of January. One day I chanced to see in the papers a case like mine, but I gave it no credence. At last I said, 'I will try the Cuticura Remedies.' With the first wash and Cuticura Ointment I used I found their effects. I got one box of the Ointment more, and in less than one week the skin was all right, and left no traces after it. I have not had a return of the same since, and I shall always praise the Cuticura Remedies as being the means of my cure."

(Signed) JOHN TYRRELL,
94, Scotland Road, Liverpool.

In a further letter Mr. Tyrrell adds: "The first appearance of my skin eczema was a burning itch which I tore and left my body, legs and arms one mass of sores. It caused sleepless nights, but now I can sleep as well as ever."

CENSURED THE CULPRIT.

But the Judge Took Him Into His Private Office to Do It.

"You allege cruelty, madam," says the court. "What particular form of cruelty?"

"Your honor," says the complainant, "my husband got mad and threw things at me because I tried to please him with the meals I fixed for him."

"What have you to say?" asks the judge of the defendant.

"I'll tell you, judge. Maybe I was a little too hasty, but it's this way: She is always trying new salads that she finds in the recipe columns of the papers, and after I had tried to eat nasturtium salad and hickory nut salad and carrot salad and eggplant salad and dried beef salad and spaghetti salad I did lose my temper when she handed a dish of shredded chrysanthemums with olive oil on them."

"I will not grant a divorce, but I will censure the defendant in my private office," says the judge, leading the way. Once the door is closed on him and the wondering defendant the judge says:

"Shake, old man! I did the best I could for you. I have to put up this bluff about censuring you because my own wife will read of the case, and she is now making delicious dessert from cold mush and left over breakfast foods."

Clasping each other's hand, the two men weep silently.—Life.

FUNERAL EFFIGIES.

A Queer Custom That Was Followed in Bygone Days.

At the funerals of great personages, the old chronicles tell us, "his lively effigy," dressed to imitate life, was carried in a chariot before the corpse to the grave, then there set up under a "hearse" or a temporary monument in the church. Such effigies were often left in a glass case standing over the vault where the interment had taken place. Some statues were of wood, with heads of plaster, but the more modern ones were of wax.

In the olden days laudatory poems or epitaphs were affixed with pins or wax to these "hearses" and were even thrown into graves on the coffins in a similar manner to our modern custom of flowers at a burial.

When Skelton, poet laureate to Henry VIII., "took sanctuary at Westminster to escape the displeasures of the then all powerful Cardinal Wolsey it is said that he subsisted on what he earned by writing epitaphs for use at funerals in the abbey.

Ben Jonson's well known epitaph to the Countess of Pembroke—

Underneath this sable hearse
Lies the subject of all verse,
Sidney's sister, etc.—

was evidently thus attached to her "hearse."—Westminster Gazette.

Conscience.

It was De Quincey who likened conscience to the whispering gallery in St. Paul's, London. A word spoken ever so softly on one side of the vast dome is loudly re-echoed on the other. In youth conscience chid him in sullen whispers; in old age, at the other end of his life gallery, the same conscience spoke to him in peals of thunder. The still small voice which the boy would not hear returned to the old man like the crack of doom in terrible self reproaches. Even Nero, the monster, had to fly from the spot where he had caused his mother to be murdered. He fancied he was haunted by her angry ghost; that he heard the blowing of a ghostly trumpet and wailings over her tomb. What a terrible discoverer of sin conscience is!—Christian Herald.

MONUMENTS TO WOMEN.

Canada Has Very Few Memorials of Feminine Valor.

The custom of expressing public sentiment and appreciation for the deeds of individuals by means of graven images, stamping of coins and medals is almost as old as time itself. In the ancient days few women were thus honored and then it was only queens who received the mark of distinction because of their power and glory, says Edith Carew in Saturday Night.

In modern times the custom has become more common and we now have monuments, tablets, statues and buildings erected to honor one whose life is considered worthy of such distinction.

These monuments and one building have been erected in Canada to keep alive the memory of dead women and hold in perpetuity the remembrance of historic events.

In the Place d'Armes at Montreal stands a monument to Maisonneuve, the founder of the city. Among the subsidiary figures on the corners of base of this monument is one which seldom fails to attract the attention of the passer-by. It represents a woman tenderly stooping to bind up the wounds of a captive boy. This woman was one of the pioneers to Canadian soil, and hers was a life of self-sacrifice to the fugitive Indians whom that little company, led by Maisonneuve, had come to Christianize. There are few lovers of Canadian history who do not honor and love the name of Jeanne Mance.

In February, 1906, a fire occurred in a suburban school of Montreal, which occasioned a terrible loss of life. All Canada was thrilled by the heroism of one of the teachers in that building, a Scotch girl. She had charge of the primary department on an upper floor and succeeded in conducting forty of the small pupils to safety. She went back to the sixteen remaining ones in the face of certain death, and when the flames were subdued she was found dead with her little charges about her. Much enthusiasm was aroused by her act of heroism and self-sacrifice, and a children's hospital of that city was erected and dedicated to her memory.

Further down on the banks of the St. Lawrence is a simple stone telling of the dauntless courage of a fourteen-year-old girl, who is ranked among the bravest of our early pioneer heroines. The story of Madeleine de Vercheres is familiar to every student of Canadian history. Her brave command and defense of a lonely fort manned by two soldiers and her own younger brothers against a band of blood-thirsty Indians, her fearless rescue of the settler's family from a canoe in the very face of imminent death, have been recounted over and over by the evening firesides. A true follower of Joan of Arc, this little French maiden of barely fourteen years was able to keep up the courage of her little company, which included two cowardly soldiers who would have blown the fort up rather than make a defence if she had not deterred their hands and spurred them on to action. Her act of heroism merits more recognition in the way of public memorial than it has yet received.

One of the most prominent historical figures among Canadian women is unquestionably Laura Secord, who has twice been honored by public memorials, one, a bronze bust at Lundy's Lane, where she is buried, and the other a bronze tablet on a marble monument at Queenston Heights, near Brock's monument, but recently completed.

All who knew Laura Secord in her time testified to her noble character, and there were none who did not rejoice to see her honored before her nation as, perhaps, its bravest woman. She was of fair face and kind brown eyes, and a sweet, loving smile hovered about her mouth. The bust at Lundy's Lane more justly represents these characteristics of her features, while the recently completed tablet at Queenston Heights represents her in old life wearing her quaint white cap framing a face lined with care.

There are plans in a more or less completed state to honor other Canadian women in the near future, and there has been some very recent talk of a memorial to the mourning queen mother, Alexandra. Only a few days since a huge deputation were sent to ask the Government for funds to erect a monument to the men who fell in the war of 1812, and in summing up their appeal they asked that it be not only to commemorate the men who fought and fell in that war, but also to the women who aided them so valiantly, many of whom loaded their husband's muskets and helped in every way in their power to carry the war on to victory. "They," said the speaker, "merit honor quite as much as the men."

NEWS OF LONDON * PARLIAMENT. ROMANCE * PEERS' DAUGHTERS

'NURSE GRIMSTON' IS NOT ALL ALONE

Lady Sibyl Grimston, Daughter of the Earl of Verulam, and Her New Vocation.

MANY LADIES AT WORK

Professional Nursing is Liked by No-Mewomen of England as Means of Improving Time.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

THE vocation of nursing bids fair to become a craze among fashionable women in London. A good deal is being made of the fact that "Nurse Grimston," who, as recently told, has entered a training home in Bow, happens to be the Earl of Verulam's daughter, Lady Sibyl Grimston, but, as a matter of fact, the British peerage has supplied a good many recruits to the profession of nursing in the last few years.

Lady Baker's first aid classes, held at her home in Tilney street, have given a considerable impetus to the movement, while the practical interest in nursing institutions which Queen Alexandra repeatedly has shown is also largely responsible for the firm hold which the vocation has taken on the minds of society women.

One of the best known society nurses is Lady Annesley, who became deeply interested in hospital work, and spent much of her time in the wards of the city of Dublin hospitals. But for her marriage she would have adopted nursing as a profession, and in the end she founded a village hospital in the grounds of her home in county Down. Lady Hermione Blackwood, a marquis's daughter, and sister of Lord Dufferin, is president of the Irish Nursing Association, and among earls' daughters who have been greatly to the fore in the nursing world are Lady Katherine Stanhope, Lady Rosalind Northcote, Lady Griselda Cheape and Lady Maud Keith-Falconer.

Society women, too, who are interested in work for the relief of the helpless poor are very much annoyed with the Rev. H. B. Gamble, the rector of Holy Trinity, Sloane street, because he has said that "slumming" has gone out of fashion. A certain society lady writes in reply that she seriously differs from such views.

"A large number of well to do women," she says, "work most heroically in the slum areas of London today, and there are more of them doing this labor of love than there were ten years ago. 'Slumming' has never been 'fashionable,' as Mr. Gamble suggests, indeed never likely to be while it entails such self-sacrifice."

Miss Cicely Hamilton, the author and playwright, expresses very similar views on the subject.

"There is an enormous amount of work done by women in this direction for which they get neither pay nor kudos. Most of the people I have known who go in for that sort of work do it at a considerable sacrifice to their own comfort and position in life. Many of them have to work very hard for their livelihood, and only go in for 'slumming' because they consider it their duty to do so."

SAD BRITISH VIEW OF MATTERS HERE

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

The Incorporated Stage Society has now turned its attention to exposing American business methods. The result probably is satisfactory to Englishmen, although slightly annoying to Americans. This exposé of how business is conducted in our own United States was made at two private performances of a play called "Business," by the Stage Society at the Aldwych Theatre.

The name of the author of this exposé, as given on the programme, is John Goldie. As a matter of fact he is a professor in Cambridge University and probably knows about as much of American business methods as a cow knows about a musket. Undoubtedly he had stuffed his brain full of information on the subject gleaned from the American "yellow press." The principal character was a fit subject for "muck hustling" methods and some heads. He was a composite of all the bad that can be found in the American money making characters.

Fortunately this man with the heart of marble and conscience of lead meets his just deserts at the end by being shot by a half crazy negro. Possibly there are many men like this one in America, but half crazy negroes seem to be scarce.

This Cambridge professor's play would read better than it acts. At least I hope so. However, it has enlightened the members of the Incorporated Stage Society as to the methods by which Americans make money, and that probably was the end desired, as "Business" can be reckoned a success. I know what would happen to it in America, but I refuse to tell.

QUEER HISTORY OF "GLANVILLE DOLE"

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

A quaint little ceremony, known as the "Glanville Dole," has just taken place in the pretty little churchyard of Wotton, near Dorking.

Who William Glanville was no one seems to know, except that he is supposed to have been an ancestor of the Evelyns of Wotton House, who was buried in 1719, leaving no record behind him than this annual ceremony.

In his will he left a sum the income of which provides yearly $10 each for seven poor boys, who receive the dole on condition that they successfully recite the Lord's Prayer, the Ten Commandments and the Apostles' Creed with their hands resting on Glanville's tomb.

The ceremony, as usual, took place in the presence of the rector and a number of local residents. The boys stood in the table, where surrounds the tomb and in the quaint time worthy.

American Dollars to Play Big Part in Coronation

London Newspapers, Afraid That Stories of Enormous Advances in Hotel Rates May Frighten This Side, Hasten to Quote Figures.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

NOW that King George has approved the form of religious service prepared for the coronation, and it has been decided that the Archbishop of Canterbury shall crown Queen Mary, that the Prince of Wales shall take an important part in the ceremony, that the music shall be all British, representative of English melodies from Tudor times to the time of Sir Edward Elgar, and that the dazzling military display shall be "all white," public interest in the chance of seeing the pageant is at a high pitch.

Of course, as readers of your paper have been informed, only seven thousand persons will be able to see the actual coronation ceremony in Westminster Abbey—nearly a half of these will be active participants in the general public and "Rio across the sea" will have to be content with a glimpse of the procession and its incidental pageantry.

And to witness these displays will cost a pretty penny. Fearful that the reports of extortionate demands by hotel keepers, householders and stand speculators might deter some of the fortunate possessors of American and colonial dollars from coming to be shown, the English press unitedly discounts all reports that coronation visitors are to be victimized, and then, paradoxical though it may seem, quotes figures to prove that fleecing is to be the order of the coronation period.

300 PER CENT ADVANCE.

In some of the largest hotels families that have been in residence for years have been notified by the managements that unless they are willing to submit to increases ranging from two hundred to three hundred per cent above normal rates they must surrender their apartments during the month of June.

Your correspondent has personal knowledge of at least six American families, located at three representative hotels, who have decided to engage apartments rather than to accede to what they term "the unjust demands," and the heads of all these families declare that they will never live in the hotels referred to again.

There are hundreds of similar cases throughout London, and it is safe to predict that the managers who are permitting the birds in their hand to escape in order to provide for the birds that are coming from the bush will be made to suffer for the attitude now taken when the golden harvest of coronation time is over.

Fabulous sums are being asked for thirty and sixty day leases of residences that front all the line of the procession, and, naturally enough, reports current say these prices are being paid only by American multi-millionnaires and wealthy colonials. Owners of windows, too, are prepared to reap a golden harvest. As an evidence of what these landlord speculators expect, one has only to instance the case of a man who owns a window near St. James' Palace, who is asking five guineas for the privilege of standing and watching the parade, and he expects to accommodate twenty-four three guinea customers on raised rows of seats. He estimates that with this as a basis, and as he owns three or four, he will clear about £2,000 ($10,000) for the use of his windows on the two important days.

SOME IDEA OF RATES.

"Cash on booking and the money to be returned in full if no procession should pass" are the terms held out by landlords and lessees of windows. The Daily Express is authority for the statement that the price of a first floor in St. James street is 500 guineas for two days, and that 100 guineas a window is the average price asked by landlords in that neighborhood.

There will be many large grand stands in prominent locations along the route of the parade, even the churches in the Strand have gone into the business of erecting these temporary structures, in order that they may get their share of American dollars—as, to quote a leading real estate agent who was interviewed by the Daily Chronicle, "Englishmen will not pay fancy prices."

"You can take it from me," said this agent, "that the only demand for seats to view the coronation procession so far has come from prospective American and colonial visitors, who mean to do the thing in style, and who do not care what they pay as long as they are assured of a good place.

"When you hear of hundreds of pounds being paid for a window you may be certain that it is an American or a colonial commission, and it does not really represent the market price for seats. Hospital seating business for its stand, this year will be just opposite the royal entrance to the Abbey, and, therefore, in the best possible position for seeing the coronation procession proper. The hospital, in my judgment, will be content with £5 a head for seats on this stand."

AFTER THE DOLLARS.

This statement is somewhat encouraging and is based upon the fact that the speculators who demanded extortionate prices for seats or windows during the Victorian jubilee and the last coronation celebrations came to grief. Moreover, Londoners and the English provincials will have so many opportunities during June of seeing the King and Queen that they are not likely to pay extravagant prices in order to witness the coronation pageant. Therefore there is a chance that American visitors will be able to obtain seats or windows at more reasonable rates than are now quoted, but it will be the part of wisdom not to bank too strongly on the statements of English real estate agents, but to come with well filled pocketbooks, prepared to pay the price that will be exacted.

Preparations for the coronation have given a distinct impetus to English trade. All the big dry goods and lace houses of London are being rushed with orders, and, of course, the milliners—English milliners, mark you—are working their forces night and day, for the fiat has gone forth that this is to be an all British coronation and that the finery to be worn by the noble lords and ladies who are to take part in the celebrations must be made in England or within the borders of the empire. Carriage makers, automobile manufacturers and other branches of industry are sharing the boom, and there is no doubt that every business man in London expects to take part in the pastime of converting American dollars into pounds, shillings and pence.

LONDON STARTLED.

There are hundreds of thousands of Londoners, however, who, patriotic though they may be, are rather upset by the announcement that the prices of foodstuffs will mount from thirty-five per cent to fifty per cent during the coronation period. The head of one of the largest grocery firms in London estimates that there will be at least a million and a half visitors in the capital during coronation week, and that this enormous influx will cause a demand for perishable goods which it will be impossible to meet.

Florists expect to realise enormous sums of money, as all the choicest kind of flowers—roses, carnations, sweet peas and lilies — will be in great demand for banquets, receptions and bouquets. Prices of these luxuries will keep pace with the increase in necessaries, and although growers will send all they can to London, it is not expected that there will be enough to satisfy everybody. The carnation, having been selected by the Queen to be the coronation flower, will be most in demand, and the effect of royal favor is already seen in the increase in the price of this favorite.

There will be fires burning on every hill-top in England to welcome you as a visitor to the coronation, but if you wish to insure a continuation of that welcome when you reach London don't forget to come liberally provided with the material that makes the mare go."

Although the coronation of the King is, in fact, the more important event, from a national and historic point of view, the crowning of Queen Mary will evoke an artistic interest denied to the more important ceremony. Women are always more picturesque than men; they are more beautiful in a pageant; they fill the stage more gracefully, and there is no doubt that the Queen's procession in the Abbey, with Her Majesty as the central figure, attended by the stately duchesses who have been chosen to carry the royal canopy and followed by her beautiful young train bearers, will have a charm that will be absent from the King's procession.

NO TOIL IS TOO HARD FOR WEALTHY GIRLS

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

These days, when it is the fashion to berate the "idle rich," one reads with interest of an enterprise which is being carried on at Burwash, Sussex, where Miss Traquair, a daughter of Lord Traquair, and her partner, Miss Emerson, are operating a forty acre farm. These young women shrink from no toil, however hard, and except for the help of a boy do the whole of the work themselves, including the ploughing, the ditching and the sowing. They also feed the cattle, milk the cows, and, in short, do everything that a farmer is expected to do, save in a white [illegible] fund for the feeding of stock established under the government agreement.

SCIENCE MAY REAR GIANTS AT WILL

"Food of the Gods," Foreshadowed by H. G. Wells, Proves to Have Real Existence.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

"THE Food of the Gods," foreshadowed by Mr. H. G. Wells—the food that will produce a race of giants—is coming true. The secret of growth has been discovered, according to Professor Arthur Keith, Hungarian professor at the Royal College of Surgeons.

"Recent discoveries relating to the cause of giantism," he says, "show that the key to growth is to be found in what is called the pituitary body at the base of the brain. It is a little thing, which would not fill a teaspoon, and is smaller than a grape, yet we now know it is to be a thing of far great importance.

"It was discovered by a French physician, Pierre Marie, who found in cases of abnormal growth that this small body at the base of the brain had enlarged. He jumped to the idea that it must secrete something which somehow regulated the growth of the body.

"It was found that abnormal growth sometimes began after the age of twenty-five, when growth should have ceased, and it was concluded that that was a disease caused by the pituitary body, and the name 'acromegaly' was applied to it.

"Now we can hope that science may yet not only add to our stature but that the time might come when a person might go to a doctor and say:—'My nose is not growing quite the shape I want it,' to be told, 'I will treat you, and bring your nose to the exact shape you desire.'

"Possibly at some future date scientists may be able to extract that one unknown and essential substance and, by feeding the subject on it, be able to make growth go on continuously, instead of, as is now the case, by fits and starts. Then the child or youth will grow at a continuous rate more quickly than he grows under normal conditions long beyond the usual age when growth stops, until an enormous stature is attained.

"In 'The Food of the Gods' Mr. Wells had the right of it, and those who remember how the giant rats came to be a plague will be interested to know that scientists are now feeding rats and mice on pituitary glands."

All these things, Professor Keith is careful to point out, are still hidden in mystery, but the door has been opened, he says, and the key is the little pituitary body at the base of the brain.

BALM IN GILEAD FOR THE SMALL MAN

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

There is balm in Gilead for the small men. They are, it seems, the real lords of creation, and the giants are relegated by science to a back seat. According to Professor Arthur Keith, of the Royal College of Surgeons, this is the time for the small man, and nothing is to be gained by being tall nowadays.

Remember, it is Professor Keith, and not the writer, who declares that the small man is invariably the intellectual superior of the tall one.

"Look at the prominent figures in the world's history," says the professor. "Great Caesar as anything but a tall man; Napoleon was small, and so was Sir Isaac Newton. In our own day there is Lord Roberts, and—this will not appeal to conservatives—there is Lloyd George. In the last big war the little Japanese beat the big Russians, and in all the evolution of mechanical skill little men have predominated."

Professor Keith further holds that small men have greater power of endurance, a more nimble mind and more energy generally.

"In love, as in the sterner affairs of life," the professor declares, "the small man is usually a winner, although the girls always say they prefer tall men, and a striking fact is that small men invariably marry tall women."

CUNARD COMPANY HAS A PROFITABLE YEAR

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

THE report of the Cunard Company for the last official year, which will be submitted to the annual general meeting on Thursday, April 6, shows that the movement in first and second class travel was especially good and that the company carried a larger number of cabin passengers than in any year since its formation. Freights, generally, were also satisfactory.

The profits for the year, including £6,988 brought forward, amount to £994,149. After debiting income tax and debenture interest, reserving £471,198 for depreciation and writing off £94,148, balance of discount on the mortgage debenture stock, there remains at the credit of profit and loss account £310,323. Of this, £100,000 has been transferred to the credit of the new insurance account as a liberal provision for uninsured marine risks carried by the company, £70,000 has been transferred to the reserve fund, and the directors recommend a dividend of five per cent, leaving £60,323 carried forward.

After debiting the claims and expenses for the year the credit balance of the new insurance account stands at £64,312. It is intended to treat this as a working account from which it may be possible to transfer profits from time to time to the profit and loss account. The balance of the old insurance fund has been transferred to the reserve fund, which now stands at £700,000. There has been paid during the year £[illegible] from fund for the feeding of stock established under the government agreement.

Wedding Sequel to Love After Earthquake Romance

MISS MARGERY SPENCER

MR. HAMAR GREENWOOD M.P.

Marriage of Mr. Hamar Greenwood, Member of Parliament, and Miss Margery Spencer, Who Met at Kingston, Jamaica, Will Take Place Soon.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

THERE is an interesting romance behind the engagement of Mr. Hamar Greenwood, member of Parliament for Sunderland, and Miss Margery Spencer, whose marriage will take place at the end of May. They first met my chance at Kingston, Jamaica, prior to the earthquake, some four years ago.

Miss Spencer was visiting the island with her uncle and aunt, Major and Mrs. McGillicuddy, of Kerry, and thither also went Mr. Greenwood, who has been a great traveller. The Major and Mr. Greenwood met, the genial Major invited his new friend to lunch, and it was then—a momentous occasion in a double sense, as it turned out—that the prospective bride and bridegroom met.

Miss Spencer, who is pretty and not much more than twenty, (filling the story of that first meeting to a friend, said:—

"It nearly ended in a catastrophe for us all. Very shortly after we had finished luncheon and left the table the first shock of the earthquake was felt. It was strong enough to shake down the whole hotel where we lunched, and there is no doubt we should all have been killed had we not left the place hurriedly. Luckily, however, we all came through the earthquake unhurt."

WOMEN ARTISTS TO HAVE AN ACADEMY

Movement on Foot as Protest Against Closed Doors of Royal Organization.

London, Saturday.

(Special Dispatch.)

THERE is a movement on foot for the early establishment in London of a woman's academy of art, as a kind of practical protest against the fact that not a single woman artist is included among the members or associates of the Royal Academy. It is contended that women painters entitled on their merits to inclusion in the hierarchy of Burlington House are systematically passed over solely on account of her sex.

As a matter of fact, the Royal Academy has no absolute rule in the matter, though it is undeniable that no woman has ever reached the charmed circle of the "Forty" since the day of Angelica Kauffman or has even been accorded an associateship. Lady Butler (Miss Elizabeth Thompson), the painter of famous battle pictures, was narrowly defeated as a candidate for election nearly a generation ago, but since then no artist of her sex has even been regarded as "in the running" for Academy honors.

In this connection it is perhaps interesting to note that the rare honor of commissioning a presentation portrait from a woman artist has recently been paid to two women painters. One is the Austrian, resident in Paris, to whom the King gave a sitting at Buckingham Palace the other day for a portrait which she is doing for His Majesty's Austro-Hungarian regiment of artillery. The other is Miss Cavaliani, daughter of Mme. Starr-Cavaliani, who has just put the finishing touches to a portrait of Sir George Gibb, the president of the Road Board.

DEAF AND DUMB, THEY ENJOY THE THEATRE

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

Even to the deaf and dumb, though the music means nothing to them and the moving lips of the players are meaningless, the theatre affords enjoyment. In the British Deaf Times criticisms of plays are actually given for the benefit of the deaf.

Mr. George Frankland, one of the founders of that periodical, deaf and dumb himself, has been explaining to an interviewer by means of the finger language exactly what sort of plays the deaf like.

"Brilliant plays, like those of Oscar Wilde and Bernard Shaw, are of very little use to us," he said, "because the brilliancy is in the dialogue. For instance, I went to see 'His House in Order,' but I could make nothing of it because there was no action in it. I remember seeing 'Faust,' a spectacular drama full of pictures and action, and I understood and enjoyed that.

"A certain number of plays are acted by the deaf and dumb themselves," continued Mr. Frankland. "For instance, 'Good for Nothing,' an old farce. In this case the dialogue is on the fingers and expressed by signs.

"Good plays for the deaf are 'Hoodman Blind,' 'The Silver King,' 'Saints and Sinners.' I have seen these and can enjoy such plays. It is a mistake to think that deaf people do not want words in a play. If there are no words at all things seem unnatural."

KING TRAINS FOR THE CORONATION

London Looks for the Monarch Each Morning, His Route Being Changed Every Day.

(Special Dispatch.)
London, Saturday.

THE ride in Rotten Row in which King George is now indulging every morning is not the only indication, according to what is said in Court circles, of the royal resolve to do all that lies in his power to be thoroughly "fit" for the fatigues of the coronation period. The King is taking a series of physical exercises which he believes will be very beneficial, and he is constant in his activities in various directions.

The open air life he had to lead for many years as a sailor causes sedentary pursuits to be very irksome, and as Queen Mary is at one with him in the desire to see for themselves everything in which they have an interest both are especially active just now.

London is gradually becoming accustomed to these exercises, for no part of it knows whether its turn for a visit is to come next. One day it may be a suburb in the northwest, another day it may be a suburb in the opposite direction, and hospitals, picture galleries and cottage homes alike are included in the wide sweep of royal inspection, with the consequence that the popularity of the King and Queen among the masses in the capital is rapidly increasing.

"Early to bed and early to rise" is a maxim that both King and Queen like to follow when possible. Supper parties are forms of entertainment neither is keen on, and it is assumed that supper parties are likely to be few and far between, but there is a possibility, it is said in court circles, that on each of the two May Courts King George will follow the custom of the late King, and entertain a few favored personages to supper. This is served in the royal retiring room, the entrance to which is directly behind the throne in Buckingham Palace, covers being laid for the whole of the royal circle.

While the court is in progress and the presentations are being made the King makes a mental note of those he purposes to honor by an invitation to supper, and in due course the White Staves in waiting are despatched to convey the royal command. Unlike the supper provided downstairs for the general body attending the court, the royal supper is served hot, and is rather a substantial meal. Another not supper is set for the state officials and the members of the household present, and each has the privilege of inviting one guest to this, in addition to his wife. In the last reign the innovation was adopted of providing a separate supper room for the naval and military officers present, and this proved so popular that it may be continued.

STAIRCASE STAGE IN DUKE'S MANSION

[Special Dispatch.]
London, Saturday.

"THE finest mansion in London," as Stafford House is not unjustly styled, is to be the scene of a theatrical experiment on May 11. A one-act play by an unnamed author will be produced on the historic staircase of the Duke of Sutherland's residence, the landing being utilised as a stage and the audience viewing the production from the great hall. The players will have to make their entrances and exits by walking up and down the stairs.

This staircase is the most remarkable feature of Stafford House. The broad marble steps, branching right and left from the hallway landing, lead to the gallery, which runs round three sides of the hall and out of which open the state reception rooms, including the famous picture gallery.

Opening on to the landing is a large double glass door, which is never unlocked save when the Duke and Duchess of Sutherland are receiving a royal visitor, or on the rare occasions of a marriage from Stafford House.

ABBEY CLOSED TO PEERS' DAUGHTERS

New Regulations for the Coronation Cause Heartburnings and Much Dismay.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

SOME new regulations which have been issued with regard to the coronation ceremony in the case of peers' daughters have given rise to much discussion and not a little heartburning, and the definite announcement that no tickets in the Abbey on June 22 can be allotted for their use has caused bitter disappointment. Although this step at first sight seem rather an unkind departure from the precedent and order of similar ceremonies in other reigns, the authorities had really very little choice.

To begin with the number of peers for whom accommodations must be found in the Abbey is considerably larger than it was ten years ago, and, further, room will have to be found for a far larger contingent of representatives from overseas. Last, but not least, some of the structures which were erected at the last coronation and afforded seats for a large number were thought to be unsafe, and consequently will not be available on this occasion. This is one of the points on which the King and Queen satisfied themselves personally on the occasion of their visit to the Abbey a week or two ago.

Several of the aggrieved young ladies had, however, already provided themselves with dresses for the great occasion and now find themselves with festal garments on their hands the very sight of which only serves to embitter their disappointment. But the powers that be are doing everything in their power to soften the blow as far as may be, and probably a certain number of peers' daughters will, by ballot, be able to obtain privilege entree in the Abbey. Still there is no help for it that the majority of them will be disappointed.

HATPIN REVEALED INSIDE THE DOG

Remarkable Operation Performed in the Pimlico Hospital on a Dumb Patient.

(Special Dispatch.)
London, Saturday.

PILLOWED and wrapped in blankets and bandages, a white fox terrier puppy, Caesar by name, is living at Our Dumb Friends' League Animals' Hospital in Pimlico, the hero of one of the most remarkable experiences ever brought to the notice of surgeons.

Some time ago Caesar's master and mistress, a couple in very humble circumstances, took the dog to the hospital for treatment. They were in despair, for Caesar had been suffering from some mysterious ailment for several weeks. The dog seemed to be in acute pain and howled when touched. With head and neck stretched out almost rigid, Caesar took his food with difficulty, and a swelling at the neck was taken to show the pressure of an abscess in the throat.

On being minutely examined no wounds or abscess could be found. But every bone was felt, without avail. Finally Caesar was put under the Rontgen rays and the truth was revealed. Embedded horizontally along the dog's body was a hatpin over twelve inches long. The point was just outside the gullet, the knob at the extremity of the stomach.

So extraordinary was the case considered that it was decided, contrary to the usual practice of the hospital, to operate. Caesar was given chloroform and the hatpin removed successfully. Carefully tended, he is now rapidly recovering his health and spirits and is being visited by eminent surgeons, who declare his case to be quite without precedent.

GOT WEALTH "MAKING BOOK" FOR PAUPERS

(Special Dispatch.)
London, Saturday.

A remarkable story of how paupers made money by gambling in a workhouse comes from Rochdale. How long this has been going on is not clear, but it had been kept very quiet until one of the inmates, perhaps one of the more unfortunate gamblers, "split" on his fellows, and a raid was made on the "day-room" at the usual hour, with the result that a pauper named Dean, with two others acting as clerks, was found receiving money for bets, and handing out the previous days' winnings.

Further investigation brought to light the fact that clothes and other property belonging to the workhouse, which had disappeared, had been stolen to provide the needful for gambling, and Dean, who was looked upon as the head bookmaker for the paupers, had amassed a large sum of money, even the inmates of the infirmary sending him money to put on horses.

There are now some unhappy paupers in that workhouse, living on bread and water for a period, while, as a further punishment, their tobacco allowance has been temporarily stopped. Dean and his "clerks" have been sent away from the place and all the money they made from their bookmaking was confiscated and placed to the credit of the funds of the workhouse.

Mme. Paderewski, wife of the famous pianist, who lives at a beautiful country seat on the border of Lake Leman, has been nominated by the French Agricole. Mme. Paderewski's passion is her poultry yard. She has over a thousand chickens and fowls of all kinds, and she has succeeded in creating some kinds of new species by cross-breeding. Her poultry are of great value, and recently she sold to an American purchaser a couple of white Orpingtons for $7,500. Paderewski's farm is stocked with several presents from Sovereigns, including a flock of English sheep given him by the late King Edward.

SOME HEROINES FROM REAL LIFE

My Pretty Jane, Annie Laurie, and the Lass of Richmond Hill

The majority of people regard the heroes and heroines of popular songs as purely imaginary creations, says Mr. J. Cuthbert Hadden, in "The Scotsman." They often are, but not always. "My Pretty Jane" was a girl far gone in consumption whom Edward Fitzball met in a country lane. "The Lass of Richmond Hill" became the wife of the man who sang her praises. "Sally in our Alley" was a Cockney girl whom Henry Carey encountered on Hampstead Heath on a Bank Holiday, and Annie Laurie was the descendant of Stephen Laurie, who early in the 17th century was a flourishing merchant in Dumfries. About the year 1620 he bought the estate of Maxwelton, beautifully situated on the banks of the valley of the Cairn, in Dumfriesshire. When he died he left the lands to his eldest son, John, who, in 1630, married a daughter of Sir Robert Grierson of Lag. The next head of the house, Robert, was created a baronet in 1685. He was active in support of the King and Claverhouse, and was made baronet "for his merits." Sir Robert was the father of "bonnie Annie Laurie." He was twice married, and it was his second wife, who was the mother of the song heroine, one of the most beautiful Dumfriesians of her day.

That ardent lover who laid at her feet, so to speak, the poetical tribute which makes the basis of the popular song, was William Douglas, of Fingland, in Kirkcudbright. In old records he is celebrated as one of the best swordsmen of his time, and his son, Archibald, rose to the rank of lieutenant-colonel in the Army. Annie Laurie's beauty had captivated poor Douglas, but unfortunately he was unsuccessful in his wooing. If she really gave him "her promise true," it seems more than a poetic injustice that he did not have her. At any rate, Annie Laurie married another—an Alexander Fergusson, of Craigdarroch, Dumfriesshire.

That Annie Laurie was a beauty there is no doubt. Portraits of her are preserved at Maxwelton. She is described as "slender and graceful, with large blue eyes and brown hair, which was never powdered, in spite of the fashion of the times. Her face seems to have been rather long, and her features followed the Grecian type." The portrait is from an oil painting at Maxwelton. It almost shocks one to learn that this fascinating creature took snuff, but the shock is lessened if we remember that many fashionable ladies of that period primed their noses with the titillating powder. The Rev. Sir Emilius Laurie, a retired Church of England clergyman, now permanently resident in the old home at Maxwelton, is a living representative of the family.

It was not until the late Lady John Scott, who died at Spottiswoode in the spring of 1900, conceived a fancy for Douglas's verses, and remodelled them, that "Annie Laurie" started on her career of world-famous popularity.

Lady John does not give the date of her recasting of the song, but it was in 1835. Three years later the new version, with the now familiar tune, appeared for the first time in "The Vocal Melodies of Scotland."

BLACK SEA RAILWAY

For the Defence of the Russo-Turkish Frontier

The Railway Minister has laid before the Duma an urgent scheme for the construction of a Black Sea Railway. The motive adduced for urgency is the necessity for beginning the work this season in order to provide for the efficient defence of the Russo-Turkish frontier. The present political conjecture, it is argued, renders it indispensable to strengthen railway communication between the Caucasus and Transcaucasia. The total cost is estimated at $22,000,000.

A witness in the Battersea Coroner's Court, when asked the name of his child, had to refer the Coroner to his wife.

Imitation Cough Cures

Is an Imitation Cough Medicine Good Enough for Your Children?

When you are sick and send for the doctor you don't want him to send a young medical student he has in his office. You would rather have the young fellow experiment on somebody else.

No more do you want imitations of the medicine you know to be of proven value in the cure of disease.

The remarkable success of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine in the cure of croup, bronchitis and colds has proven too great a temptation to imitators. They expect you to take chances with their medicines because the price is a few cents less.

Imitations are never sold on merit, but depend on the merit of the article they imitate. You don't want to be experimented on, and for this reason will insist on seeing the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author, on the bottle you buy.

As it is made of simple ingredients of proven value, it is well suited for as a treatment for children. That it is effective in the cure of croup, bronchitis, whooping cough and the most severe coughs and colds is attested by its many years of continued success and enormous sales. 25 cents, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

CORONATION FILMS OF THE PROCESSION

An Attempt Will be Made to Send Cinematograph Pictures by Wire to Paris

An invention has been made making it possible to transmit cinematograph pictures by wire and an experimental trial is to be made on Coronation Day. An attempt will be made to send views of the great event from London to Paris, and if it is successfully accomplished the films will be exhibited at the Parisian picture theatres a few hours later. The inventor of the "Cine-telegraph," as it is termed, has been ten years completing his apparatus, and has but lately succeeded in transmitting over land a film two hundred feet in length over a distance of thirty miles. The Coronation film, which it is the inventor's intention to transmit to Paris, will show the progress of the King and Queen from Buckingham Palace to the entrance of the Abbey. Several of the London film manufacturers are hopeful of obtaining sanction to photograph the actual crowning ceremony; but if this were granted, the insufficient lighting in the Abbey would render the taking of films impossible. Pictures of the Royal procession will be exhibited at London picture theatres the same evening. An attempt will also be made to show the films in Liverpool, Sheffield, Leeds, Bristol, and Birmingham at the evening performance. Hundreds of operators will arrive from Paris and Berlin, and will be stationed at prominent positions along the line of route. As their Majesties leave the Palace about noon, it is hoped that there will be time to catch the 2.20 boat-train from Charing Cross to the Continent. The films will be developed en route.

HAS MADE GOOD IN CANADA WEST

Ernest Walter, Once a London Draper, Is Now a Successful Farmer in Manitoba

Many reasons have been assigned for England's comparatively slow response to Canada's alluring offer of free homesteads in the great North-West, but perhaps the most potent is the idea so widely prevalent among the working classes that lack of agricultural knowledge necessarily precludes from success. Those on whom this notion has hitherto acted as a deterrent would do well to study the story of Mr. Ernest Walter, who, though now a thriving Saskatchewan farmer, formerly worked for a London draper. Mr. Walter emigrated in 1902, and, after spending what were, owing to his unfamiliarity with manual labor, a trying two months on a Quebec farm, proceeded to Manitoba. Here he secured immediate work for the harvest season, subsequently engaging with his employer for the ensuing twelve months. In the meantime he took up a homestead thirteen miles from Estevan, in the neighboring province of Saskatchewan, where with a neighbor's assistance he erected a small shack.

It was not until 1904 that he actually began farming for himself, having spent the intervening period in acquiring a small capital and increasing his experience. His first crop, though of fine quality, was practically a failure, owing to late sowing and frost. Naturally despondent at this set-back, he contemplated giving up, but further consideration convinced him of the unwisdom of abandoning the fruits of his hard work to others. He therefore put in another crop, his perseverance being ultimately rewarded by a steady improvement in his prospects. The following year he added to his capital by working for a Government road-team while his crop was growing, supplementing his earnings by hiring out for threshing jobs, with his team. His crop sold for seventy cents a bushel. Later crops, however, repaid his industry with a return of ninety cents a bushel, twenty-five bushels to the acre. Mr. Walter's experience with dairy-farming shows that there are great possibilities in this branch of agriculture in Canada, especially if taken up by a man with a more expert knowledge, and better poultry and stock, than he himself possessed. His own two cows, fed simply on the prairie grass, kept in milk himself, his wife, and two others who were staying in the house, and yielded enough butter to sell in the town; while from his thirty hens he got a more than sufficient supply of eggs.

His nine years' experience of the much-dreaded Canadian winter has left him convinced that, though colder, it is to be preferred to the English variety. Although always in poor health when in England, he has never had a day's sickness since he landed in the Dominion. Life on the prairie was somewhat lonely at first, but he now prefers it to living in a city. There is always a certain amount of social life to be had, while in some towns debating societies and similar institutions provide a means of intellectual culture. Moreover, there is hardly a district without its newspaper. Failures, which are comparatively few, Mr. Walter attributes chiefly to recklessness in getting into debt—an easy thing to do in Western Canada, where credit can always be obtained by an industrious man—and improvidence in neglecting to husband the resources of good seasons to tide over the bad. The critical period, Mr Walter states, is the first five years. If a man come through them successfully there is no reason why he should not go on. The value of his own homestead he estimates at about $3,000, exclusive of stock and implements, and this amount, of course, increases every year.

MOODY'S KLENZINE

Maids who know the virtues of KLENZINE always insist upon it

KLENZINE cuts out drudgery and makes housework a pleasure. No more scrubbing and rubbing, simply leave it to KLENZINE to do the work.

KLENZINE Ammonia Washing Powder cleans everything, yet will injure nothing—far superior to soap. In the laundry, for cleaning windows or washing dishes, KLENZINE lessens the work by half. It makes glassware fairly sparkle and the linen snowy white.

As a disinfectant MOODY'S KLENZINE is indispensible. It keeps the kitchen, pantry and bathroom clean, sweet, and free from germs.

MOODY'S KLENZINE contains ammonia in its purest form. More delicate than the ordinary ammonia washing compound yet twice as effective. Delightfully refreshing in the bath—softening the water and imparting a healthy hue to the skin.

AUSTRIA AT THE CORONATION

Emperor Francis Joseph Will Have Two Representatives There

The Emperor Francis Joseph has already expressed a wish that the Hapsburg family shall be brilliantly represented at the Coronation of King George, and in accordance with this desire a second member of the Imperial House will go to London in addition to the Heir-Presumptive, the Archduke Franz Ferdinand. This second representative will be the Archduke Karl Franze Joseph, eldest son of the late Archduke Otho Franz Joseph, and next in succession to the throne after the Archduke Franze Ferdinand. The arrival of the two Archdukes in London is fixed for June 21. A large number of Austrian peers, as well as some Hungarian magnates, will form the suite of their Imperial Highnesses.

ZEPPELIN AIRSHIPS

Two Have Been Completed and a Third is Ordered

Two Zeppelin airships, of the latest model, have been completed at Friedrichshafen, on Lake Constance. A third has just been ordered by the German Foreign Office to fulfil certain conditions of speed and lifting power, and, the conditions having been accepted by the company, this airship, Zeppelin X., will be ready by October next. Zeppelin IX., which is a smaller model, will be confined to its birthplace, Friedrichshafen, and serve as an aerial tourist ship. Zeppelin VIII. is built partly from the remains of its predecessor, the "Deutchland," which was wrecked last summer, and has cost only about $40,000. After its first trial flights it will be removed to Dusseldorf, where the "Deutchland" also was stationed.

ONE SECRET OF OUR SUCCESS. Every case submitted to us receives the personal attention of our Medical Staff, who consider the symptoms, complications and chronicity, and then decide as to the disease and curability. Specific remedies are then prescribed for that case and are compounded by our own chemist in our own Laboratory. Such appropriate treatment cannot fail to cure, as specific medicines are selected to cure the symptoms that trouble you. We have no cure-all medicines like most specialists use who send the same medicines to all patients alike and cure none. We have treated patients throughout Canada for over twenty years and can refer to any bank as to our responsibility.

SERMON FROM SHAKESPEARE

(Copr. 1909, by Bradley-Garretson Co., Ltd.)

O, how full of briers is this working-day world?

As You Like It, Act I., Sc. III.

The working-day world is undoubtedly rough; there are everywhere obstacles to endeavor. So long as the beaten paths are kept to life runs smoothly, but, as Celia remarked in "As You Like It" in her reply to Rosalind's words that the working-day world is full of briers, "If we walk not in the trodden paths, our very petticoats will catch burs." Yet it is a poor specimen of humanity who will keep to the well-worn path. A person with force of character seeks new paths, opens up new roads of investigation and endeavor.

For several centuries mariners were content to slowly beat their way around the Cape of Good Hope on their journey to the East, but the hewer-out of new paths appeared on the scene and constructed a vast canal, making Africa an island, and shortening the route to India and China by several thousand miles. The briers were in his path, he plucked them away to the permanent benefit of the race. In the working-day world there never was a greater obstacle to trade than the Isthmus of Panama; mountain, marsh and desert were the briers to be removed. It has been painful work, plucking the obstacles away, costly work; but the titanic task is nearing completion, and a yet untrodden path will soon unite the waters of the Atlantic with those of the Pacific. Where briers grew trade will flourish and mariners will no longer have to endure the voyage round Cape Horn.

The inhabitants of the West of the American continent sought union with the cities of the East. There were grave obstacles in the way, wide rivers to be crossed, vast plains to be traversed, mighty mountains to be climbed. A hundred years ago only a dreamer could have imagined that California and New York would, for practical purposes, be brought as near each other as were then Baltimore and Boston. The engineer came along; he bridged the lordly Mississippi, strung a path of steel across the vast plains, levelled the mountains, gonged his way through them or sent his iron horse panting up their inclines.

There was a mighty brier in the path of the traveller in the heart of North America. Niagara, the sublimest of cataracts, forced him to disembark and laboriously toil around it in his journey through the great inland seas; but pick and shovel were wielded to some purpose, this brier instead of an obstacle became ornament on the path of trade, a giant harnessed in the interest of industry.

There is no royal road to learning, which means merely that there are many briers which make travelling in the realms of knowledge difficult. To master any language, to acquire any art, to achieve distinction in any science long and laborious effort has to be put forth. Knowledge and wisdom are only won by hard labor and painful experience. Disappointments, heart-burnings, temporary failures are the common accompaniment of mental endeavor. But the difficulties only make the earnest worker stronger. He heeds not the wounds he receives, he is able to say with Coriolanus, "Scratches with briers, scars to move laughter only."

When an audience listens to the music of Paderewski or the song of Melba, how few realize what that perfection of art means. Labor more exacting than that of any toiler in factory or mill has given the player and singer their power. Weary hours of daily monotonous practice, perseverance in the face of seemingly insurmountable difficulties have made them what they are. A Raphael, a Titian, a Millet found the working-day world full of briers, but they persisted and won immortality. The history of Millet is peculiarly the history of a man who achieved greatness in the face of appalling obstacles. The briers of life made him the artist he was; had he not known privation and sorrow he could never have produced "The Angelus" or "The Gleaners." In his hands the very briers of existence were blossomed into magnificent art.

Briers have grown up abundantly in the path of the scientist. The Darwins, the Danas, the Haeckels spent years of laborious investigations to arrive at truth. In the interests of science the Arctic regions have been explored even to the North Pole, at tremendous suffering and loss of life; in the interest of science the fever-haunted jungles of Africa and South America have been penetrated. Obstacles manifold have strewn the way of the searcher after facts. He has been torn by the briers, but never daunted by them. The history of his difficulties has merely given others courage to follow in his steps.

In manufacturing and commerce it is the same, a Watt, a Stephenson, an Arkwright, a Morse, an Edison, a Bell, were inspired by obstacles to invent. The briers suggested effort. The ease and comfort of modern life is in marked contrast with the cramped existence of even a century ago. If earth had been an Eden, if conditions had been as they are in the Pacific islands, the arts and sciences would ever have flourished. The briers of existence are a blessing in disguise.

THE FAMILY HEARTH

Cleaning Muslin.

Bran is now used for cleaning and stiffening. To make bran water, tie a cupful of bran in muslin, put this into two pints of water in a clean saucepan and simmer until the water feels glutinous. Leave the muslin loose, to allow the bran to part with its gluten. A second and even third water may be taken off the bran in the same way. Bran has no destructive effect on colours and seems to act mechanically as an absorbent and to stiffen the article slightly.

It is most useful for coloured embroidery or art work of any kind. Bran water is sometimes employed for the washing of cretonne with a coloured background. The article is washed in the bran water, rinsed, wrung, rolled in a cloth and then ironed on the wrong side. The cretonne is better if slightly dried before the ironing process takes place.'— New York Telegram.

Nothing keeps the heart so fresh and young, saves it from bitterness and corrosion through the cares and conflicts and disapointments of life, as the daily enjoyment of a happy home.

Boys are not naturally selfish, and every mother who has not a willing efficient helper in her boy, is herself to blame, and must not only suffer the consequences of her mistake herself, but the future wife will have them to bear also. For your own sakes, mothers, and for the future wives of your boys, spare no pains to impress upon them the magnitude of woman's work. After they have been accustomed to helping in al lways they can about the house, and there are few things they will not be the better for having learned todo) they will not think housekeeping "just puttering around."

People always speak well of a boy who minds his own business and who seems to be disposed to be somebody in time. This is a queer world; many people are watching us, and help often comes when and from whom we least expect. Confidence is the safe in which men often deposit rich treasures and as you prove worthy so will your reward of success be. There is a reward in success, which none but those who strive can enjoy. Deserve success and it will come.

To make your home happy, see that you make your wife feel that your affection and tenderness for her are in no degree diminished from the day you first sought her. Do not let her, when you can avoid it, sit alone and go out walking alone. You would not have done so "once upon a time." Do not reserve all your blandness and fragrance for strangers or casual acquaintances. There are some men, judging from whose out-of-doors manners, it would seem that nothing was left to be desired, who, are, nevertheless, of the ursa-major tribe at home; men who keep their pleasant ways and genial smiles and cheerful words for company, and who can only be silent and peevish and exacting with their wives. Have such men any just reason to complain that their homes are not happy.

The world grows old, and the stars will cease to illuminate it, and the water to refresh it, and the mountains to guard it and its long story of sin and shame and glory and triumph will soon turn to ashes; but influences which started in the early home roll on and roll up through all eternity blooming in all its joy, waving in all the triumph, or shrinking back into all the darkness. Father, mother, which way are you leading your children?

You can get into the habit of living peacefully and happily, and that habit is quite as difficult to break as any habit we know of. Let there be no long poutings, let there be no long, careless, indifferent fits. If little storms arise—and they will arise—let them be brief. Don't let us sleep over it, and wake up the next morning and cudgel our brains to remember who nagged last. This kind of thing is mean, it is ungenerous and it is silly.

Every mother should teach her daughter just as she would desire some other mother's daughter taught that is to become the wife of her son. Give her, if you can, a knowledge of music, and other accomplishments within your reach, but with them give a practical knowledge of housekeeping. Let her own hands spread the bread, make the butter, wash, iron, and mend, make beds and sweep, dress the children, prepare breakfast, dinner and supper; and then you need not be ashamed to give her to the very best in the land. She is fitted to life; she will succeed; and if the future should find you alone in the world her husband will gladly welcome you to a home which you taught your daughter to make for him "The dearest spot on earth."

Only a smile! But ah! how it cheered the broken heart, engendered a ray of hope, and cast a halo of light around the unhappy present; made the bed-ridden one forget its present agony for a moment as it dwelt in sunshine of joy and lived in the warmth of that smile! Let us all increase our giving of smiles. They cost nothing and are of untold value, especially in the Home Circle.

A woman who fails in her home fails in all. Home is woman's realm, given into her hands to regulate, govern and beautify. If she fails here she may look in vain for another kingdom; for she has failed in the only spot where she could have ultimately succeeded. She has laid down the jewels which God gave her to brighten and polish, and in their place finds nothing but dust and ashes.

No heart is insensible to words of praise or the kindly smile of approbation; and none are utterly above being affected by censure or blame. Children are particularly sensitive in this respect. Nothing can discourage a child more than a spirit of incessant fault-finding; and perhaps nothing can exert a more baneful influence upon both parent and child. If your little one, through the day, has been pleasant and obedient, and you say to him: "My son, you have been good to-day, and it makes me very happy," and if, with more than a usually affectionate embrace, you say "Good-night, my dear child," a throb of suppressed feelings fill his breast, and he resolves on always earning such approval.

Only Seamless Hosiery Fits Right!

You should wear Pen-Angle Hosiery, and no other kind. For this is the only Canadian-made hosiery that is seamless AND priced moderately AND guaranteed.

All three merits ought to be in your hosiery. Because no hosiery that is not SEAMLESS can be comfortable — and Pen-Angle machines are the only ones in Canada able to knit such hosiery, form-shaped to the leg and foot, instead of merely water-shrunk into shape.

Thus, though priced reasonably, Pen-Angle Hosiery holds its shape indefinitely. And it is reinforced wherever wear falls.

To these merits add the GUARANTEE you read here—two pairs for one if Pen-Angle Hosiery disappoints.

Note next the modest price you need pay to get all this—and then remember name and trademark when next you need hosiery.

ALFALFA AS FEED FOR POULTRY

From Farm and Dairy.

Alfalfa is of decided value as a feed for poultry. Chickens eat alfalfa leaves, green or dry, with relish. That alfalfa has a favorable effect on egg production is testified by Mr. J. H. Sanderson, a farmer of Peterboro county, who states that the results of mixing finely cut alfalfa in the regular mash he feeds his hens is to be seen in the increased size of the egg basket required in which to gather the eggs when his hens are fed alfalfa.

While in the office of Farm and Dairy recently Mr. C. E. Moore, of Smith Township, told our editors of having sown some alfalfa last year in his yard. The chickens did not discover it until the alfalfa had made a growth of some few inches; then they started for it and kept it eaten off close to the ground until when winter came on last fall not a leaf of green was left all having been eaten by the chickens.

Additional testimony as to the value of alfalfa for chicken feed was given Farm and Dairy by Mr. Ed. Jerry of Pine Grove. He states that while hauling in his grain, his horses, standing at the mow while the loads were being removed, had eaten into the mow a considerable depth for the alfalfa. Each time as the load came in this hole in the side of the mow was occupied by the chickens, they having found it and discovered that alfalfa leaves were good eating.

Alfalfa leaves, short cut alfalfa, or even long alfalfa hay, may be fed to poultry with profit. In fact, it or other clover should be before them at all times in a rack, which may be made conveniently from a piece of wire poultry netting tacked on to the scantling and allowed to bag out somewhat so as to make a rack, from which the hens may pick the clover at will.

HOLSTEIN CATTLE

From Farm and Dairy.

W. J. Carlyle, Dundas Co., Ont.

Editor, Farm and Dairy,—I have noticed in some of your recent editions of Farm and Dairy reports of some very high priced Holstein cattle at auction sales. I would like to ask the question, "why do Holstein cattle sell so much better and at a higher price than any other breed of cattle?" Is it because they are more profitable than any other dairy breed? Or is it because there is a craze on that breed at the present time?

I think if farmers would get down to business and keep records of what a cow consumes and what milk she gives and what that milk tests they would not be running after the breed so much. They would pay more attention to the cows. I have never had much experience in feeding cows for records. I once asked a very prominent Holstein breeder if a Holstein cow would make 100 pounds of milk at a less cost than any other breed. His answer was that it was the man behind the cow.

OLD COUNTRY COMPARISONS

Talking with a gentleman some time ago who had just returned from a visit to Holland and the Highlands of Scotland, I asked him the question, "What would a herd of Ayrshire cattle do in Holland?" He said he thought in two generations they would make a better dairy cow than the Holstein. I said to him just reverse the question, "How would Holsteins do in the Highlands?" He thought in two generations they would have nothing, for they could not live on the pasture lands in that country.

Now, Mr. Editor, I would like to have some one tell me if an Ayrshire cow will live and give a small profit under unfavorable conditions why they will not be just as profitable as the Holsteins under favorable conditions.

HOLSTEIN AND AYRSHIRE IN R. OF P.

I know of two farmers living side by side, one a breeder of Holsteins, the other of Ayrshires. They each had a cow, last June, which they had entered in the Record of Performance. The Holstein cow gave in one day 90 lbs. of milk and averaged 75 lbs. for the month, testing 3.2 per cent. butter fat, or 2,250 lbs. of milk for the month. The Ayrshire just gave 1,950 lbs. of milk for the month, testing 3.4 per cent. We shall just see which of these cows was the most profitable. The Holstein cow gave 1,000 lbs. more than the Ayrshire, but when we are feeding for profit and not for records we will see where we stand. The Ayrshire cow gave 1,950 lbs. of milk on grass alone. The Holstein gave 2,250 lbs. of milk, testing 3.2 per cent., on just as good pasture and 18 lbs. of bran and ground oats equal parts per day, worth $1.25 per hundred lbs., or about $6.50 of meal for the month, along with the extra work of milking three times a day, which I would consider to be worth 10 cents a day.

I would say if these two cows were both sold at an auction sale, the Holstein would bring $400 and the Ayrshire would p[illegible]bly bring $75. And why?

VEGETABLES

From Farm and Dairy.

Vegetables are of great use in correcting the stimulating effect of a meat diet; this being especially the case where the meat has been salted, it having been found that when much salt meat has been taken, and but little vegetables, that scurvy and various cutaneous diseases were very prevalent.

The various kinds of cabbage are of much use as articles of diet. They are better suited for persons in robust health than for the weak. In the latter, they are apt to produce various disorders of the stomach.

Cauliflowers and broccoli are both more tender and more easily digested than cabbage, savoys, greens or kale.

Spinach, although an agreeable article of food, does not contain so much nourishment as cabbage or cauliflower.

Parsnip contains much nourishment, although, perhaps, not quite so much as the carrot. It is an antiscorbutic, and prevents the ill effects that result from living on a salt diet.

The carrot is a root which contains much sugar, and is very nutritious, but by some authorities is not considered so digestible as the turnip.

Endive is wholesome, either boiled or eaten raw with salad. It contains a bitter principle, and is slightly narcotic.

Beans, although both wholesome and nutritious, especially when young, yet are best suited for those persons who take much exercise in the open air. They are rather apt to disagree with persons of a sedentary habit. The tough coat that covers the bean is found to be very indigestible. Beans are usually eaten with bacon, in which case the fat of the meat tends to counteract many of the ill effects of the bean. In weak stomachs they are apt to produce indigestion and heartburn. The kidney, or French beans, when eaten young (as they usually are), are very digestible, and are more easily acted on by the stomach than by any of the other legumes.

Peas contain much nourishment. According to some writers, they consist of more than half of nutritious matter.

The watercress is cooling and antiscorbutic, and acts as a stimulant to the stomach and promotes digestion.

Beet-root is very nutritious, and is a good antiscorbutic; but, probably from the large quantity of sugar it contains, is so apt to cause flatulance, that it is rarely employed as food for man. Much of the sugar used abroad is obtained from this root. It is found that one pound of sugar can be obtained from fourteen pounds of beet-root. This vegetable makes an excellent pickle.

The radish, although healthy and anti-scorbutic, should when it possesses an acrid and pungent taste, be carefully avoided by dyspeptic persons.

Asparagus is very digestible, as far as the heads are concerned, which is the only part eaten, and does not produce any acidity of the stomach. Artichokes resemble asparagus with regard to their digestibility.

As you will see when you get it, this recipe contains only pure, harmless remedies, but it has great healing and pain-conquering power.

It will quickly show its power once you use it, so I think you had better see what it is without delay. I will send you a copy free—you can use it and cure yourself at home.

VALUE OF BUTTER

From Farm and Dairy.

Two factors determine the value of butter on the market—the flavor and texure. It is regrettable that the greater portion of the home dairy butter made in Canada is deficient in both of these qualities. As a result while creamery butter sells for 26 cts. to 29 cts. a pound, home dairy butter is quoted at 18 cts. to 20 cts. and the poorer grades of dairy butter, which are only used by the bakers, at 16 cts. A very small percentage of the home dairy butter is of the best quality and brings prices ranging even higher than the creamery made article. When we consider that in Canada several times as much butter is made on the farm as in the creameries the great loss to the producers is evident.

If first quality butter is to be made a hand separator is both a necessity and a convenience. A revolving churn, a lever butter worker, a dairy thermometer, printer, and ladles complete the home butter-maker's outfit.

SKIM A RICH CREAM

If the separator is set to skim a rich cream, say 30 per cent. or one that will churn three to three and one-half lbs. of butter per gallon, a better grade of butter will result. This cream must be churned at a high temperature, which injures the texture. Separator cream should be cooled immediately to 45 degrees and warm cream should never be mixed with cold cream. When the cream is held more than two or three days had flavored butter is likely to result. Churning every other day is a good rule.

The day before churning ripening of the cream should commence. Heat the cream to 70 degrees by standing the cans in warm water, add 10 per cent. of starter, and hold the cream at a temperature of 65 or 70 degrees for 12 to 18 hours, with frequent stirring during the first few hours.

Before churning the cream will need to be cooled to a temperature of around 62 degrees in winter and 58 degrees in summer. At this temperature the churning should be completed in 25 or 30 minutes. If the butter is coming a little too soft the addition of a few quarts of water somewhat colder than the cream will improve the texture. When the butter collects in granules the size of wheat grains, the butter milk may be drawn off, the churn half filled with water at a temperature of 55 degrees, and the churn given a few revolutions. Two or three washings may be necessary to get rid of all the butter milk.

ON THE WORKER

When the butter is removed from the churn to the worker work over a few times, giving the lever a rotary motion, and then add salt. Be careful not to spoil the grain. People want butter with a grain to it. They can buy grease—and much home dairy butter is little better than grease—at a much lower price than butter. If the salt is thoroughly worked in, mottles, which is one of the most common defects of home dairy butter, will be avoided.

The most popular print on the market is the plain, oblong one-pound print. If it is desired to build up a reputation for first-class dairy butter, printed wrappers with an attractive design bearing the name of the farm and of the maker will be a good investment. If plain wrappers are used the customer, even if very favorably impressed with the quality of the butter, will not know where to obtain more of the same kind.

WOMEN CURED AT HOME

Women's disorders always yield from the very beginning of the treatment to the mild, but effective, action of Orange Lily. Within two or three days after commencing its use the improvement becomes noticeable, and this improvement continues until the patient is completely cured. "The Strange Case Of Eleanor Cuyler"

By KINGSLAND CROSBY

XXVI.

Having rounded Cape Codd and later Point Judith, the steam yacht Norseman, like some magnificent white seabird, swept majestically into the gently heaving waters of Long Island Sound. July and August had merged into September during the weeks in which she had cruised far from her home port to unfamiliar waters of the North where those on board, Mortimer Cuyler, and his daughter, and Mrs. Hazard, had experienced complete change of scene and surroundings. The leisurely voyage, with many an excursion ashore, had done its work. Eleanor had regained health, strength, mental poise and again was her usual self—active, happy, interested in all around her. The effects of her terrible experience had vanished, and even the memory thereof returned, but at long intervals as a vague, disturbing dream which she could cast aside more and more easily.

Earlier in the evening Cuyler's yacht had slowed down so that a tugboat could bring out to him from Fall River a packet of telegrams and the Boston papers—for once more within the zone of active life the financier must get a grip on affairs of the world. Eleanor and her aunt, sitting together on deck, watched the fussy little tug approach the Norseman, like some overgrown, black water-bug skimming the surface of the sea with a tremendous amount of earnestness. Nearer and nearer it came, when Eleanor, with a little gasp, suddenly rose from the chair.

"What is it, my dear?" Mrs. Hazard asked, looking up in surprise.

"There's someone—someone on the tug, up by the wheel-house—that I can't quite make out. . . ."

Mrs. Hazard adjusted her glasses. "Well, I can!" she remarked with emphasis.

A bow-line and a stern-line flew over the rail, and were seized by white-clad sailors as the tug came alongside. The next moment a tall man with broad shoulders sprang from his perch and lightly swung down upon the yacht's deck.

"Good afternoon, Mrs. Hazard," he said, as if such an appearance as his were quite the ordinary thing.

"Doctor Barrett!" she exclaimed, meeting him with outstretched hand.

"And to you also, Miss Cuyler," he added, his eyes dancing with merriment. "Please, may I go to New York with you? I want to, even if I have to work my passage—provided there's room."

"Indeed you may!" Cuyler responded, appearing on deck as he heard the voices, and taking the younger man's hand with cordial grip. "You are more than welcome."

"Thank you, sir," Barrett replied with a trace of old-fashioned courtesy not displeasing to the other. "The captain of the tug asked me to hand you this," he concluded, holding out a leather pouch.

"Oh, yes, telegrams and newspapers. They can wait until after dinner. . . . .But how about you? Have you any luggage?"

"Yes; it's on the tug."

The captain of the little craft alongside was leaning through a window of his wheel-house, smoking a pipe, and examining the trim and polished Norseman with critical, disdainful air. To him Barrett turned and spoke:

"I'll stay with the yacht—send my suit-case on board."

"Ay, sir."

As the satchel was passed over the rail the tug drew off, and the Norseman moved forward—noiselessly, without effort, without a quiver. On she swept, mile after mile, while afternoon waned into evening, while the sun set in a glory of gold and rose-tints, while its more delicate after-glow melted into the on-coming darkness. And not until then was dinner served—with a leisurely ceremony of which Cuyler privately thought his good sister was a trifle too punctilious. By the time they rose from table and came on deck again, the breeze, which had freshened a little, was impregnated with a bracing, salty flavour. The ladies drew wraps more closely around them, and all four started to pace up and down, until Cuyler tossed his cigar overboard.

"Now I'll have to get at those telegrams and leave this beautiful night" he said, reluctantly, steadying himself to counteract the gentle swaying of the yacht.

"It's too bad, daddy dear! Can't you let them go until morning?"

"No, I'm afraid not. . . . Well, I will see you again before we turn in."

"I'll go with you," Mrs. Hazard remarked. "I've got to the last chapter, and I really must see what happens to those two young people. Are you sure you're warm enough, Eleanor?"

"Oh, yes, and if I feel chilly we can easily find shelter from the wind"

"Well ,don't risk taking cold."

Mrs. Hazard followed her brother to the library below, and Barrett and the girl started once more to pace back and forth, saying little, listening to the swash of the water, until finally both paused on the after-deck.

"And how did you know we were to be here this evening?" asked Eleanor, seating herself.

"Very easily," Barrett replied, drawing another chair nearer for himself. "I saw by an early edition of the Boston afternoon papers that the Norseman was due, and that arrangements had been made to send off a tug to her with messages for your father. Some marine reporter probably heard it from one of the tug's crew—and promptly rushed it into print, I'm glad to say."

"Are you?" asked Eleanor.

Barrett sat up and looked at her. "Well—yes. . . . . Aren't you?" he demanded.

"It's good of you to take so much trouble. I'm sure my father and my aunt appreciate it."

"And you're glad to see me, yourself—at least a little glad," he went on; "glad enough to serve for the sake of politeness, any how—aren't you?"

"Guess," she responded, bantteringly, leaning back a little, and looking at him with half-closed eyes.

In his turn Barrett leaned, but forward; and looked down at the girl with eyes that were distinctly not half-closed.

"I don't have to guess," he said, in tones that made her heart flutter again—more rapidly than when she had first recognized him on the tug.

Through her mind flashed a little note of thankfulness that he could not see the pink foolishly sweeping from throat to forehead.

"Don't you ever have to guess?" she inquired calmly. "Are you always so sure about everything?"

Memory of that Sunday afternoon at Van Studdiford's summer place came to Barrett's mind, and of Mildred. And of others.

"No, I'm not," he declared, honestly, "I'm not sure of everything, Miss Cuyler. But there's one thing I am sure of, absolutely, unquestionably, and I'm going to tell you—"

He rose from his chair and stepped toward Eleanor she also rose from hers, a trifle precipitately, perhaps.

"I was just about to suggest that we go forward," she interrupted. "We can get a much better view there."

She started on, and he, after momentary hesitation, followed.

Together they stood by the starboard rail watching the wonderful night. On either side the black waters of the Sound stretched out and out until lost in marriage with the great, deep sky. Off there they picked up a three-second light which flashed like some great fire-fly. Again they heard the warning note of a bell-buoy, faint at first, then louder, then fainter and fainter as they left it far astern. Once or twice they passed a giant Sound steamer in the distance, racing along with passengers and freight, each deck a band of brilliant lights. Then from the dusky shadows near by would emerge the sail of some ghastly schooner which would vanish again as quietly as it had appeared.

It was not a time or a place for speech. The majesty of the scene, the innumerable stars above, the soft, caressing touch of the moon illumining the black water, impressed them deeply.

Far up in the top gallant forecastle two lookouts pierced the night with vision long trained to such service. Above, on the darkened bridge stood the first-officer and the quartermaster; within easy call of them one or two seamen. Far down below in the engine-room were the chief and his assistants, listening, listening to the blended murmur of their perfect mechanism, alert to detect instantly the least discordant note, and ready to remedy it ere accident could happen.

For a long time they paused there, Barrett and Eleanor, in silence. And when he could bear it no longer he spoke—very gently; as she had never heard him speak before—as he had never spoken before.

"You will let me tell you?" he asked, and waited for a moment.

She made no reply.

"I will not, if you forbid me, dear."

Then she caught her breath, and shrank a little—but not from fear. And he stepped toward her and would have taken her in his arms regardless of the others; but just then Cuyler strode through his library and came on deck.

"Doctor Barrett!" he called, glancing this way and that, before seeing them.

"Yes, Mr. Cuyler, what is it?"

He stepped over to his host.

"Have you read this?" the banker demanded, holding up an afternoon paper.

"No—what is it, sir?"

"It's an article in the last edition" Cuyler replied, "saying that you have organized an archeological expedition at your own expense, to go down into the interior of Mexico, and excavate a lot of old temples in a buried city. It also says," Cuyler continued, "that you are to start within a month, and are to be away from home for at least three years."

"Well," said Barrett, "there's a good deal of truth in it. I have organized the expedition."

Mrs. Hazard had followed her brother to the doorway.

"Now, that is something worth while," she remarked in her most impressive manner. "I only wish more of our younger men with independent means would undertake such serious and important work."

It seemed to Eleanor that for an instant her heart stopped beating; but the blood of Mortimer Cuyler flowed in her veins.

"Yes, indeed," she added bravely. "We all hope you will do great things down there!"

"Thank you," Barrett said.

"Are you really going to bury yourself for two or three years in that forsaken country?" Cuyler asked incredulously.

"That is my present plan, sir."

"Well, I wish you all sorts of success, but I'm sorry we're not to see you for such a long time."

He went back to his reading-table, while Eleanor and Barrett resumed their chairs on the after-deck.

"So that was what you were going to tell me when my father interrupted?" she said with a gay little laugh.

"Not exactly, that. . . . I was going to tell you that I should go away . . . . unless — unless you want me to stay."

He paused, not knowing how to speak further. He had never felt so helpless as before this young girl—who suddenly bowed her head and covered her face with her hands.

In an instant he was by her side, speaking rapidly, tempestuously—but with an earnestness that overwhelmed her.

It was late when Mrs. Hazard finished the love-story she was reading, and hurriedly bethought herself that it was time she and her niece were retiring. And when they had left the library, Barrett planted himself firmly on his feet directly in front of his host.

"Mr. Cuyler," he said, looking the older man squarely in the eyes, "I wish to marry your daughter. May I?"

Cuyler's glasses slipped from his nose, and for a moment he made no response, but gazed back with mingled amusement and admiration.

"Doctor Barrett," he finally said, deliberately, "possibly there are a few men on earth who would have the audacity to ask me outright for my paintings, or my residence, or my business. . . . . I don't know of any one besides yourself who possesses the—eh—confidence, to ask me without the slightest preliminary for my only child."

As he spoke Cuyler's mouth set in the steel-like expression dreaded by those who knew him in the world of finance; and his grey eyes fixed themselves upon the younger man with an intensity far from reassuring.

Barrett stood looking steadily at him until he had finished speaking. Then repeated his question, quietly, but insistently.

"Mr. Cuyler, may your daughter and I marry?"

A ghost of a smile flickered around the financier's lips. He tried to frown more fiercely—and failed. Then he stood up.

"First of all, does Eleanor wish to marry you?"

"She said so."

"Well, I'm not accustomed to rendering important decisions off-hand. But I'll confess that since we started on this cruise, Mrs. Hazard has suggested the possibility of something of this nature."

"Mrs. Hazard!"

Cuyler nodded. "You see, doctor, these women unconsciously breathe to the spiritual which men can comprehend only after long, hard, logical study—if, ever. And so I was not wholly unprepared, although I never imagined it as being imminent."

"I wish to say, sir, that I have a clean record, and I will help you to investigate it."

"I'm sure of it! You look it. And no man with another kind of record would do what you did to help recover my daughter."

Instinctively he put forth his hand which Barrett took with hearty grasp for a moment.

"And do you give your consent to our engagement?"

"I do not forbid it — at present. Final decision is reserved until I can talk the matter over with my daughter."

From her room beyond Eleanor came running to her father.

"Oh, daddy, dear!" she exclaimed, laughing and crying at the same time "you don't have to wait and talk it over!"

The grim old warrior looked down at her tenderly, and patted her cheek. Then he kissed her on the forehead, and gently inclined her to the tall, powerful man standing opposite.

There was a moment's silence, suddenly broken by Cuyler, who turned to a telephone and gave one ring, which was answered instantly.

"Captain Hasbrouck," he said speaking into the transmitter, "a great event has happened this evening; a great and happy event.

At sunrise you will dress the yacht with every flag and rag and bit of bunting on board. Serve the hip's company with a regular Christmas dinner to-morrow, and grant extra shore leave to every man you can spare when we reach our anchorage.

"Very good, sir," replied the master of the Norseman.

"That is all, Captain Hasbrouck."

Cuyler turned again to the man and the girl standing side by side.

"Now, young people," he continued, beaming upon them with unaccustomed playfulness. "I am going out in the fresh air for ten minutes—for just ten minutes, mind you!" he laughed. "And then I shall reappear suddenly—without warning—and we will all turn in for what is left of this eventful night."

He closed the door, and walked slowly to the darkened after-deck, where he leaned over the rail, thinking. Filmy clouds drifted across the moon; the water gurgled and hissed as the yacht cut through it; the stars shone in their silent mystic majesty.

Then he heard light footsteps coming toward him, and a lithe young creature drew his arms around her as she nestled up close to him.

"What is it?" he asked gently.

"Oh, daddy, dear!" she whispered with awe in her tones; "it's like the Creation. . . . This wonderful world is beginning all over again!"

He drew her yet closer, and stroked her hair. And said nothing.

THE END.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS CURE CONSTIPATION

Few other troubles afflict the little ones as does constipation. Every change of diet seems to bring this trouble on and baby suffers from headaches, fever, disturbed sleep and often vomiting. No baby who suffers from constipation can thrive well. Constipated babies are cross all the time and give mothers constant worry. The one sure relief for baby constipation is Baby's Own Tablets—they never fail to cure this trouble and can be given to the little one with absolute safety. Concerning them Mrs. W. S. McKenzie, Prairie Grange, Alta., writes: "I used Baby's Own Tablets for my baby who was constipated from birth and they rapidly helped her and left her bowels in a natural condition." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PETERBOROUGH SATURDAY APRIL 8 1911

HOW WILL RECIPROCITY AGREEMENT HURT THE PETERBORO' INDUSTRIES?

The benefits and demerits of the pending reciprocity agreement present a fairly debatable question. But so far it has hardly been discussed upon its merits. A good deal of prejudice is aroused against it and ready-made opinions, conceived before, have been and are being advanced. Special interests, possessing perhaps special privileges, at the expense of the many, are organised against it. This agitation has been nursed, stage-managed and advertised at great expense. This agitation did not arise spontaneously from the people, the masses; but it has been used to confuse, misguide and mislead the masses.

This agitation has read into the agreement much that it does not contain—amongst the most absurd, the cry of annexation. This is asserted in the face of the fact that the Canada's share in negotiating the agreement was conducted under the advice, assistance and encouragement and concurrence of the British Ambassador at Washington. The annexation cry, like many other objections, is too absurd to be seriously discussed.

But we are told that reciprocity will ruin our industries, and incidentally injure the workingman? How will an agreement that in the main provides for free exchange of the products of the farm and the fisheries, injure other interests that are not touched in any way, as far as the tariff is concerned, by the agreement? Aside from a few articles of raw materials used in manufactures, there is no change in the tariff except on agricultural machinery and implements, and this reduction in the main is trifling — from 17 1-2 to 15 per cent. And will this ruin the industry? Is not the industry strong enough to concede 2 1-2 per cent. in the interests of the farmer of the west? It should be. Mr. Meighan, Conservative M.P. for Portage La Prairie, in introducing a resolution for the removal of the duty from agricultural implements for the west, declared that the Canadian manufacturers of agricultural machinery were able to, and [illegible] United States manufacturers in the foreign market.

The tariff—with the incidental protection it affords on all other branches of manufacture, is untouched, stands as it was before and as it will continue to stand, no doubt for some time to come. How, then, does the trade agreement, providing for free exchange of farm and dairy products, endanger the manufacturer or the working man? Will somebody explain?

Take, for instance the industries of Peterborough, like the Auburn Woollen Mills, the Rapid Tool Company, the Lock Works, the William Hamilton Company, the Brinton Carpet Company, the Canoe Companies, the Canadian General Electric, etc., etc. How are these affected by a tariff agreement that does not touch the tariff affecting their products? The Canoe Companies are slightly affected however. The United States' tariff of 35 per cent. and the Canadian general tariff rate of 25 per cent., respectively, upon canoes, etc., have been equalised and reduced in both countries to 22 1-2 per cent. Will it be an advantage or disadvantage to ship canoes and small boats to the United States in face of a 22 1-2 per cent. duty, rather than a 35 per cent. duty? Will Canadian and especially Peterboorugh canoe builders,—in the home of the canoe—fear a reduction of 2 1-2 per cent. Will not their skill their enterprise, their superior workmanship and cheaper raw materials help them to overcome the handicap of 2 1-2 per cent. reduction in duty, especially when a reduction of 12 1-2 per cent. in the United States tariff, facilitates the entering of their goods into that big market? Local builders say reciprocity will give them an advantage in the United States market?

How will the Canadian General Electric Company be injured by reciprocity in turnips or potatoes? There is no tariff change that will interfere with bringing in as of yore the considerable amount of raw or partly manufactured material from the United States. Let some one tell us how free exchange of farm products is going to injure the Electric Works. A high tariff on certain articles the works import from across the border might hit them, but how in the world, free dairy or farm products is going to hurt them is a conundrum.

It is to be admitted, that at first sight the trade agreement seems to affect adversely the Quaker Oats Company and the Matthews Company. But it remains to be seen whether the agreement in the working out will prove as undesirable as claimed. We were told in 1897 that the Fielding tariff would destroy every Canadian industry. Yet since 1897 up to 1911 the industries of Canada, have been, at least, fairly prosperous. Let us hope that history will repeat itself, as it probably will do, in regard to these two great local industries.

Anyway, let us have some details as to how a trade agreement that does not touch the tariff in regard to our Peterboorugh industries is to wipe them off the map.

THE FOURTH ANNIVERSARY OF KNOX CHURCH

Knox church will celebrate its fourth anniversary to-morrow and on Monday evening. On Jan. 1st, 1907, Knox church became an independent congregation, and on 11th of April, 1907 called Rev. Mr. Keith as its first minister. There was no idea at that time that in four years Knox congregation would be so large and would be worshipping in such a handsome church. Both people and pastor are to be congratulated. Special services will be conducted to-morrow morning and evening by Rev. E. W. McKay, of St. Paul's church, Smith's Falls, of which Rev. Mr. Keith was a member. Mr. McKay is a graduate of Glasgow University and Knox college, Toronto and a preacher of excellent qualities. He will address the men's meeting in the afternoon in the Brotherhood room and will also remain for the open social gathering on Monday evening and give an address. A programme has been prepared and refreshments will be served in the lecture hall. Special music will be rendered at to-morrow's services.

BLACKLISTER GOES TO GAOL FOR 40 DAYS

John Donoghue appeared in Court this morning for violating the blacklist law. He was arrested yesterday in a drunk and disorderly condition on George street. He pleaded guilty and was fined $10.00. Last December a similar charge was laid against him, but he got out of town and did not come back until recently. The old charge was laid against him and he pleaded guilty to it. Another fine of $10.00 was imposed. Donoghue stated that he had no money to pay the fine, so he will spend forty of the beautiful Spring days behind the bars of Castle Nesbitt.

A young man pleaded guilty to a charge of being drunk and disorderly on Hunter street yesterday. A fine of $2.00 and costs was imposed, the total amounting to $5.75.

Joe Shearer, who failed to answer to the call in yesterday morning's Court, apeared this morning, charged with stealing 80 bags of chop from the Quaker Oats Co. He pleaded not guilty, so was remanded until the 13th when the two other boys, who are supposed to be implicated in the theft will appear also. Shearer stated that he was given the chop. His worship asked if he did not want a partner. The prisoner stated that he had lots of partners, a fact that is becoming generally known.

NEW NAVIGATION COMPANY OUTLINES ITS PLANS FOR THE COMING SEASON

Peterborough and Lake Simcoe Navigation Company Will Have a Fleet of Six Substantial Steamers

TO ERECT BUILDINGS

The Peterborough and Lake Simcoe Navigation Company organised in February last to acquire and combine other navigation interests on the Kawartha waters and to operate on the waters of Lake Simcoe and the intermediate lakes and rivers to Rice Lake has the following officers:

President—E. F. Mason.
Vice-President—Robt. Hicks.
Manager and Secretary-Treasurer—Robt. Pinchin.

The company's fleet consists of six substantial steamers as follows: "The Otonabee," the "Geneva" purchased from Mr. Thompson, the prominent lumberman of Orillia, who is also a director and a large shareholder in the company, the "Manita" the "Monarch," the "Water Lily" and "Lintonia." The service given will cover the following routes:

No. 1—Lindsay, Sturgeon Point and Fenelon Falls.

No. 2—Bobcaygeon, Burleigh Falls, Mount Julian and all Stony Lake points.

No. 3—Bobcaygeon, Indian Village, Buckhorn, Burleigh Falls and Chemong.

No. 4—Peterborough, Lakefield and Stony Lake points.

No. 5—Peterborough, Gore's Landing and all Rice Lake points.

The steamers will make connections at Lakefield, Bobcaygeon and Lindsay with G.T.R. and C.P.R. trains.

The palatial steamer Otonabee will be reserved for excursions, a purpose that she is exceedingly well adapted for.

Through the kindness of Mr. T. F. Matthews a new warehouse, waiting room and office will be erected on the Matthews' Company property near the Wolfe street wharf. The company appreciates Mr. Matthews' kindness, and the public will undoubtedly be equally grateful by reason of the better accommodation it will afford.

The company with a new board of directors has purchased all the interests of the Otonabee Navigation Company, and will give an unsurpassed service. The management aims at giving an especially good freight and passenger service. The steamers have been rebuilt and overhauled in order to give the best of accommodation and service and have been thoroughly inspected by Mr. Dobson of the Georgian Bay Ship Building Company.

GOOD FRIDAY SERVICE IN CENTRAL PARK

Arrangements are being made for a special service to be held on Good Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, under the auspices of the Peterborough Ministerial Association. All the ministers of the city are expected to be present, and it is hoped that there will be a very large assembly. Similar services held in the past have proved successful, and there is every reason to expect even better results this year. Further announcements will be given later, as to the particulars of the service, the list of speakers and other matters pertaining to the gathering.

"TRAVELLING MAN" ENDORSES THE CITY BEAUTIFUL

Editor Examiner:

I was much interested in the letter which appeared in Wednesday's Examiner calling attention to the proposed campaign to increase the membership of the Peterborough Horticultural Society and to the benefits to be derived by the members individually and by the city as a whole had we a horticultural society with two or three times the membership I understand it now has. The horticultural society has been doing good and efficient work, but if Peterborough is to keep pace with the other towns and cities in the province in the line of civic and home improvement, it is up to the citizens of Peterborough to lend more active support to the local society. Why should they not? When one considers that practically the full value of the membership fee of one dollar is returned to the members in the form of premiums, and that all the other privileges and advantages of the society are accordingly free, it is difficult to see why every citizen of Peterborough, no matter how small the amount of space at his disposal for the growing of flowers, should not be a member. In fact those with the smallest gardens have the most to gain by becoming associated with the society as it is necessary to utilize this small space to the very best advantage to make a good showing.

In conection with my work I have visited towns and cities in all parts of Ontario. I have frequently been struck with the fine appearance of some towns and the large percentage of homes made beautiful by the planting of flowers and shrubs. Almost invariably upon making any comments along this line I have learned that the town has a good live horticultural society which is mainly responsible for the good work being done. In fact one could almost tell simply by walking through the streets and observing their appearances and the appearance of the individual homes whether the town had a horticultural society, and to what extent it was making its influence felt among the citizens.

Here's wishing the Peterborough Horticultural Society success in its efforts towards beautifying the city, and hoping that the citizens in greatly increased numbers will show their interest in this commendable work by liberally suporting the society, I am,

Yours very truly,
TRAVELLING MAN.

JUSTIFIED.

The opponents of the construction of the Transcontinental Railway through the northern part of Quebec and Ontario, dwelt much upon the unwisdom of running a line through wild and unsettled regions. But this course has been justified even before the line is completed. The construction of the Transcontinental line has revealed and will make accessible a great wealth of natural resources. It has done more than that; it has stimulated the extension of the provincial railway, the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario, to connect with the Transcontinental at Cochrane. An arrangement has been made between the management of the two railways by which a part of the traffic brought eastward by the Grand Trunk Pacific will be transferred, at the point of intersection to the provincial railway to be carried via North Bay into the province of Ontario. Thus the national railway will be a feeder to the provincial railway, and assist the development of profitable trade relations between the central section of Ontario and the whole great expanse of the west, in addition to contributing to the development of heretofore untouched natural resources and the promotion of trade betwen the west and the east of the Dominion.

GLADYS SEWARD.

The attention of those interested in the good name and credit of Peterborough in matters musical, and those who favour, or should favour, the assistance to development of the musical genius of a Peterborough girl, is requested to the article printed in another column respecting the musical triumphs of Miss Gladys Seward, who has shown so great devotion to her musical studies in Germany, attended with such marked, and, even brilliant, success. What this remarkably-endowed girl has done is a surprise and delight to musical critics of the most musical country in the world. While achieved success is much, its greatest importance in the case, consists in the promise of future greatness in musical achievement. The fulfilment of this promise depends upon continued opportunity for study, and this depends upon means of maintenance. Fortunately, owing to the musical spirit and generosity of Mr. Harry Field, one of the foremost piano pedagogues in Dresden, there is no cost of tuition. As remarked elsewhere, gold and genius are not often bedfellows. The private resources available by Miss Seward are not adequate to continue her maintenance in Germany. It, therefore, depends upon the liberality of response of the citizens of Peterborough to decide whether a brilliant Peterborough girl, who, at her age—sixteen years—has made such splendid progress in her conquest of the piano, shall be permitted to develop the promise of her splendid musical abilities, and add to the good name of Peterborough as the home of one of the great pianists of the world—or fall back from the threshold of success into comparative oblivion, for lack of a few prosaic dollars.

PILES Dr. Chase's Ointment is a certain and guaranteed cure for each and every form of Itching, Bleeding and Protruding Piles. One application in the worst cases will relieve almost at once. You can use it and get your money back if not satisfied. 60c. at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

THE CITY BEAUTIFUL.

The public-spirited proposal to largely extend the membership roll of the Horticultural Society, is deserving of the warmest commendation and heartiest support. As the Examiner has frequently suggested, Peterborough naturally lends itself to the most effective development of civic beauty and there is hope of realizing upon this valuable aesthetic effect, by slow but perceptible intensifying of the popular love of beauty as expressed in flowers and trees, and the progressive refinement of taste, on the the part of the public. In accomplishing these things, the Horticultural society has, comparatively small as its membership is, played an important part.

Its usefulness, however, is capable of great increase, and this increase will naturally and inevitably come from increase in its membership, and the consequent spread of activity and intensifying of interest in the work of adding to the sum total of civic beauty.

It is only by approximately universal cooperation that the best results can be reached. Civic beautification, to be really worth while, must be general and this cannot come without general organization and the adoption of the resultant system.

And here is where our city council's duty makes a call. No matter how diligently and effectively private citizens may wage the campaign of civic beautification, their work and the ensemble effect, will be greatly neutralized if the street authorities fail to do their share—the provision of clean, tidy streets. The city authorities should show the example, set the pace and show their sympathy.

Much of the work of civic beautification consists in the adornment and tidiness of the streets. A dirty, muddy, rough, stone-strewn street, with boulevards—carefully built, grassed, swept and garnished to begin with—trampled out of shape by vandal feet, fronting a beautiful flower and shrub-studded and well shaven lawn, suggests the jewel in a swine's snout. After citizens take the trouble or go to the expense of beautifying lawns and boulevards, the neglect of the city authorities to prevent their destruction by the unthinking and the malicious among pedestrians, is simply criminal. Our schools, and even pulpits, should by injunction, warning and impression of the golden rule, bring pupils and congregations to realize that in their action of tramping out the life of boulevards or corners of open lawns, they are not doing to others as they would have others do unto them.

The one-dollar membership fee of the Horticultural Society is not an expenditure but an investment. In the form of free distribution of bulbs, seeds and plants and in free distribution of that splendid journal, The Canadian Horticulturist, more than ample value is received from the subscription fee; not to speak of its influence and effect in contributing to making Peterborough, as it can be made, by cooperation and effort — civic and citizen—the most beautiful city in the province.

OUR NEW NORTH.

The address of Mr. J. L. Englehart, chairman of the Temiscaming and Northern Ontario Railway Commission, to the Toronto Board of Trade on Thursday gave a new idea of the wealth of resources, of what is called New Ontario. Mr. Englehart's eloquent and optimistic picture of the potential wealth of this part of Ontario puts the pessimist out of court and vindicates the prevision and farsight of the Ross government which only ten short years ago lifted the lid and revealed enough of the dormant wealth of the region to justify the application of the railway probe. When the Ross government in 1900 proposed and carried out the exploration of a part of New Ontario, they were ridiculed by them of little faith as visionaries and squanderers of the provincial funds. Even when the report of the explorers showed that New Ontario was a goodly land "whose stones were iron and out of whose hills one might dig brass"—gold and silver—with a vast stretch of agricultural land, surpassing, according to Mr. Englehart, the fertile lands of the west, there was doubt. To show what a change has come over the spirit of the political pessimist's dream; and to show that the most positive and dogmatic can be splendidly mistaken, it may be recalled that at that time Sir James Whitney — then plain Mr. Whitney, leader of the opposition—spoke at a grand Conservative rally in Massey Hall, Toronto. In the course of his speech he disparaged the action of the Ross government in exploring New Ontario, and jeeringly referred to them as the "discoverers" of "the land of the stunted poplar." The Ross government had as much faith as Mr. Whitney had unfaith. The provincial railway to pierce the provincial treasure vaults was begun and in the very act of building there was discovered the presence of silver, which has won for Canada the title to possession of one of the richest silver camps in the world. All the rest has come, of course, and by the irony of circumstances or political accident, or by the play of poetic justice, Sir James Whitney, who at one time sneered at New Ontario as the "land of the stunted poplar"—a synonym of worthlessness—has been constrained to continue the processes of development, that have made Mr. Englehart eloquent in his semi-official endorsation of the affluent possibilities of Ontario's Eden of the North. His story of the wealth in minerals, pulp wood and agricultural capabilities of the north land reads like a chapter of romance. All along and adjacent to the line of the railway from Haileybury to Cochrane there is splendid, fertile soil, capable of sustaining a large and prosperous agricultural population. Ontario owns this great land of promise and it is incumbent upon the trustees of Ontario's interests to people it. If the Ontario government would inaugurate and apply an immigration and settlement policy similar to that by which the Dominion government has poured population into the Canadian west, the greatest province of the Dominion would begin to come into its own.

Local Sanitarium For Consumptives And Education As To Tuberculosis

(Brantford Expositor)

The report of Dr. R. W. Bruce Smith, inspector of hospitals and charities, for the year ended 30th September last, deals at considerable length with a subject which is now engaging considerable attention in Brant county, namely, sanatoria for consumptives. Toward such the government gives a grant of $4,000 on the erection and satisfactory equipment of the necessary buildings, and a grant of $3 per week for the maintenance of patients of whose support $4.00 per week or less is contributed. During the past year 1,573 patients were admitted to the special hospitals or sanitoria for the treatment and care of consumptives, and in addition a large number of patients have been treated through the local dispensaries and visiting nurses attached to the different institutions at Hamilton, London, Ottawa, St. Catharines and other places. The inspector declares his opinion that the problem of caring for consumptives can only be solved by establishing local sanatoria. These will not only effect a cure or an improvement in patients admitted, but their great mission will be to teach a proper mode of life to the whole community, as well as to the consumptive patient.

Dr. Smith's views with regard to the local sanatoria are entertained as well by the members of the Brant County Medical Association, who favour county institutions for a group of counties, believing that it will be much easier to get persons suffering from tuberculosis to go to such places when they are right at home, and where they can be visited by relatives or friends, than if they had to be sent away from home even for a comparatively short distance.

On the subject of education in regard to consumptives, Dr. Smith says:

Tuberculosis is recognized as the most frequent cause of death in Canada, no other single disease approaching it. Fortunately, during recent years it has come to be recognized by the general public as a preventable disease. The result has ben a gratifying decrease in the annual death rate in Ontario. This decrease is evidently due to the fact that people are gradually learning how to live. The exhibit under the direction of the Provincial Board of Health has been greatly appreciated in every city and town visited, and has demonstrated to the public the simple but efficient means at the command of every one for combating the disease. This is exactly what is needed. If people were properly educated, not frightened, in regard to the disease, a more rational view would be taken and the steps necessary for its cure and prevention would be better understood. The result would be seen in the disease being gradually but certainly exterminated from Ontario. It is impossible to estimate the good that might have been accomplished in Ontario if twenty years ago the school children of this province had had a text book placed in their hands, such as the Public School Hygiene, authorized during the past year for use in the schools. Such a book, not only studied in the schools, but carried to the homes and read there, must produce an influence that will tell for good. A sanitarium established in every municipality would never completely eradicate the disease. The people must be taught how to live. When a child contracts the disease it is nearly always from an infected home. The question of healthy dwellings will always dominate the prevention of tuberculosis.

There should be in at least twenty of the hospital centres of this province a public dispensary, established and working along lines similar to those adopted in Toronto and Ottawa and similar to those under the direction of the health associations at Hamilton and London. No one can estimate the value of the work which a well-conducted dispensary, with the visiting nurse attached thereto, can do, not only in prescribing for the patients, but in teaching them how o live. The visiting nurse, going to the homes of the patients and seeing that the surroundings are made and kept right, fills a mission of the greatest value. The distribution of cards and literature for the guidance of patients is another method of teaching the people the simple but effective means by which the disease can be prevented.

In Brant county there has been unexpected delay in providing a sanitarium, owing to a disagreement between city and county on the subject of maintenance, but this matter is understood to have been amicably settled, and building operations should consequently be proceeded with without further delay.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

A Scientific Achievement

The discovery and turning in an alarm of fire makes possible the heroic work of the firemen in putting it out.

Undiscovered, a fire spreads with amazing rapidity, destroying everything within reach.

The discovery of the dandruff germ was of inestimable value to mankind, but only because it paved the way for the greater service, the discovery of Newbro's Herpicide.

Dandruff is contagious, and its spread is checked by the use of Herpicide. This delightful scalp dressing kills the germ, and prevents the hair from falling. It stops that itching almost instantly.

Herpicide is the only standard and original dandruff germ destroyer. Any other preparation making this claim is an imitation.

Recommended and applied by first-class barbers.

Send 10c. in postage or silver for sample and booklet to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich.

One dollar size bottles are guaranteed by all druggists.

McDermid and Jury, special agents.

Letter Of Thanks

Editor Examiner,—

Re Sheffield Choir Concert,

As one of the promoters of this concert I wish to thank the local press for the very able support they gave to this concert, also Messrs. J. J. Turner & Sons for their kindness in decorating the front of the Grand Opera House free of charge, and allowing the choir to rehearse in the Opera House on Monady morning. To Rev. Mr. Pogue and Rev. Mr. Couch, we owe a debt of gratitude for their kind words on Sunday last, of Canon Davidson and his wardens their kindness will long be remembered, to His Worship Mayor Morrow and city council we appreciate very much their kindness in presenting the address of welcome to the choir.

Financially, the concert was not all that we would have desired. Two things worked against it—Lent and the late winter. However we had the great satisfaction of bringing to our city the very finest choir that has ever appeared here, and I am afraid that it will be many years before we will hear another choir in this city to equal the Sheffield Choir.

I spent three strenuous weeks in promotiang this concert, visited a number of towns and villages. Lakefield sent 76 people on the special train; Norwood, 40; Havelock, 25. Dr. Coward gave the promoters the privilege of inviting a number of musical friends to the rehearsal on Monday morning. Quite a number attended; all seemed to enjoy the rehearsal. I was amply repaid for my trouole in receiving very kind notes from ladies stating how much they had enjoyed the rehearsal.

In conclusion, would say if Dr Harriss should ever bring to Canada another Sheffield Choir, or an Irish Choir, he will not have to hunt around very long for a promoter in Peterborough if I am around and well. The Shieffield Choir are brothers and sisters from the dear old Motherland, and their last visit will long live in the memory of the citizens of Peterborough and district.

Yours very truly,

WALTER STOCKER.

Peterborough, April 7, 1911.

IT IS NOT IN THE BLOOD

Medicine Taken Internally Cannot Cure Eczema—It is Caused by Germs

Eczema cannot be overcome by ordinary treatment and the old-fashioned way of dosing the system with drugs. Eczema is caused by a parasitic germ that bores into the skin. It is generally a contagious disease. Until the parasite is completely destroyed and removed, eczema cannot be cured. Fully one-third of skin diseases are in the form of eczema.

We so thoroughly believe that Rexall Eczema Ointment will overcome eczema and allied skin ailments, that we unhesitatingly promise to promptly return the money paid us for it should it in any way be unsatisfactory to the user.

Because of its remarkable cleansing, antiseptic, germicidal, soothing and healing influence, Rexall Eczema Ointment has a very pronounced value in the treatment of skin diseases, especially where the form of ailment is of the chronic, aggravating sort. We highly recommend it for the dry scaly form or the weeping type, where there is a constant flow of ill-smelling excretion.

Rexall Eczema Ointment is very prompt in relieving pimples, blotches, skin discolourations, ringworm, acne, nettle rash, tetter, hives, ulcers, insect bites, and for healing sores and wounds. It is a pleasant smelling, grayish-white ointment, and is very cleanly for use. Two sizes, 50c and $1.00. Sold only at our store,—The Rexall Store, McDermid and Jury.

WORLD IS GOING DRY

Tune—"Bringing in the Sheaves."

Sowing all around us, sowing seeds of temperance,
"Vote to save the boys" shall be our rallying cry,
Looking for a victory at the next election,
Now we sing rejoicing, "The town is going dry."
Chorus repeat last two lines.

Hear the prayer of mothers, pleading for their children,
And the cry of drunkards, help us or we die;
We will help our brothers as they strive for freedom,
So we sing with gladness, the county is going dry.
Chorus.

Go then forth with courage, working for the tempted,
Standing close together as the time draws nigh;
We know the right will conquer, God himself will help us,
So we shout the chorus, the state is going dry.
Chorus.

The drink curse held our nation in its cruel clutches,
Now its grip is broken, hear the whine and cry;
We will drive the rum shops far beyond our borders,
For we see most surely the nation is going dry.
Chorus.

See the mighty army steadily advancing,
All the world for temperance; on their banners high;
God is their commander, and He says go forward,
So we sing rejoicing, the world is going dry.
Chorus.

The world is going dry, the world is going dry,
So we sing rejoicing, the world is going dry.

QUEBEC ALLIANCE

THIRTY-SECOND ANNUAL CONVENTION

Nothing seems to hinder the triumphant onward march of the prohibition cause in our province. Many municipalities have gone "dry" in the last year, notable victories having been those at Megantic and Huntingdon, where in each case only one man voted for license. Shawville and Langueuil Parish, where the vote for prohibition were unanimous; Ville St. Pierre, Hudson, etc., etc. From a return lately issued by the Provincial Government, we now know authoritatively that 69 percent. of the municipalities of this province are without licenses and only 31 per cent. are now cursed by the presence of the legalized bar-room. The figures are: Prohibition, 661; license, 295; while twelve counties are entirely under no license. Much remains to be done, however, and much is being done. Brome and Huntingdon Counties are entering upon county-wide no-license fights, with every prospect of victory. The fight is on in many other places, and if only Montreal, the black spot on the St. Lawrence, could be bailed dry, and that is coming, the rest of the province would be easily captured for prohibition.

A recent decision of the Superior Court now gives a majority of electors residing or having their places of business in any polling sub-division of a municipality the power to object successfully to the granting of any or all licenses in that area without specifying any applicant for a license by name as hitherto. This decision is fraught with great potentialities, and constitutes a call to us to organize that we may be ready to vote out the bar-room.

PLANS OF WORK

Among the most important of the resolutions adopted by the meeting were the following:

"That this Convention rejoices to learn of the inauguration of a Women's Crusade for the abolition of Grocers' Licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquor, and pledges its hearty and unstinted support to the Women's Christian Temperance Union and kindred organizations in their noble campaign."

MOHAMMED FORBIDS WINE

Mohammed is said to have been led to put the prohibition of wine in the Koran by an incident which happened to himself. Passing through a village one day, he was delighted at the merriment of a crowd of persons enjoying themselves with drinking at a wedding party; but being obliged to return by the same way next morning, he was shocked to see the ground drenched with blood. Asking the cause, he was told that the company, having drunk to excess, fell to quarrelling, and slaughtered one another.

From that time his mind was made up; the mandate went forth from Allah that no child of the faithful should touch wine on pain of being shut out from the joys of Paradise. The simple truth was, of course, that Mohammed foresaw there would be no stability of the religion and empire he was building up if the use of ardent spirits was permitted to his followers.—"Temperance Journal."

DO THY PART

Do thy part,
Here in the living day, as did the great
Who made old days immortal. So shall men,
Gazing long back to this far-looming hour,
Say: Then the time when men were truly men;
Though wars grew less, their spirits met the test
Of new conditions; conquering civic wrong;
Saving the state anew by virtuous lives;
Guarding the country's honour as their own,
And their own as their country's.

The Julia Choate Concert

A large and well pleased audience assisted last night at the really excellent concert, given in the hall of the Conservatory of Music by Miss Julia Choate, the clever violiniste, and others. The whole entertainment was illustrative of the excellent work being done by the Conservatory in the development of musical skill and culture, and demonstrates that we have amongst us a violin artist who has won a prominent place among violin teachers and virtuosi. While it is true that Miss Choate was the centre of attraction and interest, that is not to detract from the merit of the other elements that contributed to the most interesting programme furnished.

Miss Choate last night showed herself a very clever and intelligent executant and interpreter. Her facile tectinic and confident and authoritative treatment of her selections were well developed in her brilliant performance of Ten Have's caprice, as in her presentation of an encore; her breadth of tone and sympathy were delightfully demonstrated. The versatility of her powers as a violinist was well shown in her triple group number, Musanet's "Elegie," with its pathetic sentiment; the playful vagaries of MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose," and the delicate and graceful number "The Bee"—Schubert, a beautifully executed mimetic composition, played with muted strings. Miss Choate's piece de resistance, "Legende," by Wieniawski, however, gave the fullest scope to her artistry. This difficult, but beautiful, composition, in the minor key, gives full scope to the expression of pathos and interpretative insight, and Miss Choate developed its capabilities in these regards with fine effect. Grace, delicacy and feeling were amply brought out. Th double-stopped passages were beautifully played, and altogether she scored the triumph of the evening with this performance. She was enthusiastically applauded, not in the way of formality, but from genuine appreciation, and was literally showered with flowers. Miss Choate, her friends, the Conservatory, in whose faculty she is the premiere violin teacher, and Peterborough, her home, are to be congratulated upon the splendid demonstration of her artistic possession and promise the evening afforded.

The trio, a bracketted number, "Venetian love song," and "The Gondolier," was excellently given by Miss Choate, violin, Mr. Warren Dean, 'cello, and Miss Hazel Dean, piano. This served to introduce a new artist to the public. Mr. Warren Dean, who, though but a short time under study, has made, as he showed last night, excellent progress. He plays with an efficiency, ease and confidence indicating keen musical perception and creditable musical proficiency.

The elocutionary element was furnished by Miss Beatrice Wellington, of Toronto, whose readings, from grave to gay, were heartily appreciated and rewarded with insistent recalls. Mr. Gordon M. Wright sang two selections with so much acceptance that he had to repeat on both occasions. He is the possessor of a robust and capable bassitone voice, which seems, however, better suited to heroic, than pathetic compositions such as he selected last night.

Special praise is due the Conservatory Orchestra, which opened the concert with a spirited presentation of the "March of the Priests"—Mendelssohn's Athalie—and closed it with a splendid performance of an Il Trovatore selection, including the Miserere scene. Though a slightly heavy undertaking for an amateur orchestra, under Mr. Gliddon's baton it was most creditably performed. The orchestra is a distinct credit to the members, the conductor, the Conservatory, and Peterborough.

Throughout the evening the accompanists were most creditably furnished by Miss Hazel Dean, head of the Kindergarten Department of the Conservatory.

BRONCHITIS COMPLETELY CURED.

St. Jean, P.Q., Jan. 5th, 1910.

Father Morrissey Med. Co. Ltd.,

I can gratefully testify in favor of Father Morrissey's Remedy for Bronchial trouble. I had suffered for some time from Bronchitis, and could get nothing to give me ease, until I tried Father Morrissey's Prescription (No. 10). To my great surprise, after I had taken this remedy I commenced to grow better, and soon after I was completely cured.

Mde. GEORGE DESMARAIS.

Everybody knows that many common roots, barks and herbs contain Nature's own provision for the relief of coughs and colds. It remained for Father Morrissey, with his wonderful medical skill, to combine extracts from these in such a way as to make the most effective cure for all forms of throat and lung troubles.

His prescription, known as "Father Morrissey's No. 10" or "Lung Tonic", stops a cough by curing the inflamed condition of throat or lungs which causes it. It goes a step further, too, and earns its name of "Lung Tonic" by strengthening the weakened parts.

THE ANGEL'S GIFT

A Legend of Gethsemane

Dark is the night, not a star looks down
On the silent garden and sleeping town.
Sad as a dirge is the funeral moan
Of the angel cohorts before the throne,
As they list to thy God-man's cry of pain,
As He wars alone with the weight of sin.
Worn and wearied the watchers sleep,
While Heaven and Hell their vigil keep.

Dread is the vision before Him laid,
Despised by millions, by His own betrayed.
And red is the ground with the crimson rain,
But the Tempter whispers, "'tis all in vain—
The Scourge and the Nails, the Crown and the Cross,
And the Narrow Way—men count it a loss."—
And the demon laughed, "Be wise," quoth he.
"And leave this ungrateful race to me."

High in the heavens, before the throne
The angels cease their funeral moan,
And deep in the abysmal pit of hell,
The demons list for a sign to tell
What the choice will be in this conflict dread
With sin, bereft of all succor and aid,
And the tempter smiled, the angel wept,
As Heaven and Hell their vigil kept.

Down through the night comes an angel fair,
She bears in her bosom a vessel rare.
"See, Master, the sighs and the tears of men,
Through the ages long, who have wept for sin."
And the Tempter laughed, "What is this," quoth he,
"But as summer rain to the boundless sea!
Ah! fool, to die for a traitor race,
That exults in sin and its own disgrace."

Paler the face of the Master now,
And redder the rain on His crimson brow,
Dread is the conflict that rages within,
As He, sinless, wars with the weight of sin,
And up from the town comes the savage cry,
Of the fiendish crowd that would see Him die.
"Father," He whispers, "Thy will be done."
The angel knew that her gift had won.

OUTLOOK IS ROSY.

New French Foreign Minister Has Aggressive Program.

Paris, April 8.—M. Cruppi, in his maiden speech as Minister of Foreign Affairs in the Senate yesterday, made cogent declarations in refutation of the pessimistic criticisms of Senator Adrien Gaudin de Villaine, who asserted that France's foreign policy was decadent.

"When I came to the Foreign Office," said the Minister, "the situation of France from the point of view of foreign politics was not without difficulty, but it would be an exaggeration to speak of anxiety and disquietude. I propose to practice a positive policy of foresight and precision, inspired by the ideal of making France a force in the world."

France's alliance with Russia and her entente with England, continued M. Cruppi, far from being decadent, were daily in most active operation, and formed the basis of the foreign policy of the country. With Germany, he said, France would practice a policy of co-operation, wherever the interests were in common.

"When we have to defend our special interests," declared the Minister, "we will do it with moderation and firmness."

He pointed out that the relations with Italy and Spain were most cordial, and that the coming visit of President Fallieres to Tunis, where he, would be greeted by British and Italian fleets, would contribute greatly to the enhancement of France's prestige abroad.

The situation in Morocco, where the Sultan's throne was again endangered by rebellious tribes, he admitter, was calculated to cause some uneasiness, but he added that in the event of the situation at Fez becoming threatening, all measures within the limits of the prescribed act of Algeciras would be taken to ensure the safety of Europeans.

Murdock Arrested.

Cincinnati, April 8.—Following instructions from the police department of Toronto, John Y. Murdock, formerly an attorney of Port Jarvis, Ont., was arrested here yesterday here yesterday charged with "forgery and defacing of public documents." According to the police Murdock is alleged to have forged notes amounting to $20,000, but according to the man himself the amount involved is only $1,500.

Murdock says that he will waive extradition. Word was received from the Toronto authorities that an officer would reach here to-night to take him back to Canada.

Husband Shadowed Robber.

Cobourg, April 8.—A man, who gave his name as Thomas Douglas, and later when placed under arrest, as John Davidson, entered the residence of Wm. P. Hoskin, on one of the main streets of the town, in broad daylight. He was discovered by Mr. Hoskin and ordered out. He went, and Mrs. Hoskin found that a quantity of jewelry was missing. Mr. Hoskin shadowed the man until he was placed under arrest by Chief of Police Rose. He was brought before Police Magistrate Boggs and remanded until next Wednesday.

SWISS VILLAGE IS ESTABLISHED IN ROCKIES

Unique Plan Carried out by the Canadian Pacific Railway ---Imitation is Complete in Every Detail--The Village Provides Homes for the Guides in the Mountains.

Switzerland is no in America, but those on this continent who wish to have a glimpse of Swiss life in Swiss settings, after a few months, will not have to cross the Atlantic to obtain it. The little European Republic is not to be moved bodily from where it is—though room in plenty could be found for a score or more of Switzerlands in the Canadian Rockies, but a typical Swiss village is to be created that will give visitors to that wonderful sea of mountains a very comprehensive idea of the home, the habits and the customs of the hardy mountaineers from across the sea.

A permanent home for the corps of Swiss guides who are annually brought over by the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. to assist mountain climbers in their ascents is being established by the railway company in a part of the Rockies that will suit their native characteristics and afford them, during months of otherwise comparative idleness, ample opportunities for further development of strenuous outside athletic sports. It will give them and their families a new home in this new land, and, while commencing on an unpretentious scale, will doubtless develop into a large settlement, peopled by a hardy class of self-reliant, adventurous men, who knew the ways to summits of untrod peaks, as the average man knows the highways and byways of his native city. It will add to the picturesqueness of the surroundings, and furnish a pleasing and interesting sight to the great brotherhood of nomads who are continually passing through the mountains on Canada's pioneer transcontinental road. It will be a development of great interest to see this new Switzerland in Canada. The site which has been chosen for the future Swiss villages of Canada lies in the Province of British Columbia on the north side of the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and the first village will be situated at the first western mile stone, adjoining the quaint Canadian Village of Golden. Golden embraces within its borders, the point of union of the Kicking Horse and the Columbia rivers. Here the latter brown, slow and solemn, finds its pulses quickened, the volume of its flow increased, and a change of hue given to the colour of its waters by the tempestuous entrance of the glacial flood of the Kicking Horse, as it speeds on its way from the Great Divide of the Rockies. On ever side of the site mountains of varying contour rise above the small plateau. To the east are the sun-kissed bald peaks of the Rock Mountain range; to the west and to the south are seen the more gradual and well wooded slopes of the Selkirks, which rise in undulating benches to majestic heights while coursing across it in three different directions are the waters of the two noted courses.

Within close range of the western reaches of the Selkirks, on the north bank of the Columbia river lies, sloping to the south, is the old farmstead on which the romance pictured Swiss cottages are to be erected. Along its eastern side looms Hospital Crook, while through the centre trickles a small stream, fed by limpid springs from the foot-hills. The wooded mountains to the south are favourite haunts of deer and bear; the Columbia river teems with fish, which are good for eating; the high rocky peaks to the north, which, for nearly every month in the year, are snow capped, are famous as the home of the mountain goat, mountain sheep, and the grizzly bear. A movement is on foot to try the introduction of chamois into the mountainous region which would give further zest to the sportman's appetite. In the nearby mountain fastnesses, in every direction, there are splendid chances for easy hunting during the proper season, and for snow-shoeing, ski-ing and tobogganing, while skating and curling are already popular pastimes at Golden during the months of snow; further afield are high virgin peaks, yet unclimbed and unnamed, which offer great temptation to the experienced Alpinist.

The new village is to be called "Edelweiss" — the bridal flower of the Swiss—and its location is on a plateau which rises two hundred feet from the bottom lands, and within unobstructed view of the passing trains. The spot is a most picturesque one, the plateau and the hillsides are dotted with clumps of poplar, whose light greenish leaves pleasingly contrast with the darker shades of fir and spruce, these combining to form an unusually pretty picture. The cottages—half a dozen to start with—will naturally be distinctively Swiss in architectural design, construction and surroundings; in fact, they will breath the Swiss atmosphere. In the rich alluvial soil the dwellers wil find opportunities galore for gardening in the small individual holdings, which are attached to the cottages, and these will contribute materially towards the up-keep of the householder, and doubtless will, eventually expand into sources of supply for the profitable local markets.

The Columbia river, which flows from Lake Windmermere and other mother lakes, about one hundred miles south of Golden, is one of the most tortuous water-ways in the world. Its source is northwest, to a point past Golden, called Bont Encampment, where it makes what is called the Big Bend, and turns south again, crossing under the C. P. R. tracks at Revelstoke, the railways having cut across the mountain range to meeet it. From here it flows on into the Arrow Lakes, and into United States territory, finally emptying itself into the Pacific Ocean in Oregon nearly 2,000 miles distant from its meanderings, from its source. Between Golden and Windermere there are splendid roads, now much used by motors, and these will be extended to Banff and Calgary, on the main line of the C.P.R., and to Fort Steel and the Crow's Nest Pass branch of the railway on the south. They will be the great automobile highways for motorists through a region that may well be termed the playground of the world, not the least interesting feature of which will be the new "Edelweiss" and its people.

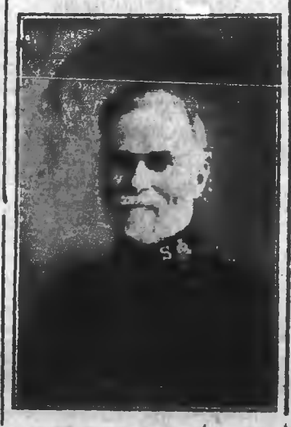
The Coming of The Commissioner



COMMISSIONER DAVID M. REES,

Who has recently been appointed to command the Canadian branch of the Salvation Army, has had a long and very distinguished career as a Salvationist. Born in Reading, England, he as a young man first came in contact with the Army in his native town, in the days when persecution was strong and bitter, as many as sixteen men being taken to the hospital from one open meeting, and one poor fellow being kicked to death. After three years of service as a soldier amidst such stirring scenes, young Rees entered the field as an officer, and had the command of nine different corps prior to his promotion to staff rank. He has since had the command of Scotland, South Africa and Sweden, as well as being for over eight years the principal of the International Training Homes in old London. He was also Field Secretary for Great Britain for some time, and has now been appointed for the second time as Commissioner of the Canadian forces. His reception thus far has been most enthusiastic and the continued progress of the Army in this country is assured while a leader of such deep personal piety and varied experience is at the head of the organization.

GRAND OLD MAN OF THE PRAIRIES

Declares He Owes His Splendid Health to Dodd's Kidney Pills

Suffered for twenty-five years from Rheumatism and Kidney Disease—three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills made him a new man.

Swift Current, Sask., April 7.—(Special.)—Seventy-six years of age, but strong and healthy, Mr. J. P. Lackey of this place is one of the grand old men of the prairies. But Mr. Lackey has not always enjoyed his present health. "For twenty-five years," he says, "I suffered from Rheumatism, which I inherited. I was nervous. My limbs would swell and I had a severe pain across the back. I also had a heavy dragging sensation across the loins. I am a well man to-day and I attribute it all to three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. My Rheumatism and Kidney Disease have entirely disappeared."

Mr. Lackey is showing his appreciation of Dodd's Kidney Pills by buying them and presenting them to his friends. He has joined the great army of those who have learned from their own experience that as a giver of new life to old and young Dodd's Kidney Pills stand without an equal.

PITY THE BABIES

All babies whose mothers do not know about Dr. Chase's Ointment are truly to be pitied. They are sure to have skin troubles of one kind or another such as chafing, skin irritation, scald head, milk rash or baby eczema and nothing can bring them comfort so quickly as Dr Chase's Ointment. It stops itching promptly and heals the skin beautifully.

FUNERAL, TO-DAY

The remains of the late Mrs. Wm Truscott ,who died suddenly in the west ,arrived on the C. P. R. train from Toronto last night. The funeral took place this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the residence of Dr. Scott, a brother of the deceased.—Interment took place at Little Lake cemetery.

The late Mrs. Truscot was in her 47th year and was born in Smith township, where a number of the members of the family still reside. After going to the west she was married to William Truscott, formerly from the vicinity of Port Hope.

Her many friends in this locality will exceedingly regret to hear of her demise, as she was widely known and highly esteemed throughout the district in which she resided, prior to leaving for the west.

BABY ATTRACTED ATTENTION

People Stopped His Mother On The Street.

"Our eldest boy, Maurice, was born at Cheddar, Somerset, England. We put him on Neave's Food when one week old, and he never tasted anything else until his first birthday. When he was 15 months old, we came to Canada, and we kept Maurice chiefly on Neave's Food until he was nearly two years old. And he is one of the bonniest boys I have ever seen. Hundreds of people have remarked on his size. When he was a big baby, people stopped me on the street and in the stores to ask how old Maurice was and what he was fed on. He is very bright and intelligent, and has never had an illness.

Our youngest child, Douglas, is two years old and we put him on Neave's Food when he was a week old and he did just as well on it as Maurice, and is a fine, strong, healthy boy."

GEORGE SIDNEY

As "Busy Izzy" at The Grand Next Wednesday

George Sidney, (Busy Izzy) will pay a visit to the Grand Opera House, on Wednesday Night, April 12th, opening in the second edition of the clever comedy "The Joy Rider." Mr. Sidney takes the part of Busy Izzy Mark, the Joy Rider, which is said to be one of the best parts he has ever played. The new comedy is said to be full of good music with plenty of fun and just enough plot to keep it from appearing silly. Busy Izzy while on a joy ride runs over the pet dog of Merrie Lee, who hires a detective to run him down. Sarah Cutie, matrimonialist, through an advertisement in a newspaper for a husband, brings the unlucky joy rider to her feet; also Ebb Tootle, a farmer who wants to marry and does not care who he gets.

A young man falls in love with Miss Lee, but she refuses to marry him without the consent of his father who is far away. Not wanting to lose her, the young man gets Busy Izzy to impersonate his father and this brings the joy rider and the owner of the dog face to face. The joy rider tries to console her for the loss of her pet and swears vengeance on the man who killed it. At this moment the detective happens along and Busy Izzy is again forced to take to the tall timbers. To make matters worse, the true father of the young man turns up and is repudiated by his son. The many ludicrous situations are productive of much laughter.

Among the principals who help Mr. Sidney in the fun making are: Miss Carrie Webber who is well known to the theatre-going public, Dick Hume, Hudson Freeborn, Winnie Richards, Leona Burrud, Waldo Whipple, Callahan and Lloyd, The Dancing Hogans and Paul Sullivan. Twelve boys and thirty giggly girls make up what is said to be an admirable chorus for the numerous up-to-date songs which are interspersed throughout the play.

PUBLIC LIBRARY NOTES

Many books have been added to the shelves at the Public Library during the last few days. Most of these are in the juvenile department but there are several in the Biographical and Natural History sections which should be a source of enjoyment to lovers of these particular branches of literature. In the account of the life of Captain John Smith, the real founder of Virginia, one of those adventurous souls who helped to make the reigns of Elizabeth and James famous in history, readers will find a very interesting account of a personality well known to students. The story of the devotion of Pocahontas to Smith is one of the most romantic in literature.

English patrons of the Library will be interested in the Highways and Byways series, giving as it does a most graphic account of several of the English counties, affording in fact an illustrated itinerary in which history and anecdote are interspersed in very generous measure. They will be as grateful to the palate of the homesick Old Countryman as the tang of the ocean air to the mariner. Some of the more important books are the following: Bryce's Holy Roman Empire; Plutarch's Lives, 2 vols; Classic Myths, Gayley; Plato's Republic, 2 vols. A complete set of Riley's poems; Goldsmith's complete works; Parkman's complete works; and Nights with Uncle Remus. There are several books that will prove favourites with the boys and girls but they will have to look for them on the shelves in the juvenile portion as lack of space precludes any further mention of them here.

Books that belonged to the old library are still putting in a belated appearance and the librarian once more asks all who have in their possession any such volumes to return them. Up to date about four hundred volumes have been returned.

BRINTON CARPET COMPANY ENTERTAINED EMPLOYEES

Enjoyable Affair Held Last Evening in the Hotel National ---Featured by a Presentation of a Gold Watch to Mr. Wadeley, the Manager.

A most enjoyable event was held at the Hotel National, when the Brinton Carpet Company entertained their employees at a delightful dinner. About seventy gathered around the festive board and the occasion was one of thorough enjoyment and interest, indicating in no uncertain manner the good feeling and spirit of cooperation that exists between employers and employees.

A feature of the evening was the presentation of a very handsome gold watch from the employees of the company to Mr. Wadeley, the manager. Mr. Giles made a suitable speech and then called upon Mr. Pierce to make the presentation.

Mr. Wadeley was taken completely by surprise, but expressed his thanks neatly.

The programme was as follows:

Toast—"The King" by the Chairman.

Toast—"The Brinton Carpet Company," Mr. E. Stansfield.

Responded to by Mr. Wadeley.

Song—Mr. R. Hendry.

Song—Mr. H. Haywood.

Song—Mr. W. Perks.

Song—Mr. B. Sheward.

Song—Mr. S. Curtis.

Toast—"The Land of Our Adoption' Mr. T. Dark.

Song—Mr. E. Yarrington.

Song—Mr. E. Stansfield.

Song—Mr. H. Bayes.

GLADYS SEWARD SCORES TRIUMPH IN GERMANY

Brilliant Young Peterborough Pianist Wins High Praise of German Critics---An Appeal for Aid to Continue Her Musical Studies.

The Examiner has received the following letter, whose import and object explain themselves and constitute an appeal which the music lovers and lovers of Peterborough's musical fame can not easily ignore.

An Appeal.

The Editor of the Examiner,—

Dear Sir,—I should like very much to make an appeal through the columns of your valuable paper, on behalf of Gladys Seward, the Peterborough pianist, now studying in Dresden. Appeals have been made through the press from time to time but lately there has been no response, in fact, nearly all that has been deposited in the bank for months past has been put there by members of the Seward family, who are doing all they can for Gladys. This, however, is not enough, and I appeal to the public spirited citizens of Peterborough to do all they can for this talented young child of genius; Canada is proud of Kathleen Parlow; Canada will be proud of Gladys Seward. More money must be raised, as there is very little left in the bank, and Gladys must have at least two more years of study abroad. Mr. Field writes me that if no more money can be raised in Peterborough the Germans and Americans in Dresden will do something in the matter, but this he considers would be a great slur on the people of Peterborough. It certainly would seem to me to indicate a terrible lack of public spirit in Peterborough citizens it the future of this young artist were left for foreigners to look after. There are many people in Peterborough who could easily give the whole amount without ever feeling the loss. If five people each gave $100, the entire amount would be realized, but there are many people who would probably like to contribute small amounts, so I desire to call to the notice of everyone that the fund is still open and contributions of any amount will be gladly received.

It has been said to me several times by Peterborough people, "Gladys Seward has had help enough, I think, let her show now what she can do!" People who speak in this way cannot surely realize that "Art is long." What has been accomplished by Gladys Seward already has been the result of hard work as well as of great natural talent. What is needed still is work, and the Peterborough girl has shown how she can and does work. Strange to say, the remark mentioned above has always been made by persons who have contributed nothing to the fund!

I do not wish to close without thanking most heartily those who have been so kind in contributing to the fund, and also to many who though unable to help much in a financial way, have been most helpful in encouraging those who are most interested in this undertaking. Those who contributed when the plan of sending Gladys abroad seemed a venture, should be doubly thanked, and no doubt the glowing accounts which we have just received of the success of our Peterborough pianist will be heard with gladness by all.

Let everyone who is interested in this great talent of our city, or in love with music itself (not to mention those people of means who can by giving now help on a deserving cause) please send contributions to the "Gladys Seward Fund" at the earliest possible date.

Let Peterborough claim this talent as her own, and not settle down contentedly letting strangers and foreigners claim her later as theirs, because they have furnished the funds for her education.

Thanking you for your space, Mr. Editor, believe me,

Yours truly,

ALICE ROGER COLLINS.

Mount Forest, April 6, 1911.

Contributions may be left with Messrs. Wainwright, W. H. Hill, or Harry Rush.

What Her Teacher Says.

The following will be read with interest and delight by all who take an interest in the success of one of the cleverest and most promising musicians the city has ever produced.

It will be remembered that Miss Gladys Seward, after being well grounded in the pianoforte by Mrs. Alice Roger Collins, showed such exceptional promise that it was felt that her abilities and proficiency should have opportunities of further development. But as gold and genius are not found often associated, the provision of ways and means beyond the command of Miss Seward's family, were found necessary; and by the liberality of a few generous patrons in Peterborough, Miss Seward went to Dresden, Germany some time ago, and passed under the tutelage of Mr. Harry Field, who occupies, in that city, a prominent place in the foremost ranks of pianoforte pedagogy, even in a land noted for its great music masters. Mr. Field, having knowledge of Miss Seward's ability during his presence in Peterborough, as premier pianoforte master of the Peterborough Conservatory of Music, gladly undertook her instruction, gratis, feeling that the genius, he saw in the child, inherited from her father, the late Lewis Seward, would, when developed, reflect credit and glory upon teacher, as well as pupil. And he has not been disappointed. The child has appreciated her opportunities, and has shown intelligent application and interest in her work, with a result in pianoforte proficiency, that has not only won the applause of the most exacting and able German critic, but has kindled the pride of her teacher in the development of the genius of his pupil. The following letter, written by Mr. Field to Mrs. Collins, expresses not only his satisfaction with the result of Miss Seward's studies, but his enthusiasm of belief in the splendid musical future that lies before her in case she is able to pursue her musical studies of the requisite point.

Dresden, 15, 3, 11.

My Dear Mrs. Collins,—It is with great satisfaction and pleasure that I can report to you that your old pupil, Gladys Seward, had a great triumph last Saturday night in Gewerbehaus, where she played the E Minor Chopin Concerto, as well as solo pieces. She was not at all nervous, and for one so young did wonders. The criticisms are splendid. I am waiting for two more and then I shall send them to you. You would have been proud of her. She surprised them all and now no one can touch her of her own age, and many developed artists cannot hold a candle to her. She now has to work to develop intensity, depth, etc.

I am going to arrange for her to play in Berlin and other places in the fall. How about the fund? Have people responded well, or are they not going to help any more? If they do not it will be a disgrace. Mr. Wright, the Presbyterian clergyman, has asked me about it, as he is interested in Gladys, and would do all in his power to help.

Kindest regards from mother and me to you all.

Yours sincerely,

(Signed) HARRY FIELD.

From time to time during her studies, Miss Seward has appeared in recital, and has given astonished delight by the merit of her performance, and the virtiosity, insight and spirit of her playing.

On the 11th of last month, she appeared, evidently as the main artistic feature at a grand symphony concert.

What the Critics Say.

The following critical eulogies say more than other words of praise:

From the "Guide to Dresden."

March 16th, 1911.

The symphony concert in the Gewerbehaus on Saturday, March 11th, drew a large and distinguished audience. Everybody took keen interest in the young and gifted piano virtuoso, Miss Gladys Seward, "of only sweet sixteen," who for the first time with orchestral accompaniment, played Chopin's E Minor Concerto, as should be stated here, with tremendous success for one so young. This talented Canadian girl, who studied with Mr. Harry Field, owns all the advantages of his excellent school, a clear singing (and also ringing) tone, full of expression and individual colour—a brilliant technic and physical strength. She is sure of a big future, for she has all those qualities that go towards the making of an artist, including temperament, and no sign of nervousness. Miss Seward seems perfectly at home on the concert platform, the audience apparently does not exist to her. Hence the freedom of execution and abandon of which many artists should envy her. The girl-pianist further played some soli, such as the Faust Waltz by Gounod-Liszt—a marvellous rendition—as well as Schutt's "Au Ruisseau," for which she was so heartily applauded that she had to give an encore. Alvin Kranich's most attractive composition, "Intermezzo," which should be widely known as a valuable addition to concert programmes. At the close flowers, bouquets and wreaths rewarded the young debutante, who surely is so much of an artist that she knows this first success means only an encouraging beginning, which will lead to further study to achieve greater heights and additional good results on her path to final achievements in art."

Translated from the Ddesden "Lokal Auzeiger," Friday, March 17, 1911.

"On Saturday at the Gewerbehaus concert, a young piano virtuoso, scarcely more than a child, played with astonishing skill and emotion, Chopin's E Minor Concerto, (with orchestral accompaniment.) This highly gifted girl, Gladys Seward, is conspicuous in the well known school of Harry Feld. She did great credit to her teacher and also at the same time made a name for herself which, with her personality, we shall hear of again. She displayed artistic freedom and inspiration, and after more study will surely be heard of again. Her solos brought her also much well deserved applause, and so many recalls that it is to be hoped her head will not be completely turned."

Translated from the Dresden "Nachrichten," March 14, 1911.

"At the last symphony concert at the Gewerbthaus we made the acquaintance of Gladys Seward, a still very young and promising pianist, pupil of Mr. Harry M. Field. The artist showed by means of much well developed talent, that she possesses taste and skill and a clean touch. Her playing was marked by vigorous swing and rythmic energy. Some slight imperfections in her work will be overcome by persistent effort. However, the rendering of Chopin's E Minor Concerto (with orchestral accompaniment) was an imposing number. Miss Seward is still too much of a virtuoso, who likes to play rather for effect. She strikes the audience with her technical abilities, but she does not satisfy the treasure seeker. The "Faust" waltz by Gounod-Liszt is certainly her uncontested domain. Ed. Schutt's "Au Ruisseau" was an acceptable number. The harvest of flowers and laurel leaves, and the enthusiastic applause, were exceptionally great."

"At the Saturday symphony concert in the Gewerbehaus we were delighted to make the acquaintance of a young and talented pianist, Miss Gladys Seward. She did great credit to Mr. Harry Field, whose pupil she is. She played musically, surely and with poetic feeling (romance) Chopin's E Minor Concerto, with orchestra, and also solo numbers by Ed. Schutt and Gounod-Liszt, and as an encore an intermezzo by Kranich."

Translated from the Dresden "Auzeiger," of March 15, 1911.

"The symphony concert of the Gewerbehaus on Saturday, was of great interest. It brought to our notice the young pianist, Gladys Seward, who played with great success the Chopin E Minor Concerto (with orchestral accompaniment), as well as solo numbers by Schutt and Gounod-Liszt. After repeated encores she played an extra number, an intermezzo by Kranick. Miss Seward is a pupil of Harry M. Field."

A SPLENDID LECTURE GIVEN BY MISS WARD

Closing Meeting for the Season of the Ladies' Literary Society of St. Peter's T. A. S. Was a Great Success.

A SPLENDID PROGRAMME

The closing meeting of the St. Peter's Ladies' Literary Society, was held last evening at St. Alphonsus' Lyceum. The only number on the programme was a vocal solo by Miss Florence Lahey, which was much enjoyed. Miss L. Hurley was the accompanist.

Miss Ward then read a paper on the life and works of Brother Azarias. The paper was very interesting, especially the part in which Miss Ward reviewed the work of Brother Azarias entitled "Books and Reading."

Brother Azarias, who was known in the world as Patrick Francis Mullaney, was born in the year 1847, in the county of Tipperary, and came to America when 10 years of age. His home in America was in Deerfield, a small village in Central New York, made notable by the residence of Horatio Seymour, who figured prominently in the history of his time, both as the war governor of his state and as the leader of the Democratic party. Oppression at the time was bitter and rampant in Ireland and steadily the emigrants poured into the United States. Mournful as this seemed at hrs to the Irish, at the last it was most mournful to the English. Very quietly the exiles made their way into the country, settled where wages were good and work plentiful, and thus filled the New England States, the Middle States and the West. To quote from John Abbott, "Little by little they crept into every walk of life, until their representatives held positions very near the throne; and, some day, a capable enthusiastic historian will trace their course from the shovel and the pick to the Cabinet, and show the far-reaching effect upon English influences and American thought of the Irish current, so mercilessly forced into the western seas by the nation that has suffered most and must suffer on, for many a decade for its crime."

The Mullaney boys received their early training in the union school at Deerfield, and afterwards at the Brothers' school at Utica, three miles distant. In this latter school Patrick Mullaney distinguished himself as its most clever pupil. He was a boy who loved books, who read widely and well and, as he read, he kept his pencil and notebook ever at hand. He frequently appeared in public as the representative of his school and in all educational contests he came out a victor. When he was scarcely fifteen years of age he decided to devote himself to the religious teaching of the young, as a follower of La Salle. The lowly life of the teaching monk was his choice—a life of utter self-abnegation. After spending three years at the college in Utica, he left for the novitiate of the Christian Brothers in New York and, when not quite eighteen years of age, Brother Azarias was allowed to make his vows. His first work was the teaching of little boys in the primary schools. However, he was soon sent to teach in the city of Albany, and from there he was sent in 1868 to Rock Hill College, a few miles from Baltimore, where he stayed twenty years.

From 1868 to 1879, he lived the simple life of a teaching monk, varied by attacks of illness, by productions of his books and a visit to Europe. When he was thirty-two years of age his superiors appointed him head of the Rock Hill College, at Ellicott City, Indiana. Although his writings had won for him great eminence and his future promised to be brilliant, yet he was the same gentle, unassuming Brother. In the social condition of Baltimore district he became a person of eminence, counting among his admirers President Gillman, Archbishop Bayley, Cardinal Gibons and Archbishop Keane. His work was carried on amid many discouragements, of which ill health was the most serious.

During the last few years of his life he won many laurels as an orator. He lectured before a Catholic Congress held in Chicago in 1893, addressed the Parliament of Religions, which was part of the celebration in honour of Columbus' discovery of America, and delivered a course of lectures before a summer school of Philosophy in the Adirondacks. In the summer of 1893, Brother Azarias again became ill, and never recovered. Thus, after a novitiate of 32 years on earth, he passed away on August 20, 1893, to his Lord, in whose footsteps He had so faithfully walked. His funeral sermon was preached by his intimate friend, Rev. Father McMahon, who took for his text, "I am Azarias, the help of God, son of the great Ananias." His body was taken by his relatives, with the kind permission of his superiors, and laid beside the bodies of his father and mother in the little cemetery of Deerfield.

Father McColl was then called upon to address the society. He congratulated Miss Ward on her splendid paper and hoped that those present would become more familiar with the works of Brother Azarias and would always be careful in the choice of their reading matter. He also congratulated the officers and committee of the Literary Society on the year's work. He said that although they were not as successful financially as in other years still they had had successful meetings.

Rev. Father McCarthy also spoke a few words. He said he was sorry the meetings were over but that he knew that everyone would be ready to enjoy them again next year.

The officers of the Society wish to thank all those who have shown an interest in their work and also the Review and the Examiner who have so kindly published the reports.

The meeting then closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

ARRESTED IN HAVELOCK

An unknown man was arrested today in Havelock on a charge of theft and was brought to Peterborough on the 4.36 C.P.R. train this afternoon, when County Magistrate Edmison will hold a special session to hear the case. It seems that the man spent the night a tIndian River, and after he departed this morning it was discovered that a sum of money was missing. Constable Whibbs telegraphed to Havelock to head off the suspect, and he was arrested on his arrival there by Constable Bennett. Constable Whibbs 'phoned High County Constable Cochrane for instructions and was ordered to bring his man to Peterborough on the afternoon train.

NEW SCALE WILLIAMS PIANO

MISCHA ELMAN, the Great Russian Violinist has been greeted by large audiences wherever he has appeared and has written the following letter about the "New Scale Williams."

"In leaving Canada, after this my second tour here, I do so with many feelings of appreciation, and foremost among these is the delight obtained from the use of the New Scale Williams Piano. As you know, this instrument was used at all of my concerts in both tours in Canada, and blended so perfectly, and was in every way so satisfactory with its full rich tone, that I cannot say enough in praise—only to call it perfect."

When great artists repeatedly choose the New Scale Williams Piano to assist them, it proves that they find all those wonderful tonal qualities, the strength and ability to blend perfectly with the human voice, the violin, or any instrument the artist may use to demonstrate his marvellous gifts of interpretation.

TOM KENNEDY'S CHANCE

A Short Story

It was at Isidor's restaurant in the quartier Latin that Tom Kennedy told me the queer story which I now repeat, as nearly as possible in his own words.

I am an unlucky beggar, if ever there was one; everything falls flat directly I come into it. If I get an order to paint a portrait my sitter dies or gets the smallpox before the likeness is sketched in, if one of my pictures sells in an exhibition the buyer goes bankrupt before he pays me. The Jews would call me a Schlemyl. I had a chance once of making a small fortune in three months, but as usual something went wrong at the last. It was a mysterious business that; I've never been able to make it out. I'll tell you the story. It happened years ago, so I don't think I need hold my tongue any longer; and you journalistic fellows are so sharp you may be able to understand what it was all about.

My chance found me out here, in this little student's "joint," where such of us artists as are too poor to be proud, put up with old Isidor's sanded floor and American cloth table covers for the sake of his dinners at 1 franc 15 cents, and long credit at that. Dinner time was past, and the place was emptying; the fellows were off to the cafes or the theatres, or to make jovial fools of themselves at Bullier's or the Chat noir, but I sat on. I had not even five sous in my pocket to pay for a bock at a brasserie. That was one of the worst winters I ever passed, and God knows I have lived down hard ones. But for brave little Isidor I should have starved "bel et bien," but the good fellow never seemed to remember when the end of the month came round; most of the habitues are "au mois" here. Well, here I sat, listening to the bump of the swing-doors as the fellows pushed through them into the street, and aimlessly watching the monumental figure of Madame Isidor enthroned behind her zinc counter where she was arranging the day's takings in little heaps—sous, francs, five franc pieces, each in a little heap to itself. Isidor had vanished into the kitchen at the back; I caught glimpses of him through the half-open door helping the cook to wash up. A feeling of shame added to my depression. What right had I to sponge on the generosity of this kind-hearted pair?

There was a pistol at my studio. I had been about to carry it to the Monte de piete that day, but kept it—in case.

Just then I turned my head involuntarily and met the glance of a pair of piercing black eyes. I had thought that I was the last man in the restaurant, but it was not so; a little old man with a formidable hook nose was sitting in the far corner. He was so utterly unlike the Jrequenters of Isidor's that the sight of him gave me a shock.

"A confounded moneylender looking after some poor devil," I muttered, turning more entirely away from him, and looking out into the street, where the silhouettes of passers-by blurred and swelled by the steamy glass, hurried along in the yellow gaslight. But I seemed still to feel his gaze at the back of my neck. I could not sit still under it, and I jumped up and went out. It was a cold, dreary November evening, a thin, half-frozen rain stung my face; I had no overcoat, and should soon be wet through, and then the cold, dark studio and the pistol on the shelf.

"The devil does not trouble to buy souls nowadays; they give themselves gratis."

Some such thought was in my mind as I came to the corner where the Boulevards St. Michael and Montparnasse intersect. Across the open space the lights of the Bal Bullier sent gloomy rays into the dark night air, and from the open door of the Cafe des Lilas came sounds of laughter and the click of the billiard balls.

On I went towards the cemetery Montparnasse, near which, in a dismal little "impasse," my studio was hidden away.

All at once I felt impelled to look round, as I had done at Isidor's, and there in the nearly deserted road, a few steps behind me, an old man in a long great coat shuffled along in the rain. I could not distinguish his features, but something in his aspect made me think of the strange being who had gazed so persistently at me in the restaurant. I walked on, but the doubt worried me, and I stood still under the next lamp, and awaited him. It was the same man. I was in no humor for trifling, and said abruptly:

"May I enquire, Monsieur, why you do me the honour of dogging my footsteps?"

Not the least disconcerted by my bluntness the stranger replied: "I have a communication to make to you."

"Well, out with it," I said impatiently.

He looked round warily; two figures pressed together under an umbrella shuffled on as they hastened by.

"Our talk must be private. Will you take me where we can speak without interruption?"

Mysterious and uncanny, the old fellow fitted my mood. I was too played out to be afraid of anything, and any company was better than my own thoughts. In five minutes we were in my studio, and a hastily lit lamp sent up a film of ill-smelling smoke between us as we stood facing each other. I remember noticing how the white limbs of a new life study showed up out of the gloom in which the flickering light left the rest of the studio.

Laying a claw-like hand on my sleeve the stranger said slowly, still fixing me with his glittering eyes:

"Young man, do you wish to earn 100,000 francs?"

I jumped as if he had stung me. Upon my soul, I thought Satan was there before me in person—somehow Peer Gynt's "He is not economical" flashed through my mind. You won't think much of my principles when I tell you my answer was prompt.

"Of course I do."

"That's all right." My tempter, as I now regarded him, drew a long breath and looked curiously round the studio, its desolation impressing him agreeably; dropping his hesitating, cautious manner, he became keen, insinuating and business-like.

"You are the man a bold and admirable project has been awaiting. Those for whom I act require three months of your time, during which you will make a journey on our business. An advance of 5,000 francs will be made to you for preliminary expenses. With it you will free yourself from all ties and get an outfit for a voyage to a hot country. We give you two days for the preparations, and on Friday evening (this is Wednesday) you will meet me at the Gare St. Lazare, where further instruction will be given to you."

"Convince me of two things—that I am not to be required to commit murder, and that the money is safe, and I'm your man," I answered.

"Have you ink and paper here?" inquired the tempter.

I fetched what he required, and he wrote a few words which he enclosed in an envelope; then he fumbled in his pocket, and produced a bulky pocketbook, from which he took five bank notes. He laid them carefully on the table, and I saw that each was for 1,000 francs. For the life of me I could not command my countenance, though I knew that his cunning eyes were watching the effect the sight of so much money would produce on me.

"I trust you," he croaked: "there are the means for releasing you from all claims which might embarrass your movements. To-morrow morning take this letter to the address on the envelope, and your scruples and doubts will, I hope, be removed. And now good-night; we meet again on Friday at five p.m." He was gone, and I stood looking at the bank notes, scraps of paper which meant a renewal of life and hope to me. I took up the envelope: it was addressed to one of the most important Jewish banking houses in Paris.

When I woke next morning, I fancied I must have had a weird dream: but there beside me lay the bank notes and the letter, present facts to reassure me.

Before the doors of the bank were opened, I was walking up and down in front of them, and when a little later I stood in the outer office, with clerks scribbling on all sides, and customers coming and going, all seemed so commonplace and everyday that my fancies of the night before died away, and only a feeling of mystification remained. The letter was carried into an inner sactum, and almost immediately I was conducted thither, where among luxurious surroundings a florid young junior partner with a big diamond shirt-stud entertained me with remarks on the pictures handicaps, and seemed disappointed to hear that I was no sportsman. The head of the firm soon came in, looking just like the rich, respectable Jew he was. I had expected some confidential explanations, but nothing of the sort was forthcoming. In the most matter of fact manner an agreement already drawn out was signed and witnessed, and by it I was credited to 100,000 francs on the conclusion of my engagement, from one Aaron Rosenblum that day three months. Another document stating that the money was deposited in his bank was signed by the banker. I know nothing about business, but it all seemed fair and square and I had only to look round to see I was not in a place where a vulgar swindle would be hatched.

I never enjoyed anything more in my life than I did that day and the next. After not knowing where to turn for 4 sous to pay for a cup of coffee, to go in and out of shops strewing money about, does a fellow good, I can tell you, and the excitement and the spice of adventure added to the charm. I paid up Isidor and gave a dinner to a dozen fellows, and told them that a rich relation had died and left me some money and that I was off next day to the funeral.

When my cab drove up to the Arc St. Lazare next day I found the old tempter on the steps. He took me by the arm, and said:

"I have your ticket, my man will register your luggage, and meantime I have a word to say to you."

He led me out, and we walked slowly up the narrow street that flanks the station. I saw he was scanning my face nervously. My heart beat a bit quicker. I felt I was on the brink of a revelation. He began in a harsh, croaky whisper:

"When you arrive at the port to which this steamer ticket franks you, a person will board the steamer asking for Brown, agent for Rosenblum, of Paris, you will leave the ship with him and he will put you in the way of fulfilling our purpose. You are to take the place of a prisoner, unjustly condemned, and whose release will be applauded by all just men. Bush! don't speak hastily, let me explain further. The jailors are bought, the whole plan complete, except one link. A man like enough to the prisoner to deceive the governor on his night rounds. You are that man."

There was a silence, the eye of the tempter never left me as I totted up the account.

"And suppose next morning when they discover the mistake, they hang me on the nearest gallows?"

"The danger is infinitesimal. The jailor will let you out by the same way he has already let out the true prisoner; you may be arrested somewhere as the real man, but you will have papers to prove that you are a harmless commercial agent travelling on business. In the meantime our man will have got the necessary 12 hours' start, which is all he will need to get aboard a yacht cruising round awaiting him."

"And if the governor finds out the imposture?"

"He will not. He believes the prison impregnable, and merely inspects as part of his duty, just a passing glance by lamplight believe me you are quite safe on that head. Your resemblance to the prisoner is extraordinary."

I was not the dupe of his arguments. I saw the risk I was to run clearly enough, but after all, 100,000 francs could not be gained without some drawbacks. I accepted the job, and we walked back to the Gare together.

Then came the "Schlemylade," the breakdown that comes to everything I have a hand in."

As we mounted the flight of steps leading to the salle d'attente a gentleman leaning against the railing saluted my guide.

"Excuse me for a moment, I must speak to a friend:"

I strolled on to the bookstall, and spent a few minutes laying in a stock of books and papers for the journey. When the tempter joined me, his first words shattered my home of cards.

"Our project is abandoned."

"How—what—"

"News has just reached us that a revision of the prisoner's sentence will be granted. The news will not be made public for some time, but our information is sure. No attempt at evasion will now be made."

"And all my time—my trouble—my—my—"

"We offer you our sincerest apologies, and," here the wily, insinuating tone reappeared, and he almost embraced me in his deprecatory excuses, "we are ready to do anything we can to idemnify you for putting you to so much inconvenience. You are freed from all embarassments, packed ready for a journey; would now would a journey to Italy, the land of art, and sun, be any compensation to you? If so—a ticket to any Italian town and a further 5,000 francs for expense during the winter are at your disposal."

Of course, I saw that he wished to get me out of the way for a bit, but one of my dreams was to see the mosaics of Ravenna, and I told him so. He fell into the plan at once, and took me to the Gare de Lyon, and saw me off for Italy.

As you may imagine the 5,000 francs lasted me longer than the winter. I wandered on down the Adriatic shore, got round to Capri, in fact I am only just back, so after all I did get something out of the business though not what I hoped.

"Has it never occurred to you to try to get to the bottom of the mystery?"

"Not much. I did call round at the bank when I got back, and asked to see that junior partner just out of curiosity. But you never saw anybody so politely forgetful—he really remembered nothing whatever about the business—but then they were engaged in so many important affairs. And he bowed me out, feeling a perfect fool for having come there at all."

"The Liver Pills act So Naturally and Easily."

Such a statement, coming from the cashier of a bank, shows what confidence responsible people have in these pills. Mr. A. L. Wilson after trying them wrote:

"I have used Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills and also your Anti-Pain Pills, on myself, with good results. The Liver Pills act so naturally, and so easily that I scarcely know that I have taken a pill. Frequently being troubled with headache I take an Anti-Pain Pill and get immediate relief in every case."

A. L. Wilson, Sparta, Ill.

Mr. Wilson was for a number of years cashier of the First National Bank of Sparta.

Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills are different from others. Many kinds of liver pills are "impossible" after one trial on account of their harshness. Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills do not act by sheer force but in an easy, natural way, without griping or undue irritation. They are not habit forming.

about which we hear so much, does not mean living on one food exclusively, but on foods that harmonise.

Certain elements of nutrition are essential to health, but all these elements cannot be obtained from any one food—hence the necessity of a variety.

Deficiency of one or more of these elements, such as iron, for instance, in the blood, will cause anaemia, run-down condition and sleeplessness.

If you are one of the unfortunates who have drifted into this state, change your diet, eat foods that are rich in the mineral elements of nutrition, and take Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, which contains no oil and supplies iron to the blood in the most easily assimilated form.

Vinol creates an appetite, aids digestion, makes pure, healthy blood. In this natural manner it builds up the run-down, weak and debilitated. If you don't find this to be a fact we will return your money if you will try a bottle. What Do You Think of This?

How often we hear men say, "Yes, I'd insure my life if I was only sure I could keep it up. I could pay it alright as long as I had my health, but if sickness or accident laid me low I would have to give it up and lose the protection just at the time I needed it most." Now, the issues a policy just to suit such a case. Under this policy, should the assured become totally and permanently disabled from any cause, the policy is kept in force during such disability, without any lien or charge against it. Or, in lieu of this, the Company will commence forthwith to pay to the assured one twentieth of the policy each year for twenty years. Should the assured die before the twenty annual payments have been paid, the remaining instalments will be paid to such beneficiary as the assured may designate.

SUN LIFE

Assurance Company of Canada

Is not this the Climax of Liberality? The Sun Life live up to its motto of "Prosperous and Progressive." Investigate this proposition before insuring.

HILLIARD LANG AND JOE LANNON BOX LIVELY DRAW

Splendid Programme of Boxing Bouts in the Grand Opera House Last Night Under the Auspices of the Peterborough Athletic Club---Crowd Was Pleased With the Splendid Card Provided.

Hilliard Lang of Toronto vs. Joe Lannon of Syracuse—six rounds to a draw.

Fred Crompton vs. Ted. Picton—five rounds to a draw.

Tommy Sturch of Toronto, outpointed J. Moore, of Montreal, in five rounds.

Although no decisions were given in last night's splendid boxing card at the Grand Opera House, under the auspices of the Peterborough Athletic Club, the above summary pretty well sums up the popular verdict of the five hundred fight fans present. The programme was about the classiest in its line ever seen here and the patrons got the worth of their money down to the last nickel. Four grand bouts were included in the bill, the result being just what was promised—an evening of good, clean sport, and Manager Breen is to be congratulated upon the card he provided, and for the manner in which the advance notices were lived up to.

Hilliard Lang, the welterweight champion of Canada, who is very much in the limelight at the present time, and Joe Lannon, of Syracuse, N.Y., met in the main bout of the evening and the fans were given a very pretty mill, with honours even. It was a speedy, clever exhibition all the way through, with both boys willing and strong, and at the end of the sixth there could be no other decision than a draw. Lang was undoubtedly the prettier and more polished of the pair, showing a shifty, clever defence and a lightning attack, but Lannon, a rangy, long-armed boxer, with a wallop in either hand, proved an awkward proposition for the Toronto boy. He did not back up in the least and the pair met half way, exchanging punches at times in a manner that brought the crowd to its feet. Lannon had plenty of steam behind his drives, and they were generally well timed as well. He several times surprised Lang with some "one-two" stuff that kept him busy but his clever defence saved him from getting very much damaged, while he was doing some pretty jabbing on his own account, especially with the left. There was little to choose between the pair on the showing made. Lang gave away six or seven pounds, and the weight advantage helped the boy from across the line considerably.

From the start it was lively. For the first minute of the opening round they sparred for a line on each other and then they cut loose. Both were willing to mix and the going was fast all the way, giving Referee Frank Carroll, a busy time keeping them from exchanging wallops in the clinches. Both were fresh and going strong on end and the only verdict that could have been given had it been possible to make a decision was a draw.

Some Splendid Preliminaries.

There was class to the preliminaries as well, the whole bill being above the average.

The semi-final wind-up brought together Ted Picton and Fred Crompton, of Toronto, and it was a strenuous affair throughout, the pair slugging hammer and tongs through the last four rounds. The opener was tame, without an effective blow landed, but from the start of the second round they mixed it for fair. A couple of punches exchanged in a clinch started the fun and they went after each other with blood in their eyes, hammering and pelting and jabbing at both long and and short range, and Referee Carroll was the busy party for a while keeping them apart. In breaking up one of the little hugging, slugging features a hay-maker from Crompton going at express speed, missed his jaw by a scant inch. Had it landed he would have lost all interest in the proceedings for a few moments at least. They kept up the hammering stuff until the final gong and the going was about even Stephen. Crompton was a shade the cleverer, but it was equalized by the steam behind Picton's jolts. The crowd enjoyed the bout immensely, and the applause was vigorous as the pair climbed over the ropes.

Sturgh Was Shifty.

Tommy Sturch of Toronto and G. Moore of Montreal, furnished a clever scientific bout, with the honours going to the Toronto boy, who is about as shifty a little fighter as has ever been seen here. He bobs around the ring like a ball of mercury, has a complete defence and a half dozen different modes of attack, while his foot-work is very fast. He was too clever for Moore, although it is but just to the latter to say that he was ill all day yesterday and was not seen at his best. He was game, however, and the boys handed out a pretty exhibition. The first two rounds were even, the pair starting cautiously, but Sturch assumed the aggressive in the third, and from then on had the better of the argument. He went in on Moore time after time with a couple of lively jabs and either avoided the exchange, or took it going away, without being damaged. It was easily Sturch's decision had one been given.

The curtain raiser brought together two clever 115 pounders, Jack Walton of Hamilton and Jim Peters of Toronto, and the latter had the better of the argument. He had the condition and this about won for him, as Walton would undoubtedly be an awkward proposition when in shape. He had a terrific right uppercut that shot Peter's head back several times, but the Toronto boy took the swings without any apparent injury and kept jabbing Walton repeatedly, having all the better of the first, fourth and fifth rounds and a shade in the other two.

Tommy Sturch, the shifty little Toronto Boxer, who outpointed Moore of Montreal in a 5 Round Preliminary last night

Tom Flanagan was unable to get away to act as referee, but a capable substitute was fortunately available in the person of Mr. Frank Carroll of Toronto, the well-known boxer.

The officials were:

Timers—Arthur Johnston, Eugene Hurtubise.

Referee—Frank Carroll, Toronto.

Announcer—W. Breen.

The Buckley Guarantee ensures Satisfaction —or a new hat free.

A hat needs a guarantee.

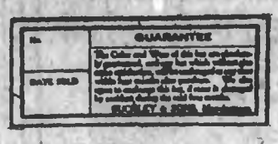
More easily than any other article of apparel, a hat can deceive its purchaser—look right without being right.

Clothes, or shoes, or ties, you can "size up"—a hat, you can not.

For instance, almost everyone knows enough about tweeds to tell whether a suit will wear well.

With hats it is different. Who can "size up" a hat? Who can tell whether it will wear three months, or "look seedy" after one month?



Few can tell a hat's real worth without knowing what goes into its making. None can tell exactly but the manufacturer. He knows better than anyone how long his product will wear—and, if he believes in his hats he ought to be willing to guarantee them.

Buckley Hats are guaranteed. The men that make them believe they'll wear longer than any other hat that's made—and in proof of that belief the makers attach their guarantee for four months. If you buy a Buckley hat to-day, and, any time within the next four months, you find your hat losing color or showing signs of wear, take it to your dealer and he will cheerfully, unhesitatingly exchange it. The Buckley guarantee, moreover, assures you against hat accidents — it's so sweeping as to include even that contingency.

Union made, and of highest grade felt, it is produced in a wide variety of styles to suit all physical types and to conform to latest fashion tendencies. The price is only $2.50.

Delivery Waggon Caught in a Hole on the Street

Mr. Fred Larush, driver for J. W. Edwards, the George street butcher, had a narrow escape from serious injury this morning when driving along Park street. The wheels of his waggon caught in a hole near the C. G. E. gate and the rig broke into two, throwing the driver out on the road, both knees being hurt, while the waggon was damaged. He clung to the lines, however, and prevented a runaway.

This is an acute inflammation of the mucous membrane lining the air tubes in the lungs.

The disease begins with a tightness across the chest, difficulty of breathing, hoarseness, and there is a dry, harsh, croupy cough.

After a few days mucous begins to be raised. This is at first white, but later of a greenish or yellowish color and is occasionally streaked with blood.

Cure the first symptoms of Bronchitis by the use of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and thus prevent it becoming chronic and perhaps turning to Consumption.

Mrs. D. J. McCormack, Cleveland, N.S., writes: "My little boy, two years old, caught a bad cold which developed into Bronchitis. He was so choked up he could hardly breathe. Reading about your wonderful medicine, Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, I decided to try a bottle, and with such good result I got another which completely cured him, without having a doctor. I cannot say too much in its praise and would not be without it in the house as I consider it a sure cure for Colds and Bronchitis.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 25 cents.

One Fourth of All the Motor Cars Built in America in 1911 Will Be

FORD Model T's.

It has been estimated by Motor Car Manufacturers that 150,000 automobiles will be built in 1911. Out of this immense quantity 37,500 will be Ford Model T's built by the Ford Motor Co.

There is a reason for this exceptionally large number of Fords and Ford popularity.

The demand for a Ford design and Ford quality has been so great that a yearly output of over 30,000 Model T's has been required to supply the demand of buyers.

Ford design and construction, Ford quality in material, strength, durability and service, Economy in Up-keep are features that have caused Ford to manufacture this season One Fourth of all the cars built in America. Call and See Them.

Rev. I. Couch was the officiating clergyman. They were unattended.

Immediately after the ceremony they ileft on an extensive European trip and on their return in July, will reside at the corner of King and Park streets.

OBITUARY

GEORGE CARTON.

In the death of Mr. George Carton, Peterborough has lost a highly respected citizen of sterling worth. Deceased, who was in his 56th year, passed away last night after an illness of but one week.

The late Mr. Carton was born in Streetsville, 1855 and was a son of the late David Carton. Twenty-eight years ago he moved to this city and was engaged in active business, having conducted a grocery establishment where the drug store of McDermid and Jury now stands. Laterly he was engaged in the real estate business. A characteristic of the deceased both in business and private life, was his sterling integrity and strict honesty in all personal and business matters. A sorrowing widow and one daughter are left to mourn his loss. The daughter is Miss Pearl of this city. Four brothers and three sisters also survive. The sisters are Mrs. James Kylie, of this city, Mrs. R. McClintock, of Streetsville and Mrs. D. Carew of Vancouver. The brothers are Matt and Ralph of this city, John and Thomas of St. Johns, Washington.

The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon from the family residence, George street, and proceed to Little Lake cemetery for interment. The Rv. I. Couch will officiate. The funeral will be private. Please omit flowers.

MR. JAMES CHANDLEY.

There passed away this morning at his home, lot 1, concession 4, Ennismore, one of the most highly respected residents of that township in the person of Mr. James Chandley. Mr. Chandley had been ill only four days, suffering from an acute attack of pneumonia. He leaves a widow to mourn his loss.

Some time ago Mr. Chandley retired from the farm and removed to Peterborough where he resided for a couple of years. Later, tiring of city life, he returned to Ennismore and purchased his present home. Mr. Chandley was sixty-three years of age and had lived in Ennismore practically all his life. He was esteemed by all who knew him for his good qualities, and was an excellent neighbour.

The funeral takes place from the family residence, lot 1, concession 4, Monday morning at nine o'clock and proceeds to St. Martin's church and thence to St. Martin's cemetery for interment.

It seems almost a sacrilege that the same walls that only a few days ago echoed the glorious music of the Hallelujah Chorus, last night resounded with the yells of the fanatical fans of putative pugnacious pugilists.

Will the Board of Health kindly remove, as soon as possible, the piles of refuse adorning the river side on Water street? The effluvium arising therefrom is already decidedly noxious and will become positively dangerous in a few days.

NEW STRENGTH IN THE SPRING

Nature Needs Aid in Making New Health Giving Blood

In the spring the system needs toning up. To be healthy and strong you must have new blood, just as the trees must have new sap to renew their vitality. Nature demands it, and without this new blood you will feel weak and languid—you may have twinges of rheumatism or the sharp stabbing pains of neuralgia. Often there are disfiguring pimples or eruptions on the skin. In other cases there is merely a feeling of tiredness and a variable appetite. Any of these are signs that the blood is out of order—that the indoor life of winter has lessened your vitality. What is needed to put you right is a tonic, and in all the world of medicine there is no tonic can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. These Pills actually make new, rich, red blood—your greatest need in the spring. This new blood drives out disease, clears the skin and makes weak, easily tired men, women and children, bright, active and strong. You can prove this by your neighbours for there is not a nook or corner in this great land where some weak, ailing man or woman has not been made well and strong by this great medicine. Mr. H. Wilson, Stonewall, Man., says: "Some years ago I was run down, languid and depressed and felt as though I was only fitted for life's scrap heap. A friend who had great faith in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills gave me a box. Before they were all used I felt some better, and thus encouraged got a further supply, and it was not many weeks until I was again enjoying my former good health. I think Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a boon to every weak person."

Sold by all medicine dealers, or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

STRIKE IS IMMINENT

10,000 Men Will Be Affected If C. P. R. Machinists Go Out

Special to the Examiner.

WINNIPEG, MAN., APRIL 10. — From developments this morning, it would appear that a strike of the C.P.R. machinists is inevitable, and as ten thousand men are affected, the situation is regarded as serious. Representations are being made by telegraph to Ottawa to step in and adjust matters. The machinists from Fort William to Vancouver demand 4 1-2 cents increase or say they will strike immediately.

CORONATION PREPARATIONS

Six Thousand Workmen Are Employed in the Work

Special to The Examiner:

LONDON, APRIL 10.—It is estimated that six thousand workmen are now employed long hours each day preparing for the coronation festivities, which will cost the state close on to a million dollars. King George is in perfect health and is taking the greatest interest in all details.

PROVINCE REVOLTS

Against Rule of King Alfonso of Spain

Special to The Examiner:

MADRID, APRIL 10.—The province of Malga has revolted against King Alfonso and his government, and a provisional government has been set up at Canillas. The populace fought and killed the clerical guard, killing and wounding several. Troops are rushing to the scene. This is the district where a bomb was exploded on the occasion of Alfonso's visit last summer. It is a prosperous community of from 8 to 10 thousand people.

Special to The Examiner:

NEW YORK, APRIL 10.—Frank J. Plach has been arrested on a charge of complicity with the robbery of Aaron Rancroft, a broker, who was jostled and relieved of eighty-five thousand dollars in securities, in broad daylight a few weeks ago.

A NARROW ESCAPE FROM DROWNING

Timely Action on the Part of Mr. E. Page Resulted in Life Being Saved—Young Boy Tumbled Into the Icy, Swift Running Waters of the Creek.

A young boy, named O'Brien, and son of Mr John O'Brien, had a very narrow escape from drowning yesterday, and would have undoubtedly lost his life had it not been for the presence of mind of Mr. E. Page, of 389 Pearl avenue. The accident occurred in the same dangerous spot as has been the scene of fatalities before—above the dam at Wm. Hamilton's foundry. It appears that young O'Brien and a number of other children had been playing around the edge of the creek, and, through some mishap, the little fellow fell into the ice cold water, which was about four and one-half feet deep and running very swiftly. The boy tried to swim and had succeeded in keeping on top for a few moments, but the ice-cold water was chilling him so that he became insensible. Mr. Page, who was strolling near the spot saw a number of people running toward the creek and went to see what was the matter. Several people were standing near the place, but hesitated in jumping in after the boy. Mr. Page jumped in and rescued the boy.

THE FINES WERE HEAVY $600 THE TOTAL AMOUNT

Two Men Charged With Keeping a Gaming House are Fined $200 and $100 Respectively, While Frequenters Are Mulcted $50 Each---All Pleaded Guilty.

The local men, who appeared in Court a few days ago, charged with being frequenters of a gaming house, also the two men who were accused of keeping the said house, came up for sentence this afternoon at two o'clock. The six frequenters were fined $50.00 each, and the keepers were fined $100 and $200, respectively. Those who were fined $50.00 were given ten days to pay the fine, and in default of which they will spend 60 days on the hill. The evidence in the case had been previously taken, and the men all pleaded guilty.

PLUCKY TICKET AGENT REFUSES TO GIVE CASH TO MAN WITH REVOLVER

Special to The Examiner

TAVISTOCK, ONT., APRIL 10.—An unknown stranger entered the Grand Trunk Ticket office this morning in broad daylight and demanded a ticket for Tillsonburg. As the ticket agent, a boy named Sibley; aged fifteen, handed out the ticket, the man drew a revolver and demanded all the money he had in the till. Sibley pluckily jammed down the wicket window, just as the man fired, the bullet lodging in the opposite wall. Then the stranger escaped, getting no money and leaving no clue.

NO SIDE-TRACKING OF THE RECIPROCITY ISSUE

Special to The Examiner

OTTAWA, APRIL 10.—Those conversant with the plans of the leaders of both parties laugh at the idea that there will be any side-tracking of the reciprocity issue in the commons. Whatever tactics the opposition resort to, it is admitted that the question must come to a head before Sir Wilfrid goes to England on May twelfth. A good many of the members have already gone home for Easter and are not due back till Wednesday next. This will be an extremely quiet week here.

FIRE IN STOREHOUSE DAMAGE CONSIDERABLE

The fire department received a call at ten o'clock on Saturday night to a fire which was making rapid headway in a storehouse owned by Chas. Rishor, wholesale grocer, Simcoe St. It was found necessary to use a considerable quantity of water before the fire was extinguished. The damage to the building was slight, but the damage to the stock, will be heavy. A large quantity of perishable goods were stored in the building, among them being two carloads of sugar, all of which was badly damaged by water. The fire is thought to have been caused by defective wiring.

FUNERAL WAS VERY LARGELY ATTENDED

The popularity of the late William J. Metheral, and the high esteem in which he was held by the citizens of Peterborough was strikingly attested to yesterday afternoon by the long and imposing funeral cortege which followed his remains to their last resting place in Little Lake cemetery. In few cases has the funeral of a young man been so largely attended, the procession extending out for many blocks, while many more people were waiting at the cemetery to listen to the service. The city aldermen were present in carriages as were the officers of the Strathcona Athletic Club, and the players of its hockey and baseball teams, while the Peterborough Hockey Club were represented in the long line of vehicles, the length of which was a tribute to the regard of the people of Peterborough for the deceased.

A simple, impressive service was conducted at the house by Rev. I. Couch of the George Street Methodist church, who, in his address, referred to the plucky and brave fight the young man had made against death. The service at the grave was also in charge of Rev. Mr. Couch.

The floral tributes were unusually numerous and beautiful. They included a "Gates Ajar" from the deceased's fellow employees of the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company, and wreaths from the Peterborough Hockey Club, the Strathcona, St. Peter's T. A. B. and West End Athletic Clubs and dozens of bouquets and wreaths from private individuals.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Chas. J. Ray, Leo. Derocher, William O'Brien, Ford Turner, Herb. McMillan and F. D. Craig.

SIXTY WITNESSES HAVE BEEN SUMMONED

Special to The Examiner

GODERICH, ONT., APRIL 10.—Sixty witnesses have been summoned by the Crown in the case of the alleged murder of Lizzie Anderson by Edward Jardine for the trial which commences to-morrow before Sir Glenholme Falconbridge. It will last for days. The case of George Venetone who, it is alleged, beat his five year old boy to death because he could not count to twenty, is also on the list. George Tate Blackstock is the crown prosecutor.

INQUIRY ADJOURNS ONCE MORE

Special to The Examiner.

VITERBO, ITALY, APRIL 10. — A shrill whistling by some unknown person in the court, while one of the Camorists was making a startling confession implicating others, nearly caused a panic this morning. After the police had restored order the president declared an adjournment to prevent further trouble.

Had you sent for our catalogue two months ago you would not to-day be wondering whether 30-day Syl-la-bic Shorthand was really true or not. 262-286 Yonge street, Toronto, Moon College, will find us.

SLAPPED HIS FACE

FAR VISION
Without Lines in the Lens

The only near-and-far glasses that can be universally worn without discomfort and without suggestiveness of "old" appearance. The "near" and the "far" lenses are one solid glass. No "lines," no cement—and perfect sight with the discomfort and unsightliness left out. They cost more than the ordinary 'cement bifocals' but if you are particular of comfort and appearance they are worth the difference. We have scores of people in this city using these Kryptoks who are highly pleased with them.

WHY THEY WERE SILENT.

The attitude of expediency of the Conservative party to the trade agreement, more than matched by their attitude on tariff matters generally, lands them into tangles of inconsistency that tie them so firmly that they cannot wriggle themselves out of the net which they themselves have woven. One example of the impasse into which they have thrust themselves was furnished by the action of the Conservative Opposition in regard to the budget debate, which was dropped, in the vernacular phrase, "like a hot potato." Both parties are agreed as to their being no necessity for a greater revenue—an annual income in the neighbourhood of almost 120 million dollars — seems to be ample. The Conservatives plainly take this position. Yet they are opposed to the British preference — a mighty promotion of Ango-Canadian trade, and a mighty strengthener of the bonds of British connection. The Conservative opposition is also in favour of a higher protection tariff, which with the abolition of the British preference, which reduces taxation and revenue, would, if taxation promotes revenue, yield a greatly increased revenue. In a word they are clamouring for reduced revenue — which means lowered customs duties, and at the same time demanding a higher—a protective—tariff, and the advance of the lowered scale of duties under the British preference, to the level of the general tariff. It is no wonder that the budget debate suddenly collapsed and that the opposition found that they had "no remarks to offer." Mr. Fielding's financial statement showed such a condition of abounding prosperity, that adverse criticismm was effectively forestalled. If the debate were continued, the Opposition speakers would have had to perform the rather difficult feat of steering north to go south. They would have had to sustain Mr. Foster's demand for a decreased revenue and a "lessening of the burdens of the people"; and at the same time call for increased taxation by removal of the British Preference, and the highest form of protective duty. They would incidentally have had to argue against the reciprocity agreement, whose tendency is to lower the revenue, if even to a trifling extent, by the free exchange of previously taxed products and the lowering of duty on others. The inconsistent side-stepping in regard to tariff and revenue placed them in a dilemma, and they wisely closed their mouths on the budget speech.

A RARE BIRD.

Mr. Andrew Broder, Conservative M. P. for Dundas, is a far broader man that his length of limb and body would indicate; he is long-headed enough to be politically and morally broad. He is getting much commendation for the stand he took in the House the other day. Though he denounced reciprocity, as represented by the agreement, he did so in a logical way. He discussed the question on its merits in a way to command the respect of those who could not bring themselves to think with him. He showed real statesmanlike, and, what is better, real manlike qualities, in refusing to drag in side issues, irrevelant and futile, and in giving credit for the sincerity and ability of political opponents, something not in the creed of the average hide-bound partisan. An Opposition, composed of men of the manly and high level of patriotism and sound sense of Mr. Broder, in the particulars referred to, and led by a man similarly endowed, would be a source of danger, or of wholesome direction to any government, while, at the same time loyal to legitimate party predelections. Mr. Broder's stand is so outstanding that it naturally creates comment. Under the heading "A Rare Bird," the Montreal Herald thus specifies the features that differentiate Mr. Broder from his party confreres and the conventional politician. According ot the Herald Mr. Broder proposed to examine the agreement in terms of commonsense and sound economies;

Said there was nothing in this annexation and disloyalty talk;

Sad one party was as loyal as the other, with equal tendency to let off fireworks;

Avowed that if he had been asked to pick the two men to make the deal he would have chosen the two men who made it. "I could not have chosen two better, and I believe they concluded the best possible bargain from their standpoint";

Intimated that Canadians should stand by the men who represented them and not cast aspersions on their own ambassadors;

Acknowledge his prior belief that what the Ministers would get would be by a process like to toothpulling, whereas, "It was not a question of getting, it was a question of carrying home," so much had been thrown into their laps;

Concluded that the right thing to do was "to look the thing over squarely and honestly and determine its future upon its intrinsic merits or demerits.

Now then, is Andrew Broder, Conservative Member of Parliament in these Siftonian times, a rare bird or is he not? He can vote as he likes and will Canadians be proud of him.

Here's his good health.

CANADIAN WHEAT AND FLOUR

The following wheat and flour statistics have been compiled by an expert for the Baker and Confectioner. They will prove interesting to our readers at large:

"Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan produced last year almost 119,000,000 bushels of wheat. It takes five bushels of wheat to make a barrel of flour. Therefore, that wheat crop is equivalent to 23,800,000 barrels of flour. Each barrel of flour makes 180 loaves, weighing one and one half pounds each. That flour, therefore would make 4,284 million loaves of bread. It is estimated that each person eats, on an average, about 130 of such loaves in a year. Finally, then, that amount of flour would keep almost 33,000,000 people in bread for one year. And as Canada's population is probably under 8,000,000, Canada could have spared bread last year for 25,000,000 people, or probably more than half the United Kingdom's population of between 45,000,000 and 46,000,000. Not only would Canada's wheat crop of last year have given bread to so many millions, the by-products of that great great wheat crop would feed 212,000 horses for a year.

"In figuring out the foregoing, no account has been taken of the wheat produced in the other provinces of Canada. Western Canada's wheat production is five times what it was ten years ago. And Canada has sold Great Britain $264,925,420 worth of grain in ten years."

SOUNDING THE FARMER.

(London Advertiser.)

Mr. Joseph Vance—not De Morgan's hero, but a produce commission merchant of Toronto—sent out a circular letter to 105 farmers, whose produce he handles, asking them for their views on the reciprocity agreement. Mr. Vance was acquainted with only five of these farmers, and had no knowledge of their politics. They made a practice of shipping their butter, eggs, poultry and other products to him for disposal at market prices upon which he charged the usual commsion. He received 84 replies to his circular letter, of which 78 were favourable to reciprocity and eight opposed. From the other 21 he had received no answers when he gave the information to The Star.

Mr. Vance's correspondents live in all parts of Ontario. One farmer in Dufferin County, who owns 300 acres says he would gain $600 a year by reciprocity. Mr. Vance thinks that reciprocity will have the effect of keeping the Canadian market "cleaned up." "We can ship ten carloads of strawberries a day over to the other side in the season if we want to," he says. "Fruits and vegetables are perishable, but they have got to depend on supply and demand. It comes very hard on the growers sometimes when ther is a rush of stuff. A farmer may get left with nothing at all for his

The Question Of What Is Wrong With The Conservative Party Considered

(Montreal Herald.)

The controversy about what is wrong with the Conservative party will not down. The Ottawa Journal is trying to prove that the Quebec wing is primarily responsible. Mr. Bourassa is insisting that Quebec Conservatives cannot work with the party as now dominated and kept their self-respect. The Journal says that a man of the stature and temperament of Cartier, Chapleau, Tarte or Bourassa could keep the masses in Quebec loyal to the Conservative party, or at least gain ground against Laurier; but concedes that the party will have to wait for such a man to grow before it sees the regeneration of its forces in Quebec. To which Mr. Bourassa answers that whenever there arises in the English provinces, and in either party, a man strong and courageous enough to appeal to the national sentiment of English Canadians who are Canadians before being English, he will find in the Province of Quebec allies strong, numerous and loyal. Until then, the Journal is advised that Quebec can neither be fooled nor clubbed into doing the work the organisation at Ottawa assigns to its former friends. The breach is faisly wide, and opening daily.

It must be said, and The Herald has said it very often, that the blame for what has happened in Quebec is not with Mr. Monk and his friends but rather with those who seem to think they have some right to order Mr. Monk about—for that is the attitude of the Journal to-day, it was the attitude of Mr. Borden two years ago, it was the attitude of Sir Charles Tupper and Sir Hugh Graham in 1900, it was the attitude of the St. James Street Junta after 1900, it was the spirit which inspired the Zandray-Zandrank-Zandring conspiracy of running elections by "gifts of money" in 1904, it is the spirit which dominates the organization directed by a combination of Toronto financiers, Mr. Sifton, the Montreal Star and Mr. Chase-Casgrain (Zandrank) to-day.

Not many months before the general election of 1900, Sir Charles Tupper seemed to be ready to make Quebec the centre of his fight. He was persuaded to change his strategy, to attack Quebec and Laurier as one, and to make the fight on that basis in all the other provinces. Candidates were put up to bear the brunt of this, in the expectation that money would pull them through. Telegrams went to them from the finacial centre, asking "What are your needs?" When the votes were counted hardly enough of them remained to be counted. And then, for having lost in such a fight, even if he kept his own riding, Mr. Mank was deposed from the Quebec leadership by the same St. James street Junta that had forced him and his fellows to march to the shambles, and the junta essayed to put Mr. Tarte in his place. The experiment failed, but was it the fault of Mr. Monk's? In 1904 the Junta tried a new plan, a buccaneer raid was made upon La Presse, and Mr. Blair left the Railway Commission, to become a party leader for an hour. Can Mr. Monk be blamed for the rout that followed the exposure of this piracy and its concomitants? In 1908 the Conservative party in the whole Dominion made its campaign against Mr. Sifton, and Manitoba returned of Liberals just Mr. Sifton and one other. Now the St. James' Street Junta is booming Mr. Sifton as leader of the Opposition to the Liberal Government. Blame Mr. Monk? It is ridiculous. Put the blame where it belongs.

Again, take the phase over which the Journal most complains, the breach between Mr. Borden on the one part and Messrs. Monk and Bourassa on the other over the Navy Act. All was fair, until Mr. Borden, deliberately ignoring his Quebec helpers, went to Halifax to commit the party to a certain line of action. A fine, manly thing to do, was it? If it was, then what is to be said of Mr. Borden's subsequent willingness, nay rather eagerness, to change his attitude, as he actually did, in face of threats and protests from Manitoba and Ontario? Is it to be wondered that men of spirit, so treated, should take their own line, should fail to go on their knees to Otawa to be handed a formula which should suffice for them and the voters of Quebec? Yet only by doing that could they keep in good standing to the satisfaction of the Ottawa Journal.

The breach so created was widened when Mr. Bourassa declared flatly for approval of reciprocity and Mr. Monk declared for it under unimportant reserves. Now the breach has been further widened to a gulf by the reception that has been given to the Sifton movement, and by the evident willingness of the master minds of the party outside Parliament to fall in with that movement, which, as Mr. Bourassa at least believes, is likely to develop as much open hostility to Quebec as was let loose in 1900. No wonder the Journal prays for the growth of a personal leader. But there is room for doubt that he has yet been born.

labour, after the charges and commissions are paid."

Mr. Vance's manner of sounding the opinion of the farming community was straightforward and impartial. Similar tests in other provinces of Canada have brought similar results. These are called straw votes, but straws show which way the wind blows.

MERGER PUT THROUGH.

Four Big Electrical Companies Are United.

Toronto, April 10.—A $19,000,000 electric merger will be formed in this city in the near future. The contracting parties will be the Toronto Electric Light Co., which passed into the hands of the Electrical Development Co. by the unanimous decision of the shareholders of the former company at a meeting held on Saturday, the Electrical Development Co., the Toronto Power Co., sometimes known as the Toronto & Niagara Power Co., and the Toronto Railway Co. The first company is capitalized at $4,000,000, the second at $6,000,000, the third at $1,000,000, and the fourth at $8,000,000, making a total of $19,000,000.

In addition to the above stock capital of the four companies there is a total underlying bond issue of $17,500,000, so that the total money value of the combination is really $36,500,000. The outstanding bond issue of the Toronto Railway Co. is $3,908,000; the Electrical Development Co., $10,000,000; Toronto Electric Light Co., $1,000,000; and Toronto Power Co., $2,500,000.

That such a move is contemplated and that the purchase of the Toronto Electric Co. by the Electric Development was but the initial step in this big financial combination, was learned last evening from a reliable source.

Credence is added to this announcement when it is taken into consideration that the interests of the four companies mentioned are almost identical.

These companies in their operations have for some time past been dovetailing their activities. As to the personnel of the parties interested, the names of Sir Henry Pellatt and Sir William Mackenzie occupy prominent positions in all of them. Sir Henry is at the head of the Electrical Development Co. and the Toronto Electric Light Co., and a director of the other two. Sir William is at the head of the Toronto Railway Co. and the Toronto Power Co., and is also a director of the other two.

For all practical purposes there is a combination already of these four electric companies. The merger will be the formal public announcement that the companies are united.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

There was fierce fighting in Mexico yesterday.

James Lightal, a guest at the Union House, Toronto, ended his life yesterday.

John Kelley, who escaped from New Hamburg, Ont., lock-up last September, has been re-arrested.

Russell Vickers, aged fourteen, was shot and killed by a companion while playing at war at Belleville.

Dr. W. P. Caven of Toronto reported on Saturday to the Divisional court that he had found Michael Fraser sane.

C. D. Sheldon was arraigned in the Montreal Police Court on three charges of fraud. He pleaded not guilty and was remanded.

There have been ten more smallpox patients taken to the infectious hospital, Ottawa, since Saturday. The patients now total 37.

Norman Blaine, aged 23, deserter from the Niobe at Halifax, is under arrest at Moncton, N.B. He was calling on some clergymen collecting aid when arrested.

Two hundred men, women and children were burned to death in Bombay, India, which destroyed a thatched structure in which they had gathered for a festival.

Henry Graham, collector of customs at St. Stephen, N.B., fell dead in the street from heart failure, while walking from his office to his home, accompanied by his wife.

The new British battleship cruiser Indefatigable has made the record speed for Dreadnoughts of 29 knots. The Indefatigable was launched at Devonport in October, 1909.

At the meeting of the executive council of the board of governors of the Victoria Order of Nurses, it was announced that the Queen has consented to be patroness of the Canadian order.

While crossing the street car tracks at Barton and Catherine street, Hamilton, Saturday, Duncan A. Morrison, a mule, living at 37 Imperial street, was struck by car No. 403 and instantly killed.

Tapestries Sold for Fortune.

London, April 10.—According to generally well-informed sources England is threatened with the loss of the famous Knowle tapestries, belonging to Lord Sackville.

Negotiations are said to be practically completed whereby the collection consisting of thirty-four wonderful pieces, will be sold to a French syndicate for a sum believed to exceed $250,000.

Suffered for Years From Constipation and Sick Headache.

Headache seems habitual with many people; indeed, some are seldom, if ever, free from it, suffering continually, and wondering why they can get no relief. The most frequent of all are bilious or sick headaches, and are caused by some derangement of the stomach or bowels, or both.

Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the digestive and biliary organs, removes acidity of the stomach, improves digestion, regulates the constipated bowels, and promotes a perfect circulation of pure blood to all portions of the body.

Mrs. C. Meadows, Clarksburg, Ont., writes: "For years I was troubled with sick headache and dizziness, and was also constipated. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I only took three bottles of the medicine, and now feel like a new person as I am completely cured. I can truthfully testify that B.B.B. is the best medicine I have ever used."

Burdock Blood Bitters, has, during the last 35 years, built up an unrivalled reputation as a cure for all troubles arising from a constipated condition of the bowels.

Five Wipes Restricted District.

Tokio, April 10.—The notorious Yoshiwari, the principal quarter of Tokio, inhabited by the licensed Metairne, was destroyed by fire yesterday. Many of these houses were almost palatial in appearance, and a thousand of them were burned in a little more than three hours. Six thousand female inmates were rendered homeless.

The Yoshiwari is conducted under Government licenses, which provide for the establishment of hospitals and several of these institutions were also burned. The fire, which began at 11.30 o'clock in the morning, spread over a vast area. It was fanned by a strong southern wind, and flames were swept to the surrounding structures to the north. Altogether it is estimated that 5,000 houses are in ruins, covering an area approximately four square miles.

A large number of women were severely injured, but so far as is known no deaths have occurred. Five hundred troops are guarding the territory. When the wind died down on the clear night, the entire northern skies of Tokio were ablaze from the glowing embers It is impossible to present an estimate of the total loss at this time.

Caught In the Hoist.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., April 10.—Harry Cornell, 22 years of age, was instantly killed at the Merchant Mill Saturday afternoon, being caught in the hoist and terribly mangled. An inquest will be held Tuesday evening.

ANNIVERSARY OF KNOX PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Rev. E. W. MacKay, of Smith's Falls, Was the Special Preacher and Delivered Two Inspiring Sermons to Large Congregations at Yesterday's Services.

Yesterday the congregation of Knox church celebrated the fourth anniversary of the church. On Jan. 1st, 1907, it became an independent congregation, and on the 11th of April, called its first minister, Rev. Mr. Keith.

The congregation was favoured with the presence of a very eloquent speaker, and a minister of sterling qualities yesterday, in the person of Rev. E. W. McKay, of St. Paul's church, Smith's Falls, and a graduate of Glasgow University, and Knox College, Toronto. He officiated at both services, and spoke so eloquently and so interestingly, that the congregation was stirred to a state of great enthusiasm. The front of the church was prettily decorated with palms.

Mr. McKay chose his text from the 21st Chap. of Isaiah, and the first clause of the first verse, "The burden of the desert of the sea." The sermon in part was as follows: "Every desert has a burden, and a burden either crushes us or makes us strong, but what has the burden of the sea to do with religion? How can seas be said to be deserts? Either the seas or the sky may be said to be a desert so long as they are deserts. Looking back, you will see that there were no great Jewish sailors.

The sea was at that time, considered by the Jews, to be a raging, cruel, brutish thing, and they feared it. It may be smiling this hour and the next hour it may be engulfing ships. In the book of Revelations, John speaks of where there shall be no more sea, or the place where there is no sea. But speaking of this sea that is causing wrecks all the time. Look at the North Atlantic. Ships must be very strong to live on it. Yes, but where would you get such men as sail the North Atlantic? If you want sailors, get the men who sail across the North Atlantic from Jan. 1st to Dec. 31st. The wrecks and the storms have been the making of Britain. Why do things come to us in life that we don't understand? We are like a sea lighted up by the sun, and then something leaps up — a passion, a dishonesty, or a temptation, just as a storm leaping out of the clear sky. When we meet with such things, we get discouraged. Why comes temptation? For men to meet, to resist, to cast aside. The old sea dogs braved the tempests, but the storms made them what they are. Jesus had the power to make new strength. When people did not treat him hospitably, he did not punish them, but used his patience and tried to cultivate that quality in others. The Atlantic separates us from Britain. No! It joins us to Britain. It separated us, when we did not know how to use it, but when we do know how to use it, it is a blessing to us."

"Powers we know not how to use, will guide us to destruction, but the sea is no longer a thing that divides. The untamed force is one thing, but the undeveloped force is another. The things we might have done in our lives, makes us look back on them as though they were unsatisfactory. But, will a desert always remain a desert? No! Look at the land we live in, where the Indians roved. Here is a whole cultivated and developed country. So long as it remains undeveloped, it is a burden of the desert, but when development begins, the wilderness solitary places are made to [illegible] Millions of bushels of wheat, [illegible] lions of tons of coal and gold [illegible] duced in the country. If that evil spirit would come into our [illegible] develop them as the country developed, it would be a great [illegible] for us.

We, in our lives, are like minds who are afraid of spooks and [illegible] We are like the fishermen, [illegible] Lord said: 'Come and I will [illegible] fishers of men.' I will make something of you. Our lives are undeveloped, and the undeveloped forces upon our hearts and minds, are the burdens of the desert.

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

BABIES are interesting from a psychological point of view, but as for me, for a steady diet, I prefer cats.

Of course, you know the girl who says that sort of thing.

Not the same girl that I know, but one of her numerous sisters who think it clever to put on the pose of disliking babies and go about making such remarks.

Of course, there are women in whom this maternal instinct is naturally feebler than in others, but the girl I mean, the girl I object to is, the one who deliberately accentuates this tendency, regards it as something to be proud of, and tries to show it off.

When this type of girl hears that some young married friend is making ready to welcome her first little white bird into her nest, she turns her nose up scornfully, or says pityingly, "Poor Clara—and she's only been married two years. Now she will be tied down all the time. I should think she would feel terribly. It's too bad."

Of course "poor Clara," unless she happens to be of this same type of girl herself, isn't "poor Clara" at all, and doesn't need pity. But she receives it just the same.

Then when the little white bird has finally fluttered down into the waiting nest and the baby-hater is obliged by courtesy to her old chum, to go and see it, she comes away from her call and tells everybody that "it was a horrid little thing. So red and unpleasant. Looked as if it had been boiled, really," or that "it looked just about the same as all little babies. For my part, I can't see the slightest difference in them," or that "I simply had to say something, so I told Clara it looked like her. I should have thought that she would have been insulted, but she really seemed delighted."

She always calls a baby "it," and pretends never to be able to remember its sex.

She loves to show off her complete ignorance of everything relating to the care of babies and for this purpose asks silly questions about them.

She points out how superior a cat or dog is to a baby in that a cat or dog can be put out of the room when you are tired of them, whereas a baby can't.

She is always asserting that when SHE is married SHE certainly won't be tied down that way for some years, not if she knows it.

Foolish, wicked little girl.

Suppose some day when you have grown very much wiser and have found out to your own surprise that you want nothing so much as babies of your own, the keeper of the little white birds should remember all these things and refuse to let any of them come and nest with you.

Perhaps just now you can't see how that would be such a terrible punishment, but, oh my dear, I can, and because I know that you are really more foolish than wicked, I sincerely hope that it will never be visited upon you.

Ruth Cameron

SHOULD A GIRL TELL HER PAST?

Dear Sir,—Re the discussion in your paper as to whether a girl should confess to wrong-doing in her past, when about to marry—if her only desire is to live happily with her husband—most emphatically she should not. But if she is a true Christian she MUST. It is her duty to God. For my own part, I advise, DON'T MARRY. It would be far easier to live down her love, than to spend her life with any man having such knowledge of her. Your second correspondent is perfectly correct in her judgment of human man.

In the fulness of the moment he would probably believe himself capable of a noble forgiveness and of continuing it through life, but alas! it would always rankle, and he would always in some subtle way remind her of her lapse. Were she ever brave enough to tax him with it, he would undoubtedly be horrified at such an accusation and stoutly deny any intention of recalling it to her mind, but the fact remains that a sensitive loving woman would be daily crucified. There are no men great enough for such a feat, or very, very few. F. R. is the last man a girl should unfold her troubles to. Such men, when they have 'sown their own wild oats,' seem to think they are entitled to pluck the purest blossom to wear on their polluted hearts, and to be the mother of their children.

Strange they should be so particular, that their own progeny should have a pure mother, when they have robbed other men's children of the right. That their wives' moral rectitude should be above reproach, when they robbed other men of that privilege. That their daughters should be sheltered from evil when they have lured other men's darlings from the nest.

In saying most men have a past he is absolutely correct, in spite of the two good gentlemen who wrote on Friday. They, of course, may be exceptions to the rule—exceptions are necessary to prove a rule. That it should be true, is a disgrace to modern civilization and in direct contradiction to our Master's will.

That men sin in this direction is due to the rotten way in which they are brought up. They are taught to look upon such acts almost as being manly—at all events excusable because they are men—men!

Do you think that because a being belongs to the male sex he will be excused on that account when he and SHE stand before the throne of the Almighty? Christ says before God, there is neither male nor female. What excuse, then, will men have for these sins if, as Christ says, the excuse of sex is taken away? Again, He says such things will happen, but it were better a mill stone were tied round his neck. A pure, simple trusting girl is just such a one as these little ones.

When Magdalene was brought before Christ I presume the crowd was composed of men. Christ judged not, and all know why she remained unpenalized.

With Christ is love and pardon. Why should fallen men presume to judge a nature finer and more complex than his own. It is right there should be a high standard for women, but there should be one equally as high for men. We are told woman is the weaker vessel. Then what right has man to judge her as if she were the stronger? In such cases a man sins to please himself, a woman under stress and frailty. Women are good because of their up-bringing, their discipline in self repression and their greater belief in God.

Kingsley in "Westward Ho," evidently believed in a boy being brought up as strictly as a girl. Will men think of this? For every lost woman one see, some man will one day stand to answer before that 'Perfect Man'—note that—perfect man, with all a man's passions, as other men, but passions subdued and conquered as other men's should and could be, but for the false civilization of modern times. Let a man be banned and shunned, let him pay the penalty instead of his victim, taught to conquer himself as she is taught, and all our social evils will end, and there will be no further need of discussions such as these, for no woman will have a past she will dread to reveal.

As to Anxious Mother, why not herself explain in suitable language, instead of leaving it to newspapers or vulgar lips. Ignorance is not innocence.

ANOTHER MOTHER.

Editor Examiner:

Sir,—Your correspondent's letter of April 1st re "Should a woman tell her past?" was very interesting. It was unnecessary for the writer to tell us it was penned by a man. Heavens! It just teemed with their pet ideas.

Personally, I can see no reason why a woman should tell her past, or a man either, for that matter, unless asked for the information.

What we are in the present is what counts, and our characters must of necessity be the result of those influences, be they good or bad, which we have allowed to predominate in our lives. One lie does not make a liar nor does one sin (I object to sins being termed "indiscretions") against the moral law make a reprobate. One's standpoint on morals will be so evident in the character of a man or woman at the age of twenty-three or twenty-four that he who runs may read, and besides, who claims to be so smart as 'spotting' a good woman, or a bad one either, as man? Women, of course, do not claim this ability to 'spot' morals; so it behooves them, and particularly their parents, to exercise discretion. Parents are not sufficiently particular in demanding testimonials of good character and the production of a fair rent roll in their prospective sons-in-law.

Though I claim it is not incumbent on persons to tell their past, unless it be demanded of them, I also claim that, after a man and woman are betrothed, their lives should be practically an open book to one another, and I believe here is where a woman will score, if even a fraction of what one hears be true.

And now let us step aside and answer one or two insinuations in your correspondent's letter. He says "Men would be forgiving." I doubt it. Men want purity in their wife's past, her present and her future; and no doubt there is much to be said in favour of it. It would indeed be hard on a family not to be certain of one virtuous parent! Your correspondent also asserts that woman is hard and unforgiving toward her fallen sister. I take great exception to this statement. Broadly speaking, it is not true. It is a large subject which cannot be adequately dealt with in a letter, but in face of your correspondent's assertion, a little light on the subject may prove beneficial. It must ever be remembered that woman is the protector of the home (no man will gainsay that) and, as such, she is bound to let nothing touch that sacred spot that will place temptation in the way of any individual in it, neither herself nor her husband excepted. On the other hand, I have personally known women of every class of society do all in their power to protect and help their fallen sisters, and I have yet to hear of one institution for that purpose that has not been the outcome of women's work for women. Human nature is the same to-day as it was two thousand years ago, so I would direct your correspondent's attention to the 8th chapter of St. John's gospel, verses three to eleven, and ask him to read them with particular attention to the following questions: Who points the finger of scorn? At whom was it pointed? Where was her companion? Why was she not stoned?

FALLING HAIR

Stop it in Two Weeks—Ask Wm. Madill About Parisian Sage

Hair falls out because the dandruff germs dig into the hair roots and sap them of their vitality. They appropriate the natural nourishment that supplies life and luster to the hair.

To stop falling hair you must kill the germs. Parisian Sage is guaranteed by Wm. Madill to kill dandruff germs, banish dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp or money back. If your hair is thinning out Parisian Sage will promote a new growth. Clever women use it because it makes the hair brilliant and beautiful and it is not sticky or greasy. Large bottle 50 cents.

Would Not Help Empire.

London, April 10.—Lord Selborne, speaking at a meeting in support of Imperial preference, referred to American-Canadian reciprocity. He entirely accepted Secretary Knox's disclaimer in behalf of the United States Government of any idea of absorbing Canada, but complained that this was the first time any part of the British Empire would enjoy preferential treatment in a foreign country over the rest of the Empire.

It was impossible, he said, to regard the precedent with satisfaction, and they could not hold that the agreement was to the commercial and industrial advantage of the United Kingdom.

A Poor Weak Woman

As she is termed, will endure bravely and patiently agonies which a strong man would give way under. The fault is women are more patient than they ought to be under such troubles.

Every woman ought to know that she may obtain the most experienced medical advice free of charge and in absolute confidence and privacy by writing to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y. Dr. Pierce has been chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., for many years and has had a wider practical experience in the treatment of women's diseases than any other physician in this country. His medicines are world-famous for their astonishing efficacy.

The most perfect remedy ever devised for weak and delicate women is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

COMMISSIONER REES IS WELCOMED TO PETERBORO'

Interesting Service Held in the Salvation Army Temple Yesterday Afternoon at Which the New Head of the Army for Canada Gave a Splendid Address.

A large, well-pleased, and well-rewarded gathering attended the special platform service in the Salvation Army Barracks yesterday afternoon. The meeting was a significant one for many reasons, among them being the presence of Commissioner Rees, Hon. J. S. Stratton, and other men of local prominence. It also marked the initiation of several new band instruments and a handsome new drum said to be one of the finest in Canada. This, along with the pre-eminent position which the band has heretofore occupied in the eyes of the public, should place them on a firmer and more predominate basis than ever.

Mr. Stratton, who acted as chairman, gave a short address, in which he said he appreciated the honour conferred upon him that afternoon. It was always a pleasure to him to meet his fellow citizens, and a pleasure, even in an humble way, to be associated with the greatest movement for the world's good since the days of the Apostles. The Salvation Army was rightly named. It is a real, living, fighting force against the powers of darkness. The strength of the Salvation Army was that it took the Gospel to the poor. It preaches, so to speak, the Gospel in the gutter. It goes down to the degraded and lifts them up. Abundant proof in Peterborough of the great work could be seen. The fallen and degraded, lost to themselves, society, and the church, have been sought out and saved. He did not wish to be considered disloyal to the church of his choice or any other church, when he expressed his own convictions that the army was doing more real downright regenerative work than the churches, or to be on strictly safe grounds, more than the churches do do, or can do, as they are at present constituted. The modern characteristic of church activity seemed to be largely the fight over creeds. He found higher critics of the churches fighting, dissecting the Bible; tearing the leaves, tearing the chapters, tearing whole books out of the Bible, splitting hairs, while the devil was busy getting in his work. Mr. Stratton said the Army was not engaged in that way. They did not bother about doctrines and creeds—except one. The whole doctrine and creed of the Army, as he understood it, was contained in six words—"Here's the sinner, there's the Saviour." He said this creed and the way it was applied, was the secret of the success of the Army's work in the world. He referred to the work of General Booth; his advanced years; his great organization for the admirable system adopted; splendid men, like Commissioner , whom he had the pleasure of ducing, left no doubt of the fu- earthly leadership of the Army. issioner Rees was a veteran in ervice. He entered the Army as foremost in the fighting ine has been appointed for the time Commissioner for Can- was welcomed by the Army and all who sympathized n noble work. He had great in introducing Commission-letter was also read from Mayor Morrow, expressing his inability to be present. Needless to say, the letter was accompanied by a substantial check.

An excellent selection was then rendered by the songsters, after which the guest of the day, Commissioner Rees, addressed the gathering. The Commissioner, who is a gray-haired, dominant figure, with a pleasing power of personality, soon instilled himself into the good graces of the audience by a few timely remarks, relative to the kindly nature of the welcome which was accorded him. "Had it not been for the sinking of the steamer "Bruce" I would have been in Newfoundland, instead of Peterborough" said the speaker, during the course of some interesting remarks concerning his unique experiences, in connection with the Salvation Army work. He also referred, circumstances permitting, to the coming visit of the General, next autumn. The speaker next related some facts and figures concerning the work of the Salvation Army in Africa —that vast country where he was sent to ascertain the possibilities of establishing Salvation Army stations, and organizing such. At that time there were about 90 stations, comprised of principally English and Dutch. There are, in round numbers, about 200 millions of people on that continent, and about 27 or 28 million of them have never heard the Gospel. He told of going to different parts of the continent where no white man had gone before. The following incident occurred while in the interior. We had been about two days endeavouring to persuade some of the natives to commence with us, and we at last succeeded in getting about two hundred of them within speaking distance. My Secretary, who was with me, was preparing to play a tune on the concertina, and while getting it out of the box in which it was enclosed, he happened to touch one of the keys, causing the instrument to emit a squeaking sound, with the result that the natives fled. It took quite a bit of persuasion to coax them back again. Asked as to why they fled they replied that they thought that an evil spirit was present. They possessed no faculty for telling the time of day or the day of the month. The missionaries used to hoist a white flag on certain days, in order to notify the natives that a meeting was going to take place on that day. They would then flock to the meeting house.

They now have two training schools established there, and there are about 70 or 80 natives training to become missionaries to their fellow brethren.

The African languages are difficult languages to learn. It is an unwritten languages and I feel safe in saying that the Salvation Army were the first to master it. Several of the sounds are produced by a peculiar click in the throat, which is very difficult to master. In regard to marriage there is only one law to prevent a man from having any number of wives that he may choose, and that is his inability to purchase them. The market value of an ordinary native girl is ten cows. If he has distinguished himself in battle he will wear a ring made of clay, burnt and polished. The wearing of that will be accompanied by a short ceremony, after which he will have the privilege of asking 13 cows for the hand of his daughter, while a Chief will ask for 20 or 30 cows for a similar reason. The Salvation Army is at work now in 58 different countries, and services are now held under their auspices in 48 different languages, while the literature and War Crys are printed in 38 different languages. At the Training School, London, England, which is the headquarters for the Army, there are 500 students enrolled, with a teaching staff of 110. The speaker had charge of the above institution for a period of eight and one-half years, after which he was transferred to Scandinavia, where there are 71 social industries, fifty of them being self supporting.

Fifteen months ago I was ordered to Canada, and I have come here to take charge of the work with all my heart and strength.

The speaker concluded with a few expressions if appreciation relative to the cordial welcome which had been given him.

Mr. F. D. Kerr then moved that a hearty vote of thanks be extended to the Commissioner and made a few timely remarks concerning the good work of the Army.

This was seconded by Mr. H. M. Gilchrist and carried unanimously by those present.

The meeting then closed by the singing of the Doxology.

Cold Upsets the Kidneys

And Uric Acid Poisons Bring Pains and Aches to Back and Limbs

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

You feel pains in the back, find the urine heavy and unduly coloured, have indigestion and irregularity of the bowels and these may be the rheumatic twinges.

You wonder what has gone wrong until you recollect that you have been exposed to sudden changes of temperature, perhaps sitting in a draft or passing from a very warm room to be chilled by the outdoor air.

The kidneys are most susceptible to cold, and a sudden lowering of temperature throws an extra burden on them by closing the pores of the skin, which are ordinarily a great aid to the kidneys in removing poisons from the blood.

The danger lies in not understanding the meaning of the symtoms given in the first paragraph. Once you know that the kidneys need assistance you can help them promptly by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

Every day you put off treatment you are taking the risk of developing Bright's disease, dropsy or rheumatism. Because of the inactivity of the failing kidneys your system is being loaded with poisonous impurities, and that means pains and suffering.

Y.M.C.A. NOTES

Where to spend your evening, Good Friday: A two hours' entertainment will be given at the local Young Men's Christian Association, and a rare treat is in store on this occasion for all lovers of basketball. As a special attraction the Toronto West End Y.M.C.A. junior champions will meet the speedy local five, and a first class exhibition of the game is looked for. This being the first visiting team to Peterborough for some little time, the basketball enthusiasts will no doubt be out in large numbers.

The school boys of the city will also clash in a tug of war contest for the championship of the city. Every public school is invited to enter a team, six boys to a team, total weight not to exceed seven hundred pounds. These two stellar attractions along with a good programme of gymnastic work ought to make a most enjoyable evening's fun. Good Friday, April 14th, 8 p.m.

The summer outings of the local Y. M.C.A. commenced on Saturday, when twenty of the boys tok a trip seven miles out into the country to a maple bush, where they enjoyed themselves immensely, watching the different processes which the sap must go through before it becomes the delicious maple syrup which we all enjoy so much to eat. Many of the boys indulged very freely in the disposing of the sap as it comes from the tree. After a general inspection of the bush and a game or two the trip home again had to be faced. The seven miles each way to the bush, was enjoyed, as the mouth organ artists and a couple of boy scouts with their bugles were on the job. Outings or picnics of the same kind will be on the programme regularly now throughout the summer.

GRAND TRUNK SYSTEM BUILDING

At Festival of Empire, Crystal Palace, London, England

The progressiveness of the Grand Trunk in connection with their publicity propaganda is again demonstrated in the erection of a magnificent structure to house their exhibits at the Festival of Empire which is to be held at the Crystal Palace grounds at London, England, this year. The building is ornate in its architectural style, and is a reproduction on a small scale of the new Grand Trunk passenger station now nearing completion at Ottawa. At this exhibition the Company are putting up one of the finest exhibits that they have ever installed and will embrace all portions of the System, including the Grand Trunk Railway, The Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, and the Grand Trunk Pacific Steamship Company.

The several tourist and fishing and hunting districts in Eastern Canada will be represented through large photographs and a valuable collection of mounted fish and game. Western Canada will be put before visitors in an interesting and instructive way by large pictures, showing the agricultural possibilities and developments, as well as by the exhibit of grains in the straw, grasses and the products of the land from Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. The mountain division of the Grand Trunk Pacific will be well portrayed through a series of oil paintings of some of the principal show places of the Canadian Rockies, painted by G. Horne Russell, the well-known Montreal artist who spent last summer in these mountain fastnesses. The centre of the interior of the building will be occupied by a large model, about ten feet square of the "Chateau Laurier," the Grand Trunk's beautiful new hotel at Ottawa. There will also be a large oil painting of a portion of the City of Ottawa, showing the new station and hotel, the parliament buildings and surroundings. Models of the steamships "Prince Rupert" and 'Prince George' of the Grand Trunk Pacific North Pacific Coast service will be on view. A separate room has been provided in the building for the projection of cinematograph pictures, and the subjects owned by the Company will be shown several times each day. Among these cinematograph films are Lachine Rapids, Maskinonge fishing near Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Apple Culture near Whitby, Ont., several scenes in the "Highlands of Ontario," Niagara Falls, views showing the construction of the new National Transcontinental Railway, and agricultural scenes in Western Canada. Thousands of publications will be distributed. Mr. S. W. Cummings will be in charge of the exhibit.

AURORA BOREALIS

"The Northern Lights" Were Easily Visible Last Night

Pedestrians who were out and about last evening had one of the periodic views of a phenomenon of the heavens—the Aurora Borealis. At 10 o'clock, with an almost full moon standing guard over mother earth, the dark blue cloudless sky, to the north east, was suddenly illuminated by streaks of hazy lights, otherwise known as the "Northern lights." These, with their mysterious movements, held onlookers' gaze with awe and wonder, and for fully half an hour this lasted, the whole illuminating the heavens with a wonderful effect, and gradually faded into oblivion. The sight was certainly beautiful and pleased those who viewed the reflections.

POST CARD COLUMN

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—The time is drawing near when the ratepayers will be asked to vote on the Tire by-law. I have been thinking over the matter for some time, although I have not been to any of the meetings to hear its merits discussed. I would like to hear from some of the advocates of this by-law, as to its merits, and if it is a good speculation for the city to go into. I must say that it ought to be an extra good proposition in order to ask the City to borrow forty thousand dollars to loan to any company. So far I must confess that I cannot look upon it very favourably. Let some of those who are favourable to the proposition show up its merits.

Yours truly,
J. J. HARTLEY,
Peterborough, April 10th, 1911.

FORESTERS' NIGHT

Past Chief Rangers' night, April 7th, with the Canadian Order of Foresters, was a thoroughly enjoyable affair, and demonstrated in fact that a good thing once learned is not soon forgotten. The degree work and order of business learned during their younger days, left a lasting impression that has clung to memories all through the ups and downs of life. Such a lesson as the candidates learned during the ceremony of initiation, must certainly enthuse them to further the interests of the order by striving to add to its membership. A short time at the festive board, eating, drinking and five minute talks, brought the meeting to a close.

INTERESTING SERMON ON SUBJECT OF "LOVE"

Rev. W. C. Riddiford Commenced a Special Series Last Evening---Aims at Making Them Heart-searching and Heart-inspiring---Large Congregation Present.

"It is my intention to make these sermons heart-searching, heart-inspiring and heart-cleansing ones and I trust that a new ideal of what it means to love, court and marry will be planted in all who listen and glory given to God who is Love."

In these words, Rev. W. C. Riddiford, pastor of Park Street Baptist church, commenced a series of three special sermons on "Love, Courtship and Marriage," respectively, last evening, his remarks being given to a very large congregation, and followed with an attention that their worth merited.

His text for the evening was Genesis 29:18-20: "And Jacob loved Rachel, and said, "I will serve thee seven years for Rachel, the younger daughter. And Jacob served seven years for Rachel, and they seemed unto him but a few days for the love he had to her".

In that beautiful little book of Dr. Watson's, entitled "Afterwards," remarked Mr. Riddiford, he makes the minister of St. Rede's, say, in a sermon to the young men of his day: "If it be given to any man in his fresh youth to love a noble woman with all his heart, then in that devotion he shall find an unfailing inspiration of holy thoughts and high endeavours. A strong protection against impure and selfish temptations, a secret comfort amid the contradictions and adversities of life.

Let him give this passion full play in his life and it will make a man of him and a good soldier in the great battle. And if it so be that this woman pass from his sight, or beyond his reach, yet in this love itself shall he find his exceeding reward."

The young minister speaks right. His Magdalen, like all true Magdalens, are worthy of the best there is in a man, and true it is "That it is better to have lived, and lost, than never to have loved at all. Yes, love is. It is here on this earth. It can be found in human hearts still, for God planted it there. God made man in his own image, and the essential, most beautiful characteristic of God is His love, His unchangeable love. His love is not the love Alfred Tennyson speaks of in "The Last Tournament," when he makes Tristram say, in speaking of the art of love:

Free love—free, freed—we love but while we may,
The woods are hushed ;their music is no more.
The leaf is dead, the yearning past away—
New leaf, new life—the days of frost are o'er;
New life, new love, to suit the newer day.
New loves are sweet, as those that went before.
Free love—free free'd—we love but while we may.

But, rather that passage we find in his Guinevere, where King Arthur addresses his fallen love in words that reveal his pent-up passions of his heart's love to her, as she lies disgraced by lust, at his feet:

"I did not come to curse thee Guinivere;
I, whose vast pity almost makes me die
To see thee, laying there thy golden head,
My pride in happier summers, at my feet.
The sin is sinned—so I forgive thee, as Eternal God
Forgives: do thou for thy soul the rest—
Let no man dream, but that I love thee still.
Perchance, and so thou purify thy soul,
And so thou lean on our fair Father, Christ,
Hereafter in that world, where all are pure
We, two, may meet before God.

That is love. That is the only thing worth calling love. A love that clings to the one loved. For better or for worse, and when love like that burns in a man's soul towards a pure, holy woman, then God smiles upon the woman.

The sweetest suggestion of a love story in all the Bible is the glimpse we get in our text; of the love of Jacob for Rachel. What a beautiful picture it is. And there are thousands of just such pictures to-day. Men are not all brutes. Women are not all wanton butterflies of fashion. Thank God love still lives and thrives in our land, but the one thing above all others I wish to impress upon you, my dear young friends, to-night, is "Discriminate between lust and love." They are quite distinct, and lead to quite different destinies.

Listen to this sweet morsel, from love's sacred chapter: "And Jacob loved Rachel, and said, I will serve thee seven years for Rachel, thy younger daughter." And Laban said, "It is better that I give her to thee, than that I should give her to another man; abide with me." And Jacob served seven years for Rachel; and they seemed unto him but a few days, for the love he had to her."

This is true love. Love is ever willing to wait, and to sacrifice. Love may come at first sight, but the only love that is worth having is the love that remains the same from the first sight to the last sight. Love is like the Lord Jesus—it is the same yesterday, to-day, and for ever.

Love, Paul tells us, never faileth. Jacob's love was genuine. It lasted from the first love glance that darted into his soul, and started the fire on the altar of his affections, until that last fond hour, when he bent over that fading flower, and watched God's gardener transplant it in the world of love."

So here in this old Book we have the story of a man and woman who really loved. Here we have a genuine story of a love match that was not made in heaven, but on earth. I'm afraid there are too many love matches, said to be made in heaven, whose after-taste is somewhat tainted with the spirit of the opposite abode. Confection takes the place of affection; concupiscence is the ruling passion, and not the pure love of two kindred spirits.

But here we find a true love story—a story of love at first sight, and at second sight; a love which knit two lives together in perfect faithfulness, until death parted them, and which lasted as all true love does—long after death's stroke and mystery. The personages who figure in this story are not all of them particularly interesting.

Rachel was decidedly interesting to Jacob, as was natural. All Rachels are very interesting to some one, even though they happen to be called Annie, Mary, Jean, or Bridget, or Jane. Some one is interested.

Jacob would have had a sorry time winning Rachel, if she had lived in Peterborough. But she didn't. Others do; so there is hope for all who believe "that it is not good for a man to be alone, and that is a Scriptural feeling, and not infidel doctrine."

Laban, to my mind, was one of the most dislikeable characters portrayed in the Bible. He was the very type and essence of selfish greed, low cunning, and meanness. He sold his daughters just as he sold his cattle. Everything, with Laban, had a money value. Love cannot be purchased with gold any more than home can be made out of bricks and mortar. This man had no more sentiment than a piece of wood. I should think he never loved any one—man or woman. His two daughters were little more to him than bales of goods—equally valuable for what he could make out of them, either by fair means or false.

Jacob served seven years for Rachel, and then Laban palmed off Leah on him. Luckily for Jacob the marriage laws were about as loose in his day as the divorce laws are in the United States to-day, and will become in Canada if we do not stop this constant agitation of a marriage law that has nothing to do with this province as yet, and, I hope, never will have.

But marriage comes after the love time, and not before; so I must stay by my subject. Jacob made a convenient dumping ground for Laban's daughter, Leah. What a bad old man this Laban was. But Jacob was game. He stayed by him, or rather Rachel. Jacob was in this man's service for twenty years.

I do not think I could have stood it that long. I fancy I would have quit, or eloped, or suggested something worse.

But Laban was the father of the woman he loved, and it's a good thing, before you marry a woman, to know you are on the right side of the old folks.

This loving and marrying against the wish of the parents, is generally a curse. So love covers a multitude of sins, and Jacob toiled, for love gave him strength. That is the beautiful part of the story.

Jacob loved Rachel, and said, I will serve thee seven years for Rachel, and in the meantime I'll put up with Leah, and try to be pleasant. No wages all that time! nothing but the thought of Rachel renewed each morning, and the golden hope of calling her his own when the long years were over. A good woman is worth waiting for, for seven years, or fourteen.

But there are not many of us who could stand the strain. The fact is we do not wait long enough. A look, a passion, the price, the preacher or priest, and then, well, heaven alone knows.

Esau would not have waited seven weeks. I doubt whether he would have waited seven days. Some other fancy would have captured him. Some other face would have allured him. Men like Esau fall desperately in love about once a month. Jacob was made of different stuff. That was the noblest side of the man. There was of course, another side which was not praiseworthy at all. But in his affections, attachments and in the patience of his long service and waiting he was just a little bit God-like, don't you think?

Jacob was not a weakling. The weak man wearies soon. He is good for spurts, but has no continuance. If he can surmount a difficulty with a leap, over he goes; but if it means climbing, he's excused. The good work of the world is never done by men of this shifty and untrustworthy kind. It is done by men fashioned in Jacob's mould.

He was the man after Gods' own heart in this one feature, at least. He was an ideal lover. He had that love divine, all love excelling, which turns not back, but wins at last by waiting. The Bible has no respect for men, who are devoid of this virtue. The Bible has no respect for men who are lacking in power, who are everything by turns, and nothing long, and every true woman despises such a man ,and justly so. The world is carried forward by Jacobs. The Kingdom of God is built up by men of his type; all Christian work, saving work, reforming work, is done by men of dogged purpose. There is a great Gospel truth embodied in this love story. Listen! "And Jacob served seven years for Rachel, and the seven years seemed to him but a few days, for the love he had to her."

The true significance of the text is that the seven years' labour seemed but as the labour of a few days. Why? Because love lightened it; love strengthened the hands and speeded the feet of the worker. He was doing service for her. The light of his eyes and heart. What did he care for the crusty, close-fisted Laban. One look of love from Rachel was enough to stand anything. The work of those years was work done to the music of love. Nothing can make rough work smooth, and drudging work bearable, and disagreeable work pleasant, except the inspiration of love.

It is slavery to serve those for whom you have no affection and no respect. I suppose that is the reason why you do not love Jesus. But, my friend, Jesus still loves you. This love of God, which passes all understanding, when love comes to stay, soul, it will transform your life. It makes all things new, when a man truly loves a pure, noble woman. It remakes him; he becomes a man in the noblest sense. We read of the disciples toiling and rowing—wrestling, and sweating over the rough sea, and making no progress. It was a Herculean task, and they were spent and desperate. And then we read that the Master came to them over the waters, and took His place with them in the ship. And immediately they reached land. Love softened the blustering winds; love lightened the oars that dragged; love put strength into the weary arms of the toilers; love always does this. All is made easy when love comes to stay. Work is never hard when it is done with love's willinghood. You cannot go on working steadily and untiringly for either God or man, wife or child, Jesus Christ, or your fellowmen, unless you love them. Love alone kindles the furnace that produces the activities of true life. Christ must have shed abroad in your hearts some of His own sweet, pitiful love of men, or you will have no sustained interest in any work that is done for their healing or redemption. All philanthropic saving and Christian work, if it is to be continuous, and lasting, must have love, human, and love, divine, as its source and spring. When that source is dried up, then weariness follows, and love's labours cease. If the love of Jesus Christ does not fill thy heart, then thy love is not true love. It is not the love Jacob had for Rachel, or the love that any woman wants and longs for. Some stray singer, whose name I do not know, sums up Jacob's love match in these words:

"'Twas the love that lightened service;
The old, old story sweet;
That yearning lips and waiting hearts,
In melody repeat.
As Jacob served for Rachel,
Beneath the Syrian sky,
Like golden sands that swiftly drop
The toiling years went by."

As Jacob served for Rachel,
Beneath the Syrian sky,
And the golden sands of toiling years
Went swiftly slipping by,
The thought of her was music
To cheer his weary feet;
'Twas love that lightened service
The old, old story sweet.

But there is a sweeter story than even this love story of Jacob and Rachel. Have you heard it? You can hear it now? Will you believe it? Ah, yes. Love is, for God is love. Love does: For Christ loved us and gave Himself for us. Love lives for Jesus ever lives to make intercession for us. He loves you. What will you do with His love?

PLEURO-PNEUMONIA AND BRONCHITIS

Brought Mrs. Baker to Death's Door. Father Morriscy's No. 10 Saved Her.

Of the many hundreds of cures wrought by Father Morrisey's No. 10 (Lung Tonic) few are more remarkable than the saving of the life of Mrs. John S. Baker, of 104 Rockland Road (North End), St. John, N.B. She wrote on Oct. 16, 1909:

"I wish to express my gratitude that I am living to-day, saved from the grave by Father Morrisey's No. 10 (Lung Tonic). This time last year I had pleuro-pneumonia and bronchitis, and had been given up to die, and had my lungs tapped in the City Hospital, and never expected to walk again; I was continually getting worse every day. I came home from the hospital, and everyone was watching to me to die. I tried everything but there seemed to be no cure for me.

"I began taking Father Morrisey's No. 10, and the second day I could eat without pain. I used 22 bottles of No. 10, as I was run down right into consumption, and for six months was just a shadow until I began to use it, and now I am in good health, and surprised most of my neighbors by gaining so quickly. I feel it my duty to publish it everywhere I can, as with all I can say I cannot recommend it too highly—it was a life saver to me, and I am very thankful to recommend it, as it is worth all it is said."

Father Morrisey's No. 10 is very different from the many preparations that simply relieve a cough. No. 10 relieves the cause of the cough, restores the membranes of throat and lungs to a healthy condition, and tones up the whole system, giving strength to resist future attacks.

ASTRONOMICAL SOCIETY

There will be an interesting meeting of the Peterborough Centre of the Royal Astronomical Society to-morrow, (Tuesday night) in the Physics room of the Collegiate Institute. There will be a report of a lecture by Prof. Ritchie of California, and the recent lecture at Brighton, followed by an illustrated lecture on the planet "Jupiter". There will be no admission charge and the public is cordially invited to be present.

RECORD ORDER FOR GASOLINE ENGINES

What is probably the largest order for gasoline engines has just been placed by the W. H. Mullin Co., Salem, Ohio, builders of Mullins Pressed Steel Boats. The order was placed with the Ferro Machine and Foundry Co., of Cleveland, and calls for 2,000 engines, delivery to commence January 1st. It is expected by the W. H. Mullins Co., that considerably more than this number of engines will be ordered before the season is over, as the estimate was naturally made on a very conservative basis.

This order is notable in that it is indicative of the great interest in motor boating which is now prevalent wherever water facilities are afforded for motor boating. Scarcely a dozen years ago even motor boats were as unusual or even more so than the flying machine of to-day. Now you will find every river and stream, inland lake, bays, sounds, etc., dotted with "Chug-chiggers" of every description, from the palatial cabin cruisers on which large parties can be accommodated for weeks with almost every convenience of a well furnished home down to the smallest models. Sailing once a most popular sport, has given way very largely to motor boats, and in addition a large majority of the sailing boats now in use are equipped with engines for auxiliary power, permitting them to be used in the calm as well as when the winds are favorable.

Independent Real Estate Co. Formed

One of the most important undertakings that has been inaugurated in Peterborough for some time is the formation of the Independent Real Estate Company, with present offices at 430 George street. The primary object of the company is to exploit the new natural Summer Resort, Riverview Park, but real estate transactions of all kinds will be negotiated, both in city and country properties. The personnel of the company is one that tends to give the public entire confidence in it, comprising as it does well known business men of enterprise and integrity. Mr. W. Galbraith, the capable manager, has had a 20 years' experience in the business world, making a success of any undertaking he had in hand, and his natural business acumen will undoubtedly be a strong feature in connection with the exploiting of Riverview Park. His conection with the farming community has been extensive, and this will mean much to the company in the matter of farm sales, as the farmers will have the fullest confidence in Mr. Galbraith's management. Miss E. M. Smith, the efficient secretary-treasurer, brings to the company a valuable experience gained while associated with the late Mr. Pringle as teacher in the Business College.

That the books and correspondence of the company are in capable hands goes without saying.

The directors of the company are Mr. R. J. Kidd, Dr. Frank Neal, Mr. R. F. Downey and Mr. H. P. Kennedy. That the Independent Real Estate Company is a live concern, and going to become a power in the community, the presence of such sterling business men on the board guarantees.

The feature of the undertaking that is of peculiar interest to all citizens of Peterborough who are boosters, is that the extensive advertising to be done by the company all over the country, is bound to bring Peterborough into a prominence that should be appreciated, and will undoubtedly result in bringing many of the wealthier class to the Electric City, at least as summer residents, at Riverview Park, if not to become permanent citizens.

MEETING TO-NIGHT

There will be a general meeting of St. James' Football Club to-night, April 10, at 148 Park street, when important business will be discussed. All members and those interested are asked to be present. The meeting starts at 8.15 prompt.

YOU CA NSEE IT WORK

The beauty of Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment as a healer of the skin in eczema, salt rheum, itching skin disease and old sores is that you can see from day to day exactly what it is doing. There is no guess work, no experimenting. It simply heals the skin and makes it soft, smooth and natural. It heals as if by magic. Prove this to your own satisfaction by trying it.

WELL KNOWN RESIDENT HAS PASSED AWAY

MR. F. J. BELL DEAD

On Sunday morning, at his residence, 583 George street, Mr. F. J. Bell, a well-known resident of Peterborough City and County, died at the age of sixty-seven years. For the past two or three years, Mr. Bell had been declining in health, and retired from the position he had so long occupied as Clerk of the First Division Court of the County of Peterborough. Mr. Bell was born on the 12th concession of Smith. When twenty-seven years of age he was elected member of the Township Council; subsequently he was elected member of the Township Council; subsequently he was elected Deputy Reeve, which position he held for some years, and upon the death of the late Christopher Burton, was appointed Clerk and Treasurer of the Township, which position he occupied for over thirty years, resigning early in 1910. Mr. Bell was Division Court Clerk for over twenty years, and for twelve years was United States Consular Agent at Peterborough. In all these various capacities Mr. Bell discharged his duties with painstaking fidelity. As Treasurer of the Township and Division Court Clerk of the County of Peterborough, positions he occupied for many years, he gave the utmost satisfaction to the general public, whom he was serving.

Mr. Bell was twice married; his first wife being Miss Galvin, and his second wife Miss Manning, both of whom predeceased him some years ago. By his second marriage he leaves one son, Dr. Herbert Bell, at Winnipeg. Mr. Bell was a Liberal in politics and a Baptist in his religion affiliations.

The funeral will leave the late residence, 583 George street, on Thursday afternoon, April 13th, at one o'clock and proceed to Ray cemetery, Lakefield, for interment.

THEIR DEPARTURE IS GREATLY REGRETTED

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McConnell, who have been of great help to the Springville Presbyterian church and to the neighbourhood generally are taking their departure from the community and yesterday the congregation of the Presbyterian church authorized their pastor, Rev. Dr. Marsh, to send the following letter to Mr. and Mrs. McConnell. It was read at the service yesterday.

Springville, April 9th.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. McConnell—The congregation of the Springville Presbyterian church desires to express its regret at your departure from our midst. During your sojourn with us you were a source of much help to the choir, Sunday school, Ladies' Aid Christian Endeavour and Missionary Societies. In fact, in every department of the church work you took an active interest, and we will miss you. You take with you the best wishes of the entire congregation and may God bless you in your new home is our prayer.

Rev. Dr. Marsh, Minister.
John McIntosh for the Session.
Harry Clarke, chairman of the Managing committee.
Bert Sanders, President of the Christian Endeavour Society.
Fred Wilson, for the choir.

Boy Charged With Theft Of A Dollar

Joe Burke, of London, Ont., who appeared before His Worship Magistrate Edmison on Saturday last, was allowed to go on suspended sentence this morning. Constable Whibbs, of Indian River, arrested the boy and brought him to the city for trial. It appears that Burke was going down east to take a position he had procured and all he had was his ticket and a few cents. When he got to Indian River he got off the train to get something to eat and in the meantime the train moved off, leaving him there with no money. As he sat eating lunch he noticed some money in the drawer which was open, and he took out a dollar, being driven to it by necessity. His Worship took those facts into consideration and as the boy was very young, he gave him a chance.

CONFIRMATION

Interesting Ceremony at All Saints' Church This Evening

The rite of Confirmation will be administered to a large number of candidates in All Saints' church to-night by His Lordship Bishop Reeve, of Toronto. There is a very large number to be confirmed, it being the third class in the last year and one-half.

To-night, too, the choir will appear for the first time in surplices.

WEARYING LIBERALS

POLITICIANS ILL

London, April 10.—(New York Tribune cable.)—Prolonged resistance to the Parliament bill at every stage is the only course open to the Unionists. The committee stage, when resumed next week, may be accelerated by the scientific use of the closure, but obstruction so ingeniously devised and applied so systematically is likely to block legislation for many weeks. The Government whips no longer venture to forecast the date when the measure can be sent to the Lords or when the crisis will arise for which the royal guarantees are reserved. The Opposition, led with brilliant ability by A. J. Balfour, is attempting to tire out the Government and drag it into a conference where an agreement can be forced by negotiation.

The rejection of the Parliament bill by the Lords, on second reading, now seems unlikely, since Swift MacNeill has shown that the measure can be revived with little delay after promulgation for another session. The Unionist tacticians have reverted to their earlier policy of prolonging the debate in the committee stage and amending the measure until it is no longer recognizable. In either case the menace of the creation of peers in overwhelming number will be necessary if there is no possible compromise. An agreement may be facilitated when the understanding between the King and the Prime Minister is clearly known, instead of being conjectured vaguely by the Unionists and confidently assumed by the Radicals.

Meanwhile, with blizzards outside Parliament and tempests of passion and partisanship inside, invalidism is increasing, and the conflict threatens to end with the survival of the fittest. The breakdown of prominent men like David Lloyd-George, Austen Chamberlain, Lord Crewe and Lord Waldegrave alone attracts attention. The rank and file are also suffering on both sides. So many members are dropping out and the strain of public life is so excessive that the Ministerial threats of an autumn session may become an effective method of coercion.

ITS PATH THORNY

Reciprocity Will Have a Hard Time in Congress—Four Parties Are Contending—Republicans Are Divided

THE SITUATION NOW

Washington, April 10.—It is daily becoming more manifest that Congress is facing a stormy session, and that there can be made no forecast for the probable legislative outcome. Both of the parties are badly divided, and the leaders appear to have little hope of restoring anything more than surface harmony.

There are virtually four parties, each with a large representation, working at odds in the present session. The Republican minority of the House is divided between regulars and insurgents, as was evidenced by the vote in the Speakership contest. The breach between these two factions is even wider in the Republican majority of the Senate.

A sharp line has been drawn between the conservative Democrats of the Senate, who are opposed to any attempt at dictation on the part of Wm. Jennings Bryan and the progressive Democrats, including practically all of the new members and several veterans like Senator Stone of Missouri, who are Bryan adherents. The House Democratic majority seems thus far to have escaped a break, but the leaders fear that the party contest in the Senate may at any time spread to the other branch. The situation has interfered with the selection of committees and the beginning of legislative work.

While President Taft would like Congress to adopt the Canadian reciprocity agreement and defer other measures to the regular session, Speaker Champ Clark and Oscar Underwood have other views.

Now that the new majority in the House has adopted rules giving it just as much power as any majority ever enjoyed, there is no doubt that measures on the subject of direct election of Senators, publicity before elections of campaign contributions, Canadian reciprocity, revision of the woollen and cotton schedules, and any further tariff changes, the majority's desires will be sent to the Senate in whatever order is decreed by the ways and means committee. The Republicans may expostulate or denounce as they please; they will be powerless to prevent. The real legislative problem, therefore, will be at the Senate end of the Capitol.

Only time will tell what sort of line-up there will be in the Senate on tariff matters. Previous sessions have indicated that there are just as many protectionists in the Democratic representation.

Serious Rising in Canton?

London, April 10.—A special despatch to The Daily Despatch from Hong Kong, says that a serious rising is reported to have taken place at Canton. It is stated that the Tartar general commanding the troops has been murdered, and that other troops have been hurried to the city, which is in a state of siege.

There is no confirmation of this report from other sources.

BIG LINER IS OFF

Princess Irene Is Floated Almost by a Miracle and the Passengers Go Unscathed

FREED HERSELF

New York, April 10.—"Still ashore" was the message flashed by the commander of the steamer Prinz Friedrich Wilhelm to his owners as the big liner with the 1,730 rescued passengers of the stranded Princess Irene warped into the North German Lloyd docks at Hoboken Saturday morning, having anchored in the harbor over night.

And yesterday afternoon, bearing no visible scars except a shattered rudderpost, the North German Lloyd liner Princess Irene slipped away from Fire Island as unexpectedly as she had come in the fog of Thursday morning. After 83 hours of imprisonment in the sand off the Lone Hill Life Saving Station, she cheated the "Graveyard of the Atlantic" and was floated with the aid of the tugs at 3.05 p.m. At 3.40 she left in tow of Scotland Light, practically at the entrance to New York harbor, to anchor for the night. To-day, the Irene came up to her dock, and after her hull is fixed she will be rushed to Newport for more thorough examination in drydock. Her stay there will depend on what the inspection discloses. The vessel has not taken a drop of water [illegible] her plates are thought to be intact.

The North German Lloyd Line has been noted for its kind-hearted leniency with conscientious commanders, and as the veteran Captain Peterson of the Princess Irene will take his ship back across the Atlantic under her own steam, substantially unscathed, it is the assumption here among those who profess to know, that Peterson's personal grief will be his chief punishment. He has had a flawless and notable record heretofore, and in New York steamship circles it is believed that if his explanation of the grounding is considered satisfactory his reprimand will not be severe.

To the life-savers who followed the work to save the Princess Irene, her sudden flotation yesterday afternoon was a distinct surprise. Capt. G. J. Goddard of the Lone Hill station was almost flabbergasted. In his opinion it was due to a miracle and an unusually high tide stirred up by a southeasterly storm at sea.

Burned to Death.

Halifax, April 10.—Georgie Ryan, the four-year-old son of Chief Steward Ryan of the steamer Boston, was burned to death on Saturday. The Boston was due to arrive yesterday, but was detained by the weather, so that the father was not aware of the terrible affair until he landed. The mother of the child went out for five minutes to purchase groceries. During her absence the child's clothing became ignited at the kitchen stove and so badly was he burned that he died in an hour.

Peace Campaign Afoot.

New York, April 10.—Advocates of international peace had an all Saturday night at the Press Club Andrew Carnegie as guest of honor, and resolved to work unflinchingly until the proposed arbitration treaty between the United States and Great Britain shall have been ratified. They also blessed the way for the creation of the movement throughout the country of demonstration meetings in every city and county in the country.

That Boy of Yours

The mother who realizes the importance of giving her boy the "right start" will not request the salesman to show her "something dark and cheap," saying, "he is so careless with his clothes—most anything will do him." She knows that one of the first principles in home training is to teach the youngster self-respect and the important part that good clothes play in engendering this quality. This does not necessarily mean paying more for his clothes. But it does mean that his clothes will reflect the discriminating taste of a mother who considers "most anything" will NOT do for HER boy.

Sanford Juvenile Clothes are built for mothers who care—mothers who insist on good clothes as well as good manners. Sanford Juvenile Clothes are necessary because they are an indispensable part of your boy's education in teaching him to esteem those virtues which promote true refinement and manly self-respect.

The foremost clothing or dry goods merchant in your town knows the value of Sanford Juvenile Clothes. Ask him to show you the new spring models. They will do the rest.

Edmonton, Alta., April 10.—Grave fears are entertained that the worst has happened to the mounted police patrol, consisting of Sergt. Fitzgerald and Constables Carter, Martin and Taylor, who started from Hersenet Island for Edmonton, in December last.

WANTS FOUR SEATS.

An American Would Like a Box in Westminster Abbey.

London, April 10.—These are busy days for foreign and colonial representatives in London, particularly the American and Canadian officials. Thousands of people are coming from America for the coronation, and from the appearance of the embassy and consulate mail bags a large proportion of them want something done for them.

The majority of the requests are reasonable; many are difficult to comply with, and a few, to those knowing the conditions, are ridiculous. One writer, for example, asked that four seats be reserved for him in Westminster Abbey on the day of the coronation, hardly realising perhaps that few outside of official circles will secure a glimpse of that historic ceremony, and not many thousands will even get a view of the procession from Buckingham Palace to the Abbey, the route being so short.

There will be many occasions during the summer, however, of seeing the royal coach and witnessing ceremonies only a little less interesting than the coronation itself. Five times during May and June Their Majesties will drive through the streets of London. On May 21 they go to Crystal Palace to open the festival of empire; on June 2 there is the coronation procession; on the day following the royal passage through London, when several miles of streets will be traversed. On June 29 the visit to the Guild Hall and return through north London; on June 30 a second drive to Crystal Palace, where the King and Queen are giving a coronation fete for 100,000 children in the elementary schools of London.

On May 16 the Queen Victoria memorial will be unveiled, and the German Emperor and Empress will attend. The following evening a gala performance will be given at Drury Lane in honor of the German Emperor. In coronation week there will be gala performances at both Covent Garden Opera House and His Majesty's Theatre.

Canadian Cadets to Go.

Ottawa, April 10.—An invitation having been received from the Imperial Cadet Association of London, Eng., for Canadian cadets to participate in the "Boys' Bisley" on the 24th of May, it has been decided to send twelve cadets from organized cadet corps, accompanied by an officer, to take part in the competitions. The Department of Militia and Defence will have charge of their transportation to and from the cadets' homes and subsistence during their stay in England. They will sail from Montreal for England on May 8th and return to Canada early in July.

The cadets will be selected from those participating in the miniature and gallery competitions of the Canadian Rifle League, 1911, and be chosen according to the places taken by them in a special competition to be fired with single-loading rifles, .22 bore, on local miniature ranges from the 11th and 18th of April.

Shot His Son.

Halifax, N.S., April 10.—A shooting affair that may end in tragedy, occurred at Truro yesterday, in the home of Michael Jackson, who is now in jail charged with shooting his son Arthur. The prisoner is over 70 years of age, and has always been considered a peaceful man. Arthur, who is in the hospital with a bullet hole in his neck, has been away from Truro for ten years. He returned some days ago and since then has been living at his father's house.

The trouble started yesterday morning over washing the breakfast dishes, as the men were keeping bachelor quarters. Words brought on blows, and the son, it is said, struck the old man, knocking him down. The father drew a revolver, the son grabbed a knife and sprang at his father, who turned the revolver on him and the bullet entered his neck.

Tried to Kill Landlady.

Rochester, N.Y., April 10.—George Lattia, once a leading coal dealer of this city, attempted to murder Mrs. Ido Hoffman, aged 44, with whom he boarded, Saturday night. He fired three shots at the woman, one of which struck her in the left shoulder and set fire to her clothing. The second bullet struck a corset stay to the right of the heart. The stay dented the flesh, which was not broken. The stay undoubtedly saved the woman's life. Lattia pursued the woman for a block, firing all the way, until Patrick Boland, a ball player, grappled with him. Boland wrestled the gun away from the man, who produced a bottle of carbolic acid and swallowed enough of the fluid to cause his death.

Navigation Delayed.

Montreal, April 10—Montreal's hope for an early opening of navigation this year has been rudely shattered. The cold weather spell, with which March kept up her reputation for a lion-like exist, has so delayed the breaking up of the ice that it is already a week past the time of opening of navigation last year, and the prospects are that it may be two or even three weeks more before the boats will be able to redish this port.

In Peril on Island.

Halifax, April 10.—No word has been received by C. H. Harvey, agent of the Marine and Fisheries Department, from St. Paul's Island, where 140 of the crew of the abandoned steamer Harlaw found a refuge from the sinking ship. Mr. Harvey considers that this means the Newfoundland Government steamer, Bonaventure, sent to the men's relief, has not been able to make the island.

Militia Changes.

Ottawa, April 10.—Militia orders state that the period of appointment of Lieut.-Col. J. Massie as principal veterinary officer of the R.C.A. has been extended to March 1st, 1912.

Lieut.-Col. L. N. Laurin, of the 87th Regiment, has been appointed commander of the 11th infantry brigade.

The 5th Field Co. C.E. is to be organized with Alex. Macphail as commander.

Sir Henry Pellatt's tenure of command of the Q.O.R. has been extended to April, 1912.

Major Z. G. Chabot has been appointed commander of the 9th regiment.

Lieut.-Col. C. E. English's service in the R.C.A. is extended to April 1, 1911.

Police Again Raid Book Stores.

Toronto, April 10.—Once more the police went gunning for undesirable books Saturday at 1 o'clock. They visited the emporiums of Albert Britnell and John P. McKenna, and secured three specimens at the first and two at the last port of call. The books which are now up for censure are very different from the classics which were recently condemned. This time the matter is extremely modern. At Britnell's "The Yoke," "Three Weeks" and "Cynthia in the Wilderness" were seized, and at McKenna's copies of the first two were taken.

The police hold that these books are obscene.

At the Britnell premises a search was made by Staff Inspector Kennedy and Detective McKinney who, armed with candles, descended into the cellar. They located a case of books lying adjacent to a drain pipe, among which were copies of all three books. These they seized and departed. At the McKenna store every assistance was given to the police and copies of two of the books were taken.

Summonses will be issued in each case for a day early in the week.

Great Unrest in Portugal

Lisbon, April 10.—It is feared that the Monarchists plotting at Vigo and Tuy, may take advantage of the discontent in the north of Portugal over the religious question to endeavor to incite the inhibtants to revolt.

The provisional Government sent a cruiser fully manned and with extra guns for landing purposes to Oporto Friday night. All regiments stationed in the north are held ready to quell a rising. The Spanish frontier is closely guarded.

A number of men employed at the Lisbon arsenal, objecting to the new rules of the Minister of Marine, refused to resume work. Saturday afternoon some of them endeavored to penetrate to the Minister's office, crying, "Down with the Minister of Marine." Sailors and the municipal guard quelled the revolt.

A body of mutineers then seized a steam launch and went on board the gunboat San Rafael, asking protection from the commander, who refused and forced them to return. The Government is making arrests.

Police Chief Arrested.

Arnprior, Ont., April 10.—Charged with theft of $11,500 of the funds of the town of Arnprior, Chief of Police John Matteson, was arrested Saturday afternoon, arraigned before Magistrate Burwash and committed for trial. He was taken to the county jail at Pembroke on Saturday night by Constable Cousineau to await his trial. The chief did not plead, the commitment being made by agreement between counsels representing the prosecution and his solicitor.

The warrant for the chief's arrest had been made out for several days, and the prosecution were only awaiting his recovery from his illness before taking action. Shortly after noon on Saturday Constable Cousineau served the paper on the chief, who accompanied him down to the court house. Then Magistrate Burwash, the lawyers for both sides, Mayor McLachlan and a few of the town councillors were waiting. The charge was read, and the necessary formalities gone through as speedily as possible. Everything had been arranged before hand to expedite matters, and the whole proceedings lasted not more than five minutes.

Has Had All He Wants.

Spokane, Wn., April 10.—Theodore Roosevelt made his first public declaration regarding his possible candidacy for the Presidency at a luncheon given in his honor Saturday by the Commercial Club:

"I am not an aspirant for anything, because I have had everything," he said. "No other man alive has had—I don't know whether I ought to use this simile in the presence of the chaplain, but I am going to take chances—no other man alive has had such a good run for his money.

"You have nothing I want, except your respect and good-will; and all I desire is, so far as the chance arises where I am able to do so, to help you in any movement for the good of our common country."

Will Build in Britain.

Constantinople, April 10.—The Chamber adopted a motion Saturday by a vote of 115 to 40 confirming the Government's action in awarding the contract for the vessels of the new Turkish navy, consisting of three battleships of 16,500 tons each and several smaller craft, to Armstrong, Whitworth & Co., Ltd., of London. The commission, which was appointed to investigate the complaint of the Palmer Shipbuilding & Iron Co., of London, and the Bethlehem Steel Co., that their tender, although the lowest, was not considered, reported that it was unable to reach a decision, as the Minister of Marine declined to supply the commission with the papers in the case.

Nearly Foot of Snow.

Halifax, April 10.—A snow storm unprecedented in April came upon Halifax yesterday. Nearly a foot of snow must have fallen on the level in this city. A despatch from Yarmouth says that snow fell heavily there.

Grenfell Dined by Pilgrims.

New York, April 10.—Wm. Butler Duncan, president of the Pilgrims' Society, and the members of its executive committee, gave a luncheon Saturday in honor of Dr. Wilfred Grenfell, famous as the superintendent of the Labrador medical mission to deep-sea fishermen, and British magistrate in charge of the Labrador coast.

Dr. Grenfell gave a brief account of the conditions on the Labrador coast and paid tribute to the assistance he had received from students of Yale, Harvard, Princeton and the University of Pennsylvania.

Had Severe Pains In His Back.

Could Hardly Work.

Mr. Alfred E. Davis, Gorrie, Ont. writes:—"For some years I suffered from severe pains in my back and could hardly work at all, and when I stooped down to pick up anything felt as if my back must break. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and after taking two boxes I was entirely cured, and feel that I cannot speak too highly in their favor.

"This was nearly four years ago and I still remain cured."

Those who have never been troubled with kidney trouble do not know the suffering and misery which those afflicted undergo.

Weak, lame or aching back comes from the kidneys, and when the kidneys are out of order the whole system becomes deranged.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a specific for all kidney troubles.

They help the kidneys to flush off the acrid and poisonous impurities which have collected, thus clearing out the kidneys, bladder and urinary passages.

Price 50c per box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited Toronto, Ont.

If ordering direct specify "Doan's"

TO CURE A HEADACHE

The experience of Mr. O. Barber, Simcoe, Ont., is of interest to all who suffer from headaches. He writes: "For a long time I was troubled with headaches which came on about once a week with such violence that I could not eat or do my work. Headache powders and quick cures did me no good. I then used six boxes of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food and have not been troubled with headache since. That was eight months ago."

OBITUARY

MRS. FRANCIS DUNN.

There passed away yesterday at St. Joseph's Hospital, one of Peterborough's oldest settlers, in the person of Mrs. Francis Dunn. Mrs. Dunn had been ailing for the past month and was removed to the hospital on Friday, and becoming more seriously ill passed away yesterday.

Mrs. Dunn was in her eighty-sixth year. She was born in Ireland and came to Peterborough many years ago where she has lived ever since. She leaves to mourn her loss, Mr. Arthur Dunn, Port Arthur, and Mrs. M. J. Hickey, Peterborough. Her husband predeceased her some years ago.

Mrs. Dunn was one of the earliest settlers of the city of Peterborough, her maiden name being Miss Bridget McDonough. She was of a kindly disposition, a good neighbour, and her many friends in Peterborough will regret to learn of her demise.

The funeral will take place from the residence of her daughter, Mrs. M. J. Hickey, 383 Boswell avenue, on Tuesday morning, at nine o'clock, and proceed to St. Peter's Cathedral, thence to the Roman Catholic cemetery for interment.

H. T. EVANS

There passed away yesterday at 3.30 p.m., one of the oldest and most highly respected residents of the city in the person of Mr. H. T. Evans, at the residence of his son, David Evans, 226 Woodbine avenue.

Deceased, who was in his 86th year, had been ailing for the past few months. He was born in Wales, and came to Canada when he was 18 years old. Since 1857 he has resided in Peterborough. His wife predeceased him four years and three months ago.

He leaves to mourn his loss five sons and three daughters. The daughters are Mrs. R. R. Jones, Chicago; Mrs. W. Wilcox, West Toronto, and Mrs. A. Russell, of this city. The sons are George, Albert, Thomas and Charles, all residing in the States, and David of this city.

The funeral will take place from the residence of his son, 226 Woodbine avenue, Tuesday afternoon, at 2.30 p.m., and proceed to the Little Lake cemetery for interment. Rev. Mr. Webb will officiate.

IN MEMORIAM.

Lines on the death of Mrs. Osway Carver, who died on March 8th, 1911, at her home "Spruce Grove," North Monaghan:

One precious to our hearts has gone
The voice we loved is stilled,
The place made vacant in our home
Can never more be filled.
Our Father in His wisdom called
Dear Mother, home to rest,
And though in earth the body lies
The soul is safe in heaven.

We miss thee from our home, mother,
We miss thee from thy place,
A shadow o'er our life is cast;
We miss the sunshine of thy face,
We miss thy kindly hand,
Thy fond and earnest care.
And little Pearl is so lonely,
We miss thee everywhere.

Safe in the arms of Jesus
Thy work on earth is done,
The battle's fought, the victory won
And thou art crowned at last;
Safe in the arms of Jesus
Thy pain and suffering's past,
And while eternal ages run
Rest in thy Saviour's joy.

Farewell, mother! farewell, mother!
Peaceful by thy silent rest,
Slumber sweetly, God knows best
When to call thee home to rest.
Farewell, mother! farewell, mother!
We must say our last farewell
Till we all meet beyond the river,
Heyy there with thee to dwell.

—Alice L. Carver.

BOWLING AND SHOOTING SCORES

TO LOVERS OF FOOTBALL.

Editor Examiner:

Dear Sir,—May I, through the medium of your columns, appeal to all lovers of football in our city to help by means of subscription and attendance at the matches, the St. John's Football Club, which has just been formed. The club is affiliated to the Peterborough church football league, and is in need of assistance. A good club has been formed and we need help from all lovers of the game. Subscriptions will be gratefully received by the collectors and by the treasurer.

SLIM ATTENDANCE HEARS THE DEBATE

A Bare Quorum Present in the House Yesterday—Most of the Members Have Gone to Their Homes for Holidays.

INQUIRY AT SOREL

Ottawa, April 11.—The debate on the reciprocity agreement yesterday was listened to by a bare quorum, most of the members having departed for their homes. There was, however, some good debating and some clever repartee and rejoinder.

F. D. Monk enquired as to the investigation at the Sorel shipyard. He was informed by Hon. L. P. Brodeur that the departmental investigation now going on was not in public, that it was being conducted by C. Doutre, purchasing agent; A. Boyle, chief accountant; R. A. Wallard, agent of the Department at Montreal, with J. L. Perron as counsel. One of the charges is that Government buoys have been converted for private use. Enquiry has been in progress since September last. Three employes have been proceeded against in the courts. Of these two have been convicted, and the other committed for trial.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier introduced a bill to amend the Indian Act. Its chief provisions are that where a railway is run through an Indian reserve the Governor-in-Council shall have power to authorise the building of the railway, also when an Indian reserve is within ten miles of a city of over 10,000 people, application may be made to the Exchequer Court by the superintendent-general of Indian Affairs for enquiry and report as to whether it is expedient in the interests of the white population that the reserve should be removed.

C. J. Thornton resumed the debate on the reciprocity agreement.

He deprecated the discussion of the agreement from the standpoint of local conditions alone. He admitted that the agreement might help some classes in the community, but he believed that from the national point of view, it would be distinctly disadvantageous. He described the McKinley tariff duty on barley as "a blessing in disguise," because it had turned to attention of Canadian farmers into more profitable lines now, new lines of industry had been developed at the cost of years of labor and heavy cost. Yet, it was proposed by the present agreement to upset all these arrangements.

Mr. Thornton quoted at length from the Premier, and the Finance Minister in favor of tariff stability, and in favor of public enquiry before any considerable tariff changes were made. Yet, both these good doctrines were thrown to the winds in this agreement.

During the early part of these citations the Premier went out; the Finance Minister was already absent. "It is the duty of the Prime Minister and of the Finance Minister," commented Mr. Thornton, "to stay in the House during every minute of this discussion."

Mr. Thornton went on to say that he wished to direct his remarks especially to these two Ministers.

E. B. Devlin (Wright, Liberal) denied the truth of the assertion that the flag followed trade, and gave as a proof of his contention the trade of Great Britain. For instance, Great Britain bought from Canada, 19 million hundredweight of wheat, but 26 million from Russia. Great Britain's purchases of butter were: From Canada, 34,000 cwt.; from Denmark, 1,500,000 cwt., and from Russia, 573,000 cwt. The purchases of bacon were: From Canada, 301,000 cwt.; from Denmark, 1,781,000 cwt., and from the United States, 1,500,000 cwt. He declared that when the Conservatives were in power they had discriminated against the imports from Great Britain.

T. W. Crothers (West Elgin) declared that the time had arrived for earnest thought and plain speech. Whoever knew, he asked, of the Americans entering into a bargain for the benefit of the other party. It was nonsense to talk of the friendliness of the United States in this matter. He denied that it was the part of wisdom to change from a certainty to an uncertainty.

Mr. McLean of Huron moved the adjournment.

Railway to Bayfield.

Bayfield, Ont., April 11.—The Ontario West Shore Railway Co. is in negotiation with the corporation council of Bayfield in connection with the proposed extension of the railway south from Goderich to that place. The people of Bayfield have long been looking for railway connection, and no doubt will be quite willing to assist the Ontario West Shore project.

Will Get the Pen Next Time.

Chatham, April 11.—Warren Shupe, convicted of assaulting a local girl, was yesterday fined $37.50 in all by Magistrate Houston, who told him that if he ever came before him again the penitentiary would be the penalty. The magistrate ordered Shupe's wife and little daughter taken from the court-room while he passed sentence.

Settled Their Differences.

Lakefield, April 11.—All questions between the village and the Canada Cement Co. have been amicably settled, and the works will be started up to their full capacity at once.

TWENTY LIVES LOST IN IROQUOIS WRECK

Steamer Founders Off Waterfront of Sydney, B.C.—Within Sight of the Shore Little Boat Goes Down

A FEW SAVED

Victoria, B.C., April 11.—The steamer Iroquois, Capt. Sears, which plies between Sydney and the Gulf Islands, was wrecked shortly after nine o'clock yesterday morning and a large number of passengers and members of the crew were drowned, estimates varying from 20 to 25. First bulletins had stated it was believed that all those on board had been saved, with the exception of A. G. Munro, purser. At one p.m., it was estimated that there were between 20 and 40 passengers aboard, the first estimate being made by Capt. Sears, and the second by the officials of the Victoria and Sydney Railway Co. The crew numbered twelve.

The known drowned of the crew are: A. Olsen, Robert Hornbull, Chinese cook, D. N. Davidson, A. G. Munro, purser, and Dryden. One man's body has been recovered. He was wearing a ring bearing the initials P.M.

Eight women are reported missing. Their names are unobtainable.

Capt. Sears came ashore with a number of others who were saved on a raft, which was part of the wreck. The accident occurred in the channel near Mary Island, opposite Capt. Curtis' house, which has been turned into a morgue and hospital. Capt. Curtis put off in his launch and saved a number of lives. George and Clifford Rasthour of Sydney also put out launches and did good rescue work. Many Indians also put out in canoes.

When the Iroquois foundered part of the upper works were left above water and people ashore could see the survivors clinging to this portion of the wreck. The swirl of the water soon tore off the housework, the scene being covered with wreckage and people struggling for their lives. Of the bodies which drifted ashore many were equipped with life belts. A number of launches put off for the scene, but were unable to get near the wreck. The first of the survivors to be landed was Capt. Sears of the wrecked boat, who with the mate, Leinster, and two Indians belonging to the crew, were towed ashore. The boat is believed to have foundered in comparatively shallow water, her boilers blowing up and part of her housework remaining unsubmerged.

G. Neeves, of Sydney, a witness of the disaster, has arrived here, but is unable to tell how many lives were lost.

"A squally southeast wind was blowing," said Mr. Neeves, "and the sea, while choppy, was not rough. About twelve minutes after leaving Sydney, as I was standing at the railway station waiting to catch the train to Victoria, I noticed the vessel keel over on her port side. Those with me cried out. We watched her for several minutes when she slowly disappeared. The distance was so great and the mist so heavy that we could not see what had taken place on board. In about half an hour one of the boats from the wrecked vessel came ashore and we heard that another had swamped, but were unable to find out before the train left for Victoria, how many, if any, lives were lost."

Mr. Neeves, who is quoted above, says that over thirty passengers, bound to Pier Island, Salt Island, Mayne Island, and Nanaimo, took passage on the Iroquois from Sydney. The crew numbered twelve, so there must have been more than forty persons aboard when the accident occurred.

When the ship was rapidly filling and settling, Purser Munro ran back to his office to secure the books and valuables, which were aboard. When he again came back on deck he jumped on a bale of hay, but after it had had been in the water for a few seconds it began to sink. Not being a good swimmer, Munro was drowned. He is survived by a wife and young child.

Landslide on C.P.R.

Ottawa, April 11.—A landslide occurred Sunday between Ironsides and Chelsea, on the Gatineau branch of the C.P.R. The landslide was discovered yesterday by the outward-bound train, which had to back down to Hull. A gang of men were sent up, but it was found that the whole hillside would have to be removed, as the water had undermined it.

Ward was sent to Chelsea for the down train to transfer passengers. This was a difficult task as the country around is of blue clay, and the passengers had trouble wading through it. The track was covered for quite a distance, and it is feared that more of the mountain is in danger of sliding.

Poisoned Food For Enemy.

Mexicalliz, Mex., April 11.—Col. Mayott, commander of the federal forces near here yesterday burned all provisions abandoned by Stanley Williams' filibustering American band, after the fight of Saturday.

According to survivors of the latter force, Mayott's suspicion that the food was poisoned, was well founded. One guerrilla said enough cyanide had been mixed with the flour to kill the entire federal army.

Poaching Tug Captured.

Kingsville, April 11.—The fishing tug Eagle of Lorain, Ohio, was captured yesterday afternoon as a poacher in Canadian waters, and the vessel, with a crew of six men, was brought here. The Eagle had on board 3,000 pounds of fish and 30 skeins of net twine. All of this, with the tug, has been confiscated.

First Trip of Season.

Brockville, April 11.—With the river clear of ice from dock to dock, the ferry steamer Bigelow made her first trip of the season from Morristown to Brockville yesterday, inaugurating the summer service on this portion of the St. Lawrence.

JOHNSON IS DEAD

Well Known Ex-Mayor of Cleveland and Exponent of Three Cent Fares Passes Away.

A SINGLE TAXER

Cleveland, April 11.—Tom L. Johnson, twice Congressman from 21st Ohio district, four times mayor of Cleveland, champion of three cent street railway fares, and prominent advocate of the single tax theories of the late Henry George, died in his apartments in the White Hall, East 107th street, at 8.45 o'clock last night, after a long illness. Death was caused by cirrhosis of the liver. He was 57 years old.

Thomas Loftin Johnson was born in Georgetown, Ky., July 18, 1854. At the age of fifteen, he took a position with the Louisville Street Railway Co., where he applied himself so well that after six years service, he had thoroughly mastered every detail. He invented and patented numerous improvements, the sale of which formed the nucleus of a fortune later estimated at more than $1,000,000. In 1876 he bought a badly managed traction line in the City of Indianapolis, rejuvenated and placed it on a paying basis. Later he acquired large street railway interests in Cleveland, Detroit and Brooklyn, which he afterwards sold and centered in Cleveland, his adopted city. There, too, he operated an iron manufacturing establishment.

Tom Johnson first came into the public eye in 1891, when he was elected to Congress by the Ohio Democrats through his advocacy of the "single tax" theories of the late Henry George. As an exponent of the municipal ownership of public utilities, with stress on street railway lines, he became even more famous. So firm a believer was he in its principles, that he spent most of his fortune fighting its opponents in Cleveland.

Favoured Nation Clause Does Not Apply—Says Court Regarding the Treaty Between United States and France

A CUSTOMS DECISION

Washington, April 11.—The customs court, in a decision yesterday, held in effect that the so-called "favored nation" clause in the existing commercial treaties with England, France and Germany does not restrict the United States in effecting the proposed reciprocity agreement with Canada.

The court's decision was brought out by a comparatively unimportant contest over the rate of duty which should be imposed on whisky imported from England and France. The point involved is the same raised in opposition to the proposed Canadian reciprocity agreement by those who claimed it was practically forbidden by the "favorned nations clause."

A. Shaw & Co., a firm of New York importers, protested payment of duty on whisky from England at the rate of $2.25 per gallon, holding they were entitled to a rate of $1.75, which is imposed on whisky and other spirits, from France. The essence of their claim was that under the most favored nation clause with Great Britain importations from England are entitled to be entered at the same rate of duty levied upon on special merchandise, when imported from France and the other countries with which similar treaties have been executed.

The treaty with England was negotiated in 1815, and indefinitely extended in 1827. The treaties with France, Italy and Germany, forming the basis of the importer's claim, were put into effect by the President under the tariff act of 1897. Under the last named treaty "in view of reciprocal and equivalent concessions," the rate on whisky from France was fixed at $1.75 a gallon. The court holds that by its terms the treaty is one of mutual consideration and concession.

The importers' claim was that the concession of the lower rate of duty to France was a special favor within the purview of the treaty with England.

Citing several German decisions by the Supreme Court, the court held that the portion of the tariff act of 1897, which gave to the present authority to negotiate commercail reciprocity agreements with other nations was not in conflict with the "favored nations" clause with England.

The importance of the decision which was unanimous is interpreted as removing one of the greatest obstacles yet raised against the proposed agreement with Canada.

Repairing Cornwall Canal.

Cornwall, April 11.—The foot of the Cornwall canal is a very busy as well as a very dirty place just at present. The ice was nearly four feet thick in places, and it was necessary for Fallon Bros., who are building a concrete wall above lock 17, to remove it before the water went out. They now have over 100 men floundering about in the mud and slush, digging a foundation. Another bunch is demolishing a part of the wall in the spillway, to connect with the new by-wash built by Fallon Bros. last season. Mr. Sargent had quite a contract on his hands cleaning the ice out of the repair basin, where extensive improvements are going forward. An amphibious crew will have several dirty days before them, and concrete work will go on all summer. Then the Government is building two large new derrick boats, and Mr. Cohen has a couple of mud scows nearly completed, while nearly thirty craft of various kinds are undergoing repairs, more or less extensive.

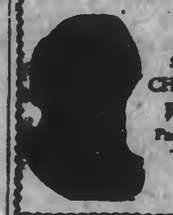
PEOPLE'S PULPIT.



Sermon by CHARLES T. RUSSELL Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle.

ONE CHURCH IN THE BEGINNING

"The Church of the First-Borns, Whose Names Are Written in Heaven."

London, April 9.—Again Pastor Russell had a most intelligent and attentive audience, amongst whom were many ministers of all denominations. His text was "The Church of the First-borns, whose names are written in heaven" (Hebrews xii, 23).

He urged that the subject be approached prayerfully and honestly—that all who see that there was but one Church in the beginning, established by the Redeemer, see also that there will be but the one Church in the end, the Church Triumphant in glory, "the Bride, the Lamb's Wife." For the same reason that there have been doctrines many amongst the followers of Jesus, there have been churches many, as representing these doctrines.

As last Sunday the question was, "What is the True Gospel?" and as we found that true Gospel more or less scattered in all the various creeds, and none of them the pure and unadulterated Gospel, so to-night we should be prepared to find that the one true Church of Christ for the past eighteen centuries has been scattered here and there amongst various denominations, and that not one of these denominations is the true Church. Not one of them can claim to contain all the "wheat" and none of the "tares." Not one of them can claim to contain all of the saints and no hypocrites. The time was when the various divisions of the Christian Church severally laid claim to being the one and only Church. But that time has passed, so far as the people are concerned, and has passed so far as the majority of the clergy are concerned.

I am not here to charge intentional wrong-doing on the part of any of the divisions of the Christian Church, said Pastor Russell. On the contrary, I shall assume that the framers of the various creeds were sincere, honest men; and that the original followers of those creeds were sincere, and that a few to-day may be equally sincere. I shall assume, however, that the majority of Christians, ministers and laymen, realize that the sectarian fences are largely composed of misconceptions of the Divine Word and Plan and that the causes which originally led to Church divisions have considerably disappeared. If we can now recognize one true Gospel we may all reunite, in harmony with our Master's prayer, that "All may be one, as Thou, Father, and I are one."

I remind you again of the simplicity of this Gospel which recognizes the broad outlines of the Divine Plan and allows each individual to see as many of the finer lines of the same as his spiritual development will permit. On that broad basis of Christian union the early Christians were one and reprobated any division. St. Paul rebuked those who said, "I am of Paul; I am of Apollos, I am of Peter" (I. Corinthians i. 12). As only Christ died for us all, He alone must be recognized as our Saviour. As He is the Head of the Church and the only Head, He only must be recognized. As all ye are brethren, so the class distinction as between clergy and laity must be abrogated that we all may be one Church with one Lord, one Faith and one Baptism and one God and Father over all (Ephesians iv, 5).

How the divided Church, with clashing creeds, appears to the Almighty, He tells us, calling it Babylon—which signifies confusion. And who can deny the appropriateness of the name? In times past Catholics have applied this name to the Protestant sects, and the Protestants in turn have applied it to the Church of Rome. But when we come to examine the Scriptures on the subject they seem to include all—the Church of Rome being represented as the mother Church and the various Protestant Churches as her daughters. The charge of harlotry which the Lord makes against mother and daughters must be acknowledged, although with some this harlotry has been more open and pronounced than with others.

Using the Jewish marriage ceremony as the basis of the figure, all Christians, as members of the true Church, are declared to be "espoused to one husband, which is Christ" (II. Corinthians xi, 2). Under the Jewish custom the espousal brought the woman under the same obligation of chastity as though the marriage had taken place. Thus the Church, by her vow to her Lord, is obligated to the fall, although the marriage with the Heavenly Bridegroom will not take place until His Second Advent and the change of the espoused from earthly to heavenly conditions, for "flesh and blood cannot inherit the Kingdom of God" (Revelation xix, 7; John xiv, 3; I. Cor. xv., 50).

Spiritual harlotry is the condition in which the espoused of the Lord become affiliated with and joined to the world—thus the Church of Rome became affiliated with or united to the civil government of Rome; and when the Roman Empire went to pieces the Papal Church entered into covenant relationship with various divisions of the civil government; and some of these paramours she still has, while others have left her. France is gone. Portugal also, and Italy. Spain is moody; Austro-Hungary is her chief reliance at the present time. She is well treated in America, but not joined to the American Government. She is well entertained and given every liberty in Germany and by many in Great Britain, but these countries are not her paramours.

The Greek Church is joined to the Russian Government; the Church of England to the British Government. The Lutheran Church is married to several European Governments. Others of our Protestant Churches, having no opportunity for affiliation with earthly governments, have become united to worldly systems, worldly organizations of their own, in which, as a rule, wealth, mammon, sits at the head of the table, "Like mother, like daughters" is an old saying. Instead of charging this whole matter upon others, let us each recognise and take to heart our own share, for which we are responsible.

As the doctrinal errors which caused our divisions gradually developed during a long period of darkness, so our development along the lines of spiritual harlotry were gradual. It is not for us to quarrel with the facts, which are undeniable, but to sincerely repent of the wrong condition and renounce it. Coming back to the one faith, we should come back also to the one Lord. So doing He will graciously receive us and thenceforth His name alone will be quite sufficient. We will no longer need to style ourselves Roman Christians, English Christians, Lutheran Christians, Calvanistic Christians — but all such names will be abhorred as reminders of the unfaithfulness which we now deplore. As the name Christian was sufficient for the early Church it is sufficient to-day for all heartily glad to abandon errors of the past and to come together as the one "Church of the Living God."

As for the one baptism, let us concede what the Scriptures claim and declare, namely, that the water immersion is merely a symbol or picture of the burial of the individual's will and interests in death—like unto and in fellowship with our Lord's self-renunciement, even unto death. Thus all of the consecrated, of whatever denomination, can be recognised as members of the one true Church if they are dead with Christ to the world, its hopes and aims—buried with Him by baptism into His death, which death to the flesh (accepted by the Father) constitutes us members of the one Body of Christ, the true Church. If thus baptised into His death, we shall share also in His resurrection, says the Apostle (Romans vi, 4, 5).

Is it asked, Where has the true Church been during all the eighteen centuries since the Apostles died? We answer that the Scriptures picture her as going into the wilderness condition, out of public view, for twelve hundred and sixty years of this time. As pride, pomp, arrogance and error came into prominence, meekness, gentleness, love, simplicity, gradually retired. Through the long period of the "dark ages" no history of the true Church was written, just as no such history or record of her can be written to-day.

Since none of the various denominations is the true Church, therefore the history of none of these gives her history. As her members are Scripturally declared to contain not many wise, not many learned, therefore scattered amongst all the various creeds and churches, and some outside of them all, the espoused, chaste "virgin" of the Lord is not a prominent feature in Church affairs and is wholly unknown to the world. Indeed, these, while in the world, are not of it and usually are disesteemed. As the Master said, Marvel not if the world hate you. Ye know that it hated Me before it hated you. If ye were of the world, the world would love its own (I. John iii, 13; John xv., 18, 19).

If, then, the spirit-begotten ones, constituting the Lord's betrothed virgin Church, are few, and if that few be scattered amongst the four hundred millions nominally styled Christendom, it follows that they are greatly in the minority and could have comparatively little influence to-day even if they were ever so determined and energetic. The masses and classes rule. Wealth, learning, earthly interests and earthly power are better pleased with present conditions than with those which God's Word promises will be established when Messiah shall take to Himself His great power and begin His reign of righteousness.

Babylon, as the Scriptures declare, is great, influential, powerful—mother and daughters. She will never consent to a recognition of the saintly few in her midst, whom she considers foolish in claiming to be "the elect" and true Church. To apply the Apostle's words, She esteems the saintly class "fools all the day long," "the filth and off-scouring" of the earth. To her they are insurrectionists, always crying out for the simplicities of the Church, the rights and liberties of the individual in person and conscience, for holiness unto the Lord, not merely in name, but in deed and in Truth. For this true Church class, so small a minority in Babylon, to wait for the conversion of the worldly masses of the various systems to see "eye to eye" with them in this matter and to reform all these various systems would be to confess folly and to be led of unreason.

In such a matter we need the wisdom which comes from above and the faith and courage to follow it. The Lord's prayer must be our guide respecting His will concerning us—us who have by faith and consecration and begetting of the Holy Spirit been adopted into the One True Church "whose names are written in heaven." He prayed for us and not for the nominal mass, who are really parts of the world and thoroughly deceiving themselves in supposing that they have either part or lot or inheritance with the Church. Thank God that we now see that this does not mean that all except the saintly will be eternally tormented, but merely that none except the saintly, "copies of God's dear Son," can be members of the glorious "little flock," which God predestinated He would gather from every nation, people, kindred and tongue.

Of this faithful Church the Lord declares, "My sheep know My Voice and they follow Me." We hear His Voice assuring us that it is His will that we who belong to His chaste, espoused virgin class should all be one—should no longer be separated into sects and parties by creedal fences. The Lord declares that He gave Babylon time for repentance and she repented not. He declares that His sentence against the Babylonian system has already gone forth—that, from the Divine standpoint, already "Babylon is fallen! is fallen!" from Divine favor. What would be the wish of our Beloved, to whom we are betrothed? What is His message to us? It is written, "Come out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins and that ye receive not of her plagues"—her troubles (Revelation xviii, 4).

Since the nominal systems are not in that consecrated condition of heart, hungering and thirsting for the Truth and for righteousness and dead to self-will, there is it is hopeless to think of their surrender of their interests, theories, etc. The very most they could think of doing would be to federate—to agree not to war with each other. Far better would it be to have some theological battles and air their inconsistencies before the wiser public of to-day. But whatever Babylon may do, mother and daughters, the course of the saintly few, the real Church, which is shortly to come from the "wilderness" leaning upon the arm of her Beloved Bridegroom, is clearly set forth. The saintly should unite in heart on the principles and doctrines of God's Word, and should stand free in the liberty wherewith Christ has made them free from all human bondage and sectarianism.

Why should the Lord permit the formation of these great wards and divisions in mystic Babylon? He has permitted only such things as He is able to make work out blessings for His very elect. His "little flock," who soon shall be joint-heirs with Christ in His Kingdom. Babylon's strong sectarian walls, styled "orthodoxy," and the great brazen gates of worldliness will afford the saintly few the very test they need to demonstrate themselves "overcomers" — "more than conquerors," for such overcomers only will constitute the members of the Bride class. All the promises are made to the "overcomers" and there must needs be permitted subtle evils for their testing.

In a word, our Lord's prayer will be realized by the "overcomers." They will be one with Himself and with the Father; there will be "one Lord, one Faith, one Baptism, one God, the Father." But as for the nominal systems their future will be destruction as systems, though many of God's dear people in them, failing to overcome, will be "saved so as by fire" in a great time of trouble with which this Age will terminate and the New Age will be ushered in (I. Corinthians iii, 15).

You have my plea, Christian brethren, for the fulfillment of the Master's prayer in the union of "the Church which is the Body of Christ," "the Church of the First-Born, whose names are written in heaven." This union will not necessitate any reorganization as a new sect or new Church. It is the true Church, the only one which God has ever recognised. Babylon, without it, would not be in any sense of the word recognized of God, and, as soon as the "overcomers" shall have escaped from Babylon, Babylon will come in remembrance before God that He may give to her the cup of the wine of His wrath, and suddenly, in one hour, her fall will occur (Revelation xvi, 19; xviii, 10). To the true Church the Lord all along intimated that their oneness is as members of Christ, and not in earthly organizations. We do not read, Gather together unto Calvin, Luther, Wesley, Paul, Apollos or Peter, but, "Gather together my saints unto Me, saith the Lord, those who have made a Covenant with Me by sacrifice." "They shall be Mine, saith the Lord, in that day when a come to make up My jewels" (Psalm i, 5; Malachi iii, 17).

When all of the sanctified shall have been delivered, the clock of the Universe will strike the hour which closes the present Dispensation and opens the New; and "the salt of the earth" having been removed from Babylon, corruption will swiftly ensue. Flee out of Babylon! Deliver every man his soul! Let us use the light of "Present Truth" to the extent that each enjoys it. It will guide us in respect to all the affairs of life—into closer fellowship with God and the Saviour and the brethren; and into separateness of mind and heart and service from Babylon. Let Babylon proceed with the goods works in which she takes pride. The work of the saints, the Lord declares, is to "build one another up in the most holy faith," that eventually it may be said, "The marriage of the Lamb has come, for His Wife hath made herself ready."

"Pneumonia"

Pneumonia is nothing more or less than "Lung Fever," or as it used to be called, "Inflammation of the Lungs" and the results come entirely from a local source such as taking a violent cold.

There is more or less difficulty in breathing: a cough, at first dry, but soon accompanied by raising a thick, sticky, rusty-colored matter, composed of a mixture of phlegm and blood.

There is only one way to prevent Pneumonia, and that is to cure the cold just as soon as it appears. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will do this quickly and effectively.

Mrs. G. W. Bowman, Pattulle, Ont., writes: "Three years ago I caught a cold which ended in a severe attack of Pneumonia. Since that time, at the beginning of each winter, I seem to catch cold very easily. I have been so hoarse that I was unable to speak loud enough to be heard across the room. Last winter, however, a friend advised me to try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, saying it had helped her. I bought a bottle and before it was half used I was completely cured. I also find it a good medicine for the children when they have colds."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; the price 25 cents.

MORE PINKHAM CURES

Added to the Long List due to This Famous Remedy.

Glanford Station, Ont.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for years and never found any medicine to compare with it. I had ulcers and falling of the uterus, and doctors did me no good. I suffered dreadfully until I began taking your medicine. It has also helped other women to whom I have recommended it."—Mrs. HENRY CLARK, Glanford Station, Ontario.

Another Cure

Harvey Bank, N. B.—I can highly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any suffering woman. I have taker it for female weakness and painful menstruation and it cured me.—Mrs. DAVIES BARBOUR.

Because your case is a difficult one, doctors having done you no good, do not continue to suffer without giving Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. It surely has cured many cases of female ills, such as inflammation, ulceration, displacements, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, indigestion, dizziness, and nervous prostration. It costs but a trifle to try it, and the result is worth millions to many suffering women.

If you want special advice write for it to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass. It is free and always helpful.

The Sagacious Buffalo.

An interesting point in the story of Canada is that the country was discovered by following the buffalo herds on their ranges.

"You can tell good country by following buffalo," says a student of the plains. Harry V. Rodford shot the largest buffalo on record, 2,460 lbs., north of Fort Smith. The soil is fertile, the grass long, the hay thick and cures well. No such country was to be found elsewhere from the Rio Grande to Fort Smith.

Quick and Cheap Legal Work.

The French tribunal of commerce is presided over by a judge without a jury. The plaintiff's lawyer argues his own case before the judge, simply to show that he has a case and the nature of it. The defendant does not plead, but if he can disputes the facts. If the judge considers there is no case he dismisses the plaintiff. In the contrary case he appoints an assessor out of a dozen chosen yearly of the town's reputed merchants to decide upon it. The following day the assessor calls the parties to his room in the court. He hears each of them separately without any lawyers. Within fifteen minutes he gathers their documents and dismisses them. Two or three days later he communicates his judgment to the solicitors through the court, and the business is ended. The costs of lawyers and the court fees come to about $8 a side. The same case in England would take six months at least and cost no less than £150 for a claim of £50.—London Mail.

Not From Politeness.

This was heard in an overcrowded Boston elevated train:

"Say, Dick," said the young man whose football tactics had won him a strap in the rush—"say, Dick, I've been riding in on the 'L' every morning except Sundays and holidays for two years, and I've never given up a seat to a lady yet."

"You're a polite one," sneered Dick.

"Nothing of the kind," retorted the young man. "I've never had a seat to give up."—Boston Post.

A GREAT FEAST FOR CHILDREN

Preparations for the Coronation Entertainment to 160,000 Youngsters

The work of preparing for the Coronation entertainment which the King will give to 160,000 poor children of London at the Crystal Palace on June 20th, is well under way.

Sir William Carrington states that the committee entrusted to carry out the King's wishes, declares absolute impartiality is to be shown so that schoolchildren of every denomination should be properly represented.

Although not officially stated, there is every reason to believe that the King and Queen will be present in the course of the afternoon at the entertainment at the Crystal Palace. Most probably they will be accompanied by Princess Mary and one or two of her brothers.

It is presumed that the chosen 160,000 will be marshalled like an army and converge upon Sydenham by various routes. Probably the local railways for a certain time in the day will concentrate their energies on the transport of this army. Every child will bear his or her own name and address in writing, and will also carry a distinguishing ticket or rosette, indicating by color and by numerals the particular school and locality. It is hoped, also, that each girl will wear a white dress or sash and each boy a white tie. Once within the gates of the Crystal Palace, there should be little difficulty. The staff there is accustomed to invasions of football enthusiasts for the Cup Final numbering from 100,000 to 140,000, and in the summer various organisations bring to Sydenham many thousands of children.

The King's guests will arrive between 11 and 12.30 and stay until between 6 and 7 o'clock. Dinner and tea will be served, if fine, at long trestle tables on the grass, but if wet the meals will be served in relays within the Palace. For dinner the children will have cold meats, pies, pastries with lemonade; and at tea bread and butter, jam and cakes.

Each of the favored children will be given from the King a specially designed Coronation beaker of Royal Doulton ware. They are to be of the same shape as those made for King Edward, and on the occasions of the Jubilees of Queen Victoria. His Majesty has supplied a special portrait of himself in the uniform of an Admiral of the fleet for reproduction on the beaker.

Apart from a generous programme of amusements and a monster tea, the children will be given probably their first glimpse of the greatness of the British Empire. The King has chosen the Crystal Palace, with its Festival of Empire, as the venue for this reason—to impress on the juvenile mind some understanding of the vast community of English-speaking countries of which they form no inappreciable part.

Mr. Frank Lascelles will superintend the direction of a special performance of the Pageant of Empire, lasting half an hour. A Royal box is to be erected for Their Majesties.

Subsequently the children are to be taken in batches for a trip round the Empire on the "All-Red Route" Railway. This will enable them to see the Parliament buildings of Newfoundland, Britain's oldest colony, with its papermaking and whaling and other industries, together with the harbor of St. John's; the great wheat prairies and cattle ranges of Canada, and the Parliament buildings at Ottawa; various Crown colonies, with a Malay village and a sugar plantation in Jamaica.

India will be visited, and Delhi, where the King is to be crowned in person Emperor of India. From India the young voyagers will travel to Australia and New Zealand, and finally to South Africa, where the gold and diamond mines will be shown in operation.

CORONATION DRESS

The Names of the Seven Royal Train-Bearers

The Queen having decided that her train at her Coronation shall be borne by seven daughters of Earls, is now considering what their costumes shall be. According to precedent, they will all wear white, and will be dressed precisely alike. Her Majesty will present to each of her attendants a handsome souvenir of the occasion, and this will probably be the only ornament these will be permitted to wear. The pages who attend the King wear a quaint uniform of scarlet, white and gold, and carry old-fashioned three-cornered hats with plumes under their arms.

The following are the train-bearers:

Lady Eileen Butler, daughter of the Earl of Lanesborough.

Lady Mary Dawson, daughter of the Earl of Dartrey.

Lady Mabell Ogilvy, daughter of the late Earl of Airlie and the Countess of Aarlie.

Lady Victoria Carrington, daughter of Earl Carrington.

Lady Jean Cochrane, daughter of the Earl of Dundonald.

Lady Eileen Knox, daughter of the Earl and Countess of Banfurly.

Lady Adelaide Spencer, daughter of Earl Spencer.

It is probable that further appointments will be made, necessitated by the weight and length of her Majesty's train.

Nerves Are Exhausted

And Nervous Prostration or Paralysis Are Creeping Steadily Upon You

DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

You hear of people suddenly falling victims of nervous prostration or some forms of paralysis. But when you get all the facts of the case you find that they have had months or years of warning.

They haven't slept well. There has been frequent attacks of nervous headache. Digestion has failed. They have been irritable, easily worried and excited and have found memory and concentration failing.

Had they but known that these symptoms tell of exhausted nerves or had they realised their danger they would have restored the feeble, wasted nerve by use of such treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

This great restorative treatment cures by forming new, rich blood and by rebuilding the wasted nerve cells. No medicine is more certain to prove beneficial, for each dose adds to the system a certain amount of rich, red blood.

Nervous diseases come on slowly and can only be overcome by patient and persistent treatment. Prevention is always better than cure, and for this reason you should endeavour to keep the system at high water mark by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food at the first sign of trouble. 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50; at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Headaches Stopped

Mr. J. A. Wessinger found Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey the only medicine to cure him of his headaches which had been the bane of his life.

"For years I suffered from headaches and though I tried all the Doctors in my community, they all told me that they could not do me any good. On the recommendation of a friend, I commenced to use Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey and I have not had a headache since. You may be sure I will pass the good word along to all my neighbors."—J. A. Wessinger, Chapin, S. C.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

through its tonic and rebuilding constituents, will cure troublesome nervous complaints by supplying the system with those vital elements which it needs to bring about a complete restoration to health.

The processes of tearing down and building up are constantly being carried on in the body, and if nothing interferes with these important processes good health results; but when something occurs to check them disease is sure to follow. Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey overcomes the disease by stimulating the heart and nerves, which quickens the circulation of blood, enabling the system to properly assimilate the food from the alimentary tract; also to adequately eliminate from the system, through the lungs, pores, kidneys and intestines, those waste products, such as uric acids, toxins, etc., which result from the disintegration of the old tissues of the body, and the decomposition of albuminum in the alimentary canal.

All liquor dealers, or direct, $1 25 a large bottle. Medical booklet, containing rare common-sense rules for health and testimonials, also doctor's advice, sent free to any one who writes.

MAIDS OF HONOR

Queen's Strong Practical Insight Shown in Choice of Four.

Queen Mary once more has displayed evidences of her strong practical insight in the choice of her four maids of honor, the Hon. Sybil Brodrick, Venetia Baring, Mabel Gye, and Katharine Villiers.

The Hon. Sybil Brodrick is the daughter of Viscount Middleton by his first marriage with Lady Hilda Charteris, daughter of the veteran Earl of Wemyss; her eldest sister is Lady Tweedmouth. She is a bright, sensible girl with ideas of her own about most things, and has traveled a good deal on the Continent.

The Hon. Venetia Baring is a dainty, Greuze-like lady with great taste in dress, who always wears something personal and characteristic. She avoids the prevailing fashions, but succeeds in appearing smart and individual without being eccentric.

Miss Gye is perhaps the most interesting of the maids of honor, in so far as she has had a cosmopolitan experience. Her late father was British Consul at Brest and she was educated in Paris. Consequently she speaks French as idiomatically as a real Parisienne, and Queen Mary thought, wisely, that would be of immense service in assisting in the entertainment of the many foreign royalties who will be in London for King George's Coronation.

The last in the list of maids of honor is Miss Katherine Villiers, daughter of the late Col. the Hon. George Villiers, second brother of the Earl of Clarendon, who was at one time military attache at St. Petersburg, Berlin, and Paris. Among her aunts are Constance, Countess of Derby, and Emily, Lady Ampthill, both "dowager." Her mother was, before her first marriage, Miss Maquay, the daughter of an American banker, and when Queen Mary spent a winter in Florence, a good many years ago, she was an intimate friend of Miss Maquay.

A MILLION STERLING

Amount Set Aside by the Indian Government for the Durbar

No less than a million sterling has been set aside by the Indian Government for the expenses of the King's Coronation visit in December. George V. will be crowned at Delhi as King-Emperor literally, and both the crowns in the Royal Regalia will be taken to India for the purpose.

Besides the magnificent Durbar, to which all the rajahs and chieftains of the Indian Empire will flock to do homage to their Kaiser-i-hand, there will be many imposing ceremonies.

The huge amphitheatre to be erected at Delhi for the Durbar will be lavishly decorated, and in and around the famous city will be encamped 50,000 of the flower of the Indian Army. Calcutta is presenting the King with a casket costing $5,000.

The King has been invited to shoot big game with the Maharajah of Nepal during the visit.

Explaining the provision of $5,000,000 by the Indian Government, Mr Montague, Under Secretary for India, stated in the House of Commons that set off against this sum would be the very considerable increase in railway, post-office and telegraphic revenue. No extra taxation is to be imposed.

After the durbar ceremonies, which will last a week, the King and Queen will visit Khatiwandu, the capital of the independent native State of Nepal, lying between Bengal and Thibet. The journey to Khatiwandu is one of the most fascinating that can be made in India. There is no railroad, and the Royal party will have to travel by road into the beautiful under-features of the Himalayas. The road, however, is good, and as the best tiger shooting in India is to be had in the Nepaulez Terai, it is probable a great shoot will be arranged. It is well known that King George is anxious to shoot an Indian rhinoceros, and these creatures survive only in the Terai.

A DESCRIPTION OF CORONETS

Many of These Used at the Coronation in 1902 will be Worn in June

"Numbers of peeresses," declared a London jeweler and silversmith, "imagine coronets to be composed of 18-carat gold, and studded with priceless gems.

"Well, the fact is, we often supply peers or peeresses with beautifully finished, light-weight coronets in silver gilt for less than twenty pounds. A peer's coronet must fit him like a hat: but these for peeresses are half the size. Peeresses, thus having plenty of room on their heads—happily for us—wear tiaras as well as coronets. In this way:

"The tiara, high in front, sloping down each side, is placed well forward on the noble brow. With hair bunched on top of the head, puffed out at the sides, the coronet rests on top of the hair, behind the tiara. Plenty of work there will be at the last moment, of course, altering tiaras for the Coronation, so that they may be worn in this way, for many of them are of the 'all round' pattern.

"Most of the coronets donned in June next will be those used for the last Coronation. I estimate that two thousand new coronets were then turned out, at an average of $90 apiece—$180,000 in all.

"One peer told me of the rescue of his coronet for the 1902 ceremony.

"His lordship's plate-chest was crammed. To make room, odds and ends were cleared out. Sorting these, he encountered his coronet. The butler, fairly staggered, said he had been pushing it into one odd corner and another for years past. Till he could come across the other part of "the old cruet."

"The most gorgeous Coronation item, though that comes the way of workers in precious metals, is the pallium, or Royal mantle of the King. It is of English cloth of gold—remember the 'Field' of it in history?—woven from finest gold thread, gold as pure as will stand the strain of being so used, almost without alloy.

"There are very few skilled weavers capable of making cloth of gold. It is exceedingly slow work, and as each inch of the material is formed, it is carefully wrapped up, so that it shall retain its glorious flood of color. Such new, absolutely unsoiled cloth of gold looks more like a blaze of brilliant sunshine than anything you ever saw.

"Many of the State robes will have Indian embroidery—gold and silver thread on silk.

"An ounce of the pure metal is drawn out into a thread half a mile long for the embroiderers to use. The pattern is always original, the embroiderers, trained from childhood, 'making it up' as they go along. Thus no two existing patterns are alike, and one robe can always be distinguished from another, which saves marking. The work is usually done in India, but for the Coronation some of the most expert craftsmen of Delhi, where the best come from, are being brought over here.

"The famous crimson velvet, with which Westminster Abbey will be strewn, I find on inquiry, costs about a pound a yard, bought by the piece. A piece measures some forty yards, and though the velvet is quite plain, without any pattern, such a length takes four months to make.

"British-spun pure silk linings are used, the proper lining for the crimson—really almost purple—velvet being white corded silk, costing about eight shillings a yard.

"So, although coronets themselves are not exactly pure gold jewels, one way and another the little bill 'tops up.'"

QUEEN MARY

THE DUBAR AT DELHI.

The King Will be Crowned in India on December 12.

King George, on Wednesday, March 22, officially gave his approval of the details for his Coronation. The King conferred with the Privy Council when the plans were gone over and ratified. It was decided that the Coronation Dubar at Delhi, India, should be held December 12 next, when King George and Queen Mary will be present. Both will sail for India about the middle of November.

New George V. Stamps.

The Secretary to the Treasury in a printed reply to a question, says that it is proposed to issue the new George V. stamps at the time of the Coronation. It has not been considered necessary to maintain the former large reserve of the existing stamps. A first delivery of sixty-eight reams has been made by the contractors, and the stamps fulfil the conditions of the new contract.

A Suggestion.

The M. A. P. Magazine says:—"It is hoped that the King and Queen may find it possible to visit South Africa after the Coronation Durbar in India."

ROBES AT AUCTION

Those of George IV. Were Once Sold at Phillips' Rooms

It is a fact, generally forgotten, that the Coronation robes of George IV., which, it has been suggested, his Majesty King George V. may wear at the coming ceremony, were once sold at auction. With other official costumes of George IV. they were "put up" at Phillips' auction rooms in Bond street in 1831.

The magnificent Coronation mantle of purple velvet was sold as "Lot 98" for a paltry $375, though it was probably worth $1,500 at least. Another splendid crimson velvet Coronation mantle, which, according to the auctioneer, cost $2,500, brought on the same occasion $235.

Other items on the catalogue were "the Coronation ruff of superb Mechlin" and the Coronation coat, waistcoat, and trunk hose.

And these sumptuous vestments—or most of them—passed into the hands of Madame Tussaud, though it is extremely doubtful if they were ever allowed to grace a wax figure.

A "Coronation" Engine.

To mark the completion of the 5,000th engine constructed at the London and North-Western Crewe works, a leviathan locomotive is being built, to be christened "Coronation." It is to cost over $20,000 to build, and its horse power will be about 1,300. It is expected that the engine will be ready in June, and will be used for the train by which the King and Queen are to travel by the West Coast route on their visit to Wales.

Pictorial Representation.

In view of the acceptance of two new historical paintings for the Royal Exchange, the suggestion is again forthcoming that a few of the vacant panels might be devoted to pictorial representations of episodes in the reigns of King Edward and King George V. King Edward paid several visits to the city which could be commemorated in this way, while the Royal progress of King George at his Coronation would obviously provide a fitting subject.

Palpitation of the Heart.

When the heart begins to beat irregularly or irregularly, palpitate and throb, skip beats, beats fast for a time, then go slow as to seem almost to stop, it causes great anxiety and alarm.

The least excitement or exertion seems to affect it.

Many people are kept in a state of morbid fear of death, become weak, worn and miserable, through this unnatural action of the heart.

To all such sufferers Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills can give prompt and permanent relief.

Mrs. John Thompson, Mill Cove, N.B., writes:—"Just a few lines to let you know what Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have done for me. I have been troubled with weakness and palpitation of the heart; would have severe choking spells, and could scarcely lie down at all. I tried many remedies but got none to answer my case like your pills did. I can recommend them highly to all suffering with heart and nerve trouble."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50c. per box or 3 boxes for $1.25 at all dealers or will be mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

BRER BOLL WEEVIL A-LOOKIN' FER A HOME

IN His Irresistible March to the Sea He Has Devoured Untold Millions in Cotton, Laughed at Scientific Foes and Even Slightly Benefitted the Southland, Until Now He Advances on Georgia for the Last Battle Royal Against the White Man

THE Professor came up through the field and leaned against the fence.

"Good morning," he said.

"Good mornin', boss," answered the young negro, who stopped his woodchopping at the greeting. He stood in the small, clear space at the side of a three roomed cabin. On two sides the cotton grew close enough against his house to be picked from the windows, and at the edge of the twenty foot yard the field closed in again to stretch for three hundred level acres.

"I am interested in songs," the white man continued, "and I heard you singing as I walked along the road. What were you singing, anyhow?"

"It warn't nothin'. Jest kinda hollerin'," came the rather surly answer.

"Just hollowing, you say; but what words were you using?"

"What kind of songs you like?" parleyed the black.

"Why, any kind. How about the 'Boll Weevil Song'?" asked the white man.

"Lord, boss, dat's a reel!" flashed back. "I don't sing no reels. I belongs to de church. You'll have to get some o' these here worldly niggers to sing reels."

"But I really should like to hear it," persisted the "boss."

A second negro had stepped out of the house and was watching the stranger suspiciously. The two glanced at each other. The first broke out:—

"We knows what you're after, boss. You can't fool us. You don't care nothin' 'bout songs. We knows what you is." Then, hesitating a moment, "You's a 'spotective,' boss; that's what you is. You's a-huntin' for some nigger." And "That's right," added his friend.

The white man protested. He told about folk songs in general and why he considered them of value. The black men were stubborn and plainly unconvinced. At last he slipped a half dollar from his pocket and laid it on the fence.

"I want to hear that song, boys. Come on now," he said, "just as you were singing it a while ago."

The woodchopper picked up his axe. He leaned on it a moment. Then, with a glance at the coin and another at his friend, he began:—

"The first time I saw the boll weevil
He was settin' on the square.
The next time I saw him
He had all of his family there,
He was lookin' fer a home,
Jes a-lookin' fer a home."

"The nigger says to the boll weevil,
'What makes yo' head so red?'
'I's been wanderin' the wide world over
Till it's a wonder I ain't dead,
I's lookin' fer a home,
Jes a-lookin' fer a home.'

"The boll weevil is a little bug,
From Mexico they say.
He came to visit Texas soil
And thought he'd better stay
A-lookin' fer a home,
Jes a-lookin' fer a home."

He stopped singing, though he had not reached the end of the song, which has more verses than any one man knows. The half dollar slid into his pocket. He had sung well, for the epic quality in the song appealed to him; and his quick humor was moved by the predicament of the weevil, and of the farmer as well. He had managed even to throw a "genuine melancholy into the iterated plaint:—

"A-lookin' fer a home,
Jes a-lookin' fer a home."

so that, for the moment, one could see in imagination the familiar picture of the sturdy frontiersman pushing into the unpeopled West, his purpose big within him of hewing out a fortune and erecting a fireside for his prolific family.

As a matter of fact, it was bound upon just such a homeseeker's excursion that the Mexican boll weevil reached Texas in 1892. He went vigorously to work, and with significant results; for eleven years later he had covered the vast fields of the vast State, and government statisticians estimated his depredations for that season—1903—at about $15,000,000. And the total of his aggregate damage to cotton in Texas alone, to the close of 1910, is considerably in excess of $100,000,000 in gold. Besides this, he has hit Louisiana and Mississippi as hard in proportion to their area and the time he has been at work upon their fields. Also, quite $2,000,000 more has been spent by the various State bureaus and the federal government in fighting him; while the experts estimate that, when this pest is distributed evenly over the South, he will destroy not less than two hundred and fifty million dollars' worth of cotton yearly.

The adult boll weevil, measures only about a quarter of an inch in length, and a third of that length is snout—a seemingly insignificant creature to cost a State a yearly toll of ten or more millions, and one is curious to know how he is able to do it. Simply in the two processes of feeding and reproduction. And in both of these processes he preys directly upon the cotton square, which is the tender embryo that precedes the blossom. Each square represents, therefore, a boll of cotton. The precise damage that the boll weevil does is to puncture this square, and, leaving the fibrous outer portion practically unharmed, destroy the tender and nutritive core, the immature pollen, ovaries and pistil.

Feeds on Cotton Only.

Boll weevils feed on cotton plants only. The weevil makes the puncture for feeding with his head, itself a beautifully effective combination tool, at once gimlet, auger, chisel, saw and clippers. This head moves in the pro-thorax as smoothly as a ball in a socket; the mouth parts are attached to the tip of the snout, which is further supplied with sharp toothed mandibles. Such mechanism permits a variety of movements that resemble chiselling, tearing, boring, cutting and prizing, whichever may best serve the purpose. The demands of his appetite insist that the boll weevil make some two or three of these feeding punctures daily, and though a single feeding does not always destroy the square the average weevil can pull on his night cap with the thought that he has done away with at least two good squares in his day's round. Since his active life is about seventy days long, a single weevil's destructiveness roots up some one hundred and forty squares, each of which would normally have matured into a full cotton boll. Or, commercially speaking, it costs from ten to thirty cents to raise and maintain each healthy boll weevil.

This is costly enough, but the process of reproduction is about four times as expensive. A female boll weevil at the age of some twenty days begins to lay from three to six eggs daily, or anywhere from one hundred and eighty to three hundred and sixty during her remaining lifetime of about sixty days. She produces thus each day, maybe, a half dozen new weevils, that three weeks later begin, in turn, a like cycle of destruction. To lay each egg she selects a clean square—one untouched even by a feeding puncture—and into the heart of this she bores, finally depositing the egg where the infant insect will be safe from enemies and will find a supply of delicate and nutritious food.

A few days after the egg is deposited in the square a grub hatches and begins to feed upon the walls of its prison, enlarging them to keep pace with his own rapidly increasing growth and destroying thus the infant cotton boll. During the whole time of helplessness the insect lies hidden behind the tough and fibrous portions of the plant. Thus in infancy he is safeguarded, and in maturity even poison cannot reach him, since he seeks food not on the exposed outer parts of the plant, but within shielded portions. Seasons are alike to him. Though he thrives best in the summer, he hibernates successfully through the winter, having proved quite able to adapt himself, though a native of torrid Mexico, to every climatic condition of our cotton zone.

Prepared thus by nature to take mighty good care of himself in the harsh struggle for survival, and supplying in the simple processes of food seeking and reproduction an almost perfect engine of wreckage for the staple of the South, the Mexican boll weevil crossed the Rio Grande in 1892. The first entomologists that were rushed to the field made the singular recommendation that a strip of land, fifty miles wide and bordering the boundary river throughout its length in Texas, be set aside and its owners prohibited by law from growing a sprout of cotton upon its acres, a sort of Desert of Sahara across the weevil's path. Instead, it seems that we preferred to fight him with appropriations, which eclipsed each other in rapid succession. Finally came the famous million dollar appropriation that Congress passed to meet the desperate emergency. The fifty thousand dollar prize that Texas at one time offered to any person who should discover a means of exterminating the weevil was never earned, however, and remains yet in the treasury.

As the boll weevil marched steadily upon Louisiana, that State, in turn, attempted by liberal appropriations to block his passage of the Sabine River. A State Crop Pest Commission did brilliant and valuable investigation under the leadership of Mr. Wilmon Newell, now State Entomologist of Texas. But Louisiana was not satisfied with the usual method of combating the pest. In the flurry of the first panic, before the enterprising nature of the weevil was fully understood, the majesty of the law was invoked; a quarantine was actually established and its enforcement gravely attempted along the waters of the Sabine. It was also made a misdemeanor for any person, firm or corporation to bring into the State of Louisiana for any purpose whatever any living Mexican boll weevil, or any cotton boll, square, plant or seed containing the boll weevil, whether adult, larva or egg, said misdemeanor entailing a maximum punishment of one thousand dollars fine or six months imprisonment.

And the year of 1904 saw him well within the State. This event was a signal to Mississippi to begin to legislate and appropriate and even attempt, in turn, to quarantine. In like manner, his recent entry into Alabama occasioned such alarm in her sister State upon the east that the great Georgia Boll Weevil Convention was at once called to meet in Atlanta.

These eighteen years since the boll weevil's first entry into Texas have been marked by almost incredibly patient and painstaking labor on the part of the entomologists. The boll weevil problem has been attacked from about every standpoint that human intelligence can suggest, and each suggestion has been thrashed out in a series of carefully recorded experiments until the sum of possible knowledge seems, to the layman, to be practically complete.

Trainloads of government bulletins have been printed to exploit to all mankind his noxious characteristics, his complete indifference to all attempts upon his life and to all methods of ousting him from that part of our country to which he has come,

"Jes a-lookin' fer a home."

And in the end, we have the pleasing assurance that, though by no means whatever can he be stopped from invading fresh territory until his march eastward shall end, like Sherman's, at the sea, still, by scientific cultural methods of farming cotton can be raised in paying quantities. And furthermore, the South may expect, eventually, to produce even more to the acre than in the old plantation days and the old plantation ways before intensive farming and selected seed played havoc with the easy going and primal methods.

This fight is mighty close to the negro; it hits him right in the stomach. His cotton patch means his rations. When the boll weevil eats up the cotton, it means no bacon and corn meal in the cabin. But with the eternal light-heartedness of the race, he sings in his misfortune; and even as did the ballad makers of a thousand years ago, he sings of the thing nearest to him. His "ballad" of the boll weevil is made out of such homely material as the ground his door step. To this race the battle royal between the white man and the boll weevil is a sort of huge fable.

This song about the boll weevil is sung over the South wherever the boll weevil has gone. A dozen different singers profess to have written it; as a matter of fact, there is no one author. It "just grewed." It was never deliberately composed. If, perhaps, some few verses were once written out with the intention of making popular music, the point is the same; for the theme at once appealed to the many, was seized upon, and a stanza added here and there by this one or that one to whom may have appealed the tragic comedy of the situation—the solid South lined up to a man in desperate warfare upon a Lilliputian insect that with calm disregard pressed steadily onward, set upon his quite innocent, even commendable, purpose of "Lookin' fer a home,

Jes a-lookin' fer a home."

The boll weevil song, being at bottom a story, has grown through a series of episodes. It was hoped that this insect native of the torrid zone would be unable to survive the winter frosts of our cotton belt. He emerged triumphant in the spring. It was then attempted to plough him under the sand, but enough of his species escaped to infest the new crop. Poisoning was unsuccessful. With cheerful philosophy he withstood all attempts upon his life. Hence the song runs:—

"The farmer took the boll weevil
And put him on the ice,
The boll weevil said to the farmer,
'This is mighty cool and nice—
Oh, it's my home—
It's jes my home.'
"The farmer took the boll weevil
And buried him in the sand.
Says the boll weevil to the farmer,
'I'll stand it like a man,
For this is my home—
This is jest my home.'"

But the farmer went too far, it seems, in his persecutions:—

"Then the boll weevil said to the farmer,
'You'd better let me alone;
I've eat up all your cotton,
And now I'll begin on the corn,
For I'll have a home—
I'll have a home.'"

As the distress following upon the repeated loss of the crop became general, we learn that:—

"The merchant got half the cotton,
The boll weevil got the rest;
Didn't leave the farmer's wife
But one old cotton dress,
It's full of holes,
Jes full of holes."

The Boll Weevil's Service.

Nevertheless, the boll weevil has done the South a service. He is in some degree responsible for the rise in the price of cotton. They tell the story in Texas of a certain Bohemian farmer who, after long hearing of the boll weevil, one day found the first of the advancing hoard upon his land. He examined it with great curiosity, then replaced it carefully upon the nearest cotton plant. "Go along, little fellow, and bring your family," he said. "You are the man who brought fifteen cent cotton. Make it twenty." And in truth, it was during the short crop years caused by the pest that fifteen cent cotton was first heard of.

But the real service that the boll weevil has done the South is in forcing upon its people scientific farming. For many years the whole Southern section of the United States has been the prey of its own good fortune. Its land was so abundantly sufficient for the support of its scattered population, was at the same time so fertile, that just about any sort of farm methods would succeed in some degree. Fields were planted year after year to the same crop, with no regard to soil exhaustion. If cotton was wanted the seed were planted, the rows ploughed once, hoed, perhaps ploughed once more and then "laid by"—an expressive term—until the picking, with no effort whatever to hasten maturity. The seed used in the spring were of absolutely unknown variety, taken haphazard from the home ginning of the previous season, thus inbreeding upon the land. And after the harvest the field stood untouched often until the spring ploughing in preparation for the new crop. Fertilizers were unheard of. And yet in spite of such methods and in spite of the boll weevil the recent annual cotton yield of the South has been about ten million bales.

But the coming of the boll weevil has roused the agricultural South. When the State and federal bureaus hastened to the aid of the distressed farmers it was found that the only successful method of suppressing the boll weevil was just the common sense one of good farming. Armed with this information, procured at so great an expense of money and labor, a huge educational campaign has been begun that it is planned will put the needed information into the hands, and, it is hoped, into the head as well, of every planter in the cotton zone. It is the fixed intention of the enlightened citizenship to see that this expert advice is followed. This educational movement has borne a first fruit of remarkable promise in the Georgia Boll Weevil Convention, called to order in Atlanta on November 23, 1910.

The boll weevil is now upon the western edge of Alabama in his fifty miles a year pilgrimage toward the land of the Sea Island cotton, which should legitimately represent his Islands of the Blest. He is due in Georgia in about three years. Usually farmers do not get busy so long in advance of disaster.

No, Georgia will not quarantine, but the boll weevil will find, if present plans are effective, an unlooked for reception. First, the poorer soil is to be repaired by fertilizers or else set aside for other crops than cotton. Then, where cotton is to be planted, the best varieties of seed are to be distributed—early maturing, vigorous seed. Nor, after the crop has a stand, is it to be "laid by," as in the olden days of leisurely gentleman farming, when the boll weevil had a long, lazy, sizzling summer to breed and breed again. Instead, the crop is to be pushed by unceasing cultivation to an early fruiting; American hustle proposes to rush it through a shorter growing and a shorter picking season. And last of all, and possibly worst of all for the boll weevil, the fields, stripped thus early of their yield, are to be cleaned, scraped, manicured even—cleared completely of dead cotton stalks and rubbish generally—till there will be no hibernating quarters for such weevils as are fortunate enough to survive the rigorous methods of the summer months.

It is admitted now that the Mexican boll weevil is here, is here to stay, and that his advance throughout the entire South cannot be checked. But there will be no more panic, as in the early stories in Texas, when whole farms were abandoned; when bottom land thirty feet deep in pure river silt and worth one hundred dollars an acre sold for ten, and when, as one speaker facetiously said at Atlanta the other day, enough good farmers left Texas to settle Oklahoma and the Indian Territory enabling them successfully to apply for statehood. The worst is over in the West; the East, if it will, may profit by the lessons learned at so great cost on the far side of the Mississippi.

For the fight is on to the finish. The boll weevil is forging steadily ahead, and nothing short of the Atlantic Ocean is going to stop his march.

CORONATION CHAIR AND ITS HISTORY

Strangely Interesting Story of "The Stone of Destiny" From Ancient Times to the Present

It is a strangely interesting story, the story of the chair in which King George V. will be crowned at Westminster Abbey in June next. Its authentic history carries us back to the time when Scotland had her own kings, and Scone was at once the Windsor and the coronation Westminster Abbey of the country. The palace remains one of the most interesting places in the neighborhood of Perth; but no permission is granted to visit the house or grounds, and one must be content with the views from the banks of the Tay above the North Inch and the higher grounds on the western side of the city.

Among other relics which it contains is a bed used by James VI., and another with hangings of flowered crimson velvet, said to have been worked by Mary Stuart during her imprisonment in Lochleven Castle. The gallery, 160 feet long, occupies the place of the old Coronation Hall, where Charles II. was crowned in 1651. With the ancient Abbey of Scone are bound up some of the most interesting events in Scottish history, but to-day we think of it specially as the shrine where was long preserved the famous so-called "Stone of Destiny," which forms a part of the British Coronation Chair. It is this curiously unique treasure, chiefly, which gives a sort of uncanny romance to the chair.

The really authentic history of the stone would not be admitted by serious and questioning antiquaries to go back further than the date, about 834 A.D., when it was first found at Scone. But a long persisting legend or tradition brings it down from early Bible times. According to this view, it was the veritable pillow upon which the patriarch Jacob rested his head at Luz when he had his beautiful vision of the ladder that reached to Heaven. In this mythical account the stone is next traced to the possession of Gathelus, the son of Cerops, King of Athens, who entered into the service of one of the Pharaohs, and married his daughter Scota, from whom Scotland is said to derive its name. Gathelus brought it from Syria to Egypt, and, to escape an impending plague, he is said to have sailed from the Nile, by the advice of Moses, with his wife and the precious stone, and landed on the coast of Spain. Afterwards he sent the stone to Ireland under the care of his son, who invaded the island, and by whom it was set up on Tara Hill. There it was used as the Irish Coronation Stone for many ages.

This brings us to at least the fringes of recorded secular history, when facts begin to conflict less with legend. It seems tolerably clear that the stone was really used as a sort of royal chair in Ireland, where, we are told, it was known as "Lia Fail," or the Stone of Fate. From Ireland it is supposed to have been once more carried to Spain (by Cathel, King of the Scots, it is said); but the tradition is that it was brought back to Ireland by Simon Brech, leader of a band of Scots, somewhere about 700 B.C. It remained undisturbed until Fergus Mor, probably a descendant of Eimon Brec, was given rule of Ireland in 503 B.C. Fergus led the Dalriadic Scots to the shores of Argyll, and having brought the stone with him it was used for his coronation at Dunstaffnage. Here, as we read, it remained till about 834 A.D., when Kenneth Macalpine brought it to "the royal city of Scone," having fixed on Scone as his capital, because in the neighborhood he had just fought and won the last decisive battle with the ancient Picts.

All this is open to more or less doubt. But the stone was at least found at Scone, and it gave a sort of royal grandeur to Scone, and led all the Scottish princes to repair thither to be crowned on it. This is factual, sober fact. However, we may explain the circumstance, it had acquired a sacred character as influencing the destinies of the Scottish nation. One rhyme ran:—

Unless the fates are faithless grown,
And prophet's voice be vain,
Where'er is found this ancient stone,
The Scottish race shall reign.

It was averred by the ancient Scots that the stone gave forth musical sounds when the rightful ruler seated himself on it, but remained mute when a usurper was crowned. Much later, this prediction was regarded as being fulfilled when James VI. of Scotland ascended the throne as James I. of England. At the Abbey of Scone the stone is understood to have occupied a place in front of the high altar.

The famous Stone of Destiny remained at Scone until the time of Edward I. John Baliol was the last Scottish King crowned on it, and it is significant that it appears in his great seal, embedded in what was then known as the "King's Stool." As everybody knows, Baliol was defeated by Edward I. at Dunbar in 1296, and it was then that Edward carried the stone, along with the Scottish regalia, to England. Since that time it has remained at Westminster Abbey, and every English monarch has been crowned on it. The chair of which it forms a part is made of hardwood, gaily painted. Under the seat is a board supported by four lions, and on this board the Stone of Destiny rests. The Stone had been carved, gilded, and painted, but these decorations have entirely disappeared. In modern Coronations it is always covered with a cloth of gold. It has been asserted that the stone is of meteoric origin, but this is incorrect. It is simply a block of red sandstone containing an unusual proportion of iron. Its dimensions are:—2 ft. 2 in. long, 1 ft. 4 in. broad, and 10½ in. thick. Some matter of fact persons are inclined to believe that the stone was quarried in the neighborhood of Scone.

Notwithstanding its removal, the prestige of Scone continued to be regarded in later years. Robert the Bruce and his son David, Robert II., James I., and, lastly, Charles II., all chose Scone for their Coronations. The Scottish people were very distressed about the loss of the stone. They looked upon its conveyance to England as a national humiliation, and in the treaty concluded between England and Scotland in 1328 its return was made an essential condition. Edward III. offered that it should be sent back, but for some unknown reason his order was not obeyed.

Specialist Could Not Remove Stone in The Bladder

GIN PILLS PASSED IT

JOLIETTE, P. Q.

"During August last, I went to Montreal to consult a specialist as I had been suffering terribly with Stone in the Bladder.

He decided to operate but said the stone was too large to remove and too hard to crush. I returned home and was recommended by a friend to try GIN PILLS.

They relieved the pain. I took two boxes and went back to the specialist. He said the stone was smaller but he could not remove it although he tried for two hours and a half. I returned home and continued to take GIN PILLS, and to my great surprise and joy, I passed the stone.

GIN PILLS are the best medicine in the world and because they did me so much good, I will recommend them all the rest of my life". 46

CORONATION CALAMITIES

Memoirs of the Crowning of King of England

Perhaps the most calamitous of all Coronation days in England was that of William the Conqueror.

After the Coronation oath, whereby the new monarch promised to protect the church, and to execute judgment and mercy, the Archbishop put the usual question:

"Will ye have this Prince to be your King?"

A clamorous shout of assent from the assembled English so startled the Norman soldiers outside that they immediately set out burning and plundering, believing the English had revolted.

Charles Stuart had a most unfortunate day. The Royal barge stuck in the mud of the Thames; the sermon sounded like a funeral oration, an earthquake shock was felt during the ceremony; and, finally, the herald pronounced him the "indubitable" heir instead of the "indubitable" heir.

When George III. was installed on the throne, the master of ceremonies forgot the Sword of State, and the chair and canopy for the banquet.

And as he moved down the Abbey with the great circlet on his head, the large diamond dropped out.

"CANOPY DUCHESSES."

The interesting announcement is made that the Duchess of Sutherland, the Duchess of Portland, the Duchess of Montrose, and the Duchess of Hamilton are to have the honor of carrying the Queen's canopy at the Coronation. It will be remembered that these ladies, with the exception of the Duchess of Hamilton, acted for Queen Alexandra, and that their services were recognized by the bestowal of a special decoration.

Rush for Accommodation.

The London Hotels report a great rush of applications for accommodation. On all sides it is reported that the number of applications for accommodation, principally during June, is phenomenal. Everyone wants to arrive about the middle of June and to stay over the Coronation, which takes place on June 22. Needless to say, hardly one in fifty will get favorable replies, for the simple reason that hotel managers are holding as many rooms open as they can in the hope of being able to obtain much higher rates as the date nears.

HER MAJESTY'S PERSONAL GIFTS

Queen Mary is Fond of Music, is a Great Reader, and Follows Events Attentively

Sir Clement Kinloch-Cooke contributes to The North American Review a sympathetic character sketch of her Majesty Queen Mary. Intended mainly for American readers, it will be read with pleasure by Canadians generally. Her Majesty, says Sir Clement, has a very retentive memory. Once she has mastered a subject, it seldom goes out of her mind, and months afterwards she will astonish her friends by reference to a conversation they themselves had forgotten. Driving through the streets of Hobart, she recognized a man in the crowd, and remarked to her lady-in-waiting that he had been a curate at East Sheen when she was a girl and his name began with C, and that she had heard him preach two or three times. On inquiry it turned out that he was the same man ,and that his name was C——n. It would be clever to have remembered him had the Queen met him after an interval of ten years, but in a passing crowd in far-away Tasmania it was extraordinary. As a mutual result of such good memory the Queen has something to say to everyone, and the personal touch this gift imparts to her conversation gratifies and charms all with whom she is brought into contact.

Fond of Music.

Music had a great share in the home life at White Lodge, the musical hour in the drawing room being at one time a regular institution, and often the Duchess would sit down at the piano in the evenings and sing ballads from the popular operettas of the day. The Queen has a sweet voice, a soft soprano, which greatly matured under the skilful guidance of Signor (now Sir Laulo) Tosti. Of late years, however, Her Majesty has given up her singing; and, although retaining her fondness for music, she rarely finds much time to devote to the piano.

Dramatic art of every kind appeals to her, and there are few plays of importance, or that have attracted public attention during the last two decades, she has not seen. Like her mother, she quickly seizes upon the humorous side of a question. Thus she has a keen appreciation for a sparkling comedy or a farce, and on returning from the theatre, or afterwards in conversation, often makes allusion to some particularly amusing part of the performance.

The Queen is greatly attached to the historical part of her country, and has collected together quite a number of interesting things connected with the Royal Family. As a girl she always enjoyed going over museums and inspecting articles of antiquity, a trait in her character which has widened with years. She has an intimate knowledge of old silver and china, and possesses a valuable collection of objets d'art.

A Great Reader.

The Queen has always been a great reader, and her boudoir at White Lodge contained a little case of favorite books, prominent amongst them being Tennyson's Poems. Books of travel and biographies are seldom missed, for the Queen does not read for mere passing pleasure, but for instruction and information. Novels of themselves do not appeal to her Majesty, but she has read and re-read classic works of fiction; and any novel by a well-known writer, or that is specially recommended to her, at once receives her attention.

Her Majesty follows events attentively. She reads the newspapers daily, and as Princess of Wales attended the more important Parliamentary debates, occupying a seat in the Peeresses' Gallery in the House of Lords and in the Speaker's Gallery in the House of Commons. A chance meeting in a country house led to my being invited to White Lodge, and being honored with the friendship of the Duke and Duchess of Teck. At the time I was helping with the House of Lords' inquiry into the sweating system, and well do I remember the great interest taken by the Queen in the evidence. She never tired of hearing about the workers, and would ply me with questions about the chainmakers, the seamstresses, and the other toilers for long hours and low wages, until I thoroughly believe she knew as much about the conditions and requirements of these people as I did myself.

BRITAIN'S NAVAL ARRAY

Big Review of Dreadnoughts and of Battleship Cruisers.

A naval pageant of especially imposing character will be the big Coronation review. The Home and Atlantic fleets, with their attendant cruiser squadrons, will likely constitute the principal portion of the naval forces assembled, which will thus comprise a battle squadron of Dreadnoughts and battleship cruisers of the invincible type, with the Neptune as the principal flagship. This vessel is now absent from British waters, carrying out an important series of gunnery trials, but will soon return to hoist the pennant and flag of the new Commander-in-Chief of the Home Fleet.

With regard to the illumination of the fleet, it may be recalled that this was one of the most remarkable features of the aquatic display at the last coronation, when every ship was traced in brilliant lines of electric light, and the use of the fleet's searchlights proved most picturesque. The play of beams of light upon escaping steam made the scene one of fairylike delicacy, and the use of colored slides changing in rhythmic fashions as the successive signals came from the flagship, enhanced the beauty of the picture. Another picture that appealed to the imagination of that occasion was the firing of a salute by the fleet on the stroke of midnight when all the searchlights of the fleet concentrated their beams to a focus above the royal yacht and threw her into bold relief against the night, till she looked like a sparkling gem surrounded by a halo. The suggestion is now being considered that this very effective spectacle be repeated, and indeed, there is reason to believe that most of the essential features of the 1902 review will stand unchanged though, of course, the class of ships mustered for the royal inspection will show a remarkable change in naval architecture and strength, the Dreadnoughts having come into vogue since that memorable occasion.

Duke May Be Viceroy.

The Duke of Connaught, who is the King's closest adviser, has decided never to accept another military command. He may become Viceroy of India, after serving a short term at Ottawa.

RECORD THEATRE PRICES

From information furnished by the directors of the Royal Opera, Covent Garden, the prices to be charged for the Coronation gala performance range from 100 guineas ($525) for grand tier boxes to 5 guineas (about $26) for a single seat in the gallery.

No Harem Skirts There.

THE HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY PLAN TO INAUGURATE CAMPAIGN FOR MEMBERS

Enthusiastic Meeting Held Last Night—Society Should Have at Least 500 Instead of 160 at Present Time.

MAKE CITY BEAUTIFUL

The first step in a movement which is likely soon to make the Peterborough Horticultural Society talked about from one end of the city to the other, was taken last night, when a meeting of the directors of hte Society was held in the City Engineer's office. Those present were President Campbell, Secretary Frank Wise, T. A. S. Hay, Hon. J. R. Stratton, John Ridddell, Walter Stocker, J. Edgar, S. Jordan, R. M. Glover and H. B. Cowan. The meeting was called by the Secretary with a view to considering ways and means of bringing the advantages of membership in the society more prominently before the citizens of Peterborough, of increasing the membership, and of laying plans for the work of the society along the lines of home and civic improvement. It was pointed out that other places in Ontario, with a population of only seven or eight thousand, have horticultural societies with a membership in some cases nearly double that of the Peterborough Society. In a city such as Peterborough, the membership of the Horticultural Society could be easily increased to 500 or over, and it was decided to aim for at least that number in the campaign which is now being planned. The present membership of the Society is about 160.

On the suggestion of Mr. Hay it was decided to discontinue the present name of the Society, which is now known as the Peterborough and Ashburnham Agricultural Society. This name, owing to the fact that Ashburnham has been a part of Peterborough for several years, is very much out of date, and it was felt that it would be well, at this period, to select a new name. A number of suggestions were made, but the matter of definitely deciding was left over until the next meeting.

Suggestions for interesting the citizens of Peterborough in the Horticultural Society were considered, chief among which was the offering of some special premiums to all new members so that aside from the benefits of membership in the Society and being entitled to compete in all competitions if desired, each member would receive in plants and other premiums actually more than could be purchased for the dollar by the members themselves. It is probable that among the premiums offered at this time, the chief will be a dozen plants, suitable for bedding-out purposes. It was also decided to add to the present board an auxiliary committee of five ladies, as at present the ladies of the city are not represented on the Board of Directors.

Plans were discussed regarding the work to be undertaken by the Society along the line of home and civic improvement. It is probable that the town will be divided into sections and prizes offered for the best kept lawns and gardens in each section, as well as possibly special prizes covering the whole town. In order to give all classes an equal chance in all competitions it is proposed to divide the competitions into different classes, as when a general competition is conducted covering all classes of lawns and gardens, it is hardly fair to those with small grounds or who look after them themselves to have to compete with members having large grounds or who use hired labour to care for them. It is also proposed to lay out plans for some extensive civic improvements with a view to the beautifying and general improvement of the city. There are splendid opportunities for work of this character, which would do much towards making Peterborough the most beautiful city in Ontario.

A committee, composed of Messrs. Riddell, Hay, Stocker, Edgar and Marsh, was appointed to draw up plans on which to conduct the work the Society, and to adopt a plan of campaign for the securing of at least 500 members this spring. This committee will meet in the course of two or three days when full particulars in regard to the work to be done and the plan of campaign will be published. The Society is going after big things, and there will be some interesting developments to report as soon as plans are definitely decided.

In the meantime, those desiring to become members of the Horticultural Society may do so and obtain the full benefit of all special premiums being offered, upon payment of $1.00 to the Secretary, Mr. Frank Wise, of the Little Lake Cemetery Company, or if more convenient they may leave their membership fees together with their names at either the Review or the Examiner office, when it will be forwarded to the Secretary.

BOGUS BANK BILL IS A VERY POOR IMITATION

Three Were Passed on Peterborough Merchants on Saturday---Police Were Not Informed in Time to Land the "Shover" Who Left the City on Saturday Night.

A smooth stranger visited Peterborough on Saturday and left behind him some unappreciated souvenirs of his visit, in the shape of three bogus Bank of Montreal five dollar bills, which fell into the hands of local merchants. Unfortunately, the police were not informed of his actions until he had left the city, when all chance of getting the offender was lost.

The bills are a poor imitation of the genuine article and would be easily detected by the quality of the paper upon which they have been photographed. It can readily be detected as counterfeit even by sight and to feel the paper gives the game away at once. The bills passed here had not been folded and from the appearance of the paper would not stand very rough usage.

CORONATION FESTIVITIES BIG PREPARATIONS MADE

Special to The Examiner:

Although the Coronation festivities are still far ahead, there are many signs of the coming arrangements in every part of the metropolis and the cheerful air of Spring has infected the crowds in the streets and dissipated the gloom of the London winter. The shopkeepers are, of course, anticipating huge business, for buyers will pour into London from all quarters of the world. The feeling of the people is jubilant, but the patriotic pride has nothing of jingoism in it. Even the Free Traders and the Tariff Reformers are agreed in the common pride of British nationality. This accounts for all the shops in the City and the West End displaying during this week "All British Goods." This does not imply that French or German, or American imports are to be kept out, as the Tariff Reform theory would suggest. There is no political spirit directing the movement. We are a nation of shopkeepers, and, of course, the shopkeepers find it is good business to make a flourish and to make "All British ones" the chief attraction to draw the crowds that are pouring into London. The All British week it may be since it is advertising the British Shopkeepers, but the flags of all nations are decorating the streets.

The strangers within our gates are, of course, coming to see King George and the Queen, and it is pretty certain that the sight-seers in the streets will be in no wise disappointed for the street journeys of the Royal party will be repeated often enough to give the stranger in the streets a chance to see them to their hearts content. So far the Royal programme has been arranged that there will be a Royal procession through the streets to the Imperial Concert at the Crystal Palace. Then on the 22nd of June the Coronation procession to Westminster. The third state procession will drive through the City and the West End, and June 29 the King and Queen will drive in state to the Guildhall and will attend the Thanksgiving service at St. Paul's and they will be seen in the return drive through North London, and again on June 30th, the Royal pair will go to the Festival of Empire at the Crystal Palace, where they will inspect the great gathering of one hundred thousand school children.

The International Horse Show is now being arranged for the Coronation season, and it is expected to be the most interesting yet held in London. The show of horses will be of world-wide interest and the competitors in the jumping contest will include English and Colonial and Continental riders, amongst whom will be a number of German military officers, whose appearance will arouse much curiosity. The King and Queen are to prove their interest in the International Horse Show by their repeated visits which have been promised.

Insanity Pleas

Chief Justice Falconbridge Advises Jury Not to Pay too Much Attention to Them

Special to The Examiner:

GODERICH, APRIL 11.—Speaking to the Grand Jury to-day, in connection with the Jardine-Vanstone murder cases, Chief Justice Sir Glenholm Falconbridge said there might be insanity pleas in both cases, but the Jury shouldn't pay too much attention to them.

YOU TAKE NO RISK

Our Reputation and Money is Back of This Offer

We pay for all the medicine used during the trial, if our remedy fails to completely relieve you of constipation. We take all the risk. You are not obligated to us in any way whatever, if you accept our offer. Could anything be more fair for you? Is there any reason why you should hesitate to put our claims to a practical test?

The most scientific, common-sense treatment is Rexall Orderlies, which are eaten like candy. They are very pronounced, gentle and pleasant in action, and particularly agreeable in every way. They do not cause diarrhoea, nausea, flatulence, griping or any inconvenience whatever. Rexall Orderlies are particularly good for children, aged and delicate persons.

Pleaded Not Guilty

True Bill Has Been Returned Against H. Matthews, Jr.

COBOURG, APRIL 11.—As was expected at noon to-day the Grand Jury brought in a true bill in the Matthews murder case, which was immediately called for trial. To the indictment the prisoner, H. T. Matthews, Jr., of Lakeport, pleaded not guilty. He is looking well after his three months' confinement in the jail here.

BRONCHITIS

To Whom it May Concern

Bluevale, Ont., May 4, 1910. "I was sick for two years with chronic bronchitis and a consequent run-down condition. I received no benefit from doctors or from a trip which I took for my health and I had to give up work. Vinol was recommended and from the second bottle I commenced to improve — I gained in weight and strength, my bronchial trouble disappeared, and I am at work again. I want to recommend Vinol to anyone who is in need of such a medicine." Thomas Higgins. (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine.)

It is the combined action of the current elements of the cods' livers aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron contained in Vinol which makes it so successful in curing bronchitis.

Vinol is a constitution remedy for chronic coughs, colds, bronchitis and pulmonary troubles, not a palliative like cough syrups.

Vinol contains no oil or drugs and is far more efficacious than cough mixtures, because it cures the cause. Try it. If you don't think it helps you, we will return your money. McDermid and Jury, corner George and Charlotte streets; also Payne's drug store, corner George and Simcoe streets.

ONTARIO BANK LOTS

NEARLY ALL OF THE WOMEN ON BOARD THE WRECKED STEAMER IROQUOIS LOST THEIR LIVES

Were Penned Up in the Cabin When She Foundered and Waves Broke In—Bodies Washed Ashore.

EIGHTEEN RECOVERED

Special to The Examiner

VICTORIA, B.C., APRIL 11.—Further details of the wreck of the ferry steamer Iroquois yesterday show that nearly all the women on board lost their lives. Apparently they were penned up in the cabin when the vessel foundered and the waves broke in. Their bodies were washed ashore this morning with the wreckage. It is stated that the members of the crew did the best possible to save them, but they were panic stricken. 18 bodies have been recovered so far.

NOVA SCOTIA CONSERVATIVES FOR RECIPROCITY AGREEMENT

As indicative of the popularity of reciprocity among all sections of Nova Scotians, some of the strongest advocates of the agreement have been out-and-out supporters of Mr. Borden, leader of the Conservative Opposition. Among the leading men in Halifax who have publicly expressed wholehearted approval of the arrangement have been Mr. H. M. Smith, head of the largest dry fish exporting firm in the world; Messrs. W. J. and Edward Clayton of Clayton & Sons, large clothing manufacturers, and S. M. Brookfield, builder and contractor. All of these gentlemen were among the leading supporters of Mr. Borden, at the last general election, and are as strong Conservatives as could be found anywhere. Another pronounced Conservative, Mr. R. S. Starr of Grand Pre, one of the largest fruit-growers of Nova Scotia, declares he is convinced that reciprocity would be a good thing for the whole south shore of Nova Scotia. There would be a large market opened up to Nova Scotia fruit growers in the United States under the reciprocity agreement, and he had no fears whatever with regard to the new fiscal arrangement going into effect.

Now another Halifax county man comes forward to confute the arguments used by Mr. Jameson, M.P., of Digby, in the House of Commons, as to the effect on the fisheries. Mr. E. E. Shatford of St. Margaret's Bay, one of the largest merchants along the western shore, who has been a leading Conservative in his district for years, is enthusiastic for the reciprocity agreement. He says: "Last year the fishermen of St. Margaret's Bay paid $1,200 duty on the mackerel that was shipped to the United States which amount would have gone into their own pockets under free trade in fish. We are strongly in favour of such an agreement, and earnestly hope that it will go through, so that it can be given a fair trial. Under present conditions mackerel are the only fish that are shipped to the United States market, it being out of the question to send either cod or haddock. With free trade in fish it would be possible to ship both cod and haddock, thus giving us a wider market. All along the shore the people are pleased with the agreement. I have been a Conservative all my life," said Mr. Shatford, "and my father before me, but I will now have to support the Liberal party. I could not do otherwise under the circumstances. Reciprocity is of the greatest importance to the people of Nova Scotia and should receive their support. The benefits that the fishermen will derive from free trade in fish cannot very easily be reckoned, and the least that can be done is to give reciprocity a fair trial."

A MOTOR BUS SERVICE FOR PETERBORO' AND DISTRICT

Commodious Modern Cars Will Be Run to Chemong Park and to Young's Point, Burleigh Falls and Buckhorn While a Complete City Service Will be Given.

The citizens of Peterborough will probably be interested to know that this summer they will have what the city has needed for some time—automobile service. There will be a motor car, with a carrying capacity of twelve passengers, running between Chemong and the city. This car will make three trips daily, according to present plans. Another car will run to South Beach, Buckhorn, Young's Point and Burleigh. And, in addition to this, there will be a car of the same size for city convenience, such as plying between the different hotels and the stations. It will be known as the Rutherford-Grimes Motor Car Line. The warerooms of the Company are on Simcoe street, where they have a garage, where the public may store their cars at a moderate rate. At present a very fine display of McLaughlin Buick autos is at the Garage. The Rutherford Grimes Company are sole agents for the McLaughlin cars in this city, and the cars for their line are built by the McLaughlin Company. The excellent qualities of these cars were manifested yesterday, when the first car of the line made its initial trip around the city. It carried twelve prominent citizens, who were highly delighted with the merits displayed very conspicuously by the car. The car was put to the severest tests yesterday, and proved itself worthy of a good name. The first test was that of going up the rough, muddy hill at the east end of Hunter street, over to the Lift Lock. It went half way up the hill before it had to be put on low gear; at the same time the car was carrying at least 2000 pounds. The next test was that of going up the hill at the west end of Hunter street, which is also very steep and rough. The city car is of twenty-five horse power type, and the others will be built accordingly to the nature of the roads they will have to run on. A number of citizens have visited the garage on Simcoe street, just west off George, and have been delighted with the improved qualities of the cars. They have excelled themselves this year in improvements. The Officers of the Company will be pleased to be interviewed by the citizens, as regards the improved qualities of their cars.

MR. LEWIS HONOURED BY A PRESENTATION

At an interval to the anniversary gathering in Knox church last night in celebration of the fourth year of church work and ministry of Rev. H. J. Keith in Knox church, a little gathering of the Brotherhood was called. The idea was to present a token of esteem to Mr. H. Lewis, who has been acting locum tenens at the organ for a number of weeks past, and especially for his attendance nightly during the recent mission under Rev. Mr. Woodside.

The gift took the form of a handsome gold-mounted umbrella, suitably inscribed. This was handed over by Mr. Michanan in a few well chosen sentences, and accepted, and replied to by Mr. Lewis in his usual modest manner. Mr. Denoon, Rev. Mr. Keith and Mr. Bartley also made a few remarks.

LECTURE ON "JUPITER" AT THE COLLEGIATE TO-NIGHT

The public is again reminded of the meeting of the Peterborough Centre of the Royal Astronomical Society in the Collegiate Institute physics room this evening. In addition to reports of a lecture by Professor Ritchie and of the recent meeting in Brighton the programme will include a lecture on the planet Jupiter, illustrated by lantern slides. This should be one of the most interesting meetings of the season, and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance. The meeting is open to the public and there is no admission charge.

Forest Reserves

Special to the Examiner.

OTTAWA, APRIL 11.—Following the Government's policy of setting aside great tracts of wooded country as forest reserves, surveying parties will leave in a few weeks for Hudson Bay, Peace River, and other places to lay out reserves and provide fire ranging forces to protect it. The work will cost a quarter of a million dollars.

$25,000,000 ON GUM

And $78,000,000 on Candy by the People of United States

The Chicago Examiner contains an interesting article in reference to statistics collected by United States Representative J. Hampton Moore, of Pennsylvania, an expert in domestic economy. He has found that during 1910 the people of the United States spent on candy $78,000,000, a sum sufficient to build two canals from Chicago to Key West, Florida, and on chewing gum $5,000,000, which would build the United States two Dreadnoughts. He intends to submit his figures to Congress, to prove that the individual self is responsible to a great extent for the high cost of living.

TURNED THE SCORE.

The Stratford Beacon last week celebrated its twentieth year under the management of its present editor and proprietor, Mr. W. M. O'Beirne. The weekly edition has been published fifty-six years. The daily was established by Mr. O'Beirne in 1891. Under Mr. O'Beirne's energetic management the Beacon has grown brighter year by year—become greater in size, circulation and influence. It is one of our best dailies, well written and well printed, a power in the advance and advocacy of Liberal principles and interests. Mr. O'Beirne came honestly by his enterprise and public spirit. He was a Peterborough boy, of a town which has given Canada and other countries so many energetic and prominent citizens. The Examiner extends cordial congratulations to Mr. O'Beirne and the Beacon, with heartiest wishes for the success of both.

MUCH ADO ABOUT LITTLE.

The Toronto News makes much of a table of the exports of agricultural products from the United States to various countries in the endeavour to show that there was no market in the United States for Canadian farm products, for Canadian agricultural and dairy products. How will the News, then, explain the fact that for the year ending March 31st, 1910, the exports of Canadian produce—of articles included in the proposed trade agreement—amounted to nearly fifty million dollars and that in the face of a pretty stiff, in some cases almost prohibitive, rate of duty. With the tariff removed, is it not certain that the exports of Canadian farm produce to the United States will immensely increase. The farmers think it will anyway, and that a free, open market of 90 millions at their very doors will give an advantage of the greatest value; the farmer, should know almost as well as the News, what he wants and what is good for him. It is to be remembered that with the increase in population, the United States is becoming less and less self sustaining, that agricultural exports are annually decreasing. Whatever the statistics of the News prove they do not prove that the trade agreement will not be a distinct and large benefit to the Canadian farmer, fruit grower and fisherman. In the very home of the leader of the Conservative Opposition, Mr. Borden, Conservatives, prominent among his supporters, have declared strongly for the agreement. Unlike the News and its ilk, their patriotism is superior to their partyism. In the same connection the News raises the bugbear of the competition of nations under the favoured nation treaty arrangement. This is not likely to be formidable. The exports, to Canada, of these eleven or twelve countries, of articles covered by the trade agreement, amounted, for the year ended March, 1910, to only 165 thousand dollars, not a very serious matter in Canada, whose exports of articles covered by the agreement amounted in 1910 to 205 millions of dollars. In any event the chief competition Canada would have from the favoured nations would be in the article of wheat and other grains. Of these not a dollar's worth was sent into Canada in 1910, and only $55,139 dollars' worth came from the United States. The News emphasises the favoured nation affair as "a very important point." Is it a very important point? There seems to be the very least danger of competition to the Canadian farmer from any of these countries. But in case competition should become serious, could not Great Britain be brought to the point of denouncing the treaty or treaties, as was done in the case of the British treaties with Germany and Belgium, which were denounced when it was found that their existence interfered with Canadian tariff arrangements in connection with the implementing of the British Preference?

DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

BRITAIN AND THE TRADE AGREEMENT.

Great Britain evidently does not regard the reciprocity agreement, whose endorsation is now pending, as hostile to British or Canadian interests. The following extract from the proceedings of the British Parliament as reported in the London Standard, shows that British opinion assumes that the trade agreement will be of advantage to both countries since it is desired that Great Britain, be admitted to the advantages—"equal concessions" with Canada. It also indicates that His Majesty's Ambassador at Washington, Mr. Bryce, testifies that the Canadian negotiators — Messrs. Fielding and Patterson—gave a "frank and cordial response" to his, naturally unnecessary, suggestion, that they have regard to Imperial interests. It also shows that the Imperial government concedes the right of Canada to deal with her own domestic concerns as she sees fit—a practical recognition of our autonomy. The excerpt referred to is as follow:

Mr. Remnant (C., Finsbury, Holborn) asked the Secretary for Foreign Affairs what instructions, if any, were given to his Majesty's Ambassador at Washington to invite the Canadian Government to insist on equal concessions being granted by the United States to British and Canadian traders in the reciprocal trade arrangement now being made between the United States and Canada; and whether, if no instructions had been given, he would give such at once, in view of Mr. Bryce's letter of January 22, 1911—Command-paper 5623—in which he stated that he received on every occasion a frank and cordial response whenever he had reminded the Canadian Ministers that it was right and fitting that they should have regard to Imperial interests.

Sir E. Grey.—The answer is in the negative. It would, in any case, be outside the province of our Ambassador at Washington to aproach the Canadian Government as the hon. member suggests.

Mr. Remmant.—May I ask whether the right hon. gentleman is still determined to wait until this treaty is ratified by both these countries before he attempts to get the advantage which it is admitted on all sides would accrue if British interests were treated on the same footing as those of Canadian traders?

Sir E. Grey.—The arrangement is not a treaty, and does not require any ratification. The matter is purely one of dofestic concern for the Canadian government to carry out.

Mr. Remnant.—May I ask whether the right hon. gentleman has considered that Canada is part of the British Empire?

Sir E. Grey—I need only refer to the very explicit and loyal declaration of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

Mr. Remnant.—Owing to the unsatisfactory answer, I propose to call attention to this matter on the adjournment of the House to-night.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Conservative members of parliament in their augmentative wriggling over the reciprocity agreement, do not hesitate to aspserse the memory of Sir John Macdonald. Mr. Henderson, Halton, in the House, accused Sir John of humbugging and hypocrisy—"I can't see how Sir John Macdonald could put a reciprocity offer in his N. P. when he was not in favour of it." That is to say, Sir John was false and insincere when he used his position as Prime Minister of Canada to procure the enactment of legislation that was contrary to his policy.

April seems to be the open season for Conservative malcontents—kickers against the leadership of Mr. Borden—and disorganizers. In April this year the plot came to a head and the annual shake-up of the parliamentary party took place. In April last year the Toronto World printed an alarmist despatch from Montreal stating that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was to hold an autumn general election — "will seek a snap verdict, while the Conservative Opposition is disorganized."

THE AMERICAN FARMER.

(Toronto Star)

While the Mail and Empire is telling the Canadian farmer that he will be ruined by American competition under reciprocity, the American farmer is informed that he will be swept away by a rush of farm products from the North. A. J. Bachelder, master of the National Grange, says that the cost of producing staple farm products is higher in the United States than in Canada; a statement which we respectfully submit to the Conservatives who yearn for information as to cost of production. He finds that Canadian farm lands are cheaper, wages for farm labour lower, cost of living to the farmer less, and the fertility of our virgin soil so great that the Canadian farmer need not spend money for fertilizers. In the Wisconsin Equity News, Mr. Mauff says that there is already an over-production of farm products in the United States, and that under reciprocity Canada would pour in still more, and open up new lands. "Remove the tariff protection, and allow the cereals from these vast areas to compete with the products of our farm lands, and you will bring about a situation amounting to almost a crisis so far as farm mortgages are concerned." The Rural New Yorker, which has printed many letters from farmers condemning the agreement, says:

"With the tariff removed on farm products the trickling stream of immigration away from this country will swell to a flood. The man in Alberta or Saskatchewan will be as near the wheat or cattle market as he who lives in Iowa or Kansas, yet the former can find land at $20 even superior to that for which the latter must pay $150. Yet with free trade the products of the two farms meet on equal terms."

The American agriculturist makes a remark which may interest some of those who cry against stripping Canada of its raw material for the benefit of the United States. Protectionists in the United States, it declares, are booming manufacturers regardless of the effect on farming.

"This is based on the idea that everything the farmer produces is raw material, while finished goods that deserve protection are only factory products. Any statesman, manufacturer, or factory employe only needs to go to farming for a year, and thus learn from experience what it means to make crops, to realise that farm produce is 'finished goods' quite as much as are factory products."

One of Scott's cartoons in the American Economist reminds us of those which appear in the Toronto World and News—with a difference. The American farmer is pictured as a fox looking slyly at a trap marked "Canadian Reciprocity," and he exclaims: "Not for me." Under the cartoon is the legend "The old fox has seen traps before." Between the story that the Canadian farmer will be ruined by reciprocity, and the story that the American farmer will meet that fate, lies the truth. There will be an exchange of products. The people of both countries will have the benefit of variety of soils, climates, and products, in a region extending from the Peace River to Mexico. Wherever and whenever there is a surplus in one place and scarcity in another, freedom will relieve the congestion and supply the need. A year's trial of reciprocity will dispel a lot of theories and alarms.

THE ZENNOR PLATE

A Short Story

"For goodness sake, gentlemen, remember that you are soldiers. How can you ill-treat a woman like that."

Thus, one winter's night, in the Rue de Buci, a well-dressed Englishman spoke to two Parisian policemen. He had come upon them whilst they were grappling with a wretched girl, who evidently was resisting arrest. One of the men was dragging her by the hair, the other was tearing her silk bodice from her back. The girl was fighting frenziedly for her freedom. It was a revolting sight.

As the policemen paid no attention to the stranger's remonstrance, he repeated it, stepping forward and laying his hand on the arm of the man who was tearing at the woman's hair. "Gentlemen, gentlemen!" he cried, "be soldiers, be men."

At the touch of his hand, the agent released the girl and seized the Englishman by the arm.

"Ah, you would interfere with the police, would you, you dog of an Englishman. To the station with you."

With these words he blew a whistle. Two other policemen came running up and laid violent hands upon the stranger, and although he made no resistance whatever—he had lived long enough in Paris to know the danger of that—dragged and hustled him off to the police station in the neighboring Rue des Grands-Augustins. Their violence increased when they had got him inside the guard-room, which was full of constables waiting to go on duty. Several of these rushed forward as though to assist their comrades, the motive being to give the impression that the prisoner was violently resisting arrest.

A police inspector seated at a desk, pen in hand, took down the charge in writing.

"We were arresting a drunken woman just now in the Rue de Buci, when this Englishman came up and abused us. He called us all sorts of names."

"It is not true," said the Englishman.

"Silence," said the Inspector. "You will speak later on. What names did he call you?"

"Well, the worst thing he said was that he couldn't understand how men who had been soldiers in the French Army could be such skunks as to take up such dirty work as that of policemen in Paris."

"Oh, oh," cried the Inspector, "that is grave."

"I said nothing of the sort," said the Englishman. "I saw these men—"

"You will explain all that later on," said the Inspector. "What you have to do now is to answer my questions. What is your name?"

The man hesitated. "I'd rather not give it," he said at last.

"You will have to," said the Inspector. "It'll be best for you to give it at once. Otherwise you will be kept until we find it out."

"Oh, well, then," said the man. "Wilson—John Wilson."

"Where do you live in Paris?"

"At the Grand Hotel."

"Have you any papers of identification?"

"Papers? No," said John Wilson. "Well, it doesn't matter, as we shall keep you here the night anyhow," said the Inspector. "You will see the commissary of police in the morning, and he will decide what's to be done with you. Here, two men, and search this fellow."

John Wilson's eyes shot fire and his white and nervous hands clenched in anger. But he was able to master himself and quietly submitted to the degrading operation.

"It's disgraceful that a person like you should behave in such a way," said the Inspector sententiously, as he noted down the various items of the prisoner's property. Such a "deposit" had rarely before been taken from a man arrested for disorderly conduct, at least within that Inspector's knowledge.

There was over £20 in gold and silver, a morocco pocketbook with a large sum of money in French banknotes in it, a gold watch engraved with a crest, a signet ring, and a gold cigarette case. These articles were tied up in the prisoner's silk pocket handkerchief. He was then ordered to divest himself of his braces, his cravat, and his boot laces.

"And what for?" he asked. "Are you frightened I might try to hang myself?"

"Exactly. It is the rule. Here, you may take your cigarettes, but you mustn't have any matches."

John Wilson shrugged his shoulders and pocketed his cigarettes.

"And now to the lock-up with him," said the Inspector.

The lock-up into which Wilson was roughly thrust by his conductor was a large cell with walls colored in distemper. A wooden bench ran round three sides. There was an opening in the massive door which was protected with iron bars. The place was passably dirty and smelt very foul.

Whilst the constable was locking the door on the outside, Wilson speaking to him through the bars, asked: "How long shall I be kept here?"

"The commissionaire will be here about eleven to-morrow," said the agent. Then shaking his fist at the prisoner he added, "and he'll teach you how we spell Fashoda in this shop."

Then with a laugh he turned away and went to inform the Inspector that the Englishman was fast and tight.

"I think we have made a good capture," said the Inspector. "It's not natural the man should carry such jewellery and so much money about with him. Why, there's over five thousand francs in this pocketbook. An English pickpocket, no doubt—one of the swell mob."

After he was left to himself, Wilson spent an amusing quarter of an hour in reading the various inscriptions with which the walls were covered. Some were of an amatory nature, professions of love from "The Terror of Belleville" to "Bertha theBloude." There was a realistic drawing of a guillotine execution with "this is how I hope to finish" written underneath it by the artist. Elsewhere were caracature portraits of President Loubet, of Paul Deschanel and other celebrated people. Having exhausted this fund of amusement the prisoner went to the barred opening and looked out into the passage, down which every new and again some drunken man or bawling female was hustled by the police to the adjoining cell.

"I almost hope they will give me a companion," said John Wilson. "If he isn't too drunk. Perhaps he may have been able to smuggle in a match. Otherwise, without society and without a smoke the night is likely to be as tedious as a soiree at—But, hush," he cried, interrupting himself with a laugh, "I mustn't mention that place here."

His hope that he might be provided with a companion was soon realised. Just after midnight an old and ragged man was put into the cell.

"Here's some society for you," said the policeman who had escorted the old beggar. "And I'll tell you what, milord, you ought to stand him some supper. You could do with a bite, couldn't you, old father?"

"Aye, that I could," said the old man, who was shaking with cold. "I have had nothing to eat all day, and not much yesterday, either."

"Certainly," said Wilson. "Get him anything that can be got at this hour. The inspector has my money. I would suggest something warm."

A few minutes later, a smoking bowl of onion soup, a couple of hard-boiled eggs, a plate of ham with bread, and a bottle of wine were placed on the bench of the lock-up.

"Now, then, old boy," said the agent who had brought in the food, "fall to. It's milord who is standing treat."

The old man needed no second bidding. He was evidently famishing. Whilst he was devouring his supper the constable looked on. "I must take the crockery back," he said.

After his departure, the old beggar drew out a pipe. "I could do with a smoke after that banquet," he said. "A real banquet it was, too, as good as the President has. I'll bet. Have you any tobacco, mate?"

"Only these cigarettes," said Wilson, pulling out a handful. "You can fill your pipe with a couple of these. But have you any matches? They took mine away from me."

"Oh, yes," said the beggar, filling and lighting his pipe. "They don't go over my pockets when I come here like they do yours. I am only a vagabond, you see, not a criminal like you. I come here when it is too cold to sleep under an archway, and I hope in time that they'll send me to prison as a vagabond. I should like to go off in the van in the morning, as you will, but there's no such luck for me. They'll release me in the morning."

St. Lawrence Sugar

Laboratory of Provincial Government Analyst.

MONTREAL, 22nd February, 1909.

I HEREBY CERTIFY that I have drawn by my own hand ten samples of the St. Lawrence Sugar Refining Co's EXTRA STANDARD GRANULATED SUGAR, indiscriminately taken from four lots of about 150 barrels each and six lots of about 450 bags each. I have analyzed same and find them uniformly to contain 99-99/100 to 100 per cent of pure cane sugar, with no impurities whatever.

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE LAWN BOWLING CLUB

The annual meeting of the Brookside Lawn Bowling Club was held in the Dominion Bank Chambers last night, and a number of the prominent members were present. Mr. D. H. Moore, Vice-President for 1910, occupied the position of chairman. The minutes of the last meeting were read, received and adopted. The President's report was then read, and was as follows:

President's Report for 1910.

Gentlemen—The past year has been somewhat out of the ordinary in that we again had the pleasure of a visit from the British bowlers, the purchasing of a Scotch mower and the very marked improvement in our green.

We started the year with a full determination to practice economy as far as possible, consistent with efficiency, and when I tell you that all the extra expenses, incident to the entertainment of our British brothers, procuring a new Scotch mower and improving our lawn to such a great extent have been paid, and we have also reduced our debt by about $100, I think you will agree with me that our Club is to be congratulated on such a result, and this would have been still better only for the unfavourable weather on the date of our annual excursion to Cobourg.

The British Bowlers arrived on the morning train and were taken by your Committee over the Lift Lock in the forenoon. The pleasure of the trip was somewhat marred by a thunder storm, but the trip was a surprising revelation to our visitors.] We desire to express our appreciation of the courtesies extended to us on this trip by Mr. McClellan, the Superintendent of the Canal. The afternoon looked threatening, and the recent storm made our grounds sofe, but the rain kept off, and we had the credit of being the only town or city in Canada that defeated the British experts. In the evening a banquet was given to our guests in the Oriental Hotel, and the assistance rendered by the indu-trial Commissioner, Mr. Duggan, was very much appreciated.

We had not many outside games during the past season. Millbrook and Keene were the only Clubs that reciprocated with us, and we had some very pleasant and interesting games with them.

During the year we purchased a Scotch mower, which certainly proves all the claims made for it.

Our caretaker visited Toronto on July 1st and made investigations as to how to place the grounds in shape, and came home chuck full of ideas, which he proceeded at once to put into execution, with the result that we had, by all odds, the best green to bowl on, the past season, we ever had before. I believe he has some further improvements in contemplation. He is a live man, and deserves credit for his painstaking and intelligent care of the grounds.

He will require some new appliances, but only of minor cost, for the coming season.

The lights, having sagged, should have been raised a little higher last year. This will require early attention. It has been suggested that gasoline lamps, while not quite as convenient, would give better and cheaper results. It might be worth while to look into this matter.

We are pleased to report that our Tennis Courts were used much more last season than heretofore, and with the excellent courts and convenient location, should prove even more attractive in the future.

There has been a Lake Shore league formed, including Whitby, Oshawa, Bowmanville, Port Hope, and Cobourg, to which Mr. Eaton presented a cup for competition. Owing to poor train accommodation this league was not extended to us, but Mr. Goyne of Oshawa recently called to see some of the members of the executive and proposed that we form an Inland League, comprising Port Perry, Lindsay, Peterborough and Millbrook, and that the winners in each league play off at the end of the season for the Cup.

This looks like a generous offer on behalf of the Lake Shore League and I submit it for your consideration.

I understand Millbrook has already endorsed the scheme and appointed their delegates. It will be for you gentlemen to take such action in this matter as may seem best to you.

Now, gentlemen, in retiring from the position of President of our Club, with which you have honoured me for the past two years, I desire to thank you most heartily, not for the honour alone, and the very cordial support I have received, but also for your forbearance with my shortcomings, which has always been extended to me.

I would bespeak even greater help and better results for my successor. Again I thank you.

J. E. A. FITZGERALD.

The report was adopted.

Secretary-Treasurer's Report.

The Secretary-Treasurer's report was then read, and showed a very successful year, and, notwithstanding the large extra expense, the Club's debt was reduced by $100.00.

Officers for 1911.

President—Mr. D. H. Moore.
Vice-President—Dr. Marshall.
Secretary-Treasurer — Mr. G. E. Clarke.

The following were elected as the executive—Mr. D. H. Moore, chairman; R. M. Waddell, R. Cotterell, D. Beleghem, R. J. Soden and T. Pratt. Belleghem, R. J. Soden and T. Pratt, and D. Beleghem.

The business regarding the procuring of a caretaker was left in the hands of the Lawn Committee.

The committee elected to control the Lawn Tennis is as follows: Messrs. R. Best, W. Campbell, Mr. Clarke and Mr. McDermid. This committee will be able to elect the playing representatives.

It was moved and seconded that the Club enter into communication with the Secretaries of other teams, with a view to forming a League. A later move was that Mr. D. H. Moore and Mr. Pratt be the committee to communicate with these clubs and have full power to act regarding the forming of a League.

A vote of thanks was then moved, to the officers of last year, which was duly seconded and the meeting adjourned.

SPRING SKIN TROUBLES

Pimples, Eruptions and "Spotty" Complexions

At this season, scores of people — girls and young women especially — find their faces disfigured by pimples, dark spots, eruptions, etc. The skin needs attention — needs renovating after the trying time it has passed through during the winter.

Just think what it has gone through! You have been out in rain and sleet and snow. You have been at one moment perspiring from skating, or some other exertion. Then you have stood to "cool off." You have spent hours of the day indors at a temperature equal to summer heat. Then you have covered up your skin — except your face—and gone out into a temperature away below zero! No wonder that with all these changes, the skin of the face and neck shows signs of needing attention.

Zam-Buk and Zam-Buk Soap are the remedies. Smear Zam-Buk lightly over the spots, the eruptions, the sallow patches, at night, and wash with Zam-Buk Soap (only 25c. per tablet) each day. Then notice how quickly your appearance improves. As the rich, refined, herbal essences sink deep into the tissue, the hard, scurfy-like patches are removed. Better colour results. The cells of the skin become transparent. The blood beneath is able to impart its proper colouring to the tissue, and the delicate bloom of health replaces the sallowness and pallor of disease.

Zam-Buk is also a sure cure for skin injuries and diseases. Eczema, ulcers, ringworm, yield to its use. For cuts, burns, bruises, children's rashes, etc., it is unequalled, and for piles. Mothers will find Zam-Buk Soap best for baby's bath! All druggists and stores at 50c. box for Zam-Buk and 25c. tablet (or 3 for 70c.) for the Soap. If you have any difficulty in obtaining, order from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, and send price.

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

This is the season of housecleaning.

Too self-evident to mention, you think?

Quite so. But I mentioned it only to introduce a suggestion.

As you take your broom in hand to move upon the foe, will you not make up your mind that the season of housecleaning this year, is to be also a season of housecleaning and simplification.

The desire to accumulate simply for the sake of accumulation is one of the oldest and most unreasoning of human passions. The child who hoards the red candy box and the half dozen seashells, beautiful once as they sparkled in their proper setting, the wet sea sand, but hopelessly ugly now, and the hundred and one little treasures quite as valueless and useless and quite as precious; the Indian who treasures his bits of coloured glass; the miser who gloats over his hidden gold; and the housewife who solemnly takes out and cleans and puts back each year a lot of truck that she does not really and will never use, are all slaves of this same primeval obsession — the mania for accumulation.

To discriminate, to know what to keep and what to throw away, to have the wisdom and courage to simplify one's existence by getting rid of all the truck one is keeping simply because one does not quite like to throw it away—that is the mark of the woman who has developed somewhat beyond the primeval.

There are many departments of the average household where simplification could be attempted with good results.

For instance, the writing desk. Ten to one it is overflowing with letters long ago read and answered and kept, not for any sentimental or literary worth, but merely "because it seems too bad to throw them right away." Go through that desk with a relentless hand, tying up any letters that you have any real reason for keeping, and consigning the others to the fire, and see if you do not approve the result.

And by the way, let me offer a suggestion in regard to the souvenir cards which—if you are not a collector or do not happen to know any one who is—will seem a problem to you because it seems too bad to burn them up. Don't do that. Mine go to a dear old lady who delights in forwarding them to the missionaries who greatly appreciate this new kind of picture cards. Doubtless your Church Missionary Society will be glad of yours.

Then there is the medicine chest, with dozens of bottles in it that contain little trickles of medicine that you will never use again. There's a little of that fever medicine the doctor gave you when you had the grippe, and a few drops of the stuff he gave the baby for measles, and another bottle half full of some dark coloured liquid whose reason for being there you have quite forgoten. You pretend to think that perhaps you will use some of these again, but really you know you never will.

And then there are the closets and wardrobes and chests where your unused clothes are stored. Your elimination here surely ought to be the most rigid, because you owe it to two people—to yourself, whose life these unnecessary things are clogging, and to somebody else who has need of them.

There are those boots that didn't quite fit you and that you have hoarded for two years hoping some day to get up courage to wear them. You never will. You know it now. And they might mean so much to that somebody else.

There's that brown serge dress that you laid aside because you never liked and solaced you conscience by pretending that some day you will have it made over. You know you never will and somebody's hands are outstretched waiting to receive it from you.

The responsibility of keeping these things — that by the right of eminent domain belong to the somebodies who need them—truly I do not see how anyone dare assume it.

These are just a few general suggestions. The specific simplifications which your household needs, only you can know. But if you bravely carry out this policy through the whole house I promise that you shall be more satisfied with your spring cleaning than you have ever been before.

THE RITE OF CONFIRMATION ADMINISTERED BY HIS LORDSHIP BISHOP REEVE

Interesting Ceremony Took Place in All Saints' Church Last Night —Third Confirmation Class in Eighteen Months.

CHOIR IN SURPLICES

The third Confirmation within a year and a half was held at All Saints' Church last night, when the Right Rev. W. Day Reeve, Assistant Bishop of Toronto, confirmed about thirty candidates, both men and women. A noteworthy feature of the occasion was the appearance of the choir in surplices for the first time—a fitting accompaniment to the holy ordinance, and which seemed to lend a greater dignity and reverence to the impressive service. This new introduction is one of peculiar interest to those whom it especially concerns (the choir) and one that should meet with the warmest commendation and approval of the entire congregation of All Saints church.

His Lordship Bishop Reeve delivered a very soul inspiring and passionate address on behalf of the Confirmation Class, in which he entreated them to stand by the pledge which they were about to take, and not fall away. Some people have been led to think that there is nothing in the Church of England confirmation services. This is one of the serious responsibilities that is placed on those who are about to be confirmed. The responsibility of dispelling this illusion by doing that which is right, otherwise you are only doing harm to yourself; you are doubting God's promise and leading others to do likewise.

His Lordship concluded his remarks by a final appeal to those who were about to be confirmed to live up to the teachings of God's Holy Word.

"AT CRIPPLE CREEK"

A Thrilling Play of the West at "The Grand" on Easter Monday—A Carload of Special Scenery

Of all the plays that have been given to the stage by Dramatist Hal Reid, none possesses the power of appealing to the emotions in so high a degree as does "At Cripple Creek," which promises to duplicate its success of last season.

The locality affords splendid dramatic and scenic possibilities, and that Mr. Reid took full advantage of these was evidenced by the reception of his play. Interest of the most absorbing nature centres in the four acts of "At Cripple Creek." The first act shows the interior of Martin Mason's den, known as the Temple of David. The second shows the exterior of Joe Mayfield cabin at Rift Canyon; the third shows the depths of The Last Dollar Mine, and the last Act occurs in Joe Mayfield's new home upon the day of his marriage to Belle Gordon.

Martin Mason, the leader of the desperate gang of out laws, furnishes the villainy of the piece. Among his schemes is the luring of innocent girls to his infamous den. He also attempts to wrest from Joe Mayfield The Last Dollar claim, but Mason is thwarted in this plot by Dynamite Ann, one of his former victims, who is aided by Joe Mayfield and the Indian, Waketah. Mason's attempt aided by a Mexican "bad man," Manuel Alvarez, to kill little Tatto, in the second act; the death trap in the third act and the denouement of the last act furnishes some of the most striking incidents of the play. A car-load of scenery is carried for the production of this fine drama, and it is acted by one of the strongest casts ever employed in melodrama and is presented under the personal direction of E. J. Carpenter. The comedy element has not been neglected in "At Cripple Creek," and spectators of it will be treated to a graphic and true-to-nature glimpse of life in the mining region of Colorado during the eighties.

"At Cripple Creek" appears at the Grand Opera House on Easter Monday, and there is sure to be a full house.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"POLLY OF THE CIRCUS."

"Polly of the Circus," Margaret Mayo's spectacular play proved a delightful treat, as it was presented at the Grand last night by a capable company, and with complete accessories. The audience found the offering one of the most enjoyable of the season. Scenically, the production left nothing to be desired, the last act showing scenes on the circus lot and inside the big tent, being complete and realistic. The circus scene was made even more impressive by the introduction of a trained pony, a very clever troupe of gymnasts and "Little Hip" the famous trained elephant, who incidentally demonstrated his versatility earlier in the evening by giving out programmes in the lobby. Miss Georgie Olp gave a very pleasant delineation of the title role and the balance of the company were satisfactory.

THE HERPICIDE GIRL

Says Everyone Can Have Beautiful Hair

I am really ashamed of some of my girl friends when I look at their hair. There is no sense in having such looking heads. It simply shows that while they may be scrupulously neat in every other way, they are careless about their hair.

Thin, scraggy, wispy hair generally indicates dandruff and dandruff is caused by a germ. Newbro's Herpicide will kill that germ and keep the scalp as clean and healthy as can be. This permits the hair to grow naturally and luxuriantly. That terrible itching which goes with dandruff stops with almost the first application.

Substitutes or remedies said to be "just as good" are sometimes offered, but it is better to buy the genuine original germ killer, Newbro's Herpicide. There is no guesswork about that preparation. A trial isn't necessary, just buy a bottle and use it. The results are sure to be better than you expect.

For sale at drug stores. One dollar size bottles are guaranteed. Applications obtained at the better barber shops. Send 10c in postage for sample and book to The Herpicide Co., Dept. R., Detroit, Mich.

Sold by McDermid & Jury, druggists, George street, Peterborough.

POST CARD COLUMN

Editor Examiner:

In last evening's Review I read a short account of the late Frank Bell, a man of sterling integrity and unflinching courage. He had his faults no doubt, as other people have, but there were few men of equal strength and solidity of character. As such he never stooped to meanness, and it is on this account that I wish to draw your attention as well as to the fact that whatever he may have done in his latter days in the way of changing his denomination when he was not so clear as he might have been, he was a strikingly firm adherent of the faith of his fathers all through his long and useful life. Whatever allegiance he gave to a church he gave to the Baptist church, which he often spoke of to me as the church above all others of the most purely scriptural character. Thanking you,

Yours,
AN OLD FRIEND.

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—My good friend, Mr. J. J. Hartley, has written the Examiner asking for information with regard to the merits of the By-law to be voted on by the electors, shortly, in connection with the establishment of a new industry in Peterborough.

Mr. Hartley asks for information. Surely he reads the evening press. I have read frequently the conditions entered into by the City Council with the proposed Company, and I have no hesitancy whatever in giving my approval to the agreement entered into by the city.

If we can, by giving a loan on an advance of $40,000, to a new Company to locate in our midst, which will employ one hundred hands, and increase the population of our city within a year by 500 or 1,000 people, would it not be a good business?

If the Company should not prove a success the city will not be at any loss, as it will have the security—premises and plant.

A builder, bricklayer and workingman should be the last of our citizens to oppose the proposition. If my friend, Mr. Hartley, will interview Mr. Armstrong, City Clerk, he will be able to obtain the details of the agreement, all of which I have not in my memory. I have the greatest respect and esteem for Mr. Hartley, who is, generally speaking, the workingman's friend, and I hope he will not stultify himself by voting against this by-law. I hope and expect that after Mr. Hartley has had the opportunity of looking into the proposition more fully that he will be fonder than ever of building up Peterborough.

Yours truly,
A BUILDER.

MRS. H. J. KEITH WAS MADE A LIFE MEMBER

Interesting Presentation Featured the Anniversary Gathering in Knox Presbyterian Church Last Evening

SPLENDID PROGRAMME

There was a large attendance of the congregational reunion at the meeting at Knox church last night, in connection with the anniversary celebration The chair was very efficiently occupied by Mr. Howard Shurter, chairman of the Board of Managers, who made a brief introductory address after which the first item on the programme was introdued, it being a much appreciated piano duet by the Misses Chiles. This was followed by a banjo solo, by Mr. Parkins. The next item was a solo by Miss Jean Robson, which was followed by a reading by Mr. McPherson.

An interesting feature was the presentation of a certificate of life membership in the Women's Foreign Missionary Society to Mrs. H. J. Keith. It read as follows:

"The World For Christ"
Women's Foreign Missionary Society
Necta Men Consumevatur.

This certifies that Mrs. H. J. Keith is a life member of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society, of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, in accordance with the term of its constitution.

(Signed)
Isobel L. George, Treasurer — M. Shortreed, President

Dated, Toronto, April 7th, 1911.

The presentation was accompanied by the following address:

Dear Mrs. Keith,—On behalf of the ladies of the congregation, we wish to show in some small way the esteem in which you are held in our hearts. Since coming among us it has been your earnest desire to kindle the missionary spirit in the heart of every woman in our congregation. Coming as you have from the field, and knowing the great need of missionary work, you have been bringing many of us to a knowledge of our responsibility to the heathen world. Your untiring zeal and obedience to Christ's great commission, "Go you into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature," has won for His cause not only the ladies of our congregation, but your influence in the missionary work has been felt all over our city. We hope you may see definite results from your work in our midst, and that our congregation, in the near future, will have its representatives, in both the home and foreign field.

We therefore ask you to accept this life membership certificate of the Women's Missionary Society, as a recognition of your zeal in the work and as a mark of the love we bear towards you, and may it be yours to see every lady of our congregation a member of our society.

Signed on behalf of the ladies of Knox church.

Mrs. McPherson,
Mrs. McKenzie,
Mrs. Allin,
Mrs. Penrose.

Rev. Mr. McKay, of Smith's Falls, made an address, in which he referred to the happy occasion upon which they had assembled together, and expressed his appreciation of the active work that the Knox people were doing, and in which his own congregation in Smith's Falls takes such deep interest. He went on to speak of the peculiar music of the Highlands of Scotland that was in such contrast to the music of the banjo and the piano to which they had been listening. Neither of these instruments were suitable for war, but there was no more inspiring instrument in time of war than the bagpipes. Its construction suited the climatic conditions of the highlands in a way that no other instrument would do, and its music best suited the temperament of the Highlanders. He gave illustrations in Gaelic and in English of the different types of Highland music.

His address was followed by a solo from Mr. R. Dixon, and a banjo solo from Mr. Parkins. Several visiting clergymen gave brief addresses of greeting. Rev. Mr. Rollins was welcomed by the Knox people, and his words of friendly greeting were much appreciated. Rev. Mr. Pogue and Rev. Mr. Webb were also very much enjoyed.

After a brief message from Rev. Mr. Keith in which he referred to the great work still to be accomplished by the Knox congregation, the people retired to dining hall and partook of refreshments. A vote of thanks was extended on behalf of the congregation, by Mr. J. F. Morrison and Mr. H. Shurter, to Mr. McKay for his services on Sunday and his address during the evening.

The committee that had the programme and refreshments in hand, deserve great credit for the successful evening.

RURAL MAIL SERVICE FOR CENTRAL SMITH THE SUGGESTED ROUTE

Hon. J. R. Stratton, M. P., West Peterborough, has endeavoured to have a Rural Mail Route established through the central portion of the Township of Smith. The proposed route will commence in Peterborough, leaving the city Post Office at one o'clock, and proceed East of the Communication Road, north to the Third Concession; thence East to the Middle Line, and North to the Fourth Concession; thence West to East Communication Road and North to the Fifth Concession; East to the Middle Road, then North to the Seventh Concession; thence West to the Quarter Line, and North to the Eighth Concession; thence West to the Finger Board; thence North to the Ninth Concession and East to the Middle Line; thence South on the Seventh Line and East to Lakefield and the River Road; thence South to the Fourth Concession and West to the Middle Line; htence South on the Middle Line to the city. The proposed route would cover a journey of about 25 miles, and arrangements are being made with a view to the courier leaving Peterborough at about one o'clock, after the assorting of the G. T. R. and C. P. R. noon mails. This route has been selected after consideration, as being the one that would best serve the most people in the Township irrespective of any other consideration than accommodation to the public.

If there is any person in Smith, or in Peterborough, who can work out a better route—one that will serve the Township with greater success than the one above mentioned, Mr. Stratton would be glad to have the information, so that whatever route may be established will be the one that will give the farmers the best Rural Mail service possible.

In a route of this description the condition of the roads and the lines that are opened, has to be considered and have been considered. Mr. Stratton does not say that this is the best possible route that can be thought out, but it is the best that he can think of from all the information he has been able to obtain and from his own knowledge of the Township, but if anyone can improve on the route he would be glad to have the information, so that it can be looked into, and if the proposed service can be improved upon, so much the better.

Anyone interested and not able to follow the description, can see a map of the proposed route by calling at the Examiner Office.

No. 2 COMPANY HOLDS ITS ANNUAL REUNION

The annual re-union of No. 2 Co. of the 57th Regiment took place last evening, when about 30 members of the above company turned out in uniform to enjoy the hospitality of their officers, Capt. Watt and Lieut. Carruthers, to a substantial supper, etc. The first hour was spent in euchre and selections on the phonograph, owned by Sergt. H. Hanwell, after which supper was spread by Mr. Hooper and justice done to a substantial repast. Among the invited guests was Mr. W. McIlroy, who ably accompanied the following programme of music and dancing:

Duet—W. McIlroy and Sergt. Skates.
Step dance—John Crowe.
Mouth organ solo—Sergt. Skates.
Song—Q. M. Sergt. Edwards.
Recitation—Col.-Sergt. Halpin.
Step dance—Pte. Dunnett.
Song—E. A. Mulholland.

There were present as invited guests ex-Col. Miller (an old No. 2 man), Major Clegg (also an old No. 2 man,) Major Bennett, Hon. Major Canon Davidson, Capt. McLean, W. McIlroy and Capt. Hounsell

All the officers present said that from present indications that this year would be a banner year for the 57th. With nearly every company being up to full strength and the promise of a good trip this year, a new outdoor range, etc., the 57th was starting the new year's drill with every prospect of a banner year in its history.

THE EXAMINER'S NEW SERIAL WILL BEGIN ON SATURDAY

The Examiner's new serial story which will commence in Saturday's issue will be a little different in tenor from its immediate predecessors, but the Examiner has no hesitation in claiming for it that it will be even more popular and interesting than the others of the series. The new story is entitled "The Black Cross," and is from the facile pen of Miss Olive M. Briggs. It is a fascinating yarn of intrigue and politics in Russia, into which is woven an appealing love story. The interest is sustained from the first paragraph uninterruptedly until "Finis" has been reached, and readers of the Examiner have a treat in store for them when the new story commences. You liked "The Innocent Murderers," you liked all the rest of the Examiner hits, and you will like "The Black Cross." It is Examiner standard.

THE ZENNOR PLATE

"So you think I shall go off in the van. And where to?" asked Wilson with an amused smile.

"To the Depot, of course, to the central lock-up. Have you never been there before? No? Well, you're safe to go there in the morning. So the inspector said when I was in the guardroom just now. He said you were booked through. And now I'll try to have a sleep. I'm dead tired; but it's so very cold that I doubt if I shall be able to get a wink."

"Poor old chap," said Wilson, pulling off his magnificent fur coat. "Here, you lie down and cover yourself with this."

An hour or two later one of the policemen who had been seeing that all was in order in the cells returned to the guard and said:

"That's a queer card, that English man we've got in there. He has covered old father Simon up with his fur coat and has pillowed the old chap's head on his legs. And he himself is shaking with cold."

"All the same, he'll have to go off in Black Maria to-morrow morning," said the Inspector. "No papers, and all this jewellery and money. He's booked through."

The Inspector's prediction was a true one. The commissary of police took a serious view of the charge against Wilson, especially as he indignantly refused to apologise to the constables, declaring that he had not insulted them in the least.

"Your remarks," said the police magistrate, "are very offensive to me who have the honour to be a policeman. So you think we are skunks to ply such a trade? You have given a false name and address. At least, nothing is known of you at the Grand Hotel, where I telephone for information. You must be taught that when Englishmen come to France they must learn manners, and you must go off to the Depot, to be tried for insulting and interfering with the police, in van number one."

"Ah," said old father Simon, who was with Wilson and other charges in the commissary's office, "I knew you would get a ride in the van. No such luck for me. The streets for me."

"Oh one moment, sir," said Wilson, addressing the commissary. "May I give this old man something? We spent a very pleasant evening together. Let him have a hundred francs out of my money."

The police officer flushed and finally shrugged his shoulders. "As we have no proof that all this money does not belong to you lawfully," he said "you are free to dispose of it as you like."

"Oh, in that case," said Wilson, "let the old man have a thousand."

"A thousand francs for me! for me! A thousand francs!" cried the old beggar, with his eyes starting from his head. "To leave the streets of Paris and the cold and hunger, and to get back to my village and people with a fortune like that! Oh, Mr. Commissary, say that I am not dreaming. Say that the gentleman said that I was to have a thousand francs."

"Don't make such a noise here, father Simon," cried the commissary. "The man did say you were to have a thousand francs, but you can't have it now. You can have a hundred today, and you can come back in three days after his case is settled. If it appears that the money is his you shall have the rest. But don't be too hopeful. I doubt whether I am right in letting you have the hundred. Only a lunatic or an English lord would throw his money away like that. Now, policemen, take Wilson back to the cells, and send him off to the Depot in the first van."

Wilson hesitated a moment as if about to say something. Then he bowed to the police officer, and swinging round on his heel, followed the constable who was in charge of him to the door. Here he turned round and said: "When you are quite satisfied about my money, Mr. Commissary, will you please let father Simon have not one but two thousand francs? Eighty pounds. Yes, eighty pounds. I didn't know he had people in a village to go to."

Then with a smile and a wave of his hand, he disappeared down the windoing staircase that led to the cells.

Amidst the jeers of the police, the "aristocrat with the fur coat," the "aristocrat who gave away thousands of francs," was bundled shortly afterwards into the Black Maria with a crowd of vagabonds and thieves, and driven off to the Depot, or central prison.

Here, after having been subjected to a variety of humiliating formalities, to which he submitted with supreme good humor, he was informed that he would be brought up on the day following before the Eighth Chamber of Correctional Police.

The day passed dismally enough, but Wilson found plenty to interest him in observing his various fellow prisoners. The people detained at the Depot are divided into two classes, the black coats and the blouses and each class is in a separate common room. Wilson had naturally been placed among the black coats, and he was much surprised to see what a number of well-dressed people were in trouble. It was with some satisfaction, that though there were foreigners present, there was besides himself only one Englishman in the crowd.

This man, a foxy, wirey little man of common appearance, in his turn soon recognised a countryman in Wilson, and after observing him carefully—sizing him up, as the saying is—accosted him in English.

"In for pinching?" he asked.

Wilson laughed. "Oh, no," he said. "For insulting the police."

"Oh, sixteen francs fine, if it's a first offence; otherwise twelve and tenpence," said the stranger. "But how did they come to send you here? You look like a toff."

"They weren't satisfied with the name and address I gave," said Wilson.

"Ho, ho," said the little man with a wink. "I see how the land lies. Impertinent curiosity on their part. You give a false name and address, and they send you here to be mensurated, just to see if you've been here before. Get through it all right, I'll wager. Now the moment I set eyes on you, I said to myself, here's one of the right sort, and maybe after a bit of conversation I may be able to make you a proposal. I'm just now in want of a pal."

Wilson smiled. "What are you in trouble for?" he asked.

"Arrested on suspicion as a pickpocket. Fortunate, though, they have got nothing against me, and as I have never been in their hands before and they know nothing about me, I'm certain to be discharged. You see, sneak thieving isn't my regular trade. I go in for the gloves and only work on jobs which pay well. But in my line it is almost impossible to work single-handed, and both my pals are jugged on long stretches. So, whilst looking out for another partner, I have been picking up a bit of a living, as I say. But it's pettifogging work, and look at the risk. Can you fancy me doing five years in a French prison for a twopenny half-penny purse with perhaps eighteen pence in it. So, no more 'vollalatear'" (vol u la tire) "for me. I like the look of you, and if you're on for business—I can put you up to a job which we'll do together. Something splendid. A gold mine. Hard work, though, mind you."

"Come to particulars, man," said Wilson. "Don't beat about the bush. You have a burglary in view and you want me to join you. I can't say yes or no, until I hear what it is. What am I to get out of it?"

"Well, me bringing the job and providing the tools, and you only being an amateur, I should say your fair share would be a fourth."

"Which would amount to?"

"Well, if we can collar the whole swag, it ought not to be less than a thousand pounds. Think of that, young fellow; a thousand pounds for a night's work."

"Where is it?"

"Oh, not so fast. I can't give it away like that. Wait till we meet in London for we'll fix a rendezvous. Suffice to say it's a street off the Strand, that the swag is gold plate, and that it is stowed in a safe which they say 'defies the world.' So it may; but it don't defy me. I look on it as good as in Benjamin's melting pot, and the flimsies in our pockets."

"Oh, it's the Zennor plate in Cecil Street that you're after?" said Wilson.

The thief started. "Are you a blooming thought-reader or are you not?" he said.

"Not much thought-reading required to spot that," said Wilson. "Where else is there gold plate worth ten thousand pounds in any house off the Strand. I have had my eye on it

OBITUARY

SAMUEL NEWTON BELL.

The death occurred at Bridgenorth at 2 o'clock this morning at the residence of his son, Mr. Nelson C. Bell, of Samuel Newton Bell, who had been a resident of Bridgenorth for the past eight years. The deceased was eighty-seven years of age and was born in New York state, where he lived for seventy-nine years. He was quiet and unassuming in his characteristics and earned the respect and admiration of those with whom he came in contact. He was a son of the late John Bell, an old soldier who saw service beneath the Union Jack of England and the Stars and Stripes of the United States.

The family on the mother's side were related to Sir Isaac Newton. The deceased had been in failing health for the past four months and had been seriously ill for two weeks. He is survived by one son, Mr. Nelson C. Bell of Bridgenorth, and by thre daughters, Mrs. Sarah Jane Noy of Maine, Mrs. Catharine Anne Allen of New Hampshire, and Mrs. Margaret Farnan, of Lowell, Mass.

The funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon at 2.30 to Bridgenorth cemetery.

IRWIN MARKS.

The death took place yesterday in Toronto of Mr. Irwin Marks, a former resident of Peterborough. Mr. Marks was for years with the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company, removing to Toronto about three years ago. He has been ailing for some time and a while ago fell and broke his hip. The family reside in Toronto. Mr. Irwin's remains will be brought to Peterborough. He was a member of Court Peterborough, Canadian Order of Foresters, under whose auspices the funeral will be held. The funeral will take place to-morrow (Wednesday) on the arrival of the 11.26 C. P. R train and proceed direct to Little Lake cemetery.

myself for a long time."

"Come, none of that. No cutting me out. It's a job between us, or it's neither's job. I'd give Lord Zennor the tip, rather."

"Nobody wants to cut you out. I can't do it on my own, or I'd have tried it long ago. I haven't the tools, and if I had I shouldn't know how to use them."

"Then here's my hand on it, mate. My name's Barker—Joe Barker—and your's you say is Wilson. Aye, the job is a stiff one, for beside the safe, the house is guarded by a couple of men, two prize fighters they are, what his lordship takes out with him when he goes adventuring in the East End."

"The men sleep at the top of the house," said Wilson, "and the stuff is in a safe in a backroom on the ground floor."

"Aye, so I know said Barker.

"There's no getting at the watchmen I think," said Wilson interrogatively.

"No fear. They are both devoted to the old Earl, who is a very nice gentleman. They'd knock you down straight if you tried even to hint at such a thing."

"The work," continued Barker, "will have to be done on its own merits. And we are the men to do it. We slip into the area just after nightfall and hide ourselves in the

GIRL GETS SEVEN YEARS FOR MANSLAUGHTER

Charged With Killing Her Infant—Pleads Guilty to Charge of Manslaughter and Sentence is Passed

INDICTMENT ALTERED

Barrie, April 12.—In one hour and fifteen minutes from the time that Pearl Smith, trembling with emotion, entered the court-room, assisted by Mrs. Beeson of the Salvation Army and an officer of the law, charged with the murder of her infant, the case was closed and sentence passed. She was sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary.

Precisely at 4 p.m. Crown Prosecutor Frank Arnoldi addressed the jury, rehearsing the incidents connected with the case, from the time the girl left the Salvation Army Hospital in Toronto until the time of the inquest on Feb. 9.

The first witness called by the crown was Mrs. Beeson, matron of the hospital, who stated the girl had come to the hospital, and, after staying three weeks, returned to Collingwood with her child. Witnesses also stated, in answer to a question by crown counsel, that the clothes shown her at the post mortem examination were the ones supplied by her when Pearl Smith was leaving the hospital. Asked if there was any other way she could identify the child, she replied she could identify the child by marks on chin about the size of a pin.

Gordon, a lad of 13, told of finding the body on Feb. 4 while going through the bush on his way to fish. The evidence of Dr. Alex. McFaul, the coroner at Collingwood, and Dr. McKay, who conducted the post-mortem examination, corroborated the evidence given at the inquest. Constable William Smith gave evidence as to the taking of the body to Trott's undertaking rooms. He stated he was directed to the spot by the boys Gordon and Shaw, and found the child lying under some trees in the woods, about ten feet from the path, covered with snow, with the right hand protruding from beneath.

At this point counsel for the prisoner, with the consent of the crown prosecutor, asked that his lordship would change the indictment from that of murder to a charge of manslaughter, and in that event his client would change the plea of not guilty in the case of murder to guilty for the lesser charge. His lordship at once proceeded to change the indictment, as he considered the ends of justice would be as well served.

"The crime of abandonment is not uncommon," said the judge. "This is the second case of this kind that has come up in this county during the past year. A girl that will live this kind of life must be punished, and it is necessary that you should be punished, not only for yourself, but as an example to the public. I must remind you that the court can sentence you to imprisonment for life on this charge, or for a shorter term," said the judge, "but I do not intend to give you a severe sentence in this case."

His lordship then told the prisoner that he was glad to see the Salvation Army had interested themselves in her case, and he felt sure they would follow her and care for her while she was in prison as well as when she came out. If she would be guided by their prayers and advice she would be able, while still a young woman, to regain her place in decent society after leaving prison.

Col. G. W. Bruce, K.C., prisoner's counsel, thanked his lordship for the lenmency shown.

On hearing the sentence the young woman broke down completely and left the court-room crying bitterly.

Reputation Damaged 6 Cents Worth.

New York, April 12.—Six cents damages was awarded yesterday to Wm. Casey by a Brooklyn jury in the Supreme Court for the injury to his reputation sustained when he was arrested and photographed by Brooklyn detectives, charged with a crime of which he was acquitted on trial. Casey sued Gen. Theodore Bingham, police commissioner, for $25,000, and seven detectives for $10,000 each. The case against Gen. Bingham was thrown out of court, and yesterday's verdict followed the trial of the action against the detectives.

Big Hotel For Montreal.

Montreal, April 12.—The property occupied by the W. H. Scroggie Co., Ltd., at the corners of St. Catharine and Peel streets, was purchased yesterday by the firm of Carrick, Limited, for a syndicate who proposes to erect a big hotel on the site. The property has a frontage of 113 feet 6 inches on St. Catherine street, 117 on Peel street, and 113 feet on Dominion square. The purchase price was understood to be in the neighborhood of $300,000, or about $40 a foot.

Fell In Mill Pond.

Ingersoll, April 12—While playing with some companions at the edge of Pardlo's Pond, little Ray Jackson son of Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Jackson, aged 6 years, fell into the mill race, and but for the prompt action of John Devlin, he probably would have drowned. The mill race flows under a double house, and the lad was quickly carried by the current out of view. Mr. Devlin rushed from his blacksmith shop into the cellar of the house and pulled up some timbers which form a covering for the race, succeeded in pulling out the child, who apparently was none the worse for his experience.

MURDER TRIAL

Henry Matthews is Charged With Murder of Josephine Brimscombe at Colborne in December

GREAT INTEREST

Cobourg, April 12.—"Not guilty" was the answer made by Henry I. Matthews, jr., at the spring assizes here yesterday, when arraigned, charged with the murder of Josephine Brimscombe.

At 11.15 yesterday morning court resumed, Mr. Justice Clute presiding. At 11.30 the grand jury brought in a true bill in the Matthews' murder case, and at 11.40 the prisoner, outwardly composed and seemingly confident, entered the box. Excepting that he is slightly pale, his confinement since December has not told upon him. His father, Capt. William Matthews, was present in the court. The room was crowded, great interest centering in the case, which is one of the most notable ever tried here. The Matthews' family is highly esteemed in East Northumberland and well known throughout the district. Matthews is a married man with a family. His mother died during his incarceration. The murdered girl seemingly bore a good name.

The crime with which the prisoner, who is familiarly known among his associates as "Son" Matthews, is charged, occurred at the Bristol Hotel, Colborne, in December last. The murdered girl, a deaf mute, employed as a servant, was found dead in a room by the proprietor, George Tisdale, with marks on her throat, which led to the belief that she had been strangled.

The selection of a jury occupied a considerable length of time, a large number being objected to. In the final choice it was found that the majority are from Durham County. Crown Prosecutor Peter White of Pembroke stated the case for the crown. Associated with him in the prosecution is W. F. Kerr, county crown attorney. The prisoner is defended by E. Gus Porter, K.C., M.P., Belleville; W. L. Payne, K.C., Colborne, and F. M. Field, K.C., Cobourg. It was decided to exclude all witnesses excepting the medical experts and Constables Smith and Jarvis.

Witnesses called at the afternoon session were W. H. Smith, constable, Colborne; George Teasdale, proprietor of the Hotel Bristol, where the alleged murder took place; Irving T. Bradley, a merchant and a boarder at the hotel; and Don. Haynes, who had been employed about the hotel for some time. Their evidence, largely corroborated that given at the preliminary investigation. A plan of the hotel was submitted by Mr. Smith, the first witness. A blue print of the premises was also brought into use. The pillowslip with a stain upon it, said to be vomit, and the clothing worn by Josephine Brimscombe at the time that she was found dead, were brought into court as exhibits.

Gave Quart of His Blood.

New York, April 12.—Two hundred men called at Mount Moriah Hospital yesterday to answer to an advertisement offering $25 for a quart of human blood. Most of them were penniless, and all declared that the monetary reward was their sole consideration in applying.

G. J. Allen, a strapping sailor, was selected and for half an hour blood flowed from his arteries into the veins of Mrs. Rosie Reisler. Allen wanted to depart when the operation was concluded, but surgeons detained him until he recovers his strength. Mrs. Reisler, who had lost blood through an internal hemorrhage has a good chance of recovery.

Combine Business and Pleasure.

Kingston, April 12.—The board of visitors of the Royal Military College will visit and inspect the college on the 24th inst. Col. Sam Hughes is president of the board, with Lt.-Col. H. S. Sherwood and Major A. H. MacDonnell as members, and Lt.-Col. Dunbar, secretary. It is expected that the board will be here a week or more. Its visit is so timed that its members may be present at the fancy dress ball of the Horse Artillery officers on the 20th.

Indians on Verge of Starvation.

Winnipeg, April 12.—Indians in the Hudson Bay district are almost on the verge of starvation, and have had to be assisted by the Hudson Bay officials. The terribly severe winter, with the scarcity of furs in the region around Churchill, Nelson and Trout Lake, is assigned for the state of affairs by Rev. H. T. Wright of Nelson, who with Rev. Mr. Godsell, from Trout Lake, came in from the bay and have arrived in the city.

Six Jumped From Third Floor.

Gallopolis, O., April 12.—Six employes of the Ohio Valley Furniture Co. were badly injured here last night by jumping from the third floor of the plant, when a fire started. The structure was destroyed by the flames, the loss being $100,000. The insurance was $50,000.

MADE A MISTAKE

McLEAN A FREE TRADER

Ottawa, April 12.—The reciprocity debate yesterday was highly entertaining, if not instructive. M. Y. McLean provided some of the amusement. Col Hughes provided some more. Mr. McLean proclaimed himself an out-and-out free trader, and the colonel took him to task, describing his free trade harangue as a "lugubrious socialistic utterance."

Before the reciprocity debate was resumed there were some interesting points raised.

Hon. George E. Foster acknowledged that there had been an error regarding the figures he had used in his criticism of Mr. Fielding's budget speech. The customs figures for 1896 had been placed under the year 1910. He said the mistake was incomprehensible to him, and he had corrected the figures in the revised Hansard.

In reply to Mr. Herron of Alberta, the Minister of Labor said Government action regarding the strike of miners there had been delayed until the meeting of the miners Thursday evening. He was hopeful that the operators and the miners would accept the appointment of a board of conciliation and investigation under the Industrial Disputes Act.

Gerald T. White (North Renfrew), discussing the question of the issue of the coronation postage stamps, argued that the Government should encourage home talent, and that Canadian artists should be given a chance to compete for the design of the Canadian stamps. He suggested that the Postmaster-General should offer prizes for competition for a design.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux replied that he had been made aware of the desire of the Imperial Government that Canada should adopt, as far as possible, the imperial design. The design had been received, but the Department had not yet passed upon it. It was not intended to issue a series of stamps, such as was done in the case of the Quebec tercentenary. The postal union was opposed to frequent changes in the design. However, the chief object of the new stamps was to represent as accurately as possible the features of the new King, and the American Bank Note Co. of Ottawa was quite able to cope with the situation. It was not necessary to offer prizes for a design.

M. Y. McLean (South Huron), continued the debate on the reciprocity agreement. He said that the large majority of his constituents were in favor of the agreement. He declared himself a free trader, and said that free trade would be the best fiscal policy for Canada. He would raise revenue by the best system of direct taxation that could be devised. He was free to admit, however, that at the present time such a policy was not possible. As free trade was impossible at the present time, he advocated making a fiscal arrangement with any country that would do the same with Canada.

Mr. McLean and Col. Sam Hughes had a round over T. W. Crother's assertion that the preference was first offered to the whole world and not specially to the Mother Country. Mr. McLean quoted Mr. Fielding that the offer referred especially to Great Britain, and Col. Hughes quoted the same Minister in reply to Sir Charles Tupper that Canada was willing to give any country the preference which treated Canada in the same way.

Col. Hughes, who followed, then went after Mr. McLean for his slur on the loyalty of the Opposition. Col. Hughes found his answer in a speech by Mr. McLean on the naval bill, when Mr. McLean denied that Great Britain had ever protected the shores of Canada.

"That utterance," said the colonel, "bordered on treason." (Opposition cheers.)

Quiet in Crow's Nest.

Fernie, B.C., April 12.—The executive of the district 18 has been called to meet at Frank on Thursday morning. Some of the international members has reached town, and the executive meeting of the operators at Frank has not resulted in anything tangible. President Stockett returned to Hosmer Monday night, and as Manager Willson is here, it is not expected that another meeting will be held for a few days. This is pay day with the Crow's Nest Pass Co., the earnings for March being handed out to the men at both camps. Nearly $200,000 will be paid to the employes here and at Michel. Every part of the district reports perfect quietness, and the miners here are more than usually careful of the cash they are getting.

A Likely Candidate.

Kingston, April 12.—Frederick Ferguson, of Inversary, is mentioned as a likely Liberal candidate for the Provincial Legislature from the County of Frontenac.

Poolrooms Must Close.

Kingston, April 12.—The City Council have voted to close the poolrooms at 11 o'clock each night, because of gambling.

CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER.

Owners of the Tiangle Waist Co. Are Indicted by the Grand Jury.

New York, April 12.—Isaac Harris and Max Blanck, owners of the Triangle Waist Co., were indicted yesterday afternoon by the grand jury which is investigating the circumstances of the Washington place fire of March 25, when 145 employes of the company lost their lives. The indictments, four in number, charge each man with manslaughter in the first and second degree. The maximum penalty for which is 20 and 10 years' imprisonment respectively. Harris and Blanck were arrested at their homes, were arraigned, and after entering pleas of not guilty, were released under $25,000 bail.

The indictments charge that the defendants are responsible for the deaths of Rosie Grasso and Margaret Schwartz, whose charred bodies were found on the ninth floor of the burned building. The Grasso girl was 16 years old, Margaret Schwartz was 23. The district attorney hopes to prove that the girls tried the door on the ninth floor in an effort to escape, but that it was locked. A charred piece of the door in question, with the bolt shot, was shown to the grand jury, as well as a part of the burned stairway. A few minutes afterwards the indictments were returned. Other indictments may follow.

C.P.R. Changes.

Montreal, April 12.—W. A. MacInnes, freight traffic manager of the C.P.R., yesterday announced that the re-organization of the company's freight traffic department for eastern lines, which has been in progress for some time, is completed. W. B. Bulling will continue to hold the position of assistant freight traffic manager at Montreal, but in the future his duties will be the general supervision over all matters pertaining to rates and divisions, and all matters under the jurisdiction of the Railway Commission and the transcontinental freight bureau.

W. M. Kirkpatrick, who has been the general freight agent at Toronto, will come to Montreal to take up a new office that will relieve Mr. Bulling to a considerable extent. He will have the title of general freight agent, and will be in charge of the solicitation of the freight traffic, and of interchange with connecting lines.

Deport English Family.

Kingston, April 12.—Peter Devlin, immigration agent, left at noon for Peterboro, where he will deport a family composed of father, mother and four children to the old country.

Without Lines in the Lens
The only near-and-far glasses that can be universally worn without discomfort and without suggestiveness of "old" appearance. The "near" and the "far" lenses are one solid glass. No "lines," no cement—and perfect sight with the discomfort and unsightliness left out. They cost more than the ordinary 'cement bifocals' but if you are particular of comfort and appearance they are worth the difference. We have scores of people in this city using these Kryptoks who are highly pleased with them.

THE ZENNOR PLATE

A Short Story

coal-cellar till we hear the Johnnies go upstairs to bed. And half an hour later it's Joe Barker and his tools against the safe what defies the world.

The men conversed late into the night, and when they separated they had agreed to meet in London on the Thursday of the week following at Charing Cross Station towards nine o'clock. Barker undertook to bring the necessary implements.

Wilson's case was dealt with by the Eighth Chamber in something under five minutes by the clock, and on the evidence of the two policemen he was convicted. A fine of twelve and tenpence was imposed, and when he had paid this and the costs, he found himself a free man again. Three days later he left for London, and as was noted by a detective at the Paris Northern Station, travelled in a private saloon car, with two valets in attendance upon him.

* * * * * * *

Punctually at nine o'clock the following Thursday evening, Wilson strolled into the refreshment room at Charing Cross Station. Here he found Barker awaiting him. The little man was much muffled up, and carried a Gladstone bag in his hand. After a little whispered conversation, the two men left the station by the staircase leading into Villiers Street, and made their way thence through Duke Street to a public-house in the Adelphi. Here, in the private bar, they found waiting for them a very respectable looking old gentleman, who was introduced to Wilson as Mr. Benjamin, and who in a whisper informed them that they should lose no time in getting to Cecil Street.

"If you go there at once, my dears," he said, "you can slip into the cellar beautiful. The two watchmen have just gone out for a glass or two and the house is empty."

"Queer, ain't it?" said Wilson, as they were going along the Strand, "for Lord Zennor to have such saluables in a house which he never visits."

"A bit cracked is his lordship," said Barker. "At least, so I'm told. It appears he has plate like this in every one of his houses, and they say he don't know the count of them, so that if he should take the fancy to visit any particular house, his grub can be served to him in a manner worthy of his high-and-mightiness."

"Oh, that's it, is it?" said Wilson.

Nothing more passed between the two men, until they were both safely ensconced in their hiding-place. It was a foggy night and to effect an entrance through the area and kitchen window for his mate and for himself was child's play for so skilled a housebreaker as Joe Barker. Wilson seemed quite lost in admiration at the speed and noiselessness with which he operated.

"A very neat piece of work," he whispered after they had gained their refuge.

Barker said nothing. By the light of his dark lantern, he was busy examining his tools. After a while he whispered, "Beauties, ain't they? There's two hundred pounds' worth of plat in this 'ere bag."

Wilson's face at this moment was a study. It was probably only nervousness, but he certainly looked as if at any moment he might burst out into shrieks of laughter. Barker, on the other hand, looked cool, collected, and business like.

After waiting an hour, they heard the front door open, and then the steps of the two watchmen on the landing over their heads.

"A good job, too," said one of them, evidently continuing a conversation begun in the street. "We'll sleep quiet to-night."

Barker winked at his companion, who nodded his head with a smile.

The ponderous steps of heavy men going upstairs was then heard, the slamming of doors, and after a while deep silence settled down on the house.

"Now is the time to get to work," whispered Barker. Opening his bag, he produced two black crape masks, of which he handed one to Wilson. The other he put over his face. Then shuffling off his boots, and signing to his companion to do the same, he picked up his bag and crept noiselessly up the basement stairs. He never hesitated nor faltered, and though he had never been in the house before, he seemed as familiar with its ins and outs as if he had been the constant associate of the noble earl, its owner. The door of the room in which th safe stood was silently forced, and in less than three minutes from the moment when he had left his hiding-place the burglar was at work upon the iron chest. If at that moment the features of Wilson had not been covered with the crape mask, an expression of deep admiration could have been read on his face, as with the keenest interest he followed the swift, silent but formidable operations of his companion. There was no hurry, no impatience; all proceeded with method, system and even science. It was an interesting struggle between inert and active force, the latter being handicapped with the obligations of observing the greatest possible silence, in which respect his improved burglars' tools stood Barker in good stead. The heads of the wedges, the surface of the heavy mallets which he used were so padded that his powerful blows made no more noise than was drowned in the roar of the midnight Strand. So well oiled were his saws and files and the many keys which he employed, that from where he stood, on guard at the door of the room, Wilson could discern little or no sound of their busy manipulation.

At the end of a quarter of an hour of steady application to his task, Barker turned round and tapping the door of the safe with his forefinger, raised his thumb to his nose and spread his fingers out in derision. Having refreshed and encouraged himself by this manifestation he set to work again with renewed energy. An hour passed and though the safe that "defied the world" seemed little the worse for the prolonged attack which had been made upon it, but stood there solid, massive, deaf with the obstinacy and pigheadness of inert things. Barker seemed well pleased with his work. Beckoning to Wilson to approach, he whispered in his ear. "In another hour we shall have it open."

"I'll lay you a hundred to one in fivers," whispered Wilson, "that you don't."

But just then Barker started with a cry and caught up a crowbar that was lying on the table.

Two men, carrying lights and armed with revolvers were standing in the doorway.

"Now then gents," cried one of the men, "what's this here little game. Hand up both of you."

"Look to yourself, Wilson," cried Barker, "and here goes."

Then he ducked and whirling the crowbar round his head, he made a dash for the door, but one of Lord Zennor's men, letting him pass, pounced upon him the moment after, wrenched his weapon from his hand and forced him down on the ground.

Meanwhile the other prize-fighter had advanced on Wilson, who, to his great surprise, had made no attempt to escape, but was standing with his back to the wall, shaking all over—with terror, no doubt.

Just as the watchman, with warlike demonstrations was about to lay hands on the masked burglar, the latter quickly raised his hand and remarked.

"All right, Fry, that'll do. I know your strength and don't want to come to conclusions with you."

"Why! What! I say, Jeff," cried Fry, staggering back. "I'm blowed if that ain't his lordship's voice."

"You're quite right, Fry," said the man, taking off his crape mask. "Thank you. You have done, very well."

"It's Lord Zennor his blooming self," cried Jeff, who was kneeling over the prostrate Barker, looking up in amazement. As to Barker he said nothing, but his face was a study.

"Well," said Fry, "we know your lordship's fond of a game, but this do beat all. Coming a burgling your own premises. But I say, Jeff, don't hold the gent down like that. It's one of his lordship's pals."

"He thought he was," cried Barker, indignantly, "and never expected to be rounded on in this way."

"You can let the gent, as Fry calls him, get up Jeff," said Lord Zennor, "but keep the door. The gent, I may tell you, is only a casual acquaintance who knew me as as Wilson and who came here on strictly professional business."

"Then, shall I whistle for a copper, my lord?" said Jeff.

"Oh, dear me, no," said Lord Zennor, lighting a cigarette. "Nothing of the sort. Just before you came in, this gentleman stated that he would guarantee to get that safe open in an hour. I offered to bet him a hundred to one in fivers that he would not and I am now waiting to hear his answer."

"I'm not here to play the fool, lord or no lord," growled Barker.

"My good man," said his lordship, "I am quite in earnest. If you can open that safe in an hour, I will pay you £500. If you can't, you pay me a fiver. If you refuse the bet, I shall be forced to look on you as a braggart, an idle boaster and then all my respect for you being lost—"

"Your lordship hands him over to Jeff for a good hiding," said the prize fighter.

"Exactly, Jeff, though I do not like to be interrupted. You see, Mr. Barker, it is well worth my while as owner of the plate and valuables which are stored in that safe to be assured of its solidity, its burglar-proof qualities, if you will pass the word. If you can open it, it would pay me to give £500 for the lesson, and—send my plate to the bank."

"Hang it all, my lord," cried Barker, shaking himself, "of all the goes I have been in, if this ain't the rummiest. But you seem a sportsman and you will keep your word. Here goes, then."

"No, wait a minute," said Lord Zennor. "We may as well make ourselves comfortable. Turn on the electric light, Jeff and then bring up a couple of bottles and some glasses."

This having been done he drew out his watch and said: "It is now just half-past one, Barker, so you can get to work. If you want a drink—"

"I never drink when I am at work," snapped Barker, almost indignantly. "Drink, indeed."

"An excellent principle," said the Earl filling his champagne glass. "Remember it, you men, and now watch our expert friend in the noble art of burglary, of which he is one of the shining lights."

Barker had already got to work with an energy and vigour which seemed to impress the prize-fighters with a feeling of respect. "I'd never thought he had it in him," said Fry.

No longer forced to moderate his blows for fear of the noise, Barker made rapid progress. The massive door of the safe was seen to move under the blows of the mallet on the crow bar lever. Barker was now panting with exhaustion, and the perspiration streamed from his face, but he attacked the mass again and again with furious energy.

"Observe the pride he takes in his work," said the Earl.

And without taking a moment's rest, the burglar worked on and to such purpose that at last, when he was almost falling from exhaustion, the door sprung from its hinges and came down with a terrific thud on the floor, and revealing the shinning contents of the violated safe.

"I told you so," cried the burglar with an account of joyous triumph. "There's no blooming safe in the universe that I can't tackle with them tools of mine. And now, for the love of the Lord, give me a glass of wine for I feel like dropping."

"To come to business," said Lord Zennor, after a minute or two, "I am sorry to say that though your work is most excellent, certainly quite remarkable, you have not won your bet. It is now just twenty minutes past three, as you can see for yourself."

"Oh the bet," cried Barker, wiping his forehead. "I had forgotten that."

"Carried away by the spirit of the game," said Lord Zennor. "Well you have not won the £500."

"What's a paltry monkey or two compared to that?" cried the thief, waving his hand towards the safe.

"And," continued the Earl, "you owe me a fiver. Don't let us forget that."

"I haven't got it. I can't pay it, and you wouldn't be mean enough after the sport I've given you to keep the tools."

"No, I shall not do that. Nor will I county court you for the amount. But as it is a welsher's trick to take a bet without the means to pay it, you must not be surprised, I being, as you say, a sportsman, if you are treated as a welsher. However, before that I have to ask you to tell the worthy Mr. Benjamin and your estimable circle of friends generally that Lord Zennor has sent his plate to the bank. Now here is a couple of fivers to pay you for proving to me that I may have lost my property if I had left it there. There are pieces of Renaissance gold-smithery there which could never be replaced and you have saved them from Mr. B's melting pot. Remembering that, I add another tenner to your fee. And now, Jeff," said the Earl, rising and changing his tone, "take that welsher and thief by the scruff of the neck to the corner of Cecil Street and there give him one—good—kick."

"Good for Leather—Stands the Weather"

When Bismarck Went Dry.

Bismarck was not without superstition, and this always was noticeable on the eve of the new year. From 9 o'clock that night until after midnight he would not take water in any circumstances from a glass. It was an ancient tradition in the chancellor's family that any one who set the legend at defiance would pass through a serious illness. If another tradition is true the observance of the family legend must have been a sore trouble to the iron chancellor, for the Paris contemporary from which we take the foregoing says that Bismarck not only loved war, but beer and wines, especially French wines. He was not averse to punch and grog, but on New Year's eve grog was under the ban, for it contains water.—London Globe.

Gambling in Wood.

"To most people my business would seem to be devoid of chances," said a dealer in fine woods, "yet as a matter of fact I know of nothing that is more of a gamble. On every log of wood we buy we take a chance that the inside is as good as the outside. At a recent auction of fine woods in London my partner and I paid $9,000 for a mahogany log that looked all right so far as we could tell. If the inside was sound we stood to make a good profit, but worm holes or rotten spots at the core would mean a heavy loss. Not until we got the log to this country and got it opened up could we be certain. As a matter of fact this particular log was perfect, and we cleaned up $3,000 on the deal. But it was gambling pure and simple."—New York Sun.

The Templars.

The order of the Templars was organized about the year 1118 for the purpose of protecting pilgrims on their way to the Holy Land and back. The founder of the order is supposed to have been Baldwin II., king of Jerusalem. For a long time the Templars was the most highly honored organization in Europe, but jealousy on the part of the sovereigns, coupled with their desire to get hold of the great wealth of the Templars, caused the persecution of the order, which finaly, about 1308, resulted in its practical extinction. The order was abolished in 1312.—New York American.

Real News.

"Why do you waste so much space on these interviews with politicians?" demanded the merchant.

"They are of interest to the people," answered the reporter.

"Shucks! If you interviewed me I could tell 'em where bargains are to be had."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

You Can Cure Chest Colds

And Bronchitis by Using Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine If You Get the Genuine

The mere mention of pneumonia and consumption causes a person to shudder, but a cold is such a common thing that it is too often left alone until these other ailments develop from it.

You can readily cure throat and chest colds, croup and bronchitis, by using Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. This medicine is both thorough and far-reaching in its influence on the system. For this reason its merits are well-known and its sales enormous.

But there are at least four imitations of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. And imitations are always a little cheaper, how else would they sell. They are never sold on their own merit, but on the merit of the article they imitate.

Their likeness is in name only, and when you are in need of medicine you don't want to depend on a name or imitation. Every bottle of the genuine bears the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author: 25 cents a bottle, family size 60 cents; all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

BEFORE TREATMENT

AFTER TREATMENT

He was surprised at how the sores healed—"I took your NEW METHOD TREATMENT for a serious blood disease with which I had been inflicted for twelve years. I had consulted a score of physicians taken all kinds of blood medicine, visited Hot Springs and other mineral water resorts, but only got temporary relief. They would help me for a time, but after discontinuing the medicines the symptoms would break out again—running sores, blotches, rheumatic pains, looseness of the hair, swellings of the glands, palms of the hands scaling, itchiness of the skin, dyspeptic stomach, etc. I had given up in despair when a friend advised me to consult you, as you had cured him of a similar disease 8 years ago. I had no hope, but took his advice. In three weeks' time the sores commenced to heal up and I became encouraged. I continued the NEW METHOD TREATMENT for four months and at the end of that time every symptom had disappeared. I was cured 7 years ago and no signs of any disease since. My boy, three years old, is sound and healthy. I certainly can recommend your treatment with all my heart. You can refer any person to me privately, but you can use this testimonial as you wish. W. CORONATION TOYS

Many Speculators Get Their Money Back with Good Interest

If anybody wants to make some money, now is his time. There are warehouses packed from cellar to roof with toys in readiness for the Coronation, nearly all of them, be it noted in passing, of home manufacture. At the last Coronation, the Germans swamped the market with novelties, mementoes, toys, and so forth; but this time they have been forestalled. Now, if anybody can tell which of the toys is certain to "catch on" in June—well, need more be said?

Fortunes have been sunk in Coronation toys; but many speculators will get their money back with liberal interest. Of a certain very popular article of this kind more than two millions have been sold, and the inventor—a poor man—of another toy made $140,000 out of it.

Even "latest novelties"—the penny articles vended by butter merchants—sometimes yield "big money." One of the most successful was invented by a manufacturer of such things. When he conceived the idea he was so sure it would "go" that he decided not to try it tentatively, but to turn out a large quantity before offering one for sale. So he kept making it till he had a stock of two millions!

He then engaged a few score aliens and had them taught, parrot-fashion, several phrases of English. As soon as they were "letter-perfect" out they were sent with absolutely "the latest novelty," which proved, as the manufacturer had confidently anticipated, an enormous success. Incredible as it may seem, it is none the less a fact that in ten days considerably more than a million were sold.

CORONATION CORNERS

Famines There Will Be At the Coming Crowning.

The bill for the Coronation robes of George IV. was $100,000

Of this $58,000 fell to the share of the furrier; and we are told that the feet of no fewer than 6,500 Astrachan lambs were required for the black spots on the inside of the robes.

No wonder that every Coronation has seen a famine in furs, for not only Astrachan lamb, but black fox, sable, and, above all, ermine, are required in immense quantities for the robes of those who are privileged to attend the Coronation service in Westminster Abbey.

For months past agents have been busy in Siberia and elsewhere buying up ermine, and the price is already double the ordinary. One hundred and twenty ermine skins are required by each peer for his Coronation cape and collar.

Judging by the Coronation of the late King Edward VII., no other ceremonial causes such a boom in trade, and lots of things besides furs are going to become scarce and expensive before June.

In 1902 seats were provided for 88,260 people in public stands, and the stands themselves cost $260,000.

Every hotel in London will be full from basement to attic, and lodgings will be at a premium. Those who come late will be lucky if they pay less than $25 a night for a bed.

Houses, too, will be scarce. In the year of the last Coronation Lord Tweedmouth received $20,000 rent for Brook House just for the season; the Misses Keyser refused $25,000 for their house in Grosvenor Crescent, and a house in Chesham Place brought $75,000 for four months!

To-day motors have largely superseded the horse and carriage, but one almost shudders to think what one will have to pay for a car during Coronation week. Certainly nothing will be procurable under $60 a day, and the prices may run far beyond this.

Ten years ago there was an absolute corner in bands. Certain interested parties retained all the good bands, and people who wanted music had to pay a pretty price.

So, too, with fireworks. The demand for Coronation rockets was simply enormous. All the larger towns spent on an average $4,000 apiece on fireworks, and the private demand was very large. It will be remembered that there were hundreds of Coronation bonfires, and at each fifty rockets were sent up.

The bonfires recall the fact that tar-barrels were not to be had for love or money for some days before the last Coronation. They were all absorbed by early buyers.

Bisley Team at Coronation.

The Canadian Bisley team will arrive in England in time for the Coronation. Arrangements at the meeting of the D. R. A. Council will be made to give the riflemen a chance to see this great ceremony. Since this takes place on June 22nd, the team will sail about the 10th of that month from Montreal. The Bisley matches start early in July.

"The Only Thing That Will Relieve Neuralgia."

The piercing pains of Neuralgia, which often follows a bad cold or La Grippe, are frequently almost unbearable and few medicines afford any relief to the sufferer.

"I am a rural mail carrier and have been a user of the Dr. Miles medicines for years.

Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills can't be beaten. They are the only thing I have found that will relieve my neuralgia and I have tried most everything, besides medicine from the doctor. I am willing to tell anyone what the Anti-Pain Pills did for me."

ROYAL COURTS BEGIN IN MAY

King George Will Probably Beat the Record as the World's Champion Hustler

This will be a busy year for King George V.

Indeed, so vast a programme has been arranged for him that he will easily beat the record as the world's champion hustler.

Even at present the King is, of course, extremely busy, but the most arduous programme of great State functions, which will mark Coronation year, does not open until one year and a day after the death of his late Majesty King Edward VII.

On May 6th, the anniversary of King Edward's death, the Royal family and a large assemblage of Royal relatives will meet at St. George's Chapel, Windsor, for a solemn memorial service. Then, honor to the great dead having been duly done, the curtains will roll back next day upon a season of pageantry unsurpassed in this country's history.

The first of their Majesties' Courts will be held on May 7th. Between that date and June 22nd there will be four such opportunities for some thousands of the noblest and most distinguished men and women in the land to make their bow before the King and Queen Mary.

To the first Court, on May 7th, between 800 and 1,000 will be invited. Shortly before 10 p.m. on that occasion, carriages and electric broughams will crowd the route to Buckingham Palace. Each vehicle will bear some exquisitely gowned woman escorted by a distinguished soldier, sailor, diplomatist, or politician, clad in brilliant uniform or picturesque Court dress. Punctually at the appointed hour, the King and Queen will occupy their twin thrones, set on a raised dais, while behind them Royal relatives and great

KING GEORGE
At the age of three years

Court functionaries will group themselves. Then the world-famous ceremony will begin.

To that brilliant picture no artist's brush can ever do justice. Though many fair women will be present none will compare with the gracious Queen herself, radiantly garbed, probably in priceless old lace, and ablaze with diamonds and orders.

For the lucky guests the occasion will be one of pure pleasure. After passing the throne they are free to move about among themselves and enjoy the repast, served in the great banqueting hall, on plates of solid gold, which is one of the features of the Royal entertainment. For them the actual ordeal of presentation to their Majesties, when their nerves are wound up to the highest pitch in the anxiety to make a good impression, is a very brief one. A sweet smile of recognition from the Queen, the same from the King, and it is over.

But for the King and Queen the matter is very different. Each of the four Courts will be desperately fatiguing to their Majesties. Remember that each guest is separately announced to the King and Queen, that each must be graciously acknowledged in the same kindly way, and that the strain of this is kept up hour after hour. Supposing that the introduction and acknowledgment took exactly half a minute in each case, so that 120 guests passed the throne each hour, in that case the King would take several weary hours to get through his formal duties!

However, the presentations may be expedited, it is impossible for the ceremony to take less than a number of hours. But, however tired they grow, their Majesties must still contrive to look as fresh, and smile as serenely on the last as upon the first and most distinguished of their guests.

Most people would want a day in bed to recoup after the nerve strain of such a reception, but the King has no time for that. He will be up as early as usual on the day following each of his Courts, and transact important State business.

A GEORGIAN ROBE.

The King Will Wear Imperial Mantle Worn by George IV.

The Imperial mantle or pall worn by King George V., will be worn by King George V. at his Coronation. After the coronation of King George IV. the robe became the property of the Lord Great Chamberlain, and thus passed into private hands. It has been offered, as an act of homage, by its owner, to the King, who has signified his acceptance of the gift. The robe is in a perfect state of preservation, having apparently been laid in a cedar box, from which it has recently been taken. It is of the finest cloth of gold, and as fresh in appearance as if it had but just left the loom. It is an admirable example of the hand-loom industry of the Spitalfields weavers, and has woven into its surface the badges of the three kingdoms of England, Scotland and Ireland, in this respect it presents a much more harmonious appearance than the robe woven for King Edward, on which the badges were embroidered by hand. The robe is surrounded by a deep fringe of pure gold threads.

Demand for Opera Boxes.

The opera season opened at Covent Garden, and the Coronation gala performance will take place about a week after the Coronation, when a notable feature will be the appearance of the Imperial Russian ballet from St. Petersburg. The demand for boxes and stalls for this season's opera is unprecedented, and the King has already subscribed for the royal box, which has been unoccupied for so many months, and a depressing feature of the house. Between May 7 and June 22 four Courts will be held at Buckingham Palace, and for these the number of applications has already far exceeded the limit imposed.

A Lucky Debutante.

Lucky indeed is the debutante of this Coronation year of 1911, for she will come in for much entertaining on a truly magnificent scale, and be permitted to see many interesting, and possible unique, sights.

Among the many girls who were to make their first bow to King George and his Consort this year, is the Hon. Monica Grenfell, Lord and Lady Desborough's eldest daughter.

Your Danger From Kidney Troubles

BEGINS WHEN YOUR BACK ACHES.

Backache is the first and the sure sign of kidney disease.

When the back aches or becomes weak it is a warning that the kidneys are affected in some way.

Next to the heart, the kidneys are, perhaps the most important organs in the body. It is no wonder then that if the kidneys are affected the whole system must be.

On the first sign of backache Doan's Kidney Pills should be taken. They go right to the seat of the trouble, heal the delicate membranes of the kidneys and make their action regular and natural."

Mr. E. J. Saulnier, Lake Annis, N.S., writes:—"I take a great deal of pleasure in telling you the benefit I have received from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. I was troubled with my kidneys for several years; my back was weak, I had terrible headaches, and was so restless I could not sleep at night. I commenced using Doan's Kidney Pills and in a very short time I was right and fit again."

Doan's Kidney Pills are 50c. per box or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

If ordering direct specify "Doan's."

Rev. Father Morrisey

A Combined Treatment That Really Cures Catarrh.

Canadian weather, with its extreme cold and sudden changes, gives almost every one Catarrh, and makes it hard to cure. Some recommend internal Remedies—some external applications.

Father Morrisey used both—tablets to be taken three or four times a day to invigorate the system, purify the blood, and help it throw off the disease, and a soothing, healing, antiseptic salve to be applied inside the nostrils. This combined treatment known as attacking the disease from within and without, soon cures.

"Father Morrisey's No. 26"

Mr. A. C. Thibedeau, General Merchant in Regonville, N.B., writes on Jan. 23rd last:

"A few words as to the merits of your Catarrh Cure. For the last 10 years I have been troubled with Catarrh of the head and stomach and during that time have tried all kinds of other Remedies with no results, until I tried your Catarrh Cure which I am glad to say has cured me. I highly recommend it to those who are suffering with this disease."

Don't trifle with Catarrh—cure it with Father Morrisey's No. 26.

GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING

JUNE THE MONTH OF BIG EVENTS

When King George Will Have Few Spare Moments—Busy Night and Day

But King George will be busiest in June. The 3rd of that month is his birthday. On that day he will need almost the dexterity of a quick change artist to slip from one elaborate uniform to another, from morning dress to Court dress, and finally back to the simple garb of the country squire. In addition to sundry official functions, the King's two principal engagements for June 3rd will be on the Horse Guards' Parade and at his private estate—Sandringham.

On the former, the flower of Britain's Army will assemble for trooping the colors. In their splendid scarlet uniforms, all martially cuirassed and helmeted with glistening steel, the Household Cavalry and other picked regiments will go through difficult evolutions under the eyes of the King and Queen, and a swarm of notabilities. That will be a scene vividly recalling the chivalry of the lists in bygone days.

In strange contrast with this brilliant ceremony will be the King's evening engagement. The latter consists of a dinner of nearly six hundred working men employed on his Sandringham estate. Keepers, beaters, and labourers will close their cottages on this occasion and right-heartedly repair to the gigantic tent, where a Royal feast will be spread for them. While half a thousand of the Royal squire's rustic employees thus hold high revelry, a few intimate friends and relations of higher station will be entertained simultaneously in the King's own residence.

For the remainder of the month his Majesty will be busy almost day and night in connection with the Coronation festivities.

On the eventful June 22nd King George and the Queen will drive along a route guarded by 25,000 soldiers, to Westminster Abbey, with a host of kings and princes in their train, while the big guns in Hyde Park thunder out their hoarse salute of forty-one guns.

Clad in a mantle cunningly woven from twenty-seven yards of pure gold tissue, so stiff that it will stand alone, and yet so supple that it falls easily into graceful folds, the King will sit in the famous chair in which all his ancestors, from the time of Edward I., have sat for the ceremony of Coronation.

While the big guns boom once more, and vast crowds of loyal Britishers cheer frantically, the crowned King will return to Buckingham Palace but not to rest. His guests, the host of foreign Royalties, will now claim his attention till far into the night.

Next day, no rest again, but another grand procession through the streets of London and into the City, while the Tower of London shakes with the reverbration of its own salute of sixty-two guns, which will roar out a welcome.

Before the end of June the King will be well-nigh deafened by salutes. To say nothing of the grand military review, when much powder will be spent, the naval review at Spithead will be on a scale of magnificence never before attempted anywhere in the world.

Now that the Sailor Prince has become King, the Navy feels that it has come into its own. As the King steams up and down the triple line of warships, rainbow-hued with gorgeous bunting, and so numerous that they wholly occupy eighteen miles of waterway, each separate unit will greet him as he passes with a salute of twenty-one guns. Before he once more sets on land over 3,000 thunderous reports will have assailed his ears.

After a brief rest at Windsor, the King has arranged in July to visit Scotland, Ireland and Wales.

During the last two reigns Scotland has been especially favored with Royal visits, but Ireland and Wales have had far fewer opportunities of according to their Sovereign a loyal welcome. This time the three will vie one with the other in the cordiality of their reception.

To show the Irish people that their interests are near to the King's heart, his Majesty will not confine himself to Dublin, but has already arranged extensive excursions by special train into Western Ireland, where the poverty of the peasantry is so distressing.

THE CROWNING OF GEORGE IV.

Strange Happenings at the Last Georgian Coronation, Namely in 1820

When King George IV. was crowned in 1820 there were some curious occurrences indeed. To begin with, the King himself was put into an extraordinary fix right on the hour appointed for the ceremony, since his special suit made for the Coronation did not fit at all when he tried to get into it on the fateful morning.

Try as he would, his Majesty could not get the clothes on as they were, and, meantime, the crowds were waiting impatiently for the procession. At length the attendants of the King had to cut the garments in several places, and to fasten them together as best they could, since there was no time to do otherwise. And only by that means was George IV. enabled to get to his Coronation at all, and then it was afternoon, instead of twelve o'clock, the time originally fixed!

It is well known that, owing to a quarrel between George and his Consort, Queen Caroline, her Majesty was not allowed to be present at the ceremony lest she should make a scene. The guards of the Abbey had strict orders on no account to allow her to enter the building, so that, when the Queen appeared in person, and demanded admittance, there was quite a terrible commotion. The men on duty resisted as gently and carefully as possible under the circumstances.

Caroline herself finally burst into a torrent of tears, and her evident distress and passion made the scene all the more shocking and pathetic.

So great had been the rush of peeresses and others for seats and places that many of the fair aristocracy came the night before and camped out all night like first-nighters at a new play. Several duchesses and their friends slept on the ground in Dean's Yard on pillows, rugs and beds provided beforehand; and one private letter from a nobleman, who had a house in the yard, mentions "the tremendous noise and disturbance caused by Lady G——, owing to her deep and persistent snoring throughout the greater part of the night whilst sleeping outside the Abbey!"

The Coronation of King George IV. was the last one at which the official "King's Champion" appeared at the State banquet in full armor, riding into Westminster Hall on horseback, and throwing down his glove to challenge anybody on behalf of the monarch's right to the throne. Strangely enough, on this occasion the champion dismounted, and stumbled as he came to kiss the Sovereign's hand; whilst so heavy and cumbersome was his armor that he could not rise without assistance!

The wits around the King naturally showed great mirth at the incident, and remarked aloud that he was surely an extraordinary champion who could not even stand on his feet, let alone rise when once fallen, in order to continue the fight on behalf of his lord!

George IV.'s "progress" from Westminster Hall to the Abbey was the last of such processions at Coronations, and from it, for the first time during seven centuries, the Dukes of Normandy and Aquitane, or their representatives, were omitted as a sign that from henceforth English Kings gave up all claim to those French provinces.

GLASGOW'S CELEBRATION

At the Glasgow Corporation meeting at which plans were made for celebrating the Coronation, the Lord Provost explained that it was proposed to carry out arrangements similar to what was followed at King Edward's Coronation. The idea was to give a dinner to about 25,000 poor in the various parts of the city, that the children and their teachers should receive a medal, and also that the children should have a day in the Exhibition instead of the Children's Day in the parks. It would be quite in keeping with the usual circumstances that the Corporation should possibly have a banquet, and that there should be a reception on some evening for a large number of citizens. It was not intended to go to a very large amount of extravagance, but they would require to celebrate the Coronation in keeping with the dignity of the city.

MANUFACTURED IN ENGLAND

Nearly Everything Worn at the Coronation Will be British-Made.

With the one exception of the Imperial mantle or pall, which the King assumes at his Coronation, the robes to be worn by the King and Queen are being made in London. Until lately it was understood that the King would wear the Imperial mantle made for King Edward VII., but it now seems to have been decided that his Majesty will wear the mantle of one of the Georges. The Queen will not wear the mantle or train worn by Queen Alexandra at her Coronation, as at one time there was reason to believe that it was her Majesty's intention to do, but one specially made for her in London. This is being made of purple velvet lined with ermine, and will be embroidered by the members of the Ladies' Work Society, of which Princess Louise, Duchess of Argyll, is president. The movement for the promotion of everything British in the way of dress being worn this Coronation year, started by Queen Mary, enrolls its recruits more rapidly every day.

PRICELESS GEMS AT CORONATION

The Jewels in the King's Crown Include 3818 Diamonds and 297 Pearls.

"The grandeur of the whole thing is unimaginable, reminding one of the stories of one's childhood and the jewels massed in heaps waiting the first-comer on the floor of Aladdin's cave." It is thus that one who has been privileged to make a close inspection of the late King Edward's crown describes that important item in the Crown jewels; and some idea of the magnificence of the crown which will be worn by King George at the forthcoming Coronation may be gathered from the fact that to the 3,818 diamonds, 297 pearls, besides many other jewels, which formed King Edward's crown, will be added two sapphires, fifty-six brilliants, and fifty-two rose diamonds.

King George's Crown.

The design of King George's crown will be practically the same as that of King Edward, which in turn was a replica of the crown worn by Queen Victoria at her Coronation in 1838. The Royal crowns, however, are remade for each Coronation. This is necessary, of course, on account of the difference in the sizes of the heads of the respective monarchs. King Edward's measure from temple to temple was 7¼in., and from the forehead to the back of the head 8½in., the height being 9¼in. King George's head is slightly smaller, and in addition he has desired that a place be found for a portion of the great Cullinan diamond, called, by command of His Majesty, "The Star of Africa." The larger portion of the diamond will be added to the sceptre which King George holds during the Coronation ceremony.

Acording to the 'Times,' it is probable that the smaller portion of the Cullinan diamond will take the place of the great Prince Regent sapphire, immediately beneath the Black Prince ruby, the great egg-shaped jewel which was worn in his helmet by the Black Prince at many battles, including Crecy and Poitiers, the great sapphire being transferred to the back of the crown.

It might be mentioned that when the Cullinan diamond, which, before cutting, was no less than 1¾lb. in weight, was cut into two portions, a great number of smaller diamonds were made from its "shavings," which were set in various designs for the use of Queen Alexandra.

Famous Earrings.

The King's crown is simply one gorgeous mass of jewels, and so closely set that it is almost impossible to see anything of the frame or gold setting. The base of the crown, two inches in depth, is formed of a bandeau of large round pearls and variicolored jewels. Above are four great arches, which spring from the pearl-rimmed bandeau and surmount the purple-crimson velvet cap. These arches are simply masses of splendid diamonds, which give the impression of being thrown on in great heaps. Then comes the orb, which supports the St. Andrew's cross, both being composed of immense single-stone diamonds of the finest water.

Perhaps two of the most interesting jewels in the King's crown are Queen Elizabeth's earrings, two pear-shaped pearls which were brought out from among the disused Crown jewels by special command of King Edward to adorn the crown at his Coronation. Exactly as worn by the Virgin Queen at her own Coronation in 1559, these jewels were, by King Edward's order, left untouched and fastened high on each side of the arches of the crown and directly under the orb.

Her Majesty's Crown.

In the case of Queen Alexandra's crown, this was composed entirely of diamonds, not a single colored stone finding its way into the design. It is possible that Queen Mary will follow out the same plan. Many diamonds privately owned by Queen Alexandra were momentarily removed from their settings and inserted in the crown. A few of the Crown diamonds, including the Koh-i-noor, were brought into requisition, and the Crown jewellers temporarily supplied any deficiency.

Immediately after the Coronation Queen Alexandra's crown was taken to pieces; the Koh-i-noor was again free to be set as a broach or pendant for Queen Alexandra's use, whilst her own diamonds were reset in their previous forms.

TROOPS FROM OVERSEAS

Twenty-five Thousand of Them Will Line the Route of Procession

It is estimated that more than 53,000 troops will be employed in London during the Coronation ceremonies. No fewer than 25,000 soldiers and sailors from every State and Dominion in the Empire will line the route and take part in the royal procession on Coronation Day. The various contingents, it is expected, will be as follows:

Indian Empire	500
Overseas Dominions	1,500
Colonies and Protectorates	200
Channel Island Militia	20
Royal Navy	2,000
Cavalry	2,000
Royal Regiment of Artillery	500
Corps of Royal Engineers	400
Infantry	10,500
Army Service Corps	150
Royal Army Medical Corps	100
Army Ordnance Corps	100
Military Cadets	350
Special Reserve	1,000
Territorial Force	6,000
Various Departments	100
Total	25,000

The massed bands of the Foot Guards, Household Cavalry, Royal Artillery, Royal Engineers, Royal Marines, and the Royal School of Music, with the bands of single units, will provide 2,000 performers.

SUFFERED THREE YEARS

Till Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills Cured his Kidney Trouble

There are few diseases that cause more acute suffering than Kidney Trouble, and Mr. F. A. Thomas, of Sudbury Ont., is one of those who know it. He writes: "For over three years I suffered from kidney disease. First I thought I had sprained my back, for suddenly the pain would catch the small of my back and it would be impossible for me to straighten myself up for several minutes. A dull ache across the kidneys was always present, my urine was thick and cloudy, and passing it caused a burning, scalding pain. Tried medicines, but they failed. I was advised to try Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, as they had cured my wife years before. A few boxes affected a complete cure. I now enjoy the blessings of good health, which is due to this remedy."

Don't neglect kidney trouble—it's too dangerous as well as too painful. That old, reliable family remedy, Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills, has cured thousands and will cure you. It is equally effective in curing constipation and its attendant evils, biliousness, indigestion and sick headaches, and in purifying the blood. 25c a box at your druggist's. 10

X.—"Nerves" In the Home

By EUGENE L. FISK, M. D.

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

"NERVES" are quite as pernicious an influence in the household as microbes. It is unfortunate that, unlike microbes, "nerves" cannot be boiled, fumigated or killed by antiseptics. It is true that fresh air, sunlight, exercise and simple diet are natural enemies of "nerves," as they are of microbes, but these remedies require time and the enforcement of a discipline which it is difficult to attain in a "nervous" household, and so it is regrettable that we cannot treat these pesky nerves as we do diphtheria germs and drive them from the home atmosphere with formaldehyde gas.

Prevalence of Nervous Diseases.

There is reason to believe that under the strain of modern conditions nervous disease is claiming an increasing number of victims. This belief derives little support from census returns or vital statistics in the large cities, if such statistics are taken at their face value, without close analysis. The bald figures show a marked decline in the death rate from nervous disease during recent years. But on digging beneath the surface we find that much of the decrease is due to the saving of infant lives from death by "convulsions," a cause of death reported under "nervous diseases." On going still further and ascertaining what changes have occurred in the mortality from degenerative diseases of the heart, arteries and kidneys, maladies largely caused by nerve strain and abuse of the nervous system, we find that during the past thirty years the mortality from these diseases in the United States registration area has increased 105 per cent.

The question naturally arises, Is this excessive mortality, falling chiefly among the middle aged and elderly, a necessary accompaniment of our civilization? The answer is emphatically, No! Neglect and temporary failure of adjustment to conditions, which have changed with marvelous rapidity in the past half century, are responsible for this heavy loss of life. When the batteries of preventive medicine are fully trained upon this degenerative class of maladies, as they have been trained upon tuberculosis, typhoid and other germ diseases, a reduction in the death rate among the middle aged and elderly will take place quite as remarkable as that already attained among the younger members of the community.

Causes of Nervous Disease.

The conditions that give rise to nervous derangement are so numerous that they could not be described within the limits of this paper. They may be grouped, however, under three general headings—heredity, overstimulation and understimulation. Between the two extremes last mentioned lies the "golden mean" of a well poised, harmoniously adjusted nervous system.

Overstimulation is the result of the demands and opportunities arising out of our rapidly developing and complex civilization, the strenuous life calling for a continuous and rapid adjustment of our minds to the kaleidoscopic changes which are going on around us. We sometimes forget that the incidents and experiences that formerly would have required a lifetime of 100 years may now be crowded into a tenth of that period.

Understimulation affects those who are outside of the maelstrom, who have drifted into the backwaters, whose lives are so narrow that monotony induces a spiritual starvation, finally reflected in a physical exhaustion of the nerve centers.

Pert Personals.

Speaker Cannon has arranged to visit the Alps next summer. He has always admired the way the Alps have stood pat.—Kansas City Star.

Earle, of affinity notoriety, breaks out in verse. "I dread to look upon my many selves." So would we, Ferdinand, if we were in your fix.—Pittsburg Sun.

Just say there is a suspicion of oil wells on the planet Venus and Deacon Rockefeller will endow a telescope powerful enough to locate them.—Atlanta Constitution.

Astronomical.

Uranus is the only one of our system of planets which rotates backward.

The equator of Mars is inclined to the plane of its orbit about 25 degrees. That of the earth is inclined 23 degrees 24 minutes.

Evidence has been collected by the Smithsonian institution's branch observatory on Mount Wilson, California, tending to show that the sun is a variable star.

A National Flower.

The proposal to make maize a national emblem is open to amendment from the southern states by substituting mint.—New York World.

The discussion has been raised over the question, "What shall be our national flower?" Suppose we adopt the modest violet.—Nashville Banner.

Aviation.

An aeroplane engine in which it is possible to regulate the speed has been invented in England.

A Liverpool engineer has succeeded in guiding a model dirigible through the air and in dropping objects from it upon places designated by wireless waves.

A new airship with which the Russian army will experiment consists of three balloons, each with its own motor and gondola and capable of acting together or separately.

For Skin Health

A lifetime of disfigurement and suffering often results from improper treatment of the skin or neglect of simple skin affections. Cuticura Soap, assisted by Cuticura Ointment, affords the purest, sweetest and most economical method of caring for the complexion, preventing minor eruptions from becoming chronic, and speedily dispelling severe eczemas and other torturing humors, itchings and irritations, from infancy to age.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists everywhere. Potter Drug & Chem. Corp., Sole Props., Boston, Mass. Mailed free, Cuticura Book on the care of skin and scalp.

DAMES AND DAUGHTERS.

Olga Nethersole, the actress, is a botanist and dog fancier.

Anna Dickinson, famous woman suffragist of fifty years ago, is living in retirement in New York city.

Miss Virginia C. Gildersleeve, the newly appointed dean of Barnard college, will continue to teach a few of her classes, including those in Shakespeare.

Dr. Olivia Salamanca is the first Filipino woman to receive a license to practice medicine in the Philippines. She was graduated last June at the Woman's Medical College of Philadelphia.

Being "built too heavily," as she explains, the Boer wife of Premier Botha declines to courtesy to Lady Gladstone, the wife of the British governor general, on ceremonial occasions, and the other Boer wives have followed Mrs. Botha's lead.

Mrs. Grubb, wife of General Grubb, former United States minister to Spain, has received from the queen of Spain the decoration of the Order of the Noble Ladies of Maria Luisa. Mrs. Grubb is the only woman in America thus honored by the Spanish order.

The Writers.

Hall Caine, novelist and playwright, is an expert on architecture.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle is reported as saying that he would "rather earn $500 by literature than $5,000 in any other way."

Professor Stanley Lane-Poole is the most eminent authority on Arabian history and oriental art. He is only fifty-six, but has written a score of books on his studies in the east. He was born in London, but makes his home in Wicklow.

The late Sir Theodore Martin when asked which he wrote of the famous "Bon Gaultier Ballads," among the wittiest poems in English literature, confessed that he had forgotten which were his and which were the work of his collaborator, Professor Aytoun.

Tales of Cities.

There are 500 hotels and apartment houses in Los Angeles.

London has nearly 9,000 public houses. Four hundred and thirty-seven public houses have been extinguished under the 1904 act.

New York is using five times as much milk as it did twenty-four years ago, when the dairy law took effect. The consumption now is 2,200,000 quarts a day.

Berlin's comparative freedom from smoke is due partly to the use of fuel briquettes. Thirty per cent of the coal fuel consumed in the city and suburbs is brown coal briquettes.

The Cookbook.

Chopped green sweet red peppers with a little minced parsley make an effective addition to a white sauce for fish.

To thicken gravies for pot roasts or stews put a piece of brown bread in with the meat. When you go to make the gravy rub it up for the thickening.

A delicious fruit salad may be made from apples peeled and cut in strips with orange lobes freed from skin and seeded white grapes. Sprinkle powdered sugar over the whole and serve in orange baskets.

English Etchings.

Nearly one-fifth of the deaths in England occur in public institutions.

It was in February, 1797, that the shores of Great Britain were last invaded.

A house and land in the center of London gave a rent of $1,500 half a century ago. The ground rent of the land alone now is between $6,000 and $7,000.

London taxicab chauffeurs receive 25 per cent of the gross receipts of the cabs, but they have to pay for the fuel used. All public motors are fitted with taximeters.

The Harem Skirt.

And the world awaits Mrs. Pankhurst's verdict on the harem skirt.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

The harem skirt is said to have arrived. We suppose the scare 'em hat will be worn with it. — Spartanburg Herald.

The new harem or breeches skirt will make for peace in the household anyway. The wife may "wear the trousers" without putting the husband in the henpeck class.—Brooklyn Times.

Poverty.

A scientist says poverty will soon be a bygone dream, which is cheering, considering that it is a present nightmare.—Atlanta Constitution.

Poverty will be abolished, announces a professor in Johns Hopkins university. But of course there's a string tied to it. Everbody will have to go to work.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Aviation.

Native workmen, using native material under the supervision of an Englishman, have built India's first aeroplane.

A French aviator has broken the passenger carrying record by taking six passengers on a cross country flight.

A suit of clothing which resembles an overcoat when closed, but which opens into a parachute should its wearer fall from a height, has been invented by a Berlin chauffeur for aviators.

Feeding Calves.

A calf will eat oats and hay when about three weeks old. As it takes larger quantities of hay reduce the ration of milk.

REDUCED TO A SKELETON

DOCTOR SAID SHE WOULD DIE

"Fruit-a-tives" Saved Her Life

RIVIERE A PIERRE, QUE., May 9th 1910

"I look upon my recovery as nothing short of a miracle. I was for eleven years constantly suffering from Chronic Dyspepsia, Indigestion and Constipation. The last two years of my illness, I was confined to my bed nearly all the time. I was so thin I weighed only 90 pounds, and I vomited everything I ate. Even water would not stay on my stomach.

The doctors gave me up to die as the stomach trouble produced heart weakness and I was frequently unconscious.

At this time, a lady friend strongly advised me to try "Fruit-a-tives" and how thankful I am that I did so. When I had taken one box, I was much better and after three boxes, I was practically well again and had gained 20 pounds.

I have taken thirteen boxes in all and now weigh 150 pounds and am absolutely well—no pain—no indigestion—no constipation—my heart is sound and complexion clear".

M. Cruppi, French Minister of Foreign Affairs, announced last night that the latest official advices from Morocco indicated that the situation has greatly improved. He believed that a recurrence of the trouble is not likely.

The Merchants' Protective Association of Brantford has reappointed Harry Markell collector for the members. Last year he collected $2,200 from delinquent customers of the association members. A black list will be drawn up.

A message from East Coutts, Alta. where the four Brooks' children were burned in a terrible disaster on Saturday night last, says that the baby died before the doctor arrived, and that there is practically no hope for the mother's recovery.

The body of Mrs. Nellie Browne an actress who played with Edwin Julius B., and John Wilkes Booth and Fanny Davenport, was buried by the actor's fund of American in Boston yesterday. Mrs. Browne died a Long Island Hospital in poor circumstances.

Would Search Private Citizens.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., April 12.—A "temperance" delegation waited on Premier Hasen Monday, asking for amendments to the Prohibition Act making it unlawful for any man to keep liquor in his possession unless for medicinal, sacramental, or mechanical purposes, also giving the authorities the right to search residences of private citizens suspected of having such liquors, proof of legal possession to fall on the possessor of the liquor the dispensing of liquor to be taken out of the hands of druggists and vendors and placed in the hands of commissioners appointed by the Government.

The Premier said the measure was too drastic and would defeat the working of the Prohibition Act. He declined to pass the legislation asked for.

Sheldon In Court To-day.

Montreal, April 12.—Subpoenas were issued yesterday afternoon to the witnesses who will be called to-day to show cause why C. D. Sheldon should be held for trial on charges of theft and false pretenses, aggregating $35,000.

Most stress for the time being will be laid on the charge of theft, in which George Milette is the principal complainant. "I gave $2,000 to Sheldon and I never received any account of it," will be the substance of his evidence.

Judge Lect will remand Sheldon for voluntary statement eight days from now. Then Sheldon will have to decide whether to appear before a jury in the King's Bench in June or take a summary trial before a judge immediately.

Montreal Regiments to Camp.

Montreal, April 12.—It was definitely stated yesterday that the officers and forces of all the city infantry and cavalry regiments will be ordered in camp this summer at Farnham, while the artillery will go to Petewawa.

The infantry and horse will leave Montreal on the evening of Thursday, June 15, and remain in camp for three days. The authorities claim that a regular camp for at least three days is badly needed, and that the men will only lose practically a day and a half, as the camping days fall on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. The Government will pay all expenses. It is likely that next year six days of camp will be asked.

The Jardine Case.

Goderich, April 12.—Late yesterday afternoon the grand jury, in the trial of Edward Jardine, charged with the murder of Lizzie Anderson, returned a true bill of murder, and the trial will proceed to-day. Justice Falconbridge intimated that the case must proceed with all speed, and it is probable that a sitting will be held on Good Friday. George Tate Blackstock will prosecute and L. E. Daniels will defend.

The rumor of a confession will not down. It was mentioned by the judge in his address, and a lawyer declares that he knows that such a statement was obtained.

The trial of George Vanstone for the murder of his son will not take long. It is expected that he will be sent to an asylum.

College Athlete's Death.

Halifax, N.S., April 12.—Daniel J. Nicholson, champion all-round athlete of Dalhousie College, died yesterday of pneumonia. He was studying law, and belonged to Middle River, C.B.

Chinese Bring Libel Suit.

Liverpool, Eng., April 12.—A libel suit brought by leaders in "Chinatown," against the editor of the Liverpool Magazine was opened yesterday. The defendant is charged with imputing immoral practices to Chinese laundries, and with defaming generally "subjects of the Chinese Emperor, with intent to excite hatred against them."

The case was adjourned after the court had issued a temporary injunction restraining a repetition of the allegations.

Was It Worth It?

New York, April 12.—Three New Haven, Conn., girls, the Misses Belle, Henrietta and Marion Fouchtwanger, will receive $1,600 each from the estate of their uncle, Meyer Fouchtwanger, who died in this city April 6, for not marrying during his life-time. The young women filed a petition with the will yesterday, saying that they had complied with their uncle's wishes.

Had Thirty Chickens Burned.

Kingston, April 12.—Fire in a brooder at the home of James A. Holland, destroyed 30 pure bred chickens, the property of George Holland, poultry fancier. The reason assigned is the lamp by which the brooder was heated exploding. Mr. Holland's hands were badly burned in trying to extinguish the flames.

A Toronto Man on Board.

New York, April 12.—Two new directors of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. were elected at the annual meeting here yesterday and all the old members of the board were re-elected. The new men were McKenzie of Toronto and Robert D. Deforest of this city.

Troops Charge Crowd.

Epernay, Department of Marne, April 12.—Upon hearing the decision of the Senate the leaders summoned the wine-growers to assemble at Epernay, and the call was quickly answered. The rioters smashed 50,000 bottles of champagne, throwing up barricades with casks and hoisting the red flag. Gallons of wine were poured into the streets at Damery. At Ay a squadron of the 31st. Dragoons caught up with them, driving them out of town. Several rioters were injured.

Restitution of $1,200,000.

New York, April 12.—The U. S. Government has received from Duveen Brothers, art dealers of New York, London, and Paris, $1,200,000 in full settlement of claims against the firm for undervaluations of imports. The sum was paid in cash at the subtreasury. It will not stop the criminal actions pending against the firm.

Found Trawlers' Boat.

Cuxhaven, April 12.—A fishing smack, which had arrived here from Iceland, reports finding an empty rowboat belonging to the steam trawler Burgermeister Burchand, which is believed to have foundered off the Shetland Islands. The Burgermeister Burchard was commanded by Capt. Buss and carried a crew of 12 men.

Coronation Day in Montreal.

Montreal, April 12.—The Mayor announced yesterday that he will proclaim June 22, Coronation Day, a civic holiday.

In his proclamation he will ask that citizens observe the day as one of public rejoicing.

There will be a fireworks display on the mountain and citizens will be asked to decorate their houses.

Brakeman Killed.

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., April 12.—Charles Londrey, 52 years of age, died in the general hospital yesterday afternoon as the result of an accident at Bellevue, on the Algoma Central Railway yesterday morning. Londrey was brakesman on the morning train, and falling beneath the wheels when making a coupling had one leg severed. He was brought down to the Soo on a special train, but the physicians were unable to save his life.

A Long-Lived Family.

Barrie, April 12.—Mrs. John Brunton, one of Allandale's oldest and most respected citizens, dropped dead shortly after six o'clock yesterday morning. Deceased was eighty years of age. Besides her husband, nine sons and one daughter survive, the youngest being nearly forty years of age. This is the first death in the family.

Looking Backward.

"Were you nervous when you proposed to your wife?" asked the sentimental person.

"No," replied Mr. Meekton, "but if I could have foreseen the next ten years I would have been."

FACTORY BURNED

Cavan Cheese Factory is a Total Loss—Fire is Thought to Have Been Incendiary

DAMAGE $8,000

Special to The Examiner.

CAVAN, APRIL 12.—The Cavan Cheese factory was totally destroyed by a disastrous fire, which broke out last night at 11.30 o'clock. The building and contents were wiped out by the blaze and the loss will be about $8,000, which is fully covered by insurance. The circumstances point to the fire being the work of an incendiary. It is not likely that the factory will be rebuilt.

NOT TO AFFECT VICTORIA DAY

Special Wire to the Examiner.

OTTAWA, APRIL 12.—The proclamation of June 3rd as a public holiday will not likely have any effect upon the observance of Victoria Day. It is possible that the recognition of the King's birthday may be confined to official circles.

RIOTS IN FRANCE

Examiner Special:

EPERNAY, FRANCE, APRIL 12. — The blood of rioters, wounded by mounted troops who charged into them with sharp sabers mingled with champagne, spilled into the gutters by the 500 gallons in the strike riots continued this afternoon. Troops here are unable to cope with the situation. Rioting and bloodshed continue. The inhabitants are inflamed by anarchism and demand the downfall of the government.

PARIS, APRIL 12.—The Minister of war has sent several thousand troops from other Provinces into the district where champagne riots took place yesterday. There were further disturbances this morning, accompanied by the shooting of several officials and the destruction of valuable property.

NOT UNTIL 1912

Special to The Examiner:

OTTAWA, APRIL 12.—It is stated on the best of authority to-day that there will be no general election before the autumn of 1912.

30 Years of Success

The B. M. Hyde Co. Offer a Remedy for Catarrh- The Medicine Costs Nothing if It Fails

When a medicine effects a successful treatment in a very large majority of cases and when we offer that medicine on our own personal guarantee that it will cost the user nothing if it does not completely relieve catarrh, it is only reasonable that people should believe us, or at least put our claim to a practical test when we take all the risk. These are facts which we want the people to substantiate. We want them to try Rexall Muco-Tone, a medicine prepared from a prescription of a physician with whom catarrh was a specialty, and who has a record of thirty years of enviable success to his record.

We receive more good reports about Rexall Muco-Tone than we do of all other catarrh remedies sold in our store, and if more people only knew what a thoroughly dependable remedy Rexall Muco-Tone is, it would be the only catarrh remedy we would have any demand for.

Rexall Muco-Tone is quickly absorbed and by its therapeutic effect tends to disinfect and cleanse the entire mucous membranous tract, to destroy and remove the parasites which injure the membraneous tissues, to soothe the irritation and heal the soreness, stop the mucous discharge, build up strong, healthy tissue and relieve the blood and system of diseased matter. Its influence is toward stimulating the muco-cells, aiding digestion and improving nutrition until the whole body vibrates with healthy activity. In a comparatively short time it brings about a noticeable gain in weight, strength, good colour and feeling of buoyancy.

We urge you to try Rexall Muco-Tone, beginning a treatment to-day. At any time you are not satisfied, simply come and tell us, and we will quickly return your money without question or quibble. We have Rexall Muco-Tone in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain Rexall Remedies in Peterboro' only at our store,—The Rexall Store, McDermid and Jury, corner George and Charlote streets.

WITNESSES SWEAR THAT THEY SAW HENRY MATTHEWS ON STAIR WITH THE GIRL

And Afterwards Heard Strange Noises From the Room in Which Her Body Was Found Next Morning.

BLACKSTOCK'S ADDRESS

Special to The Examiner.

COBOURG, APRIL 12.—Further evidence taken in connection with the trial of Matthews, the lakeshore man charged with the murder of Miss Brimscombe in the Bristol House, indicate that more than one witness saw Matthews with the girl on the stairs and later heard strange noises in the direction of the room where Miss Brimscombe's dead body was found in the morning.

THE GODERICH CASE.

GODERICH, APRIL 12.—Geo Tate Blackstock, the Crown Attorney, in outlining the jury case of Edward Jardine, charged with the murder of Lizzie Anderson, marshalled various facts in a convincing way, and said the evidence taken should indicate to anybody that the prisoner was guilty of the fearful murder. The first witnesses called this afternoon were heard from before the magistrate and coroner and repeated their evidence as told then.

HOW MEN ENDURE

The Oat-Fed Man Can Outwork All the Rest

A concern which employs 2,000 woodcutters made scientific tests of food. The result has been to prove oatmeal the great endurance food. Those workers now all start the day on a diet of oats alone.

No other grain supplies the energy of oats. You know the effect on horses. It is just the same on man. Any man can increase his endurance, his vim and vitality by eating more oats.

That is why oatmeal is so immensely important. In this food above all foods one should insist on the utmost. It is not a wise thing to serve common oatmeal.

The rich, plump grains used in Quaker Oats are selected by 62 siftings. Only ten pounds can be obtained from a bushel. But those choice grains have richness and flavour, and the maximum value as food.

Quaker Oats is the cream of the oats made delicious. Yet, despite its quality, the cost to you is but one-half cent per dish.

COMMITTED FOR TRIAL

Special to The Examiner.

MONTREAL, APRIL 12. — C. D. Sheldon was committed for trial this morning on a charge of embezzlement aggregating thirty-five thousand dollars in blind pool operations. He appeared very nervous and will come up again Thursday to state whether he desires trial before a judge or jury.

SHE DOESN'T LIKE ENGLISH PRISONS

Special to The Examiner:

NEW YORK, N.Y., APRIL 12. — Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, the militant suffragette who recently went through Canada left for home to-day, after granting an interview, in which she states that the United States' system of jails and prisons is much superior to England's and she had bitter recollections of the latter.

PROSPECTS FOR PEACE

Special Wire to The Examiner.

LAREDO, TEXAS, APRIL 12—What appears to be an encouraging prospect for peace in Mexico developed to-day when prominent merchants from Mexico City known to be friendly to Diaz were received by Senor Madero at his camp. These are thought to be merely preliminaries to negotiations which will prove effective. In the meantime operations on the part of the insurrectos seem to have been suspended lately. There have been no skirmishes for several days.

CONSERVATIVES TRY TO BRING ABOUT AN ELECTION

OTTAWA, APRIL 12.—The Conservative press and some of the members are endeavouring to create the impression that there will be a general election this coming autumn. They are kindly arranging to have the census taken, the consequent redistribution of seats during the dog days and an early Session, to be followed by the Elections. They seem to want it this way, hoping, it is hard to say by what reasoning, to get some political advantage out of the situation, with the good of the country their second thought. If they wish to be fair nd wise they would give Reciprocity a year's trial, at least. Then, if it is the bad thing they claim it is, the people would condemn it and the Conservatives who opposed it would be called to power. If it is a good thing—and that is what they dread—the people will endorse it, and the Government which assumes full responsibility would be the gainer, as well as the country. The elections will be held when the proper time comes and the Government, not the newspapers with lively imaginations, will fix the date.

HURON FARMERS PLEDGE THEMSELVES TO RECIPROCITY

Party Lines Are Forgotten and the Farmers Go on Record in Supporting the Agreement---Barley Growing Industry to Come Into Its Own Again.

"This meeting of representative citizens of the South Riding of Huron expresses its hearty approval of the proposed reciprocity agreement for better trade relations between Canada and the United States, and trusts that the Canadian Government will see to it that the measure is finally passed and brought into operation at the earliest possible moment."

ZURICH, ONT., APRIL 10.—When reciprocity reached the voting stage in the Local Legislature, Mr. Harry Eilber, Conservative member for South Huron, was one of the absentees. That Mr. Eilber had a reason, and an excellent reason, too, for shunning the Chamber that afternoon was quite evident form the tone of the public meeting held in the Town Hall here to-day. Zurich is the centre of Hay Township and the votes of the Germans in the township gave the member for South Huron his seat in the House. This afternoon at the close of an address by Hon. A. G. MacKay, an audience that filled the hall of overflowing stood up, party lines for the time forgotten, and pledged enthusiastic support of the reciprocity agreement. Not half a dozen men in the hall withheld their approval.

Zurich Above Sectionalism.

The vote of the men of the Zurich district is a striking tribute to the merit of the reciprocity agreement, since it comes from a section of the Province that will in one respect be, for a time, unfavourably affected by the agreement. The country around Zurich has the distinction of being the chief onion-growing section of the Province. Hay Township is the home of "Dutch sets," and from Zurich tons of onion seedlings are shipped every year. Dutch sets" can be grown in the United States a great deal more cheaply than in Ontario, however, and even with a tariff the American onions are serious competitors. The farmers in the district fear that the reciprocity agreement will drive the growing of "Dutch sets" out of the field of profitable agriculture, but in their support of the agreement they are accepting reciprocity as something htat will, in its general benefit to agriculturists, more than offset any temporary local disadvantage.

The onion-growing industry has always been one uncertain in its results, and already the farmers of the Zurich district are looking ot beans and barley, which, under reciprocity, will be a vastly more profitable and surer crop. Confident of the prosperity that reciprocity spells for the future, they are standing for it almost to a man, Conservatives and Liberals alike.

Hon. A. G. MacKay followed the same general line taken in his address to the farmers at Beaverton, but went more thoroughly into the agreement as it affects the western counties of the Province.

He found that the history of reciprocity is well understood by the farmers here, and his assertion that Conservatives who vote for reciprocity are standing by their true party and the promises of Sir John Macdonald was warmly approved.

Revive Barley-Growing.

The Liberal leader prophesied the revival of the barley-growing industry as a result of free entry into the United States markets. At the time the last reciprocity treaty was in force, from 1854 to 1866, barley, he reminded the farmers, was the principal crop over the greater part of western Ontario. It was shipped across the line and sold at $1.20 a bushel. When the treaty was abrogated prices went down with a slide to 56 cents. Since then the growing of barley has been largely abandoned. Hon. Mr. McKay voiced the conviction of the farmers when he declared that barley would come into its own again.

Mr. Thomas McMillan of Seaforth, a prominent cattleman, took up hte argument that reciprocity would hurt the horse trade, and that Ontario breeders would be forced from the western markets by cheaper animals from the United States.

"The only trade htat will be hurt" he said, "is that in worn-out animals, which are bought from the farmers and shipped out to the west. The settlers there are being robbed, and the trade should be stopped any way. The high-class animal will always hold its own.

"And granting," he continued, "that we do lose some western trade, it will be more than made up by the demand from the cities of the eastern States."

Mr. McMillan declared that until the American buyers came to the Toronto markets Canadian cattle had never received their worth. The added competition that the removal of the duty would bring would prove a boon to breeders of high-class beef.

He declared that the fruitmen were waking up to its promised advantages and the opposition in the Niagara district was spent.

"It was set in motion by the canning interests," he said, "and now the factories are sending their agents around six weeks earlier than usual, buying up next year's crop at higher prices than ever before."

The resolution carried at the close of the meeting was moved by Mr. H Smith and seconded by Mr. J. Kellerman.

Hon. A. G. MacKay was met at Hensall Station by a large gathering of representative Liberals and presented with a declaration of confidence that the reciprocity agreement would be of great benefit to the whole Dominion

Slight Accident On The G. T. R. Delayed Train

Cars Derailed Near Hastings Resulted in the Morning Trains To-day Being Late.

A broken rail was the cause of a small, though very inconvenient accident on the G. T. R., about three miles east of Hastings this morning early, when a long freight was wending her way toward Belleville. Three cars of grain were derailed, but not badly smashed, as far as can be learned. The Northern Division Auxiliary was quickly despatched from Lindsay, and the cars were put on the track. Traffic was somewhat disabled for a while this morning, especially for the passenger trains. The Belleville train, due here at 8.10, did not arrive until 9.40. The Port Hope-Toronto train was one hour late, owing to having to make connections with the main line trains. It was fortunate that the freight was not running very fast when the accident occurred, otherwise it might, and probably would have been more serious. As it was, not a person was hurt, and the damage to rolling stock was not very great.

BABY'S SKIN TROUBLES

"My baby boy while nursing broke out with running, watery sores all over his head and behind his ears," writes Mrs. Oscar Vancott, St. Antoine, Sask. "Many salves were prescribed to no effect. The child's head became a mass of scabs and he suffered untold agony from the dreadful itching. Dr. Chase's Ointment soon made a lasting cure, and also cured an older son of eczema."

DOVER, ENG., APRIL 2.—An aviator, thought to be nam Prier, hitherto unknown to fame, passed over this town in a monoplane this morning without a guard of followers on land or sea. He ascended near London, and declares he will accomplish the trip across the channel to Paris before he gives away his identity.

CONGRESS AT BALL GAME

Examiner Special.

WASHINGTON, APRIL 12. — Business in the houses of Congress was practically entirely suspended this afternoon, as President Taft and nearly all the other legislators are attending the opening ball game between the Washington Nationals and the Boston Red Sox.

$11,000 WILL NOT BE PAID

Special to The Examiner:

OTTAWA, APRIL 12.—Hon. Wm. Pugsley gave evidence before the Public Accounts' Committee this morning in regard to the dredging operations at Bathurst and Dalhousie N. B., now under investigation. He stated that the sum of $11,000 had been held back by the Department from A. and B. Toggie, contractors, and that it would not be paid.

EPISCOPAL PRAISE FOR ST. JOHN'S CHOIR

At the conclusion of a most impressive Confirmation service last night, held in St. John's Church, the Right Reverend Bishop Reeve, Assistant Bishop of the Diocese of Toronto, in the presence of the clergy and choir assembled, in the rectory, made a graceful and appreciative reference to the rendering of the hymns in the service. "I have not heard those hymns so well sung before in the Diocese of Toronto, and that is saying a great deal." The forty members of the choir present were thankful to Bishop Reeve, and Rev. Canon Davidson promptly expressed their sense of gratitude, that they were fulfilling the first mission of a choir, namely, to lead the service of prayer and praise.

The first hymn, "Veni Creator," (Come Holy Ghost), a plain song hymn, was beautifully sung, and it is a hymn that might well open the service of any gathering of worshippers. The third hymn, "Come, Gracious Spirit" sung to "Holly," during the most impressive part of the Confirmation, was also beautifully sung by the choir and congregation, in subdued tones. The phrasing of the hymns evidently appealed to Bishop Reeve, who sang an excellent tenor part all through. The choristers thronged around the Choirmaster afterwards, with many kindly words, whose sincerity was practically confirmed by their remaining until 10.30 p.m., to practise the "Crucifixion" and Easter music.

A FABRICATION

Special to The Examiner:

WOODSTOCK, APRIL 12.—Charles Shibley, the Grand Trunk ticket clerk at Tavistock, has confessed that his story of an attempted hold up on Monday was a fabrication and that he bored a hole in the wall for a bullet hole to substantiate his story.

BOOKS PASSAGE

Special Wire to The Examiner.

OTTAWA, APRIL 12. — Notwithstanding the rumours about Sir Wilfrid Laurier calling off his trip to England for imperial conference and coronation, it was given out this morning that he had definitely booked his passage on the Virginian for May 12th and would go no matter what tactics the Conservatives adopted regarding the reciprocity agreement.

INDIANS STARVING

WINNIPEG, MAN., APRIL 12.—Information has been received here that the Indians of the Hudson Bay district are on the verge of starvation owing to the hard winter.

FOOTBALL

The following players of All Saints Football Club are asked to meet at the Post Office on Friday morning at 9.30, to go to Warsaw, for their game with the Warsaw (Midland League) team: Messrs. Marratiby, Ruy, Robinson, Farr, Dudley, Bell, Willis, Hildreth, Abbott, Dawson, and Downs.

BRYAN IS COMING

Arrangements Will be Made by the Y.M.C.A. to Have Famous Democratic Leader Give Address

THE BOARD MEETS

The Board of Directors of the Y. M. C. A. met in the rooms of the Association last night. Mr. J. J. Turner, Jr., was in the chair, and there was a very good turnout of members. Mr. W. C. Switzer was present for the first time and was heartily welcomed by the Directors.

The Financial Report was presented by the Treasurer, J. J. Howden, and was received with pleasure, as it showed that the Association was gradually improving in its financial condition.

In his report, the General Secretary referred to the great strides being made by the Y. M. C. A. in other cities in Ontario. He drew attention to the victory in Guelph, where the people had decided to try to raise $50,000 in eight days and had raised $67,000 in six days. Brantford is about to institute a canvas for $100,000 to build a new building, after being in their present quarters for 40 years. Orillia, with a population about one-half the size of Peterborough, has just raised ten thousand dollars to put on an addition to their building and this while the churches of Orillia are raising money to build Sunday School buildings. From these facts he called upon the Directors to feel encouraged to carry on an aggressive work in this city, believing that the citizens would some day stand behind the Association here as they are doing in other places.

A letter was read from the Provincial Secretary, offering Peterborough Association the opportunity of having William Jennings Bryan for a lecture in May. It was decided that steps should be taken to have Mr. Bryan come and deliver a lecture here.

BRONZE MEDAL FOR HEROISM

FAIRMOUNT, IND., April 12.—Recently President Taft awarded to Miss Nettie Caskey of this place a bronze medal for heroism displayed in saving a baby's life. The Interstate Commerce Commission voted the Indiana girl the right to wear the bit of bronze. She is the second girl to be rewarded for "promoting the security of travel upon railroads," for which Congress has provided the award of suitable medals.

Now, it isn't every day that a sixteen-year-old schoolgirl dashes down a railroad track in the very face of a swiftly rushing oncoming train and grabs a tiny baby from the very jaws of death. But that is the race for life Nettie Caskey ran when her three-year-old niece strayed from the yard on to the railroad track.

The limited was coming around the curve, the shriek of the whistle came to Nettie's ears at the same time that she saw the baby toddling down the track, up on a high embankment. She literally flew to save the baby.

As the locomotive rounded the curve the engineer saw Nettie running toward the track, but looking directly into a sinking sun, he could not see the baby ahead. The baby smiled and cooed as she watched the train coming. She even ran to meet it.

When almost upon the child the engineer saw the baby and applied his air brakes, opened the sand valves, and reversed the engine, but too late to stop before striking the spot where the little one stood now transfixed with terror and surprise.

Just as it seemed certain that death had overtaken the baby, Nettie reached her and grabbing the little one in her arms threw herself off the track, rolling with her precious burden down the embankment as the limited rushed by.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 12, 1911

JUSTIFIABLE EXPENSE.

Mr. J. E. Englehart, chairman of the Temiscaming and Northern Ontario Railway Commission in an address before the Board of Trade, Toronto, said that there are fifty odd miles of crooked and steep-grade trace on this railway. This will have to be straightened and shortened and reduced before the railway will be satisfactory. In its present condition these sections are obstructions, rather than an aid, to traffic. Criticism has been directed against the Dominion government because the cost of the Transcontinental Railway per mile is much greater than the first estimate. This is to be largely accounted for by the increased cost of labour and material. But the chief cause of the increased cost has been the decision, subsequent to the first estimates, to make the line a finished railway when it was finished. Much expense has been incurred by following an air-line route, to the avoidance of curves and in providing grades of the minimum difficulty. There is no railway in the world for its length, that has easier curves and grades than the Grand Trunk Pacific. There is no railway in the world more substantially and lastingly built. Of course this meant larger cost, but it was worth it. Bills for repairs are practically eliminated or reduced to an inconsiderable minimum. The cost of operation, an hourly and everlasting expense, is greatly lessened, and as a matter of course, will be gain in profit and saving of time. It would have paid better to build the provincial railway right as to grades and curves in the beginning, than to go screaming round curves doubling engines and increasing cost of operation generally, from heavy grades, and then at last have to incur the expense, plus the intervening loss, of straightening the curves and flattening the grades. It pays to do the thing right in the beginning.

A HAPPY DAY FOR ONTARIO.

It will be a happy day for Ontario, and especially for Peterborough county, when alfalfa culture is thoroughly understood and is generally adopted by our farmers. The claims made for alfalfa seem almost too good to be true. But even were alfalfa only half as profitable as it is claimed to be; yes, even one-quarter as productive, it would still give returns exceeding the returns from many crops our farmers now grow.

One thing is certain about the adaptability of our soil to the culture of alfalfa. We can grow the crop. A sprinkling of our local farmers have grown alfalfa successfully and not one of them has yet been found but is satisfied that alfalfa is a money-making crop. A large number of our farmers have already planned to sow a considerable acreage this spring to alfalfa. Others will be well advised in sowing alfalfa and in taking advantage of the alfalfa competition that has been arranged especially for the benefit of the farmers of Peterborough county.

When farmers of this county generally grow the alfalfa crop, then can be said of Ontario, as Joseph E. Wing has said of Pennsylvania, "our fields will be covered with beauty, regardless of heat, or floods, or drought; then will the barns stand filled to bursting; orderly stacks will dot the fields; cows will be well fed, and have full udders; the sheep and pigs will be fat and content; the villages, even, will feel the influence of the alfalfa plant, for labour will be in greater demand; land values will advance; the boys will stay on the farms, where they will be needed, and new evidence of prosperity will be seen on every hand."

WHO LAYS ON THE BURDENS?

The Mail and Empire says Hon. Mr. Fielding, Dominion Finance Minister, should be ashamed of such a large revenue — ashamed of putting such a burden of taxation upon the people. The organ thus turns its back on the old Conservative and N. P. theory that the consumer does not pay the duty, but that the foreigner pays the duty under a protective tariff. Now the theory is that the consumer does pay the tax adopted; and the Mail and Empire and other Conservative critics say that the revenue should be lessened. It is fair to ask if there is any other other way than a reduction of tariff rates, by which the revenue can be lessened? If this is the only way, let the Mail and Empire and Mr. Foster who demand this reduction, specify upon what articles they would have the duty reduced or cut off. They oppose the reduction of 33 1-3 per cent. under the British Preference and would restore this duty by destroying the Preference. They object to reciprocity by which a considerable reduction in the revenue through reduced or removed duties is proposed. How can we please these gentlemen? In their dilemma, an easy way is suggested. Restore the Conservative party to power and give us such an administration as impoverished the country under their regime, so that the people were not able to buy enough goods, to do enough business to raise revenue enough through customs duties to keep the national machinery running and avoid disgustingly regular annual deficits. If we take the revenue and surpluses as a measure of the burdens of the people, the Conservative government did not burden the people, though their tariff was considerably higher than that under which we have a hundren millions revenue and surpluses of the thirty million kind. It is a good deal of nonsense to talk of the burdens of the people in connection with customs duties. The present government does not tax the people; the people tax themselves, and it is in their power to make the revenue—and the Mail and Empire's "burden of taxation"—as large or as small as they like. If the people of Canada will obstinately persist in keeping a Liberal government in power and in enjoying the accompanying prosperity; if they insist upon having so much money and upon buying so many goods that the merchants import, and in thus paying the duty and swelling the revenue, they must bear with the burdens of taxation they impose on themselves.

REASONS WHY.

The New York Journal has the following article aiming to explain why "every little while Canadian Pacific Railway stock jumps up, and every little while the price of our American stock jumps down." The Journal says:

The owners of American railroad stocks have watched their valuable property spasmodically jump lower and lower in price.

First there is a panic based on stock watering and corporation law breaking—and then there is a big drop in all prices.

Then comes a temporary revival—then more dropping in prices.

On the other hand, the Canadian Pacific Railroad, also running on this continent, tapping markets much less valuable than our markets in the United States, but owned and managed by Englishmen and Canadians, UNDER ENGLISH AND CANADIAN LAWS, KEEPS GOING UP IN PRICE REGULARLY.

Railroads in the United States that are certainly as valuable as the Canadian Pacific, or more so, range in price from 125 to 140 dollars per share or less. The Canadian Pacific sells at 226 dollars a share, and even higher. Perhaps our United States railroad men would explain to the owners of their stocks why this is.

They must not say that it is because laws over here undertake to regulate railroads. In Canada and in England the laws regulating railroads are infinitely more exacting than they are in the United States.

Our own guess—subject to correction—is that the Canadian Pacific Railway is probably managed for the benefit of the stockholders in the railroad.

Whereas railroads in the United States are managed for the benefit of stock jobbers, managed in a way to give men that control the railroads from the inside enormous fortunes in a few years—and, as for the little stockholders, let them look out for themelves.

"SUCCESS IN THE GARDEN."

Everyone with a garden, or who is planning to have one this year, will find many useful hints and much valuable information on the subject of gardening in the Garden Number of The Canadian Horticulturist, published in this city. Many of the problems which present themselves to the beginner, as well as the more experienced horticulturist, will be solved by consulting its pages. Instructions are given on the culture of sweet peas, asters, dahlias, cannas, lilies, and other popular flowers. A page of timely hints for amateurs tells just the things you want to know at this season. Pointers are also given on the making of windows boxes, and the spring care of flower beds. "The Planting of an Amateur's Flower Garden" gives suggestions for the laying out and planting of a flower garden. It goes into detail regarding the best varieties of plants to use and how to arrange them. The article is accompanied by a diagram. It is a most useful article for anyone looking for ideas for the laying out of their garden, or for the beautifying of their home surroundings. "How to Grow Eighty-two Varieties of Vegetables on a Small Lot," will prove of intense interest to everyone who has a vegetable garden. It tells how an enthusiastic amateur gardener last year grew eighty-two varieties of vegetables on a small plot 27 feet wide and 86 feet long. The article is accompanied by a large diagram showing just how the garden was laid out and where the different varieties of vegetables were planted. A number of excellent articles on fruit growing also appear in this number. Some of the subjects dealt with are orchard cultivation, peach culture, root pruning of fruit trees, care of the orchard, the value of bees in the orchard, and the growing of strawberries and other small fruits. Interested persons may secure a sample copy of this number on application to the publishers.

THE INFLUENCE OF CITIZENSHIP UPON THE DESTINY OF CANADA

(Toronto Star)

The political destiny of Canada depends, not upon its trade relations with the United States, but upon the character of its population. It is argued that while native Canadians and immigrants from the British Islands are in sympathy with Canadian aspirations, and resolved to build up Canada as a nation within the Empire, there is less certainty about the attitude of immigrants from the United States and from other foreign countries. If there is any ground for this misgiving, how should the difficulty be met? What is there in Canadianism that will appeal to the newcomer from foreign lands, making him not merely a law-abiding citizen, but a whole-hearted enthusiastic Canadian?

The most satisfactory answer is that whoever enters Canada to-day becomes one of the makers of a nation that is in the making, in the formative stage. His influence is relatively greater here than it would be in any country where a later stage of progress has been reached. He becomes one of the charter-members of a new society. He is, to use a commercial phrase, "let in on the ground floor" of a new enterprise. The Russian who comes here not only enjoys freedom, but may have more to say in regard to the Government of Canada than he could possibly have to say in regard to the Government of Russia. But, to take a less obvious case, look at the position of the newcomer from the United States. His influence is greater as one of eight millions of Canadians than as one of ninety-two millions of citizens of the United States. He is expected to obew our laws and respect our institutions, but he can also, equally with native Canadians, help to make the laws and mould the institutions. He can make his own contribution to Canadian citizenship and Canadian ideals. Out of the ideals of native Canadians, of British newcomers, of newcomers from all lands, will the Canadianism of the future be developed.

It is a privilege to be one of the builders of a new nation, instead of merely dwelling in a house that has been built by others. Here we have a vast country, capable of affording homes for fifty millions of people. Our destiny is, humanly speaking, in our own hands. We have the opportunity to become the founders of a new nation, planned and constructed upon twentieth century lines. We are the heirs of all the ages, inheriting the experience of the past, yet at liberty to discard whatever in the history of the other nations has been found to be evil. We offer to all newcomers a share in this vast estate: not merely a quarter-section of land, but co-operation in the making of our institutions and the development of our civilization.

This is a far grander ideal than that of the spellbinders who spout about a country extending from the Pole to Mexico. That is not the grand eur of mere size; this is the grandeur that belongs to the fulfilment of new national ideals. There is no reason why, from the Pole to Mexico, there should not be sympathy and co-operation in advancing the standards of civilization. But that co-operation will be all the more effective if there are two nations instead of one. There will be generous rivalry. There will be distinctiveness in the work to be done. There is an inspiration in the words "Canada" and "Canadian" that will grow stronger with the years and the loss of that inspiration would be a loss not only to Canada but to the world.

Canada to-day is a part not only of the continent of America, but of the Birtish Empire, and that is a position of privilege and opportunity. Canada, in its relations with the British Empire, has always stood out strongly for two things—friendship and autonomy. Autonomy, taking its human meaning, free from all pedantry, is simply self-assertion. Canada wants to be herself, to live her own life. The sentiment which chafed against Downing street rule and insisted upon self-government will be an impregnable defence against annexation. It will not prevent Canada from co-operating heartily with Great Britain and the United States in the advancement of civilization and of the highest interests of humanity.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

In spite of the obstructive tactics of the Opposition, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the representative of Canada, will lend distinction to the entourage of His Majesty King George on the Coronation occasion. He has booked his passage for May 12, no matter what tactics the Opposition adopts respecting the reciprocity agreement.

Under the administration of the Conservatives, the imports of Britain were taxed at a higher rate than imports coming from the United States. Yet some Conservatives are accusing Liebrals of disloyalty to British connection in fostering annexation through an arrangement to promote freer trade with our neighbours.

Miss Sylvia Pankhurst, the militant suffragette who has been touring Canada and the United States, before leaving New York for home, yesterday, said that United States prisons were superior to those of England — from the outside perhaps. Miss Pankhurst speaks with inside knowledge of English prisons. Her antpathy to prisons is in line with the sentiments expressed in Hudibras—

No rogue e'er felt the halter draw
With good opinion o fthe law.

Hon. Geo. E. Foster, the financial critic of the Conservative Opposition in Parliament, has rather earned the reputation of making figures prove anything. Sometimes he has to make a pretty severe twist to accomplis his ends. In the last budget debate he "proved" that custom taxation was lower in 1896, under Conservative rule, than in 1911, under the Liberal regime. He easily "proved" his contention by applying the figures of 1911 to the conditions of 1896, nad the figures of 1896 to the conditions of 1911. Strange that a shrewd financier like Mr. Foster could not distinguish between figures fifteen years old and figures that are hardly yearlings. But he was nicely detected by Mr. Fielding, who, while almost as sharp as Mr. Foster, has a little larger stock of scruples.

THE COST OF TEACHER TRAINING.

(Ottawa Free Press.)

It must have been a wonderful influence that brought the Whitney government to its senses on the model school question. Hardly more than six months ago Hon. Dr. Pyne declared in Chatham that the model schools would not be restored. Now what has caused the flopping in the mind of Dr. Pyne?

True, the little Opposition in the Legislature kept hammering away at the question and putitng forward arguments that could not be refuted in face of the facts presented. It may be that this made an impression upon Hon. Dr. Pyne, but as a rule he gets his ideas from Sir James Whitney or Dr. John Seath.

After the model schools were done away with the cost of teacher training in this country increased enormously. The London Advertiser says in this connection:—

In 1906, the year preceding the centralization, the total cost for this item, including that for bi-lingual training, was $82,091.56; last year it was no less than $143,111.34. Looking at it another way the cost to the provincial treasury of adding 1,750 recruits to the teaching profession in 1906 was $10,368.91, while the maintenance cost of the new Normal schools established to take the place of the abolished model schools in 1910, was $49,531.52, with an output of recruits of less than half the number.

But the increased expense, large as that is, does not discredit the administration as much as the dissatisfaction with and the inefficiency of the results.

The abolition of the model schools and the centralization of teacher training in hal fa dozen noranl schools cut the poor man's son or daughter out of the opportunity of entering a useful profession. The restoration of the model schools again blazes the way of opportunity for many a young man and young woman, and at the same time helps to solve the rural teacher problem.

LEFT-HANDED ATHLETES

SAN FRANCISCO, April 12.—Jack John had a few hours' lay-off early to-day, and while waiting between rounds to put the second coat of whitewash on the jail ceilings, came out with a little dope on left-handed mitt artists. The heavyweight champion said:

"The percentage of left-handed men who take up boxing is very small when compared to the number of left-handers who go into the baseball business. It's only once in a hundred times that you meet a fighter who is left-handed, while a big percentage of professional ball tossers are left-handed throwers.

"Left-handed athletes seem to think they are under a big disadvantage who nthey try to box. As a plain fact, friends, it's pretty much the other way.

"A left-handed fighter who sticks to his original style is sure to cut an awful swath for at least a little while.

"I'll explain how it happens that way: Nearly all right-handed men instinctively swing with the right hand and jab with the left.

"A left-handed man, of course, reverses this. He swings with the left hand, and jabs with the right. That combination is an awful thing for the ordinary boxer to meet.

"Accustomed to a defence for the left jab and the right swing he is taken completely by surprise when the left hand crashes across with an awful kick and down he goes, stunned and knocked out, before he realizes what he's up against.

"The left-handed fighter, therefore, has a perrentage in his favor and it's a good thing for the present champions that there are so few southpaws in the boxing business.

"Yes, indeed—the boxing field offrs great opportunities to the left-handed pugilist, and I'm rather thankful so few of hem have discovered what a cinch the profession is for them."

OVERLAND CARS IN GREAT DEMAND

Company is Showing 20 Models at Office at Toronto

The Shaw-Overland Sales company, of Toronto, is showing twenty models of the famous Overland car. The best model is their number 59 with fore doors and all the up-to-date equipment. It is a touring car and will carry five passengers with comfort. It is equipped with a 40 horse-power engine and is the most expensive car the company offers, being well worth what it costs to have it laid down here, $2275. Their model 51 is considerably cheaper, but is a good car, being very much after the same style as their 59. It will carry five passengers, has fore doors and is equipped with a thirty horse-power engine. At the company's premises on West Adelaide street, Toronto, demonstrations are given every day by appointment, and the agents consider it a pleasure to show the many advantages the car has. So great is the demand for the cars that the company will not guarantee prompt delivery on cars not ordered now. The company gives a guarantee with each car, which is good for a year, and covers all damages except in case of accidents, when the car will be repaired at actual cost.

PILES CURED IN 6 TO 14 DAYS

PAZO OINTMENT is guaranteed to cure any case of Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles, in 6 to 14 days, or money refunded. 50c

April Issue Of Rod And Gun

All anglers will heartily welcome the April issue of Rod and Gun in Canada, published by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ontario. As usual this number heralds the approach of the fishing season and gives all those who have waited patiently for a renewal of their pleasures with ro dand line, added joys of anticipation of the good time now so near. A beautifully illustrated article of "a camping and fishing trip on the French River is followed by an equally good account of a similar outing in Prince Edward Island, the gem of the Gun [illegible] Province. Many other good things are to be found in the same issue and sportsmen who may not be able to join in all the lamulations of fishing with the same enthusiasm as the devoted angler will find that they are not overlooked. There is something to suit all and if the angler is, for the time, the most favoured, the hunter knows his turn will come and can in the meantime find much that is of particular interest to himself. Sportsmen never fail to find something to suit their tastes in each issue of Rod and Gun.

ONTARIO BANK LOTS

All the lots on George Street but one are now sold. A number of fine lots on King Edward Street, are now in the market, at low prices during month of April. First come first choice.

MAT AND MITT NEWS

Cora Livingstone, the female wrestling champion, had her title rudely and rapidly wrested from her on Saturday night at Philadelphia. Blanche Whitney, a challenger, grabbed Livingstone right off the reel and threw her in eight seconds.

Not to be outdone, Milwaukee has produced a "white hope." The latest candidate is Ray Burns, a South Bend, Ind., boilermaker, who weighs 220 pounds. Burns participated in two battles, but both of these ended in his favour, and his manager is trying to get a match with Carl Morris.

Frank Burns and Tommy Houck have been matched to box in New Haven April 24.

Tom O'Rourke is trying to sign Carl Morris to meet A. Palzer, the ex-amateur champion of New York.

LAWN BOWLING.

(Correction)

In the Examiner's report of the annual meeting of the Brookside Lawn Bowling Club a mistake in identity, on the part of the reporter, resulted in a regrettable mix-up of names. It was T. Brightman, not D. H. Moore, who presided, and it was T. Brightman who was elected president for 1911. It is to be regretted that the only bright man of the club was even temporarily deprived of the honour to which his interest in the game and his skill on the green so amply entitles him.

Peterborough Team Chosen For The West End Game

Basketball Game in Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium on Good Friday Night is Attracting a Lot of Attention.

TUG-OF-WAR CONTEST

The local Y.M.C.A. Basketball team is practising hard for their game Good Friday night, with the Toronto West End Y. M. C. A. Junior Champions. This game certainly will be a good exhibition of fast basketball. The following is the line-up:

Peterborough—Hastie, Nichols, forwards; Wallace, centre; Hanwell, Fitzgerald, defence.

West End Y.M.C.A. — Moriarity Montgomery defence, Graham of Witheridge, centre; Aldred and Garrett forwards.

The Public Schools are interested in the Tug-of-war contest, which will be for the City Championship. Central, South Central and East City schools have already entered teams.

Other attractions will be added to the night's entertainment. That the public is interested in this line of sport is shown by the advance sale of tickets, which are being sold by the boys or can be purchased at the Association.

GOOD MATCH ARRANGED FOR HILLIARD LANG

TORONTO APRIL 11.—Ever since Hilliard Lang, the crack Toronto welter, has been in the pro. game he has complained that he has always had to give away from seven to twenty pouds weight in his bouts. He will not have that complaint to make in his next bout, which will be the star bout for the opening of the new Olympic Club on April 8.

To-day he signed articles with T. F. Ryan to meet Jack Kennedy, a New York welter of considerable class and now Torontonians will have a chance to see what he will do with a good, aggressive boy of his own weight.

Kennedy has boxed such men as Paul Bowser, Jack Denning, "Knockout" Brown of Chicago, when Lang bested in Winnipeg; Joe Stein of Philadelphia; Billie West of New York; Dan Savage, Jack Nelson, and has put away Jack Curly, Benny Franklin, Harry Stone, Johnnie Waltz, and holds newspaper decisions, Dixie Kid (twice), Dixie Brown, Bill Hurley, Harry Temple, Harry Mansfield, Kid Williams, Australia Ted Nelson, welterweight champion of Australia, Fighting Dick Nelson and Tommy Quill. Kennedy is a rushing two-handed man, and just the man to wake Lang up and make him show something.

Tommy Burns wanted to take Lang west with him last night when he headed for Calgary.

Lindsay May Have A Midland League Team

The Lindsay Warder says: Mr. Dick Butler received a telegram yesterday afternoon from Mr. J. J. Dorris, of Peterborough, asking that a representative be sent to the Electric City on Friday to attend the annual meeting of the Midland League. Under present conditions Lindsay is not very well equipped with material of the Midland League calibre, but, nevertheless a team may be entered providing the league is composed of home brews. After Friday's meeting Lindsay baseball sports will be in a position to decide.

"PLAY BALL"

NEW YORK, April 12.—"Play Ball!" That magic call resounded over eight major league ball parks in three days, for to-day the National and American leagues will inaugurate the active baseball season. It would not be employing a baseball bromidon to say that this will be the most prosperous year in the history of the game, both artistically and financially. The standard of play is bound to be better than that of previous years, for rit is a wll-known fact that baseball players, like a favorite beverage, improve with age.

It would be interesting to delve a bit into figures. To-day eight modern stadiums will seat some 200,000 persons, it is estimated. Were these ball enclosures more commodious t is a certainty that close to half a million woul dwitness the opening games in the two major leagues. To every one person that attends a ball game there are about a dozen that know baseball theoretically only by following the game through the public prints. As the scope of major league baseball extends from coast to coast, it can readily be figured that close on to five million—this is a low estimate—heads of humanity take an interest in the national pastime.

The races in both big leagues give promise of being among the closest ever contested in these organizations. It bids fair to rival the heart-breaking finishes of 1908, when the Tigers won the American League pennant on the fial day of the season, while the Cubs defeated the Giants for the National banner a day after the regular season closed, the Merkle incident being responsible for this.

There are at least four teams in each circuit that hav a fighting chance for the highest honours n respective leagues. The National League battle, especially, will be a torrid one, for six teams are conceded a chance to win. The Boston and St. Louis outfits are eliminated. The Dodgers have a fair show of finishing up in front. Dahlen has the best aggregation of players since the club won the pennant about a dozen years ago. They have a fighting chance, anyhow.

The outcome of the American League struggle is equally as difficult to figure out as is the National chase. The Athletics are picked by a big majority to again carry off the premier honours. But the Yankees must not be overlooked and the Detroit, Boston and Chicago combinations are also expected to be in the fight all the way.

RICHARD HALL & SON

POST CARD COLUMN

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir,—In last evening's Examiner I read a letter signed by "Builder." Now I may say that I am sorry he did not sign his name properly, so that we might know who he is, as there is not much satisfaction in discussing a question of importance with a man in the dark. I am sure he has nothing to be ashamed of. Every ratepayer has a perfect right to give his views on a question of this kind, and should he differ from me I think none the less of him, as it would not do if we all thought alike. I may say that I did not ask for information as to the terms of the agreement. I have read all that. What I did want to know was as to the stability and soundness of the Company and if they were such as would warrant the city in loaning them forty thousand dollars. I may say that I have always been in favour of assisting any industry that would come to our city that is in reason. I have never been much in favour of bonusing any company. "Builder" thinks that a working man should be the last man to oppose this proposition. If it is not a good proposition then we should oppose it. The fact that a man may get a few weeks work on a factory and make a few dollars out of it is no reason that he should vote away forty thousand dollars. I may say that I am not writing for the sake of opposition, and I guess I am just as much interested in the prosperity of the city as "Builder" but I do not want to be reckless in giving any company any amount of money unless we are sure that it is a good and safe investment.

Yours truly,

J. J. HARTLEY.

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT

By Ruth Cameron

DO YOU love life?

Then do not squander time, for that is the stuff life is made of."—Benjamin Franklin.

If you had a certain amount of gold put in trust for you to last you through life, surely you would not fret yourself with hopeless longings that you had the full control of this store in order that you might wantonly destroy some of it.

And yet how often one hears impatient young folks say, "Oh, how I wish it were next Saturday," or "I can never wait until Tuesday."

And they are wishing, you see, that the wealth of days and weeks and hours which has ben put in trust for them were wholly in their power in order that they might annihilate some inconvenient part of it.

Now perhaps I'm queer and notional, but it seems to me that this continual wishing time away borders on the wicked.

No one has really learned to live until he has learned to get out of each moment all that it contains irrespective of past or future.

There are very many people who are not happy unless they have some special pleasure to look forward to. They eternally crave the stimulus of anticipation. In the spring they throw their whole hearts into planning and longing for the summer vacation, and fret at the days and weeks which separate them from that event. When the summer vacation is past they are quite at a loss what to live for until the visit of a friend looms upon the horison and they begin counting the days to that.

These people are forever straining so hard to reach and climb the heights of particular pleasures that they do not realize how beautiful are the valleys of daily living through which they are hurrying so obviously.

Now, please do not think that I would disparage the joys of anticipation. Far from it. I know too well that this power of pre-tasting our pleasures in more unalloyed though less poignant form, is one of the most precious privileges God has given man, and one of the most wonderful differences between us and our four-footed brethren.

But when we depend upon anticipation to the extent of wishing away some of these all too swiftly passing moments of ours, I think we are in a rather unhealthy state of mind.

Get all the healthy pleasure you can out of anticipation, but, to paraphrase Franklin a bit:

"If you love life, do not wish away time, for that is the stuff life is made of."

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE IN ST. JOHN'S CHURCH

Rite of Confirmation Was Administered by His Lordship Bishop Reeve to a Large Number of Candidates---A Splendid Sermon Preached in Connection With Event.

St. John's church was last night the scene of a very impressive ceremony, when the Right Rev. W. Day Reeve, Assistant Bishop of Toronto, confirmed about twenty-five people of both sexes. A large number were present to witness the ceremony.

His Lordship spoke very impressively and very eloquently, taking as an appropriate motto, "Stir up the spirit of the Lord, which is within you." "It is evident from the context," said His Lordship, "that that was the occasion St. Paul referred to, that he himself laid hands upon Timothy. There was danger of Timothy shrinking from what his Christianity might call for—the sufferins for the sake of his religion. "Be not thou ashamed of me." There is always that danger, especially with young Christians, of being ashamed for the name they bear, and in order to strengthen them, the apostle says, "Stir up the gift of God that is within you" What is the gift? The first account given us says: "Seeing the Holy Ghost was given from the hands of the apostles, a certain man offered them money. Peter told him his money was no use, that his heart was not with them."

Then speaking to those who had previously been confirmed, His Lordship said: "If you came with right spirit for the gift, there can be no doubt that you received it. But, if you smothered it afterward, you have checked His influence, and smothered His power, simply because you did not stir up the gift that was within you. You should never be ashamed of standing forth boldly in the cause of Christ. How is the gift to be stirred up? By prayer. That which we can use no matter where we are, at the office, in the fields, at the work bench or any place. Prayer is the simplest form of speech. Pray, if only the simplest form, 'God help me.' If you can pray, and are capable of saying a properly worded prayer God would not accept any other, but he will bend his ear to listen to the simplest prayer. But you must make use of the gift that is within you as a young man makes use of his muscles. You may not have time every day to read a whole chapter of the Bible. But never let a day go past, without reading some of His holy word, it it is only a single verse. Think it over and feast upon it. There will also be some church work to do, and you should assist, and be active.

Do something for God, so that Satan will get no hold upon you. I hope you will think of God more and more for his gift, every day. You cannot tell how great a blessing it is to you, and you cannot tell how great a blessing you may be to others."

MORE PETERBOROUGH FARMERS WARMLY PRAISE ALFALFA

Valuable Information Brought Out at a Meeting of Central Smith Farmers' Club---Those Who Have Tried the Crop are Not Backward in Saying a Good Word For It.

How about the prosperity of our Peterborough county farmers? Are they as prosperous as they should be? A local farmer who called on an editor of Farm and Dairy on Saturday last, said there was not much money in farming. His was a grave case. Last year his oats yielded 20 bushels to the acre and these are selling on the local market at 30 cents a bushel. Not much money in that to be sure! Unless he does better on other crops that man will soon have to quit the farming business. How would it be if he would try alfalfa?

The alfalfa crop, as has been shown in these columns recently, is thoroughly adapted to Peterborough county soils. It yields abundantly and it has possibilities of vastly increasing the prosperity of our local farmers if they will but grow it and grow it abundantly. Scores and scores of Peterborough county farmers will this year sow alfalfa for the first time—thanks to the organized campaign that has been conducted here in this county [illegible] to this great crop.

More valuable information in regard to alfalfa locally was brought out last week at a special alfalfa meeting of the Central Smith Farmers' Club. After listening to what Mr. G. F. Marsh and Mr. Chas. C. Nixon, of Peterborough, had to say about alfalfa in their addresses, several of the club members gave their experience with alfalfa. Mr. Will Scott, son of Mr. R. Scott, of the 5th line of Smith, told how they had fed their horses on alfalfa hay last fall and worked them for over a month on alfalfa hay alone, without grain. The horses worked well and while they did not get fat, they maintained their condition on the alfalfa alone.

Feeds Alfalfa to Horses.

Speaking of how to feed alfalfa to horses, Mr. Scott said: "When feeding alfalfa to horses we need to be careful not to feed too much. We would not think of filling a horse's manger with bran; why should we do it with alfalfa, which is nearly as rich as bran." Mr. Scott told of a neighbour, Mr. P. Westlake, who had an acre of alfalfa last year and on one occasion after feeding his horses oats, he placed some alfalfa hay in their mangers. The horses left off eating the oats for the alfalfa hay.

Mr. Alex. McGregor of Central Smith, has had a considerable experience with alfalfa, and in regard to it he said: "Alfalfa hay will give results as good as June grass. I have a considerable acreage seeded to alfalfa, and I intend to sow more this spring. When I have alfalfa hay, corn ensilage and a few roots I want nothing better for my cows and I can get along nicely and secure large fields of milk without feeding grain or chop when I have these three feeds.

Will Have Large Acreage

Mr. J. K. Moore, when called on for his experience with alfalfa, stated that they already had 19 acres of it and that they were going to sow ten acres more to alfalfa this spring. He stated that alfalfa was great feed and they wished they had more of it. His son, Mr. Charles Moore, took one of their horses that had been stalled up in the legs and they had cleared it out without giving it a ball. They simply fed the horse alfalfa hay. They had found alfalfa hay to be good for the horses, splendid for the cattle and also that it was relished by their pigs. A pen of weanling pigs, Mr. Moore said, would eat a large handful of alfalfa at each feeding.

Our farmers, who will sow alfalfa seed according to the most approved practice, are practically certain of a good stand. They are equally certain of a yield of at least three tons of alfalfa hay per acre. They are quite certain of securing at least four tons, and in a good season and on favourable soil, they ought to secure five tons and it may be more per acre. Alfalfa hay being approximately as good as bran, bran selling as it does for $22 a ton, every Peterborough farmer who is alive to his possibilities of making his farm return more money, will grow alfalfa this year.

A Balanced Ration.

Anson Groh, the prize-winning farmer of Waterloo county, who was through this section on Institute work this past winter, writes in Farm and Dairy this week that it is folly for a farmer to grow grain to balance rations when alfalfa furnishes a balanced ration with less work and less expense. "Alfalfa," says Mr. Groh, "draws that most expensive of fertilizers, nitrogen, from the air. From away down in the sub-soil, where the roots of ordinary crops never reach, it brings to the surface a supply of potash and phosphoric acid. And Alfalfa kills weeds. It is cut so often during the summer that no weeds ever get a chance to flower."

Our readers are again reminded of the special Alfalfa competition, which has been arranged for the benefit of the farmers of this county. Those who sow alfalfa and enter the competition may have the advantage, without cost to them, of practical instruction in regard to the cultivation and methods of seeding and handling the crop. All intending alfalfa growers should communicate with the Secretary of the Alfalfa Competition, care of Farm and Dairy, Peterborough, Ont.

Winter's Gone Again

Easter is Here

One of the hardest, longest winter's we have seen in many a year has spent it's fury and is now numbered with the by-gones—Spring is here—the absence of sleigh bells—the rattle of wheels—the chug chug of the motor cars. Everything sounds and looks like the new season. It all fortells of sultry summer and lighter wardrobes.

Let us whisper into the young mans' ear and the ear of the older man of more appropriate toggery suggestions.

Men's Suits

The Semi-ready Suit needs no longer detailed introduction, you all know it by it's past reputation—a good one—and the present exalted position it takes in the clothing world is a warrant of it's superiority. We handle all the most correct styles in cut and cloth; every little detail, is attended to, even the "Bartell Patent Pocket" in the coat; all types and sizes in a splendid range of prices from $15 up.

Men's Coats

It looks rather out of place to see a man with a heavy winter coat on now—feels out of season to him too—moreover it is too cold to discard it unless the spring light weight coat suit or suede. Moderate priced coats in light weight tweeds, in greys etc, black cheviots etc, all priced very modestly.

Men's Shoes

The American is a discriminating individual in his footwear; the Canadian is not far behind. Therefore the man who buys American Shoes can depend on getting what is fashionably known as correct. We have a very fine stock of "Just Wright" Shoes for men as well as other dependable makes. Prices are distinctly in keeping with the values.

Men's Toggery

Easter Toggery consisting of the finest grades of neckwear, fancy vests, shirts and hosiery is here in an abundance, for the selecting of all who know good things. Every line is as correct as it is possible to make. Prices are right. Don't fail to see our exclusive showing of gloves, in Dents' and Perrins' makes.

Presentation Was Made To Bank Manager

The Lakefield News says: When the news gradually spread over the village, at the end of last week, that Mr J. M. Duck, who for the past two and a half years has been manager of the Traders' Bank in Lakefield, had been, because of his marked success here, transferred to Collingwood, it caused a feeling of mingled regret and pleasure to all who have had dealings with him. As a citizen and as a bank manager, by his urbanity and faithful attention to business, Mr. Duck has earned the good will and respect of all who have come in contact with him; and the rumour of his removal was therefore heard with regrets. But, when it became known that the change was an undoubted promotion for him, with increased salary and widened opportunities, the feeling changed to one of pleasure. All were glad that faithful service had been duly rewarded. As the transfer was to be made immediately, there was no time to get up a demonstration in keeping with his worth, so our leading citizens organized an impromptu presentation. The affair was held on Monday last. As many of our business men as could leave work assembled in the parlours of the Lakefield house at one o'clock p.m. Dr. J. R. Fraser was chosen chairman, and by his tact made everything pass off pleasantly. Mr. W. H. Casement read the address and Mr. L. J. Labelle made the presentation. After the reading of the address and presentation, Mr. Duck made an appropriate and feeling reply. Several speeches were made, all extolling the worth of Mr. Duck, and expressing regrets at his departure and best wishes for his future success.

London's Dance Record Will Be Broken In May

Special to The Examiner:

LONDON, April 12.—King George and Queen Mary have made it perfectly plain that they cannot accept any invitations to private balls, with the exception of those to be given by the Duchess of Devonshire on Derby night, and by the Countess of Derby after the gala performance at His Majesty's Theatre.

The month of May, however, promises to be a record breaker, so far as dancing is concerned. With the exception of the Saturdays, every night in the month has been "booked" by some prominent hostess. On most evenings two or three dances are taking place, and on one night there will be six.

The important hostesses include the Duchess of Portland, the Duchess of Willington, the Duchess of Westminster, Lady Bramley, Countess Pappenheim, Lady Fitzwilliam, and Lady Allendale. During Coronation week the Duchess of Sutherland will give a ball at Stafford House in honour of the German Crown Prince and Princess, and it is believed that the German Ambassador will follow suit.

DEMOCRATS OVERWHELMINGLY IN FAVOUR OF THE PACT

Examiner Special.

WASHINGTON, APRIL 12. — The fact that the Democratic Congress last night adopted reciprocity and free trade on necessaries is talked of here this morning as an indication that the Canadian reciprocity treaty will surely pass Congress, although there may be some delay in the Senate. It is plain that the Democratic sentiment is overwhelmingly in favour of the pact.

Remembered On Occasion Of Departure From City

Mrs. George Curtis, 690 Aylmer street, very pleasantly entertained at her residence last night, the members of Mrs. James Kendry's class in the George street Methodist church Sunday school. A daintily served tea was the pleasant preliminary to the kind remembrance of a departing member of the class, Mrs. J. E. Kelly, who is leaving the city to take residence in Oshawa. On behalf of the class, Mrs. Kendry in a neat little address presented Mrs. Kelly with a silver berry spoon and fountain pepper casters. Mr. S. R. Armstrong superintendent of the school, replied for Mrs. Kelly, very cordially thanking Mrs. Kendry and the class for their kind presentation, which would be a tangible tie of remembrance, serving to recall the delightful associations she had enjoyed with the class.

Presentation Was Made To Mrs. (Dr.) Langfeldt

A large number of members of St. Luke's Girls' Auxiliary met last night at the residence of the President, Mrs. W. Lang, 492 Mark St. the occasion being a social evening spent with Mrs. Langfeldt, the retiring President. Before the refreshments were passed Miss Isabel Hay read the following address, which was accompanied by a gold signet ring:

Dear Mrs. Langfeldt,—We, the members of St. Luke's Girls' Auxiliary, wish to express our sincere regret that the time has arrived when we are to be deprived of your connection with our Society, except as an Honourary member. As our President during the last three and one-half years, we have enjoyed your kind service and co-operation. As our friend we have learned to love you. By your gentle disposition, the most diffident have gone to you with their troubles and anxieties and have found in you a true friend. As a slight mark of our love and esteem, we ask you to accept this small remembrance and most sincerely wish you good health and happiness in your new home.

Peterborough, Ont., April 11, 1911

Mrs. Langfeldt thanked them heartily for their kind token of their friendship and assured them of the great pleasure it has always been to her to have been associated with them.

GOOD-BYE TO BEAUTY

It is good bye to beauty when kidney derangements set in. The skin becomes hard and dry and the form wastes away and becomes emaciated. One cannot be too watchful and the safest way is to keep the kidneys as well as the liver and bowels healthy and active by the use of Dr Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills. This ensures pure blood and a healthy digestive system.

MARGARET ANGLIN TO COME TO PETERBORO'

Not for some years have Canadian playgoers had the opportunity of witnessing the art of Margaret Anglin who is perhaps one of America's most distinguished actresses of whose success Canada may be justly proud. In the winter of 1903 she last visited us and appeared in a delightful little comedy entitled "Cynthia" at the head of her own company. Since that time her progress and advancement have been most marked. She has achieved fame and distinction not only in the United States, but also in far off Australia, where she played for a season a couple of years ago. To-day she is acknowledged to be pre-eminent in her profession and the gratifying news of her return to Canada after so long an absence is very welcome.

Her managers, Messrs. Liebler & Co. have arranged a short tour for her in Lower Canada before she closes her season and departs for her vacation in Europe. Among the cities that she will visit in her tournee are Ottawa, Kingston, Peterborough, Hamilton, Toronto, London, Belleville, Brantford, Galt and St. Thomas.

The play selected is "Green Stockings," a comedy written by A. E. W. Mason the celebrated English writer and George Fleming, and in which Miss Anglin has won a great deal of success in the States during the past winter.

FARMERS' CLUB

Warsaw Organization Holds Its Regular Monthly Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Warsaw Farmers' Club was held in the Town Hall on Tuesday night with President E. Hawthorne in the chair.

The subject for discussion was "Cow Testing," and addresses on this subject were delivered by Mr. Andrew Crowe and by A. L. Andress, who has charge of the cow testing work in the Peterborough District, after which a lively discussion took place. A number of the members expressed the wish to take up the testing of their herds this year.

The meeting adjourned to meet on the 2nd Tuesday of May.

ANNUAL MEETING OF CHEESE AND BUTTER MAKERS' ASSOCIATION

A meeting of the Cheese and Butter Makers' Association was held in the City Council chamber this afternoon, and a number of interested citizens and outsiders attended. Amongst those of the officers of the Association that were present were the following: President J. P. Flood, of Ennismore; Vice President Earnest Stephen, of South Dumfier; Secretary Treasurer A. L. Andress, of Indian River; Assistant Secretary L. A. Southworth, of Omemee.

The cheesemakers present were as follows: Messrs. J. P. Flood, J. P. Andress, R. A. Peters, John Riddell, H. C. Duff, B.S.A., A. H. Campbell, S. Abbott, B. Bell, J. J. Hogan, E. Stephens, L. A. Southworth, G. Wright, G. Best, D. A. Oakley and A. L. Andress.

A number of prominent speakers were present and a great amount of valuable information was imparted to those present. Mr. Ward, in his speech, said that they had assembled principally to discuss matters regarding the improvements of the cheese industry. And in his opinion the best way to promote the industry and make it more profitable, would be to make it more profitable for the producer. He stated that last year was a great improvement over the year before. In 1910, there were about four million pounds more milk than the year before. A person should realize 6,000 pounds of milk per cow per year. Milk should be delivered at the factory when its temperature is 60 degrees or under, otherwise there is a loss. He told them that they should also try and improve the quality of the milk, and the result at the factory would be far better. Cheese men should try and have factories in proper shape by the time milk comes. Sanitation should also be observed. The law will be enforced stronger in that line than it used to. Flies should not be allowed to be in a factory. A factory with flies in it can not be considered in a sanitary condition.

Mr. Cameron, another speaker, said that he hoped that the cheese makers of this section would keep up the standard and the reputation that they bear at present. He pointed out the necessity of being careful with the curd. He said that there was always a circulation, and the vat should always be given time to cool off, and not have a different temperature at different places in the vat. He said that some men covered the vats, when curd is settling, and he thought that this was a good idea, as it prevented a certain amount of loss. When the whey is taken off that is when a great many makers lose. Of course few men can tell just how curd should be handled when whey is off, as it depends on the condition the whey is in.

Those present were favoured with many other able speeches, which it is regretted, there is not room for here. The next annual meeting will be held on the same date as this one.

BAZAAR TO BE HELD

A bazaar will be held on Saturday of this week in the store recently occupied by J. D. Tully and a liberal patronage is besought. The enterprise is being carried out by the members of the T. O. O. Club —"Thinking Of Others"—an organization of little girls who are working in the interests of the Children's Aid Society.

Through the generosity of Mr. Edwards the afternoon's proceeds at the Crystal will be given to the T. O. O. The citizens are urged to support the bazaar on Saturday.

SEASON OPENED

NEW YORK, N.Y., April 12.—The baseball season opened in eight cities of the major leagues to-day. In the National League the New York Giants met Philadelphia here and in the American League the Phillies met the New York Americans in Philadelphia. In both cities the prospects this morning looked like record opening crowds.

CITIZENS' SERVICE

The Citizens' service in Central Park on Good Friday afternoon, at 3 o'clock under the auspices of the Ministerial Association promises to be of great interest and profit, and it is hoped that the gathering will be a specially large one. All the clergy of the city are expected to be present, and take part in the service. The singing will be accompanied by the Salvation Army Band, which has very kindly consented to be present and assist in the programme.

THANKOFFERING

The anual Easter Thankoffering service in connection with the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the George Street Methodist Church was held yesterday afternoon and was an enjoyable and interesting session. The President, Mrs. Jas. Kenley, occupied the chair. A feature of the meeting was an admirable address upon Mission work by Mrs. H. J. Keith. The thank-offering amounted to over $93, with a number of the envelopes not yet returned.

FEW MORE CHANGES

Mr. Fielding Replies to a Question From Mr. Borden—Tariff Will Not be Changed at Present.

NO FURTHER PREFFRENCE

Ottawa, April 13.—The feature of the sitting of the Commons yesterday was the announcement by Mr. Fielding, in reply to R. L. Borden, that if there are any changes in the customs tariff, they will be small, and that the changes will not include an increase in the British preference up to 50 per cent.

This statement regarding the preference is regarded as qualified, but the general opinion is that there will be no change in the preference this session at least. He also said that the Government could not admit agricultural implements free.

The reciprocity debate was continued by J. A. Sexsmith, Conservative, of East Peterboro, who opposed the agreement as a farmer. He said it would be inimical to the interests of the farmers of Canada. The House adjourned until next Wednesday.

On the House being moved into committee of ways and means, R. L. Borden asked for a definite statement from the Government regarding the British fiscal preference.

Mr. Borden quoted Mr. Fielding's statement in the House to the effect that if the reciprocity agreement was confirmed "it would probably necessitate some readjustment of the rates in our tariff laws generally, with a view to the maintenance of the preference at whatever rate we may see fit to make." He also referred to the telegram sent by Mr. Fielding to Lord Strathcona, in which he had said that "in every case Great Britain will still have the same rate of a lower one."

He asked, therefore, for a definite pronouncement as to whether it was the intention to increase the British preference and to what extent. Also, whether, in view of the reciprocity agreement, it was the intention of the Government to introduce any tariff changes this session, and especially any tariff change affecting the preference.

Mr. Fielding said the intimation of Mr. Borden that he was not obliged to make any statement of policy would be interesting to those who believed that those who criticized should have an alternative policy.

"It has been intimated by many opponents of this agreement," said the Minister of Finance, "that on making it the Government had taken a step which would prevent them from increasing the British preference. It was indicated, especially perhaps in England, that an offer of imperial preference was likely to be made to us and that this agreement would prevent us from accepting it. Consequently I have from time to time denied that there is anything in this agreement to prevent us from increasing the preference if we desire to do it. It was in that sense that I sent the telegram to Lord Strathcona.

"I do not agree," continued Mr. Fielding, "that changes were foreshadowed in that telegram. At the time I introduced the agreement I said that it might be necessary to make some changes. I repeat that statement to-day. But let me say at once that, if such changes are made, they will be in small matters, and they will not include an increase in the preference to 50 per cent. The farmers have asked for an increase in the preference and we are going to tell them frankly that we cannot make that change, that the manufacturers of Canada cannot be carried on if that change is made. We are going to say to them that by bringing in this agreement we are meeting their demands to a large extent, and we are going to ask them not to press that matter, because it would be a disturbing influence, while reciprocity will have no disturbing influence, but will work for the general advantage of Canada."

Provincial Appointments.

Toronto, April 13.—Sir James Whitney yesterday afternoon announced that the following appointments had been made by the Ontario Government:

James H. Metcalfe, Kingston, formerly a member of the Ontario Legislature, to be fish and game warden.

Lt.-Col. Belcher, Southampton, to a position in the office of the Registrar-General.

The Government has also decided to locate the additional agricultural department representatives at Newmarket for the County of York; Orangeville, for the County of Dufferin; Dutton, for the County of Elgin, and one in the County of Grey.

"CONFESSION" IS NOT PRESENTED IN THE GODERICH MURDER CASE

Counsel for the Prisoner Cross Examines Doctor Who Made The Autopsy to Know if Murder Might be Act of Insane Man.

AN INSANITY DEFENCE

Goderich, April 13.—Edward Jardine is now fighting for his life, accused of the murder of young Lizzie Anderson, whose body, nearly nude, the marks of a blow on the forehead, and with the throat cut, was found in the basement of a vacant house by her father and others four days after she disappeared after having attended the last fall fair.

G. T. Blackstock, K.C., of Toronto, is crown prosecutor, and the prisoner's counsel is L. T. Dancey of Goderich. The prisoner pleaded "not guilty."

Mr. Blackstock dwelt on the alleged expressed determination of the girl to go home from the fair with the prisoner, and told of Jardine's statement to County Crown Attorney Seager that the last time he had seen Lizzie Anderson she was in the company of a stranger.

"The crown will show you," said Mr. Blackstock, "that all efforts to find this stranger have failed, and we will try to prove that the mention of this stranger was a ruse or trick for diverting suspicion from himself."

In reference to Jardine's alleged confession, Mr. Blackstock said he would not refer to the contents of certain statements the prisoner had made because he understood some objections might be made by the prisoner's counsel to their admission.

Mary Anderson, mother of the dead girl, said that her daughter had always borne a good character, and Wesley Anderson, her father, told of going three times to the Jardine home during the night when he was searching for his daughter.

The cross-examination in the afternoon of Dr. Garrow, who made the post mortem, showed the probable line of defence, insanity.

"Would you say these blows were made by a sane or insane man?"

"Oh, I couldn't tell, I should suppose any man who would commit such an act would be insane at the time."

"Would you say that a sexual pervert would not know what he was doing in the commission of such a crime?"

"Not for a moment, though he might clear up immediately after."

Mr. Blackstock: "This insanity would not be operating while he was decoying a girl into a lonely place or making the arrangement?"

"No."

Mr. Dancey: "At the time he was committing the deed would he understand the quality of his act?"

"Witness: "Not for the moment."

Mr. Blackstock: "This frenzy or passion does not differ from any other, except in its cause."

"No."

The succeeding witnesses told of seeing Miss Anderson and Jardine at the fair grounds and described their appearance with a very degree of detail. These were Fred. Glidden of Colborne, Frank Glasser of Dunlop Miss Eliza Carrick of Goderich and Beryl Irwin and Bella McLeod, girl companions.

Chief Accountant Accused.

Paris, April 13.—Franz Hamon, chief of the accounting department of the Foreign Office, was arrested yesterday, charged with serious irregularities in the accounts of his department and with the embezzlement of funds.

Silk Firms Merge.

Montreal, April 13.—Three silk companies are merged in the new company, Belding Paul & Corticelli Silk Co., with a capital of $1,600,000. The third company is the Cascades.

BURGLAR IS DISCOVERED IN A MONTREAL HOTEL

Daring Thug Gains an Entrance To a Room in The Windsor Hotel Makes a Hasty Exit.

HAD A REVOLVER

Montreal, April 13.—A burglar gained entrance to a room of the Windsor Hotel early yesterday. The window was partly open, and it is presumed the burglar got in from the fire escape.

When the occupant of the room, a Toronto man, was awakened by noise made by the intruder, he silently crawled out of bed and cautiously made his way to the electric switch. When the room was flooded with light he spied a young man, about 25 years of age, holding a revolver in his hand. The guest made as if to throw up his hands, but succeeded in coming closer to the burglar, without the latter's suspicions being aroused. He then made a dive for him and succeeded in bringing him to the floor.

In the wrestling and scuffling that ensued the revolver was discharged, but without any effect.

The occupant of the room succeeded in getting hold of the gun, and took it away from the burglar. When the man realized that his weapon had been taken away from him, he made a supreme effort and managed to break away from the embrace of his intended victim.

He made a rush for the window, but just as he was halfway through the guest fired at him and must have succeeded in hitting him, as the man let out a yelp and slid down the fire escape. In his hurried exit he left his cap behind him as well as his revolver.

Three detectives are now working on the case. They succeeded in tracing the man as far west as Mountain street by the trail of blood.

Woman Lectured Magistrate.

Ottawa, April 13.—Mrs. W. Edgar, a prominent temperance worker, yesterday strongly objected when Magistrate O'Keefe dismissed a case in which an hotel proprietor was charged with selling liquor to a drunken man.

"That is not right," she said to the magistrate. "You should do right because it is right."

The court retorted that she "keep still, as the case was over." Her reply was to the effect that "she would not, and intended to have her say."

Jury Disagreed.

Barrie, April 13.—A disagreement on two of three counts in the indictment charging Edward Chapman of Allandale with indecent assault on a girl under 14 years of age, brought about the dismissal of the jury after nearly five hours' deliberation. All stood for acquittal on the first count, and eight for acquittal and four for conviction on the other two counts. The case will come up again at the fall hearing.

Increased Passenger Rates.

Boston, April 13.—Announcement was made yesterday on an increase—generally of one dollar—in the passenger rates on all transportation lines operating between the Maritime Provinces and New England, to go into effect May 1 next. This will affect three railway companies, and three lines of steamers, including the C.P.R. and the Dominion Atlantic.

BRIEFS FROM THE WIRES.

The reciprocity bill may reach the Senate within a week.

A cotton clearing house has been established in New York.

Wm. Wagner, an eight-year-old Preston boy, was killed by a street car.

A jury found the city of Toronto responsible for the death of John Newman.

Eli Hebert, a retired farmer of Tecumseh, has been missing for over two weeks.

The Provincial Government may build a custodial institution for the care of the insane.

Lennox farmers, meeting at Tamworth, passed a unanimous resolution in favor of reciprocity.

Aviator Pierre Prier made the trip from London to France, 290 miles, in a monoplane without a stop.

The Government will not pay for dredging done without authority by the Loggie Co. at Bathurst, N.B.

Ex-Ald. T. A. Lytle of Toronto died suddenly. He was widely known as a manufacturer of vinegar and sauces.

A true bill was brought in at the Goderich assizes against George Vanstone for the murder of his young son.

June 3, the birthday of His Majesty King George, and June 22, Coronation Day, will be proclaimed as statutory legal holidays in Canada.

Sir Alan Aylesworth announced in the Commons that he may reconsider his determination to retire from public life, in view of the battle for reciprocity.

The new gates on the Trent Canal locks at Hastings have been installed, completing another link in the canal. The work on the new dam here is now being commenced.

Sir Joseph Ward, speaking in Ottawa yesterday, made a strong plea for the completion of the all-red cable and uttered a fervent wish for a closer steamship connection between New Zealand and Canada.

Electric Merger in London.

London, April 13.—Malcolm J. Kent, a director of the London Electric Co., yesterday afternoon gave the first definite statement regarding a merger which may mean a change of management for the London Street Railway Co.

Mr. Kent stated that an option has been given on the street railway. This has not been taken up as yet, but the deal, he said, likely will be closed one way or the other within a week.

Mr. Kent did not feel himself in a position to state definitely the purpose of the proposed change. But he gave this general idea.

The movement here is but one movement of many which aim to bring street railways and radials of a number of places under one management.

When this is done the districts between here and Niagara which are not already served by radials will have such lines constructed. These and the street railways brought in will get their power from the main company.

The merger, it is believed, is but the widening of the movement which started in Toronto during the past few days. It will give the power companies, behind which are Mackenzie and Mann, and a number of New York capitalists, a market for their power, and will enable the companies to serve the people along the transmission lines which will be erected.

MATTHEWS ON TRIAL

Important Evidence is Given by The Crown Witnesses in Colborne Case—The Noises Heard.

MATTHEW'S APPEARANCE

Cobourg, April 13.—Lorena Macdonald, hostler at the Hotel Bristol, was an important witness for the crown at yesterday's sessions of the Matthews' murder trial. An effort was made to get him to imitate the sounds which he alleged he heard after retiring to his room on the evening of Dec. 17. His answer was that it was a sound of some one in distress, a whining or choking sound. He had known Johanna Brimacombe ever since she was born. "He did not think it was Joey," when he heard the cries. It was a woman's voice.

Macdonald said he saw Matthews in the kitchen with Miss Brimacombe that night. Matthews was standing by the stairs and the girl was about two feet from him. Witness came from the bar into the kitchen. Soon afterwards he went to his room on the third floor, shut the door and bolted it. After he was in bed he heard whining or groaning. He got up, opened the door and stuck his head out to listen. Cross-examined by the crown he fixed the time as twelve minutes after eight when he went to his room. The sounds were heard a very few minutes after. Joey and Matthews were both in the hall when he passed upstairs to bed.

He saw nothing between Matthews and the girl. The latter had his overcoat on. He did not know whether the prisoner had his hat on or not. The next morning he (the witness) was in the kitchen, waiting for Joey to come in. Teasdale told him she was dead. He went up with Teasdale to the room. No one else was there. No one had been in the room that morning before he and Teasdale were up.

Witness said he thought the noise he heard was Teasdale and his wife. "I did not think it possible that Joey was making the noise," said Macdonald. In answer to a question witness said that Joey was in the kitchen when he came in from the barn. Mrs. Teasdale had said there was vomit on the floor. Questioned as to the girl's general health, the witness said he never knew her to be sick.

Joseph McMurray of Haldimand said he was at the Bristol Hotel on Saturday, Dec. 17. Between 7 and 8 o'clock he went into a strange room and from there into the hallway. Archer Brown was there and Wilson Murphy came in. Witness went down to the back of the hall and got two drinks. He stood in the hallway at the foot of the stairs. Edward Ley was also in the hall. Witness heard a noise upstairs that attracted attention. It was a peculiar noise, he would call it a scream, said witness.

Witness first saw Matthews when he was halfway down stairs. His vest was unbuttoned, his coat unbuttoned and his watch hanging out. There was a spot on the left lapel of the prisoner's coat. Witness thought he had had too much.

Robert Rogers, who was employed at the hotel, said he saw Miss Brimacombe and Matthews in the dining-room after one o'clock on the day of the murder. He saw Matthews make some sort of sign. The last he saw of Matthews was after 8 p.m. Witness heard no disturbance during the night.

John Calnan, farmer, deposed that he was at the Bristol Hotel on Dec. 17. He saw Edward Lee in the hall. He saw McMurray in the hall, and also saw Smith and Murphy. The latter drew his attention to a noise. Haynes had gone into his tea before this. Witness thought the noise was like a parrot. It kept up for five minutes or more and sounded as if something was wrong, as if some person was in trouble.

Dwight MacDonald, when summoned, came in drunk and was committed to a cell until 9 o'clock this morning.

Seek an Injunction.

Niagara Falls, Ont., April 13.—O. E. Deers and City Solicitor F. A. McMurray have been served on behalf of former Mayor R. P. Slater, with papers to prevent the seating of Wm. R. Tuttle, a former newspaper man, as industrial commissioner. The injunction is based on the contention that Ald. Homan, who voted for Tuttle, is not legally entitled to sit in the City Council by reason of his alleged interest in the contracting firm which is building the new fire hall.

Tuttle was chosen industrial commissioner on April 3 over Slater, who wanted to do the work on commission. There being a tie, the deciding vote was with Mayor Dores, who cast it for Tuttle. The salary allowed for the remainder of the year was $3,000.

Rand Gold Output.

London, April 13.—The output of gold at the Rand in March was 676,065 fine ounces, valued at £2,871,760. In February the production amounted to 610,886 fine ounces and in March last year it was 607,119 fine ounces.

Prominent Jesuit Dead.

Washington, D.C., April 13.—Father James A. Doonan, one time president of Georgetown University and one of the best known Jesuit priests in this country, died yesterday, aged 68.

Optical Institute Creed

We believe in the glasses we are supplying that in quality, style and accuracy, they are unsurpassed. We believe that honest glasses can be supplied to honest people by honest methods. We believe in working not writing, laughing not weeping, in boosting not knocking, in, and the pleasure of the practice of Optometry. We believe we are getting the Optical Practice that we are after and that there is plenty to get for men who are ready. We believe in to-day, & the work we are doing, in to-morrow and the work we hope to do, and in the rewards of both.

We believe in courtesy, in kindness, in generosity, in good cheer, and in honest competition. We believe this in an order for a pair of glasses ready for every man who is ready to take it. We believe we are ready, right now, & we are taking it

Major-Gen. Fred. Wilson Dead.

Montreal, April 13.—The death occurred yesterday of one of Canada's most distinguished and experienced soldiers, in the person of Major-Gen. Frederick Wilson. Although Gen. Wilson had been in feeble health for a very long time it was only during the previous few weeks that he was confined to his house.

The deceased had practically devoted his life to military affairs, and had fought for the Empire in two campaigns, the Gordon relief expedition to the Soudan and the Northwest rebellion in 1885-86.

He was born in Kingston in 1842. After education at Trinity College School and Trinity College, Toronto, when 19 years of age he joined the 47th battalion as an ensign. The following year, 1872, he was appointed second lieutenant in the Kingston Field Battery and in 1874 was promoted lieutenant in "A" Battery. In 1877 he was promoted to captain and won his majority in 1883. In 1884 he was transferred to the imperial army and was sent to Egypt, where he served under Viscount Wolseley in the expedition sent out for the relief of Gen. Gordon in Khartoum. He was then recalled to Canada on the outbreak of the Northwest rebellion, and while in England on his return was presented to Queen Victoria, and presented with the Egyptian war medal and clasps, and also with the khedive's star.

Officers Are Chosen.

Ottawa, April 13.—Sir Fred. Borden announced in the House of Commons Tuesday that the names of officers who would proceed with the Canadian military contingent to the coronation would be submitted to the Cabinet-in-council yesterday, and that the announcement of the names would be made thereafter. The Ministers sat in council yesterday as arranged and the list of officers was sent to the Privy Council officers addressed by the Minister of Militia. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and other Ministers sat until they were tired, but the Minister came not. The order, therefore, did not pass, and no announcement could be made. It is said that he had forgotten, and the statement is made at his home last evening that he left yesterday for Canning, N.S. Four hundred and sixty-two officers in various parts of Canada are anxiously waiting to know if they have been selected. These were only 48 officers to go; yet they are to leave on June 9, and have hardly time now to get their uniforms. Sir Frederick is expected back next Tuesday.

C.P.R. Blamed for Employe's Death.

Woodstock, April 13.—Information has been laid by the crown against the C.P.R. for neglecting to protect their yards at Thamesford, thereby causing the death of Brakeman R. A. Lane in an accident on Jan. 30. One freight ran into another stationary freight and set it on fire.

FAR VISION
NEAR VISION
Without Lines in the Lens

The only near-and-far glasses that can be universally worn without discomfort and without suggestiveness of "old" appearance. The "near" and the "far" lenses are one solid glass. No "lines," no cement—and perfect sight with the discomfort and unsightliness left out. They cost more than the ordinary 'cement bifocals' but if you are particular of comfort and appearance they are worth the difference. We have scores of people in this city using these Kryptoks who are highly pleased with them.

HASTINGS NEWS ITEMS

Special to The Examiner

HASTINGS, APRIL 12.—A quiet wedding was celebrated on Wednesday evening, the principals in the important event being Miss M. Clapper and Mr. Brownell, both of Hastings. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Burns in the presence of only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties. Mr. and Mrs. Brownell left in the afternoon for a short honeymoon trip, followed by the best wishes of their many friends.

The many friends of Mrs. Job Humphries, of Asphodel, learn with regret of her death, which took place in the hospital, Peterborough, on Wednesday, 5th, whither she had gone for an operation, in the hope of benefitting her physical condition, but all efforts proved fruitless, and death came as stated above. The sorrowing family have the sympathy of all in their sore bereavement. Mrs. Humphries was the mother of Mrs. J. Murray, town. Interment took place in the family burying ground at Westwood on Friday afternoon.

Rev. C. W. Elliot, of Oakwood, occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church at both services on Sunday in the interest of the educational work of the church and gave two excellent addresses.

We are pleased to see Mr. Brown around again, after being confined to his home for some time.

Rev. C. W. Barrett spent Sunday in Oakwood, as pulpit supply for Rev. Mr. Elliott.

Master Gordon Barrett spent the week end with his grandparents in Lindsay.

Mr. B. McConnell has been spending a few days at the home of her sister, Mrs. Alfred Metcalfe.

Mr. and Miss Dixon, of Westwood, were in town on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Beavis, Dartford, were guests of the former's sister, Mrs. J. Stevenson on Monday.

Some of the farmers in this vicinity are engaged in the sugar making industry and are marketing their produce in town, finding ready purchasers at the rate of $1.50 per gallon.

Miss Ethel Collins has become installed as clerk in the grocery business of Mr. R. Oakman, having commenced duties on Monday morning.

Friends of Mr. Harry Wilson, jr., of Sintaluta, but formerly of Hastings, regret to learn of his dangerous illness, following an attack of la grippe. A speedy recovery is hoped for.

Mr. Harry Scriver, of Keene, is spending a few days in town.

Mr. Black, of Campbellford, gave us a call on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Philips, of Percy, have been visiting the latter's parents Mr. and Mrs. Oakman.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Doxsee have moved into the house lately occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Beavis.

Mr. Albert Armstrong spent Sunday at his home in Havelock.

Mr. Brisbois spent Sunday at his home in Peterborough.

Fresh cases of mumps are still developing and very few families in town are escaping. It is hoped that the change of season may stop their ravages.

Mrs. Wm. Warner has been on the sick list for a few days during the past week.

Rev. D. A. Thompson attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Job. Humphries of Westwood on Friday last.

LANG, APRIL 12. — Mr. William Weir has commenced operations in his butter factory again.

Mr. Robert Shearer has moved to his farm.

BE WARNED BY HEADACHE

It Tells of Serious Derangements of the Liver and Kidneys

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS

You can stop a headache with powerful drugs. But it is not generally wise to do so.

A headache almost always warns you of derangements of the digestive system, the liver, kidneys or bowels.

Awaken the liver to healthful action by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and you not only free yourself of headache, but remove the cause which will soon lead to more dangerous results than headache.

Invigorate the action of the kidneys by this treatment and you take away the dangers of Bright's disease as well as free yourself of headache.

Pains are the result of poison in the system and whether you have headache, backache or aching limbs, you can be almost sure of relief and cure when you cleanse and regulate the vital organs by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

They are wonderfully prompt, as well as definite and thorough in action. You can depend upon them, no matter how long-standing or complicated your case, so long as the cause is the sluggish, torpid condition of the liver and kidneys.

If you don't feel like risking 25 cents for a box, write for a free sample. A trial will convince you of their merits. One pill a dose; 25 cents a box; all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

OPERATIONS AVOIDED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Bellerivor, Que.—"Without Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I would not be alive. For five months I had painful and irregular periods and inflammation of the uterus. I suffered like a martyr and thought often of death. I consulted two doctors who could do nothing for me. I went to a hospital, and the best doctors said I must submit to an operation, because I had a tumor. I went back home much discouraged. One of my cousins advised me to take your Compound, as it had cured her. I did so and soon commenced to feel better, and my appetite came back with the first bottle. Now I feel no pain and am cured. Your remedy is deserving of praise."—Mrs. EMMA CHATEL, Valleyfield, Bellerivor, Quebec.

Another Operation Avoided.

Poughkeepsie, N.Y.—I run a sewing machine in a large factory and got all run down. I had to give up work for I could not stand the pains in my back. The doctor said I needed an operation for womb trouble but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did more for me than the doctors did. I have gained five pounds. I hope that everyone who is suffering from female trouble, nervousness and backache will take the Compound. I owe my thanks to Mrs. Pinkham. She is the working girl's friend for health, and all women who suffer should write to her and take her advice.—Miss TILLIE PLENZIG, 2 Jay St., Poughkeepsie, N.Y.

Thirty years of unparalleled success confirms the power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to cure female diseases.

Mr. Ralph Watson has left for Buffalo where he has secured a situation.

We are glad to know that Miss Annie Bowie is able to be out again.

The young men of the village had a celebration one night last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Wood were in the village on Monday last.

Mr. James Henderson made a short call to the village on Monday last.

ECZEMA NOT A BLOOD DISEASE

Eczema is a disease of the skin and not of the blood. For this reason internal medicines have never been a success in curing eczema. Whatever the cause local application is necessary to heal the sores and restore the skin to a healthful, natural condition. For this reason Dr. Chase's Ointment has a world wide reputation as being without a rival for the cure of Eczema.

A FEW "DON'TS"

From Farm and Dairy.

Do not put too many chicks into one brooder.

Clean the brooders and brood coop often, keeping it dry and in a sanitary condition.

Don't overlook the fact that ventilation is necessary in the brooder. But it must not be supplied in the way of a draft on the chicks.

Regulate the heat in your brooder more by the action of the chicks than by the temperature of the brooder.

Have a regular time to attend to the incubator and brooders and the work will not be so easily forgotten.

The drinking water should be arranged in the brooding pens so the little chicks can not get into it with their feet.

By leaving off the oil cap to the incubator and brooder lamp you will never be troubled by the lamp blaze climbing.

Perfectly clean hands are necessary when turning the eggs. Don't fill the lamp and trim the wick first. Always go with clean hands, attending to turning the eggs first.

See that the lamp box of the brooder has plenty of fresh air, but not in the way of drafts, as they are liable to blow out the flame. A stuffy box without ventilation is liable to be a fire trap.

SENSATIONAL TRIAL

GENEVA, April 12.—A sensational trial has just been closed here with the sentencing of Elisa Baumgartner, of Berne, to eighteen months' imprisonment for robbing visitors in hotels. She was a member of an international gang of hotel thieves, at whose head was Albert Hornschuh, a German, who, afttr his arrest in Paris, was sentenced to seven and a half years in prison last autumn by the Court of Bozen, in the Austrian Tyrol.

It was stated at the trial that the gang committed between 80 and 100 robberies in the leading hotels of Switzerland, Austria, and on the Riviera, to the value of at least $600,000, before being arrested. The local police brought thirteen specific charges against Elisa Baumgartner.

She pleaded guilty to the charges and said she was an instrument of Hornschuh, whom she loved. The thefts covered a period of three years. It was Hornschuh's practise to climb up hotel water-spouts at great risk, let himself into vacant rooms, and lower the booty down to the Baumgartner woman.

The police at Berne and Bozen (Tyrol) have a large quantity of stolen jewels obtained from this and other gangs, which is still awaiting its rightful owners, and the value is stated to be at least $21,000,000. For a year no claims have been forthcoming.

WOULD VERY OFTEN FAINT AWAY.

Doctor Said That Sometimes He Would Never Come Out of One.

Many people may be unaware of having anything wrong with their heart till some little excitement, overwork, or confinement in an overheated or overcrowded room or public building makes them feel faint or dizzy.

If you neglect the warning the slight feeling of dizziness gives you, and fail to take treatment, there will be a gradual progression to something more serious.

There is no reason you should wait till your case becomes desperate before you avail yourself of a perfect cure by using Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

Mr. F. S. Chute, Wheatley, Ont. writes:—"It is with gratitude I tell how your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills benefited me. I was very weak and run down, and had headache, nearly every day and would very often faint away.

"In fact, my doctor said that sometime I would never come out of one of them. After taking three boxes of your pills I am glad to relate that it has been a number of years since I have had a fainting spell and scarcely have had a headache. Too much cannot be said in praise of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills for in me they have effected a perfect cure."

Price 50c. per box, or 3 for $1.25.

ALGOT LANGE.

NO shall say that the day of marvelous adventure and high emprise is past? Who shall say that all the earth has been reduced to the dead level of drab and commonplace existence? Who shall say that men no longer pit themselves as pioneers against the savagery of new lands?

Mr. Algot-Lange, who has recently returned from the regions of the Amason, brings a story of that wilderness that reads like a chronicle of the early explorers. He passed through dangers such as few have endured and lived to tell of and knew the trials that test body and soul to the last notch.

Mr. Lange was photographer of the Pathological Institute, Ward's Island, New York, when he accepted an offer to accompany Dr. Willard Morrison on an expedition to the forest regions in Peru, at the headwaters of the Amazon. The object was to investigate the rubber country, to explore and to obtain pictures of the section, the people and the game.

After doing his work he found himself so far in the interior that he resolved to press forward on his own account into the virgin jungle beyond. He accomplished his journey with the utmost difficulty and came out a wreck of himself. He is not yet nursed back to health, and he declares that no consideration in the gift of man could drag him back to that land of terror. The first half of his story is given here.

IT was the unknown that lured me, the vast, mysterious jungle of the Amazon country, never before penetrated by a white man, and holding in its heart none might say what strange secrets, what rich material for the naturalist, what undiscovered wonders and riches.

I was then living at Floresta, a rubber estate owned by Colonel da Silva, on the upper Ireconhy River, an affluent of the Javary. Far enough into the wilds 2,450 miles from the mouth of the Amazon, this might have appeared to the most adventurous, and indeed I have since come to that view myself. The few white men in the region, including my host, tried to dissuade me from attempting to go further into the interior.

I was warned repeatedly that I would never come through alive. I can see now how well based were these remonstrances, but at the time I regarded them lightly. Shortly before my start I received a communication from J. H. A. Meehe, manager of the Peruvian-Amazon Company in Manaos, in part as follows:

"Referring to our conversation of yesterday, I should like once again to impress on you the perilous nature of the voyage which you contemplate. * * * You will find yourself absolutely at the mercy of savages and cannibal Indians. * * * Finally I hope before disregarding this advice, which I offer in a perfectly friendly spirit, you will carefully consider the consequences which such a journey might produce, and, frankly speaking, I consider that your chance of bringing your project to a successful termination is nil."

A similar tone was taken by all who knew of my intentions. But my purpose was too firmly fixed. It was early in June, 1910, and the time had come for the annual expedition of the native rubber workers to locate new caoutchouc trees. The chief of the caoucheros, as the rubber hunters are called, heard of my determination and gave me an opportunity of accompanying him. This was too rare a chance to be put aside and I made my preparations accordingly.

On Monday morning the party assembled at the home of Colonel da Silva. There were six natives, including the chief, and all of us chose necessary supplies from the store room. Our staple articles of food were to be the dried flesh of the piracucu, a large fish of the Amazon, and farina, which has just about the consistency and flavor of dried sawdust. In addition we took sugar and coffee and several bottles of "pain-killer," of sufficient strength. Our hammocks, cooking utensils and ammunition completed the packs. I took with me a heavy camera, plates, chemicals, scales and weights, a magnifying glass and a rudimentary surgical outfit of histouric, forceps and hypodermic with drugs and bandages. The natives were armed with Winchesters of ancient vintage or still more ancient muzzle loaders and machetes, while I carried a 9mm. automatic pistol.

When we stood up to travel each man carried a pack weighing eighty-five pounds strapped to his shoulders, with his rifle in his left hand and a machete for clearing a path in his right. In this array we marched away from the plantation, while the natives about the place fired a farewell salute and the proprietor gave us godspeed.

After a short stage by canoe up the Ireconhy of two miles we landed and turned our faces inland.

Our way led now through the dense forest. For some little distance we traversed a region more or less familiar to the rubber hunters and we were able to follow paths, or estradas, cut by them in their journeys. Let no one suppose that a jungle path is the broad and easy one, nor yet straight. As I stumbled along the tortuous, uneven track in the sweltering mid-day heat, already wearied and galled by my pack, pestered with the evil little pium or sand flies, climbing the fallen trees that impeded us at every turn, I felt that I had already reached the height of discomfort. I could not know that during days that were to follow I was to look back upon that first march as a delightful and pleasurable jaunt.

L.A. SHAFER

"The banks were usually very high and the use of a bridge in the normal way frequently required the clear head and exact poise of a tight rope performer."

Five hours' traveling brought us to an open space, apparently a clearing, where the estrada stopped abruptly. I threw myself on the ground for a brief rest while the chief explained our position. He said that in the forest ahead of us we could no longer follow a path. He had made a way into it a year before, but the lush undergrowth was now restored and we would have to hew out every step. I wondered somewhat at this, for the clearing had every appearance of frequent use, being bare of trees and shrubs. But the explanation was entirely convincing when I found that some hundreds of vicious ants had found lodgment on me and were proceeding to explore for themselves. The clearing was nothing more than a huge ant nest.

When we resumed the march I had my first taste of real jungle travel. Ahead of us was a solid wall of vegetation, trackless, unbroken, a chevaux de frise to daunt the boldest. Apparently it was impenetrable. My men attacked it with their machetes, and slowly as we proceeded I marvelled that we were able to make any advance at all. The skill of these guides in cutting a way with the long knives remained a constant matter of admiration to me. Where another might have sought, and lost himself in seeking, a roundabout course, a native moved straight ahead, hewing and hacking, the play of his swift blade seeming to melt all obstacles before him. Some idea of the density of the growth may be gathered from the fact that if a man plunged aside from me he became instantly invisible, though he might be only a yard or so away.

In the late afternoon we reached a ruined hut or "tambo," erected two years before by my rubber hunters. It was no more than a roof on poles, but it was a welcome spot in the jungle, the more so that it stood beside a creek wherein we might refresh ourselves. For dinner we had boiled pirucu meat, farina soaked in water, and black coffee. Let me recommend for the jadest appetite two months of this diet. Old shoes may then be consumed with relish.

One of the natives sent out after fresh meat brought back a weird little animal resembling a fox. Rather doubtfully we decided to try it in a stew. Our doubts were confirmed.

Progress More Difficult.

The night was made interesting chiefly by ants. Our hammocks were swung in the tambo, but there are few creatures as persistent as an Amazonian ant when he means to come visiting. The intruders swarmed up the poles and down the rope and would not be denied. A wad of cotton smeared with vaseline and bandaged about the fastenings proved no impediment. Sleep was out of the question. Mosquitoes of more than Jersey virulence reinforced the ants. To complete the general cheerfulness the forest was alive with the little night or spider monkeys, who whispered about us in murmurously in the tree tops.

The second day's march brought us to the end of the stretch which the chief had previously penetrated and the tambo he had erected at that time. Our progress was made with increasing difficulty as we went on, the land becoming hilly and broken and the forest, if possible, closer grown. This stage of our journey, however, remains among the few pleasant memories of that terrific expedition through what I can but gastronomic glory in which it closed. At this tambo, No. 2, I was so fortunate as to bag a little deer, while Jerome, the handy man of the expedition, who had shot the fox-like animal the day before, brought in a mountain, a delicious bird of the size, appearance and flavor of the turkey. We feasted well that night. We were to cheer each other in the weeks to come with the empty recollections of that feast.

Guided by the sun, we now held a course due west. Our ultimate destination was a far region in which, from the reports of the wild natives of the woods, the chief hoped to find caoutchouc trees. We found the ground still hilly and cut with numerous deep, swift creeks. Bridges we provided by the same method that the cave man did, I suppose—felling a tree across the stream. The banks were usually very high and the use of a bridge in the normal way frequently required the clear head and exact poise of a tight rope performer. I found it safer, as did some of my followers, to hang from the levelled trunk by the hands and pull across in that manner.

Tambo No. 3 we constructed ourselves, as we did all others for the rest of the journey. A site was selected near a creek, that we might have a supply of fresh water. Trees and undergrowth were cleared away in a twenty-five foot square, one tree being left at each corner. A framework of saplings, bound together with strips of bark from the matamata tree, was raised for the roof, and across this were laid the gigantic leaves of the murumuru, twenty-five to thirty feet long. The hammocks were then slung beneath the shelter. After the evening meal we lay in our hammocks while the men told hunting stories or sang their monotonous, unmelodious tribal songs.

It must have been about midnight when I was awakened by a terrific roaring. The forest trembled with it, it seemed to pervade the quivering earth. Sitting up and staring fearfully into the darkness, I heard the crashing of trees and underbrush close upon us. My first thought was of a hurricane, but in the confusion of my senses, stunned by the impact of sound, I had few clear impressions. My companions were calling one to another, the noise was growing louder and more terrifying and suddenly the little world about me went to smash in one mad upheaval.

The roof of the tambo collapsed upon me, and at almost the same instant as I fell some huge body catapulted against me, hurling me sprawling into the brush. The noise was deafening, mingled with the agonized shrieks and yells of my men, but it passed swiftly in the direction of the creek.

Some one had now struck a light, and I picked myself up unhurt, to join the others, who had been tossed to the ground in the general catastrophe. The tambo was a wreck, and I could almost have believed in evil spirits of the jungle when Jerome came leaping into the circle of the fire. He laughed aloud to see us standing thus, with consternation on our faces, while each, still dazed, questioned the other dumbly. He it was who had followed it to the creek, whence even now we heard strange and fiendish sounds.

It was a jaguar, he told us, which had sprung upon the back of a large tapir as the animal was feeding in the woods near our tambo. In striking the beast had made good his hold, and, the tapir starting for water in the hope of throwing its enemy off, had taken the jaguar for a ride the nearest way straight through our shelter. The explanation of all the bother was simple enough, but we had been too thoroughly aroused to compose ourselves again and we took the march early.

On the fifth day after this we came upon a man of the woods, member of the Mangeromas, a little known tribe of sinister reputation through the Amazon country. He was an unusually fine figure of a savage, well built, beautifully proportioned and with flawless skin like polished bronze. His clothing was limited to a bark girdle and a head dress of feathers not unlike that worn by North American Indians. He was armed with bow and arrow and a blow-gun. While he was with us I saw him kill a monkey in a tree top with a poisoned dart from this curious weapon, and was the more careful to refrain from offending him in any way. To die by a blow gun struck me as a wholly inglorious end.

After the ninth day of wearisome journeying the chief found signs of the caoutchouc tree that indicated a rich district. It was accordingly decided that Tambo No. 9 should be our last. We were now, by our reckoning, some hundred and forty miles from Floresta and fully a hundred miles into the unknown. That night the temperature went down to 41 degrees Fahrenheit, a remarkable drop, undoubtedly due in part to the extreme density of the surrounding forest, where the sun never penetrated and where the swamps between the hills gave off damp exhalations.

It is remarkable to me now that we were slow to apprehend the actual form which the revenge of the jungle was to take. We had been wary of cannibal tribes, and they had not molested us. We had been fearful of disease, and though that was to come we had as yet received no warning. Meanwhile the real danger was even now upon us, drawing nearer, and already making itself sharply felt—I mean starvation. Our supplies were growing scant when we went into camp at tambo No. 9. Actual want could not long be postponed. And still we lingered, forgetful of the precarious position into which we had thrust ourselves, while the violated wilderness prepared to take payment of us.

Fever and Starvation.

I suppose our carelessness was due in part to the exhausted state to which we had been reduced and which made us all dwell upon the comfort of effortless days rather than face renewed exertion. Again, we could not or would not learn that our hope of plentiful game was an empty one. We were at tambo No. 9 for three weeks before the sharp tooth of necessity began to arouse us to the situation. Occasionally we obtained food, a lucky shot bringing us a monkey or a wild hog. Feasting to repletion, we failed to observe that these windfalls came at longer intervals as the animals deserted our part of the forest.

During the three weeks we were not wholly idle. The chief had his men out every day locating caoutchouc trees. A few of these he felled, draining them of the precious milk for samples to be taken to Colonel da Silva. In all he located some eight hundred trees. At this period, too, I made my remarkable discovery of gold, to which I shall refer later. It is like the motive of some old morality play that while we were all busied with our various searches after things that men count as wealth death was drawing closer to us every day.

Fever came upon us after we had begun to nurse hunger sleeping and waking. It struck me first and I took to my hammock. For five days and nights I lay, delirious at times, listening to the noises of the forest and dreaming of juicy steaks and cups of creamy coffee. In those five days the only food in camp was one monkey. Our dried meat and even the unpalatable farina had given out. At first I felt the lack of food keenly. Later the pain of hunger was dulled. Starvation has its small mercies.

I became almost childishly interested in trifling things at this time. There was a sound that came from the jungle in the night that I called "the voice of the forest." To close one's eyes and listen was almost to imagine one's self near a murmuring crowd like that which gathers on market days in the squares of certain European cities. It was the song of numberless frogs of a peculiar species that live along the creeks. Other friends of mine were the tree frogs. One of these would utter four musical notes in a major key, resembling the notes of an automobile siren. Another would shortly answer and the harmonious conversation would go on, while the toucans yelped and distant howling monkeys formed the chorus.

And then one day the jungle took its first toll of us. Brabo, a quiet young man and an excellent worker, was stricken acutely with the fever. I staggered out of my hammock and made shift to inject quinine into him with the hypodermic. But he failed to rally. We dug a grave for him there in the forest with our machetes. No stone marks the place. The great trees interlace above him. The jungle creepers grow in bright patterns where he lies—a son of the forest whom the forest claimed again.

The coming of death showed us all the extremity to which we had been brought. We stood about the grave in silence. These men, these savages of the Amason, were very human. Somehow I never thought of them as of another or an inferior race. We had toiled together, eaten and slept and laughed together. And now we faced the mystery of death together. The fraternity of common flesh bound us.

The chief spoke briefly. He said we had done the work for which we had come and it was now time to start back. Owing to the difficulty of finding food we must separate. He directed that Chico, Magellaes and Aniset should take a way to the headwaters of the Ireconhy, which they could follow until they were able to obtain a canoe. The chief himself, with Jerome, would accompany me back to Floresta over the route we had travelled.

The evening before our departure I did not think that I would be strong enough to carry myself a step, even without the load. But the hypodermic, which had now become my constant standby, lent me a false strength, and when the packing was done next morning I stood up with the rest to take my burden.

We parted with the other three before sun-up, with clasps of the hand that were never to be repeated, and so turned our faces toward the outer world. Thus began our belated attempt to escape from the jungle. It no longer seemed beautiful or wonderful to me, but horrible, a place of terror and death.

In my drug dazed sleep the first night on that back track I started up bathed in a sweat of fear from a dream, in which I saw myself and my companions engulfed in a sea of poisonous green, caught by living creepers that dragged us down and held us in hungry embrace. The forest was something from which I fled. It was hideous, a trap, with its impenetrable walls of vegetation, its dank shadows. I longed for the open, struggled for it as the swimmer struggles up for the open air from the insidious sucking of the undertow.

Starving, weak, oppressed by the thought of death, sapped by fever, but lashed on by stimulants and the hope of escape I headed with my two comrades out of the world of the unknown toward the world of men.

Editor's Note.—The continuation of Mr. Lange's remarkable adventures in the region of the Amazon will appear next Sunday.

of business is to MAKE YOUR MONEY EARN MONEY if you ever hope to get rich. It is not what you earn or even what you save that determines your prosperity, it is what you invest and where you invest it.

Nearly all Great Fortunes and most of the small ones are founded on Real Estate. It is the one thing which all over the world keeps constantly increasing in value. Gold, the standard of exchange, is worth less to-day than it was ten years ago, and is not nearly so valuable as it was fifty years ago. Ten years, fifty years, a hundred years from now, gold will keep losing its value, and real estate will keep increasing in value at a constantly increasing ratio.

Residential Property, favorably located, close in, offers the safest and most profitable investment in Saskatoon, as it does in any city. The initial investment is smaller, there is not the risk involved of "putting all one's eggs into one basket," when the investment is divided among several lots, which gives the purchaser an opportunity of disposing of one or more lots at any time, while still retaining enough to gain the profits of constant and rapid rise in values.

Saskatoon's remarkable progress—and we consider the growth of the city has only just begun—offers many opportunities for very profitable investment. There are Sub-divisions even outside the city limits which will in time be good investments as the city keeps expanding. But among good investments we believe there is one best investment, and we believe that "FAIRHAVEN" is that one best investment.

Key Plan of Fairhaven Showing its Favorable Location to the Financial and Business Centre of the City.

The prices and terms at which "FAIRHAVEN" is offered for sale gives a splendid opportunity for a quick turnover at a large profit on an original investment which is very small.

"FAIRHAVEN" is offered at prices ranging from $100 to $125 a lot, on the marvellously easy terms of $20 down and $10 a month. No interest and no taxes till 1912.

Comparison with any other sub-division so close to the city as "FAIRHAVEN" shows a most remarkable contrast at the prices asked. For a sterling, gilt edged investment, "FAIRHAVEN" is the one best bet.

"FAIRHAVEN" is ideally located for a residential district. It is within half a mile of the city limits, and but a short distance from the wholesale and commercial centre of the city.

"FAIRHAVEN" has a beautiful location, is high and dry, providing perfect drainage and healthful surroundings.

"FAIRHAVEN" is only a stone's throw from the St. Paul's Hospital, maintained by the Grey Nuns, which is one of the finest hospitals in the West.

"FAIRHAVEN" abuts on the Canadian Pacific Railway, and plans are being prepared for the erection of a suburban station on the property.

20th Street, the King Street of Saskatoon, runs clean through "FAIRHAVEN."

A few hundred dollars judiciously invested in "FAIRHAVEN" NOW will put you on "Easy Street." Do not procrastinate. Act TO-DAY!

SASKA

SASKATOON is the logical centre of Canada's heritage. The undisputed distributing area of Saskatoon is enormous--practically the whole of Central Saskatchewan a veritable Inland Empire. This immense territory tributary to Saskatoon comprises some of the most fertile lands on earth, and is being rapidly filled up by a hardy, thrifty class of people, making it each year more and more productive. Saskatoon's future is assured---yesterday NOTHING, to-day 16,000, to-morrow---who will be bold enough to hazard a guess ?

Fairhav

"FAIRHAVEN" is a sub-division of the City of Saskatoon, is half a mile from the city limits, and just one mile from the manufacturing centre of the city, where the Saskatoon Milling Company has just completed a 1,000 barrel flour mill, and where theCormick-Buck Company and the Hills Manufacturing Company are located.

These lots are sold at prices ranging from $125 for corner lots to $100 and $110 for inside lots, thus allowing the purchaser a wide margin of profit. The terms are the most liberal that could be offered—$20 down and $10 a month. No interest and no taxes till 1912.

Saskatoon expects, and no doubt will, in 1911, greatly exceed her magnificent building record of 1910, when almost $2,000,000 was put into new buildings. Those who are in a position to speak with authority, say that 1911 will eclipse any year in this city's history. Are you going to let it pass without getting hold of a piece of real estate?

Saskatoon is the most remarkable city in Western Canada. In 1903 it had one railroad with two passenger trains a day, and a population of 113. To-day it has nine different railway outlets, operating over twenty passenger trains a day, and a population of over 16,000. In population, building permits, bank dealings, railroad business, post office and customs returns, SASKATOON in 1910 leads all the West with percentage of increase.

INVESTIGATE SASKATOON

and more particularly investigate

FAIRHAVEN LOTS

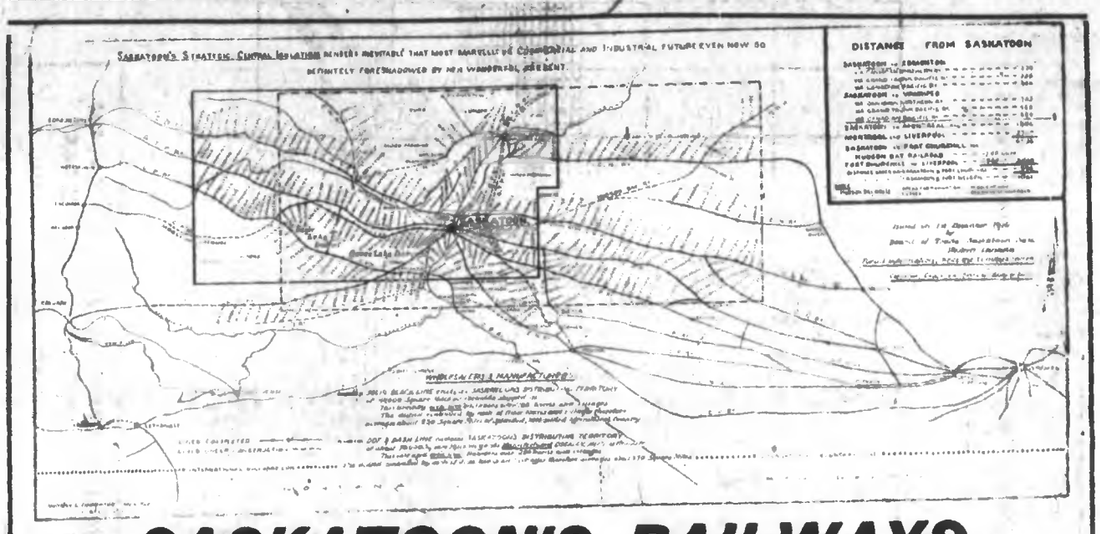
Saskatoon is a young hustling city, growing from a town of 113 people with a single one-horse railroad in 1903, to a city of 16,000 with nine railway outlets in the short space of seven years.

Saskatoon is located on the main lines of the Grand Trunk Pacific and the Canadian Northern, and is also on the Winnipeg-Edmonton line of the C.P.R., for which plans have been approved for an extension to the Pacific Coast.

WHY SHOULD I INVESTIGATE SASKATOON ?

Because those who have investigated Saskatoon have made good.

Because the Railroads, Wholesalers, Banks and others who have investigated Saskatoon saw its almost illimitable possibilities and the result is Saskatoon.



SASKATOON'S RAILWAYS

NINE OPERATING OUTLETS

Hudson Bay Line

WHOLESALERS and Manufacturers will not overlook the fact that Saskatoon will be on the direct route to Hudson Bay. The following table of distance merits thoughtful consideration:

	Miles
Saskatoon to Montreal, rail	1894
Montreal to Liverpool	2760
	4654
Saskatoon to Fort Churchill per Hudson Bay Railroad	700 miles
Fort Churchill to Liverpool	2960 miles
	3660
Distance saved via Saskatoon and Fort Churchill	994
Should Fort Nelson be finally selected as H. B. terminal the distance saved would be	1061

NOTE.—Fort Churchill) proposed Hudson Bay Terminal H. R. Ry.
Opens for Navigation.....Middle of July.
Closes for Navigation.....Beginning of November.

In the foregoing connection do not forget that Saskatoon is at once the centre of the West, of the Province of Saskatchewan and of the great hard wheat belt. When operating, the Hudson Bay route will enable the import or export of goods to or from Saskatoon—the very centre of the West—and the United Kingdom, in probably LESS THAN ONE WEEK!! What a splendid potentiality!

THAT SASKATOON is a great natural railway centre will not be disputed after a glance at any reliable map. For several years Saskatoon has retained the distinction of being the centre of the greatest railway construction in the entire world. This statement is absolutely correct, no matter how extreme it may seem.

Twenty different developments are at present under construction or surveyed for early construction (see Booklet), all of which will materially enhance Saskatoon's already exceptional railway facilities.

IS IN FAVOUR OF RECIPROCITY

From Farm and Dairy.

Mr. Jas. Stonehouse, a well-known creamery man of Ontario Co., Ont., has expressed himself as strongly in favor of reciprocity with the United States. He believes that the dairy industry will be greatly benefited. In a recent letter to the Globe he gives reasons for his belief as follows:

"It is quite evident that some writers and speakers who are opposing the reciprocity agreement are not as well posted on the cause that they champion as they might be. Quite recently a speaker on the floor of the House of Commons at Ottawa was credited with the statement that the United States had butter and cheese enough in cold storage to do them a year if they didn't make another pound. Such a statement as that might go unchallenged under ordinary circumstances, and be put down to ignorance of facts; but under the present agitation it looks like a deliberate attempt to bolster up a bad cause with any old argument, regardless of facts.

"As the writer is interested in the dairy phase of this great question, I would like to lay a few facts and figures before your readers, to show what the trend in dairy products was for a year or two previous to this reciprocity agitation.

"Before the Payne-Aldrich tariff came into force the United States levied a duty of twenty cents a gallon on cream and five cents a pound on butter, but under the Payne-Aldrich bill cream was lowered to five cents a gallon, while butter and cheese were both raised to six cents a pound. When this bill became law, someone saw an opportunity to do a little business in getting cream across the St. Lawrence from Quebec, and in August, 1909, a Quebec creamery shipped the first cream to the United States, and sent in that month 1,650 gallons, valued at $1,640. This creamery found that, after paying five cents per gallon duty, and express charges, the cream netted the patrons more money than could have been made from making the cream into butter at home. The next month saw an increase to 12,160 gallons.

SHIPMENTS INCREASE

Other creameries, and even cheese factories, began to take notice that there was something doing in which they were interested, and in November 70,069 gallons were sent over, valued at $71,020. From December 1 to May 31, 1910, 159,140 gallons had been sent over, at a value of $455,778. From that time on shipments increased month by month, until in October 327,064 gallons were exported in that month alone. From April 1, 1910, to January 31, 1911, the total value of cream shipped across was $1,657,900, and that in the face of a five cents a gallon duty; and who can tell what it would have been had there been no duty at all?

"Cream is not the only dairy product which the Americans have been after. In spite of six cents a pound duty, Canada shipped across $90,333 worth of butter and $34,360 worth of cheese in 10 months to January 31. Shipments of condensed milk to the United States is largely on the increase, in the face of a two cents a pound duty, of which we shipped $11,126 worth. Several cheese factories in the east have quit making cheese, and separate their milk, instead, sending the cream across the line, and making casein from the skim milk, which is a comparatively new industry. There is a limited market for casein in Canada, but the United States market is practically unlimited, and they are constantly urging Canadian creamery men to go more extensively into the manufacture of casein. We shipped $34,219 worth during the past year.

ALMOST $2,000,000 WORTH

"Over $4,000 worth of sweet milk was shipped over, paying two cents a gallon duty, making a total of $1,831,961 for dairy products in 10 months ending January 31, 1911, as against $59,368 in 1908, and $45,930 in 1909.

"The above figures go to show that the eastern States are wanting our dairy products pretty badly, and if they can get our fresh products they will apparently let someone else eat the stale stuff that the speaker referred to says is piled up all over the United States, waiting to be consumed.

"Is it not reasonable to suppose that if the duty is taken off cream, butter and cheese that it will give a tremendous impetus to trade in these lines of food products, when the trade is increasing now by leaps and bounds in the face of a duty?

"However, if we are to believe the blue-ruin shouting of the opponents of the agreement, we must not harbor any such disloyal thoughts as a further increase, but, rather, quietly withdraw what we have done, and ask forgiveness for sinning so blindly, else we are only soaking a rod in pickle for our own backs; but I would suggest that the pickle be made good and strong, so that the rod may keep indefinitely, as it might possibly never be needed, even if this trade agreement goes into effect."

The busiest part of the year at the Peterboro Creamery is from May 1st to October 1st. We are now busy preparing for the work of the season. We paint the interior of the creamery each spring. Although we have screens on both doors and windows, flies cannot be kept out entirely; and through the work of these flies, the dust and dirt that is bound to get into the creamery, and the steam, the whole interior becomes clammy and nasty. As we sell a good deal of butter, direct to customers, they are frequently around the creamery, which makes a pleasing appearance necessary.

I also believe that a neat, clean creamery gives some of the patrons an incentive to give their cream more attention. Of course there are some patrons who never see such things. Last spring after we had everything nicely cleaned up and painted, one of our patrons, on having his attention called to the improved appearance of the creamery, looked around in surprise and remarked, "Oh, I never noticed it." All patrons, however, are not like this one, and cleanliness is bound to have a good effect.

His aim was to build up the farm, pay off the mortgage, and make a home for himself and family.

Since that time the farm has been gradually built up, and one of the items in the building up of the farm was the growing of alfalfa. It is 34 years since it was first sown on the farm. The first three or four years we were not successful, but we persevered, and for a great many years we have grown alfalfa successfully.

At first it was grain growing, then beef raising, but the profits were low. Twenty years ago we began weighing our milk and found our returns so low from a beef and dairy herd that we decided to specialize, and began at once to breed a dairy herd. We selected a pure bred dairy sire to head our herd, and weeded out the beefy cows and poor milkers. Our aim has been to build up a first class dairy herd by proper selection and breeding, and securing the best sires possible to place at the head of our herd. Some of the champion producers have been raised and gone out from Riverside Farm.

For 30 years we conducted a home dairy and made butter. For the last five years, however, we have sent our milk to the cheese factory in summer and to the creamery in winter.

In dairying we increase the fertility of the soil. By doing so we are able to feed two cows and feed them better on the same land that once fed one. The main feature of our farm operations is the production of alfalfa, clover, roots, and ensilage. By growing these crops we lower the cost of production of milk.

DAIRY FARMS COMPETITION

From Farm and Dairy.

J. W. Richardson, Haldimand Co., Ont.

The Dairy Farms Competition, as conducted by Farm and Dairy during the past two years, has been an education to us. We have found out some of our weak points. In these we hope to improve. Our steading, "Riverside Farm," is situated three miles west of Caledonia, on the banks of the Grand River. It now contains 550 acres. It is 40 years since my father purchased the first 100 acres. He was one of a large family, and when he started out his funds were low, so he purchased a farm as low in price as possible. It was pretty well run down, as wheat and barley had been grown extensively and sold off the farm for some years.

CATTLE AND HORSE FODDER

From Farm and Dairy.

Four tons of satisfying cattle and horse fodder was secured per acre by Mr. R. Scott, of Smith township, Peterboro Co., Ont., last year from a four acre plot that he had seeded to alfalfa three years before. Mr. Will Scott, while conversing with an editor of Farm and Dairy last week, stated that they had fed the alfalfa to their horses and worked them on it for a considerable time last fall, giving them no grain at all, and they worked well and kept up in good condition on the alfalfa alone.

Mr. Scott is seeding four acres more to alfalfa this year. Last year he seeded 2¼ acres to alfalfa; thus he will have a very fair acreage seeded to this valuable crop.

The second cutting last year, owing to the unfavorable season, did not amount to much. The first and third cuttings were heavy. Mr. Scott says that alfalfa hay seems to be very satisfying to his cows. They like it well and milk splendidly when fed upon it.

INTEREST CONTINUES

From Farm and Dairy.

Interest continues to grow and spread in regard to the alfalfa crop. Not a farmer can we find who has grown alfalfa, providing it with inoculation, but is satisfied that the crop is a paying one. The strange thing is that these farmers have not themselves put in a larger acreage.

The farmers in all of the more progressive states in the American union have in the last few years seeded larger and larger acreages of their farms to alfalfa. Even in New York State, where only comparatively recently has alfalfa been generally grown, the dairy farmers in some sections have 12 acres of alfalfa to every one other acre of either clover or grass upon their farms.

Alfalfa has passed the experiment state. We now know with certainty it can be grown on the majority of farms and the question now before each one of us is not "Can we grow alfalfa?" but rather "Can we afford not to grow this great crop?"

Caught a Heavy Cold.

It Left Him with a Hacking Cough.

Mr. J. H. Richards, 1852 Second Ave. East, Vancouver, B.C., writes:—"Allow me to write a few lines in praise of your Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Last fall I contracted a heavy cold which left me with a hacking cough, and every time I would get a little more cold this hacking cough would become a lung splitting one. It kept on getting worse and I kept on spending money buying different cough remedies until a friend asked me if I had ever tried Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I told him I was willing to try anything I thought would cure, and on the same day bought two bottles. Before half the first one was used my cough began to get much easier, and by the time I had used a bottle and a half my cough was gone. I am keeping the other half bottle in case it should come again but I am quite sure I have a positive cure. Let me recommend Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup to all who suffer from a cough or throat irritation of any kind."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 25 cents.

THE TERRORS OF THE TINY TADS

1—"A camera!" cries the Tiny Tad, "we'll take some photographs."
"Oh, good!" responds his little mate, and merrily he laughs.

2—But not so merry now is he. "Oh, help!" you hear his wail.
"This is a Camerattlesnake; oh, goodness, hear his tail!"

3—The serpent seems to charm the boy. "Please come," the other begs,
"For he will soon be after us, and we must use our legs."

4—It's lucky that a Cocoanut upon a palm they spy.
"A snake is photographer us! Please rescue us!" they cry.

PURE BRED HOLSTEINS FOR PETERBOROUGH COUNTY

An indication of the increased interest that is being taken in the breeding of pure-bred Holstein cattle by the farmers of Peterborough county and vicinity, was shown last week by the number of our local farmers that attended the auction sale of pure-bred Holstein cattle, held last Friday in Belleville, where they purchased some exceptionally fine animals.

One Peterborough County breeder, Mr. G. A. Brethen, of Norwood, sold 15 animals at this sale, at prices which may surprise some farmers, and which reflect great credit on the stock he has been breeding. The 15 animals he offered sold for $3,090, or an average of $206 apiece. Included among these fifteen were four calves. Were these deducted, the average for the 11 animals sold by Mr. Brethen was $258. He sold one animal for $350 to Mr. P. J. Salley, of Lachine Rapids, Que., who immediately after the sale asked $500 for the same animal. Mr. Brethen bought one or two fine animals at the sale.

Other local farmers who attended and made purchases included James White of Indian River, who paid $270 for an exceptionally fine Holstein heifer, sold by F. R. Mallory, of Frankford; Mr. Sam Magee of Norwood, paid $215 for a Holstein heifer; Mr. E. R. Tate of Lakefield, paid $230 for a heifer and $215 for a cow sold by Mr. Brethen; Mr. J. O. Ball of Springville, bought a bull calf from A. D. Foster, of Bloomfield, for $70, and Mr. W. R. Shields, of Mt. Pleasant, a heifer calf, from the same breeder, for $100; Mr. Thos. Shearer, of Villiers, bought a calf from Mr. F. R. Mallory for $50.

The purchase of these pure bred animals by local breeders is likely to result in greater interest being taken in the breeding of Holstein cattle in Peterborough County. It should in time, help to make this a noted Holstein centre.

Mr. Kennedy's Operations During The Past Week

Mr. Kennedy handled during last week 49 cars, or two full train loads of live stock, representing over 800 head of cattle and 1,000 hogs or a cash value of $60,000.

These cattle were shipped to Montreal, Peterborough and other cities for the Easter trade, and included some of the choicest stock the province of Ontario could produce.

While prices are possibly not as satisfactory to the feeder as a year ago, still in many cases high prices were paid for fancy stock, as will be seen by a few quotations given.

One choice calf, 13 months old, from Mr. Deep Seagrave, weighing 1,100 pounds, $90.00. Two choice calves, 12 months old, from Mr. Gregg, Cdaremont, $142.00, besides a few fancy steers and heifers, which sold at from 1-2 to 6 3-4 cents per pound.

The price paid for choice loads of good steers, averaging 1,100 to 1,300 by Mr. Kennedy on the Toronto market was 5 '-4 to $6.00 per cwt.

Mr. Kennedy states that medium cattle were selling easier at from 4 3-4 to 5 1-4. Prospects are steady for choice cattle.

Mr. Kennedy has an order for $1,000 head of choice yearling steers for feeding purposes for the American markets.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. A statement of the finances of the schools as prepared by the Finance Committee, was laid on the table.

An account was presented from W. E. Pakenham for one ton of coal—$6.20.

Mr. Doherty, chairman of the Property Committee, reported that the Principal of the Public School had made a request for some new blinds for the windows. Also that the Committee had procured a flag pole at a cost of $4.50, and three fire buckets. The committee further recommended that a new floor be laid in Miss Kirkpatrick's room, and that some additional blackboards be procured.

Mr. Elliott, chairman of the Agricultural Committee, also handed in a statement from Mr. Duff of expenses in connection with the stock judging course recently held in Norwood, itemized as follows:

Wm. Doughty, posting bills; $2: Lou. Beckett, one day's work, $1: J. J. Turner & Son, putting up tent, $5; Norwood Register, printing, $15: W. J. McLaughlin, 1 doz. tent pins, $1.25; C. J. Blake, 12 iron pegs, $1.50! H. C. Duff, freight and cartage $3.55; John Weir, stabling, feed, livery, cartage, etc., $18.50. Total, $48.30.

Mr. Elliott also reported as to an interview with Mr. F. J. Greenbank, with reference to securing land for demonstration purposes in re-foresting.

The Chairman read a letter from Mr. MacFarlane, expressing appreciation of the Board's action towards him in his present illness and stating that he was making satisfacory progress and expected to be able to resume his duties after Easter.

Moved by Mr. Elliott, seconded by Mr. Webster, that the accounts in connection with the short course be left in the hands of the chairman of the Board to report at next meeting.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Cuffe, seconded by Mr. Nickel that the Property Committee be authorized to have a floor laid in Miss Kirkpatrick's room during the summer holidays. Also that the matter of additional blackboards and blinds be left in the hands of the committee with power to act, and that they also have the flag pole painted and erected.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Cuthbertson, seconded by Mr. Doherty, that the account of W. E. Pakenham for coal, be referred to the Finance Committee and if correct that same be paid.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Doherty, seconded by Mr. Anderson, that the financial report, as submitted by the Finance Committee be received and filed.—Carried.

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Garlick, Mr. and Mrs. John Lillie, Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Squire, Messrs W. Sedgwick and Ashton Lillie were in Peterborough on Monday evening attending the concert given by the Sheffield Choir.

Mr. Douglas Pettigrew returned to his home in Chicago last week.

Mrs. Kempt, Sr., received the sad news this week of the death of her son, John Kempt, which occurred at Stewart, B. C.

Mr. F. B. Garlick was in Toronto on Thursday.

Mrs. Alex. Kempt returned last week from Blind River, Ont., where she had been visiting her sister, Mrs. E. Stephens.

The death occurred in Queensboro on Wednesday of Mrs. Abel Tucker, formerly of this place. The body was brought to Norwood, Friday morning, via C. P. R.. The funeral took place in the afternoon from the home of her son, Mr. Thos. Elliott. Deceased leaves to mourn her loss, besides her husband, four children, viz., Mr. T. Elliott, Norwood; Mrs. T. DEATH OF MISS. O. FRANCIE

NORTH SMITH, APRIL 12.—Mr. William Montgomery has gone to Bobcaygeon, where he has secured a situation. His many friends wish him success.

Miss Josie Northey of Selwyn, was visiting friends in the neighbourhood last week.

Mrs. John Fairbain of Peterborough, is visiting her mother, Mrs. F. Pearson.

Mrs. J. McIlmoyle has gone to Lindsay to visit her sister, Mrs. W. Gillispie, during the Easter holidays.

The many friends of Miss O. Francie in this neighbourhood, and elsewhere, will earn with deep regret of her death, which took place at Millbrook, on Sunday night last.

The late Miss Francie taught school here and also took an active part in the League in connection with the Methodist church and was a valued member of the choir.

During her stay here she won the esteem and confidence of the whole community, being possessed with a cheerful disposition she won for herself many friends.

The sympathy of the whole neighbourhood goes out to the bereaved family.

DELHI DURBAR FINE SPECTACLE

All the Barbaric Splendor of the East Will Attend the Coronation at Delhi

Never, since Richard the Lion Heart marched to the Crusades, has a ruling British monarch gone so far afield from his own capital. But the sea has no terrors for our Sailor King. On the quarter-deck of a battleship he is in his own element. The Eastern trip will be an opportunity for a much-needed rest, before the stress and stir of the Delhi durbar makes further immense demands upon his energy.

For sheer barbaric splendor the Delhi durbar will far outclass anything the world has hitherto seen. At the time of King Edward VII.'s Coronation, the Duke of Connaught went on his behalf to receive the homage of the turbaned princes who wield autocratic sway over the teeming millions of India. On that occasion, the correspondents of London papers confessed that language failed them to describe the opulent magnificence of the great State processions. How much more will that be the case when King George is present in person as Emperor of India!

Like the Coronation festivities in this country, the Durbar will stretch over a number of days. But the great day will be the one on which the King rides through ancient Delhi with all the proud maharajahs in his train.

Past the great red fort and the towering temple of Delhi the King will ride upon an elephant eleven feet high. The howdah in which he sits will be of solid gold, worth thousands of pounds, the very cloth which covers it will also be woven from pure gold. Even the enormous elephant will be tricked out in jewels of priceless value, for it is not fitting in Eastern eyes that the great Emperor's mount should be less magnificent than those of his subject princes.

In addition to the Emperor-King's, there will be from 150 to 200 other elephants, all encrusted with emeralds and rubies, and the tusks of every one adorned with tinkling silver bells which ring out musically above the earth-shaking tramp of the gigantic beasts.

In each glittering howdah will ride a maharajah of such might that he is almost a god in his own country. And in every such prince's turban, stiff with pearls and adorned with aigrettes, as well as upon his gorgeous jewelled dress, will sparkle diamonds of such beauty and in such number, that the value of all in the procession must actually total several millions of pounds.

In the King's train, as well as the great notables, will march not only the pick of the Indian Army, white and black, but also native soldiers from the territory of each individual prince, all clad in their own barbaric dress and bearing the fantastic weapons of their tribes. Some idea of the length of that procession may be gained from the statement that it will take over two hours for the whole of it to pass any given point.

When the great durbar is over, and King George has entertained with lavish pomp and Oriental splendor each several prince and ruler who owes him homage, he will be free to accept the hospitality of some few of them in turn.

If there remains time before he has to hasten back to take the helm of State in his home dominions, the King will probably go a-hunting. In that case he will astonish even the practised shots of India with the accuracy of his aim, for he is one of the finest shots in Europe.

And so, after 12 months of unexampled labor, the King may contrive at last to snatch a few days "off duty" for the enjoyment of his favorite hobby before coming back to the homeland.—Penny Pictorial.

KING GEORGE
At the age of nine years.

TRAIN BEARERS.

Queen Mary's Train Will Be Carried By Ladies.

The fact that Queen Alexandra's train was carried at her Coronation by pages has caused many people to think that Queen Mary is making an innovation by having hers carried by ladies. As a matter of fact, it was Queen Alexandra who departed from custom. All records of the coronations of queens and queen consorts show that it was the custom to have ladies to hold the train. Queen Victoria had eight lady train bearers, dressed in white satin and silver tissue, with wreaths of silver corn ears and pink rose trimmings. Queen Mary will, no doubt, decide what her ladies shall wear, but Queen Victoria, on account of her youth, left all this to her Mistress of the Robes, the Duchess of Richmond.

Bible for Coronation.

The Archbishop of Canterbury has intimated that he will accept from the Universities of Oxford and Cambridge the Bible to be presented to the King on the occasion of his Majesty's Coronation in Westminster Abbey. The Bible which the King will kiss before signing the oath, will be finely bound, and will, of course, contain the Apocrypha. The Bible will ultimately be officially preserved at Lambeth Palace, together with that which was used at the Coronation of King Edward. This will be done by his Majesty's command.

Who Pays for Fatal Mishap?

Mr. H. M. Jennings, a corn merchant, had to pay over $1,000 under the Workmen's Compensation Act to the relatives of an employe named Whitwell, killed in a level crossing accident in which a horse was also fatally injured. Later, at the Croydon County Court he was awarded $1,150 damages against the South Eastern Railway Company.

CORONATION SPORTS

Imperial Games to Take Place at Festival in June

The Imperial Sports meeting will be held in London in June and is intended to bring together the best amateurs of the Empire at Coronation time. The festival will be held at the Crystal Palace, opening on June 24th and closing on July 1st. Lord Desborough is chairman of the Committee in Charge and his splendid work in connection with the Olympic games in London is warrant for the expectation that this gathering will in its own way be equally successful. Great Britain, Australasia, Africa and Canada will be the countries represented, and the programme consists of the following events:

Athletics—100, 220 and 880 yards, 1 mile and hurdles.
Swimming—100 yards and 1 mile.
Tennis—Singles.
Wrestling — Catch-as-catch-can, middleweights.
Boxing—Heavyweights.

In each event mentioned each part of the Empire named is to be represented by one man, and the result of this four-cornered contest is to be decided on points, the winner of each contest to be awarded one point, the competitor finishing second two points, third three points, and fourth four points. That section of the Empire whose representatives score the lowest aggregate of points to be the winners of the Empire trophy, presented to commemorate the occasion. The winning team also to be presented with Commemoration medals specially designed for the purpose, and silver medals to all the others taking part.

As Canada had no share in the selection of the events, and as their scope is limited, it is not surprising that the list includes several in which this country can hardly expect to show first-class form. However, it is the intention of the Amateur Athletic Union to make every effort to secure the best representation possible, and as this will be a national and patriotic gathering the governing body hopes to enlist the aid of the Federal Government to a considerable extent.

PRINCE GEORGE
Born December 20, 1902.

GUESTS OF THE KING

Prime Ministers of Overseas Dominions to be Entertained.

At the conclusion of the forthcoming Imperial Conference the Prime Ministers of the overseas dominions will become the guests of the King, and will remain in England for the Coronation ceremony. The conference opens on May 22nd and the Prime Ministers and the Ministers who will accompany them are expected to arrive during the previous week. The Colonial Office has acquired rooms at the Hotel Cecil for all the Prime Ministers and Ministers during the time that the Imperial Conference is sitting.

KITCHENER IN COMMAND

The Field-Marshall Will Have Charge of Coronation Troops

Field-Marshall Viscount Kitchener will have command of the troops assembled in London at the Coronation. The following general officers will act under his orders in the capacities stated:

Chief Staff Officer: Major-General A. E. Codrington (General Officer Commanding, London district).

Commanders of sections of the routes of the processions: General Sir Charles Douglas (Commanding-in-Chief, Southern Command); Lieut.-General Sir W. Smith-Dorrien (Commanding-in-Chief, Aldershot); Lieut. General Sir Arthur Paget (Commanding-in-Chief, Eastern Command.)

The Abbey Closed to the Public.

Westminster Abbey has been closed to the public in preparation for the crowning of King eGorge and Queen Mary. Until that picturespue event is over, the stately building will be resigned to the rough offices of the contractor and his workmen. For the purposes of the Coronation there is a space between the transepts, technically known as "the thearte"—where the statues of Peel and Gladstone look across to the statue of D'Israeli—and there a great platform will be erected for the thrones of the King and Queen.

NEWFOUNDLAND REPRESENTATION.

Twenty naval reservists have been invited by the British Admiralty to represent Newfoundland among the colonial naval forces participating in the Coronation ceremonies of King George.

TO REPRESENT THE STATES.

Mr John Hayes Hammond will represent the United States at the Coronation of King George.

Coronation Millinery.

Because the King of England is to be crowned in June the prevailing theme in the headgear for 1911 in America will be "coronation." This pronunciamento was made by delegates to the annual convention of the National Association of Retail Milliners early in the year in New York.

As to trimming, it is asserted that ribbon and lace flowers have come to stay. The latter must be white. Among the flowers, roses, buttercups, daisies, dandelions and sweet peas find favor. Coronation colors predominate, but these probably will give way to individual needs as summer progresses.

GREAT PAGEANT OF THE EMPIRE

The Most Wonderful Spectacle Ever Witnessed on the Streets of Old London.

An annex to the main entrance to Westminster Abbey is in course of erection. In the seating arrangements the plan is the same as that which was adopted at King Edward's Coronation in 1902. There will therefore be no fixed seats, but the nave of the Abbey will be furnished with new chairs of Chippendale pattern upholstered in silk. These the users of them will be given the opportunity of purchasing as mementoes. The Earl Marshal's Office has been besieged with applications for permission to be present from all sorts and conditions of people. Peers and Peeresses have a prescriptive right to attend, but even these will be excluded if they have not asked for and received permission to attend.

The Earl Marshal has received applications for permission to be present at the Coronation next June from over 100 Peers and Peeresses who had no legal claim to be present at the ceremony in 1902. There are no fewer than 38 new Earls and Countesses, and the remainder is made up of Peers and Peeresses who have succeeded to the family title, and of those who have had new Peerages conferred upon them.

It is the desire of his Majesty that the overseas dominions should take a prominent and distinguished part in the great State pageant, and at the present time the question is being considered whether some special act in the consecratory ceremony cannot be entrusted to the representatives of Canada, Australia, South Africa and New Zealand every one of the countries mentioned, as well as India, Newfoundland, and practically every portion of the Empire, will be more adequately represented both in Westminster Abbey and in the royal procession through the streets of London than has ever been the case before. The officers of the Home District Command, who have been made responsible for the military arrangements, are making provision for the accommodation of some 8,000 soldiers, representing every part of the King's dominions abroad. Five hundred officers and men are going from India, 600 from Canada, over 300 from Australia and other parts of the Southern Hemisphere, while such places as Nigeria, Uganda, Borneo, Hong Kong and other far-away outposts of civilization will be fittingly represented. It is to be the greatest pageant of Empire yet seen in London. The navy, the home army and the Territorials are also to be represented by the biggest force ever concentrated in the Metropolis, and for their accommodation the Royal Parks will be covered with military encampments. In addition to carrying out the internal arrangements at the Abbey, the Office of Works has the task before it of erecting stands along the line of route of the Coronation procession between Buckingham Palace and Parliament square.

QUEEN MARY
As Princess Mary of Teck.

CONCERT HALLS HONORED

An unprecedented feature of the Coronation year will be the introduction of concert hall performances by Royal command. Male Royalties have visited London music halls privately, but the hall-mark of Royal patronage has never yet been bestowed upon the vaudeville stage.

In response to a petition signed by leading vaudeville managers the King and Queen will "command" a performance when they visit Edinburgh after the Coronation ceremonies. It is stated that other engagements preclude a similar act on their part so far as London is concerned.

A Coronation Coiffure.

Coronation year is to be made the occasion for a great effort on the part of the Incorporated Hairdressers' Guild of Great Britain to create a purely British fashion in coiffures. With this object an exhibition is shortly to be held in London which will have the support of hairdressers and every branch of the trade in all parts of England and Scotland. There will be an exhibition of designs, and the one selected by a committee of experts will be recommended to the whole trade for adoption as the recognised fashionable pattern. The Court hair-dressers are said to have taken up the idea with enthusiasm, and if the project proves to be as successful as its promoters anticipate, Parisian and Viennese domination will go by the board. The new coiffure is to be distinctly British.

Asquith's Residence.

The private residence of Prime Minister Asquith, at 20 Cavendish square, coveted by reason of its splendid reception rooms, old mahogany staircase and walls painted by Sir John Thornhill two centuries ago, has been secured for the Coronation by Lady Cunard.

Roses for the Coronation.

One firm in Hertfordshire planted 50,000 Coronation rose trees, all timed to bloom in June. They are being grown in all sorts of designs. One of these is a statute of the King, consisting of about 1,500 roses.

BUYING IRISH LACE

Queen Mary Shows Her Interest in Home Industries.

Buckingham Palace is now the headquarters of the Court, and the King and Queen will not visit Windsor again for any length of time till they go there for the Ascot races shortly before the Coronation. Queen Mary, since her return to Buckingham Palace, has been living very quietly, entertaining her more intimate friends and those about her Court by herself.

Queen Mary is now showing her interest in home industries in a practical fashion and particularly her desire to promote the welfare of the Irish people by directing the attention of the women of England to the work done by their sisters in the Emerald Isle. Her Majesty has given a large order for some of the choicest Irish lace, principally rose point, Carrickmacross and Limerick, including a beautiful Court train in Carrickmacross, appliqué and guipure. The Queen has also bought a quantity of lace and work done by the St. Helena Government lace school, with which she is highly pleased, and thinks very pretty. The St. Helena lace industry was started as recently as 1907, in accordance with a scheme of the League of Empire.

QUEEN MARY
And her eldest son, Edward.

CURIOUS CELEBRATIONS

How Do You Propose to Celebrate on June 22nd?

A Lancashire lady has already announced her intention of presenting a bright new sovereign to every child born in her parish on Coronation Day.

This is going one better than the clerk of the parish council of Moulton, near Northwich, on the occasion of the Coronation of King Edward. His present to every infant ushered into the world in his parish on that day was a beautiful cashmere frock.

Married for Nothing.

At Marshfield, in Gloucestershire, the babies had a field day, the great feature of which was a procession in perambulators. At Walworth a Coronation baby show was arranged, with a London hospital doctor as judge and prizes for the best fed and best clothed.

There was no doubt a rush of Coronation weddings at Rye, Sussex, where the vicar issued a notice that during the Coronation month the marriage ceremony would be performed without payment of the usual fees.

A queer-minded individual at Elmham, Norfolk, had the temerity to suggest that a portion of the Coronation celebration fund should be used for the purchase of a public hearse for the parish! The proposition met with unanimous rejection.

Two Tons of Pie.

In accordance with long-established custom, the loyal inhabitants of Den by Dale will doubtless prepare a monster pie in celebration of King George's Coronation. That made on the occasion of Queen Victoria's Jubilee was 8 ft. in diameter, 2 ft. in depth, and upwards of two tons in weight. It was baked in a dish weighing 15 cwt., was drawn by ten horses, and cost £250.

The little town of Wye, near Ashford, in Kent, decided to commemorate our late King's Coronation in an original and permanent way. In the chalk on Wye Downs it was resolved to dig a huge design of a crown, on lines similar to the famous "white horses" of Berkshire and the North Riding of Yorkshire, which would be visible for many miles.

On the same occasion from 15,000 to 20,000 bonfires were arranged for, one of the highest being on the Richmond Beacon, in Yorkshire. At each bonfire fifty rockets were to be sent off simultaneously, or 750,000 to 1,000,000 in all.

St. Paul's Rope-Walker.

St. Paul's Cathedral has been the scene of some wonderful performances at various Coronations. When King Edward VI was crowned a marvellous exhibition was given from its battlements, according to Holinshead, by an agile Arragonese.

He descended upon a rope, which was secured to an anchor at the gate of the Dean's house. Then he walked up the rope again and performed "certain misteryes" on the said rope, to the great wonder of the assembled multitude and the no less delight of the youthful Sovereign.

TO REPRESENT CANADA.

Members of House of Commons and Senate to be Imperial Guests.

The following members of the Canadian Parliament will represent the House of Commons at the Coronation:

Liberals—Ralph Smith, British Columbia; Geo. E. McCready, Saskatchewan; Dr. Clark, Alberta; Hugh Guthrie, Ontario; Dr. Beland, Quebec; F. B. Carroll, New Brunswick; J. H. Sinclair, Nova Scotia; A. B. Warburton, Prince Edward Island; Senator Findlay Young, Manitoba.

Conservatives—Hon. John Haggart, Hon. G. E. Foster, H. B. Ames, Dr. Daniel, C. A. McGrath.

The following members will represent the Senate: Sir MacKenzie Bowell, Senator Lougheed, Senator Watson, Senator Cosgrain.

SITE IS CHOSEN

New Protestant Home Will be Erected on the Hilliard Property Just North of Anson St.

PLANS SELECTED

On Wednesday afternoon the Board of the Protestant Home met the City Council on the Hilliard property and discussed the proposed site. It was decided that the land just north of Anson street would be the most suitable. The lot selected will consist of about five acres, lying along the brow of the hill, and will be a most desirable situation.

The new building will be a handsome structure and will do a great deal to improve the appearance of the neighbourhood.

The plans for the building, which were submitted by Mr. Sandford Smith, were considered most satisfactory and the work will be pushed forward as much as possible.

It is hoped that the citizens generally will bear in mind the very urgent need of funds. The Board is anxious that the building should be as perfect as possible in every detail.

As the work of the Home will be to care for the Protestant poor of the city, it should appeal most thoroughly to all public-spirited men and women.

All subscriptions may be paid to Mr. Travers of the Bank of Montreal.

Before actually paying over your hard-earned money for a six-months' course spend even twenty minutes investigating Moon College 30-day Shorthand. A postal to 283-286 Yonge street, Toronto, brings our Catalogue.

THE RIOTS IN FRANCE

Special wire to The Examiner:

PARIS, APRIL 13.—With the arrival of more troops in the Champagne riot districts, the semblance of order is secured, this morning. There have been many arrests in connection with the disturbances and the trials will go on to-morrow. The Chamber of Deputies has voted confidence in the Government in their handling of the situation.

CANADA FAVOURS THE PACT

So Says Sir Frank Newnes, Prominent English Publisher.

Special to The Examiner

NEW YORK CITY, APRIL 13.—Sir Frank Newnes, the prominent English publisher, before leaving for home to-day, told the interviewer that during a month's tour of Canada he had found sentiment overwhelmingly in favour of reciprocity, except in Toronto and Winnipeg, whose manufacturing and milling interests made them fearful of the results of the pact.

GRASS FIRE

Brigade Makes Record Run.—$30.00 Damage.

A grass fire, which broke out at the south end of the city to-day at noon, caused in the neighbourhood of $30 damage. A G. T. R. train set fire to the grass south of 523 Romaine street, and the fire spread rapidly, until it had gone a distance of several hundred yards. It set into the fence and some of the outbuildings and was making rapid progress when the brigade arrived on the scene. A telephone alarm was sent in at 12.58, and the brigade was back in the hall at 1.40, making a record run. The fire was extinguished by the use of chemicals.

Trial of H. Matthews, Jr., Will Resolve Itself Into a Conflict of Medical Testimony---Prosecutor Finds Many of the Crown Witnesses Are Antagonistic to Him---Doctors Are Divided.

Special Wire to The Examiner.

COBOURG, APRIL 13.—Evidently the trial of Matthews, junior, the lake sailor, charged with the murder of Miss Brimacombe, will resolve itself into a conflict of medical testimony, as the defence cross examination of doctors this morning was along the line of whether the woman was murdered at all, or choked to death by one of the fits to which she was admittedly subject. The Crown Prosecutor, Peter White, has found that many of the Crown witnesses are very antagonistic to his case and it is not thought that a conviction will be secured. The Doctors are divided in their opinion as to the cause of death.

BILL WILL HAVE NO SERIOUS OPPOSITION IN LOWER HOUSE

Special Wire to the Examiner.

WASHINGTON, APRIL 13.—Without the slightest opposition by voice or vote the Canadian reciprocity bill, introduced into Congress yesterday, was reported on favourably to-day by the Ways and Means Committee. There was more discussion, however, when the free list bill was brought up. The vote on it was strictly on party lines, the Democrats favouring it and the Republicans voting against it. They wanted it referred to the Tariff Committee and taken up item by item. Eventually, it was agreed not to report it till to-morrow. The Canadian Reciprocity bill will come up in Congress again to-morrow and will probably pass the House of Representatives without serious opposition. Then for the Senate, which may be a different proposition entirely.

BANK MANAGER HAS BEEN MISSING 10 DAYS

Special Wire to The Examiner.

GUELPH, APRIL 13.—There is still no clue to the whereabouts of Walter Duthie, Manager of the Union Bank at Hillsburgh, who has been mysteriously missing for ten days. This morning his brother, with a detective, examined his personal belongings and found nothing to indicate any reason for his departure. There was some excitement among depositors this morning, when it became known that Duthie had gone, but they were reassured when it became evident that everything in the Bank was all right.

JARDINE CASE HEARD BEFORE CLEARED COURT

Special Wire to The Examiner.

GODERICH, APRIL 13.—Just before the adjournment for luncheon in the Jardine trial, Crown Prosecutor Blackstock suggested that in view of the nature of the evidence to be given by the doctors in regard to the mental and moral nature of the prisoner, Jardine, that everybody but the officials, male witnesses, jury and press, be excluded this afternoon. His Lordship added to this, it is understood, that the defence will practically rest on the evidence of the doctors, regarding the examination for insanity.

HON. ADAM BECK READS REPORT ON PETERBORO' POWER POSSIBILITIES

Hon. Adam Beck, Chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission, by his presence, lent special interest to the regular weekly meeting of the Citizens' Association, held last night at the residence of Dr. Morrison, Hunter street, west. This Association is an organization of public-spirited citizens who meet weekly, the guests of some other public-spirited and hospitable citizen, in the interests of the promotion of the welfare of the city.

The special object of this meeting was to discuss the power question as it relates to Peterborough, and by good fortune, Hon. Mr. Beck was present. Mr. Duggan, Industrial Commissioner, who was in Toronto yesterday, heard of Mr. Beck's intention to come east last night, and Mr. Beck was persuaded to take in Peterborough, and attend the meeting last night.

After a brief and interesting address upon the general, and some specific, features of the Hydro-Electric Commission's work, he read the special report made on the possibilities of the Peterborough power situation. This report was prepared by Mr. P. W. Sothman, Chief Engineer of the Hydro-Electric Commission. It is very complete and is based on the most painstaking investigation and survey of the localities dealt with, by one of the most competent engineering experts on the continent.

The representatives of the press present at the meeting made a copy of the report, which will be published in Saturday's issue of the Examiner. The report itself is to be presented in due form, and at an early date, to the City Council and the Board of Trade, which though Industrial Commissioner Duggan, had it prepared by the Chief Engineer of the Commission, and, by the way, without a penny of cost to Peterborough. If it had been prepared with the same thoroughness, at the instance and expense of the city, its cost would have been hundreds, if not thousands, of dollars.

As the report in its subject appeals to every citizen and every interest of the city, its publication is regarded as furnishing valuable information, which, whether it is acted upon or not, will be of importance to the public.

ARE CELEBRATING THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. James Rose, Harvey Street, Were Married in Sittingbourne, England, Just Fifty Years Ago—Interesting Event.

A FAMILY GATHERING

Fifty years ago to-day, on April 13th, 1861, in far away Sittingbourne, in the County of Kent, England, an Anglican clergyman said the words that made James Rose and Mary Anne Sidderman and wife; to-day at their home, 700 Harvey street, Mr. and Mrs. Rose are celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage. The half century that has elapsed in the interval has passed lightly over the participants in to-day's golden wedding rejoicing, and they were able to take part in the festivities to-day as vigorously as if they were a score of years younger. As a matter of fact, Mrs. Rose has reached the allotted three score years and ten, and her husband has advanced one year past that mark.

Mr. Rose was born in England and came to Canada first in 1858 crossing the old Rice Lake bridge to come to Peterborough. He was employed on the farm of Mr. Choate at Perrytown for a while, and then returned to his home in England, where he was married fifty years ago to Mary Anne Sidders. They lived in England for nine years and then Mr. Rose returned to Canada in 1870, bringing with him his wife and five children. Mr. Rose found employment at brick-making in Cavan township and was afterwards a resident of Cannington for a short time, but for the greater part of the time since coming to Canada has lived in Peterborough, having been a continuous resident for the past twenty-seven years.

Sharing in the festivities to-day, the majority of them present in person, and all in spirit, are ten children and thirty grandchildren. The children surviving are Mr. Abraham Rose, of Peterborough, Mrs. Shaughnessy of Otonabee, Mr. James Rose of Peterborough, Mrs. Smith of Rochester, N. Y., Mr. John Rose of Vancouver B.C., Mrs. Pickwick of Buffalo, N.Y., Mr. Henry Rose of Peterborough, Mr. Stephen Rose of Toronto, Mrs. Wittenburg of Chicago, Ill., and Mr. Wesley Rose of Peterborough.

As has been said, Mr. and Mrs. Rose are now and have generally throughout their lives enjoyed the best of health and are in full possession of HAMILTON I. SILVER BAND, TO VISIT PETERBOROUGH.

The Hamilton I. Silver Band, which is coming to Peterborough for the Easter week-end, is one of the finest Salvation Army musical organizations in Canada, numbering forty players, under the leadership of Bandmaster Walter Woodard. The Band will (D.V.) arrive per C. P. R. at 11.26 Good Friday morning, and massing with the Peterborough Silver Band will march to the S. A. Temple where dinner will be served. Both Bands, 70 strong, will participate in the united service in Central Park in the afternoon, and, time permitting, will give a half-hour concert immediately afterwards. In the evening there will be a grand United Musical Festival in the Armouries, kindly granted by the Military authorities. On Saturday and Sunday, all day, the citizens will have music galore, and the Band will leave for Hamilton on Monday morning.

WESTERN PROGRESS AND THE PRESS.

The peopling and development of the Canadian West in the past decade has been of a very important character, something that cannot be adequately appreciated without some more or less direct and concrete evidence. The progress of the West is very adequately reflected in its newspapers, and in this connection the Manitoba Free Press, with its characteristic enterprise, has compiled a table dealing with the advance of the leading newspapers of the Dominion as showing the advance of the country. It takes a dozen and one-half journals and tabulates their growth in circulation in the ten years—1900 and 1910—and the per centage of increase. The circulation increase per cent. of the fourteen newspapers published west of the Great Lakes, is 38 per cent., while the average increase per cent. of the newspapers published west of Kenora is 181 per cent., a very fair representation of the increase in other departments of activity in the West of Canada. The counting of noses by the census, the figures of crop production and railway extension are evidence of growth and expansion of a material character; but the growth of newspaper circulation and the accompanying growth in intelligence are more important, as showing the development of character, the most important asset of any country.

CAPITAL HAS NO FEARS.

Capital, as sensitive as a mimosa plant to the influence of threatening or remotely impending adverse conditions, seems to have no fear that reciprocity is to lead either to the political extinction, or industrial ruin of Canada. A fifty million dollar steam plow company—the Deere Company, with headquarters at Moline, Iowa—intends establishing in Canada, at Welland, a mammoth branch establishment, larger than any now in Canada, to employ several thousand hands, for the manufacture of agriculture implements, etc. The Western Steel Corporation of Canada has purchased 2,000 acres of land with 17,000 feet—more than three miles—frontage on Fraser River, British Columbia. This year, the company intends to expend $1,500,000 on the first section of their immense plant. Coal and iron mines have been secured, and it is expected that an immense industrial business will be done. To-day's despatches state that a charter has been granted to a company with a capital of 10 million dollars for the establishment at Sidney Harbour, Nova Scotia, of a ship-building plant. Add to that that a British firm has arranged to build a three million graving dock at Montreal, and we see that capital has no dread of the disasters to Canadian autonomy, and industrial and commercial interests that the absurd preachers of pessimism, in the rank of opponents to reciprocity, so absurdly predict.

ANOTHER ANNEXATION PLOT.

Another scoundrelly scheme on the part of the United States to annex Canada. At the beginning the opponents of reciprocity claimed that reciprocity by admitting Canadian farm products into the United States free was a wild scheme for annexing Canada to the United States. In answer to this the Examiner showed that the same purpose could be effected without reciprocity—simply by the United States removing their tariff. The malevolent idea has occurred to the United States. According to a Washington despatch to the Mail and Empire, as soon as reciprocity is disposed of, a bill will be introduced into the United States House of Representatives providing for the placing of a large number of articles upon the free list—the duties to be swept entirely away. The list includes agricultural implements, plows, harrows, reapers, binders and mowers, boots and shoes, saddles and saddlery, wire fencing, cotton bagging and ties, coarse sacks, burlaps, lumber, flour, dressed meats and meat products and sewing machines..

Under the reciprocity agreement the duty on plows, harrows, reapers, binders and mowers have been reduced to 15 per cent. on coming into Canada from the United States or from the United States into Canada. That is, there is reciprocity of tariff rates. If the United States passes the proposed bill, the way is paved for Canada meeting the demand of the Western farmers for free trade in agricultural implements, which will place these articles upon the same relative basis, as to competition, as under the reciprocity agreement. The Mail and Empire and the Toronto News in their determined attempt to bring about the annexation of Canada to the United States have up-hill work.

MORRISON ON CANADA'S MILITIA.

(Ottawa Free Press)

Colonel Morrison, of Ottawa, than whom probably there is no better soldier in Canada, has just returned from a trip to Europe during which, it goes without saying, he devoted much time and attention to matters military. In Germany our own colonel seems to have been treated with unusual courtesy by the authorities and was given opportunities for studying the German Army rately if ever given to foreigners. Now, Colonel Morrison knows a soldier when he sees one, consequently the following statement which he made in an interview yesterday is particularly interesting:

"It may seem presumptuous to compare our Canadian forces with the regular armies of the continent, but in personnel and equipment the Canadian troops are in some respects their equals, or even their superiors. Our artillery equipment and method of training is quite up to date and I believe our cavalry would do better practical work in the field, with a little more training, than the highly drilled cavaliers with the steel waistcoats and obsolete swords, of whom so much is seen in the continental armies. Our infantry, too, would give a good account of themselves if their musketry training was on the lines of the German system. The same system of musketry training is carried out at Aldershot by General Smith-Dorrien, and it is to be hoped that eventually our own training will be modelled upon it, our friend Colonel Sam Hughes to the contrary notwithstanding."

This is a tribute to the administration of the Canadian Militia Department, under Sir Frederick Borden that, under the circumstances, is significant. The Free Press might well have added that is also a tribute to the character of the material with which Sir Frederick and the Militia staff have to work, the volunteer militia.

Reciprocity And Relative Imports And Exports Of Fruits And Vegetables

(The Globe)

The total value of Canada's imports of vegetables in the twenty-five years (1886-1910) was $857,039 from the British Islands, $9,213,518 from the United States, and $1,510,637 from all other countries; and the value of our exports of vegetables of like kinds in the same period was $378,319 to the British Islands, $10,264,061 to the United States, and $8,071,527 to all other countries. We brought into Canada from all countries in the twenty-five years vegetables to the value of $11,581,185, and we shipped out of it to all countries vegetables of the same kinds to the value of $18,713,907.

The United States duties on vegetables for seventeen years of this period were forty cents per bushel on onions, three cents per head on cabbage, twenty-five cents per bushel on potatoes, twenty-five per cent. ad valorem on other vegetables in their natural state, and forty to forty-five per cent. ad valorem on canned and preserved vegetables. For seven years of the early part of the period the duty on potatoes was fifteen cents per bushel, on other vegetables in their natural state ten per cent., and on canned and preserved vegetables thirty per cent. ad valorem, and for six years onions and cabbage were free.

The Canadian duties on vegetables imported in those twenty-five years have been kept uniformly high and increasing. Melons were at first free, but for fifteen years the duty on them was twenty-five per cent., and then it was made a specific duty of three cents. For eight years vegetables in cans weighing not over one pound were charged two cents per can or package, with two cents additional for every pound or fraction of a pound over the first, and for the next seventeen years the duty was made for all weights one cent and a half per pound. From 1887 to 1907 all other vegetables, including fresh or dry salted, were charged twenty-five per cent., and from 1907 the rate has been thirty per cent.

In the thirty-four years (1876-1909) the value of Canada's exports of potatoes to the United States was $13,-098,013, and the value of her imports from that country was $2,026,147. Our imports in the first half of the period had a value of $467,026, and in the second half of $1,559,121; and our exports a value in the first half of $10,-363,773, and in the second half of $2,-732,240.

The Canadian duty ranged in the twelve years (1876-1887) from ten cents per bushel to ten per cent. ad valorem, in the twenty years (1887-1907) fifteen cents per bushel, and in the three years (1907-1909) twenty cents per bushel, while in the United States the duty was fifteen cents per bushel from 1876 to 1891, and twenty-five cents for all—but three years of the remaining period, when it was fifteen cents per bushel.

Yet in the face of these high duties the value of imports of potatoes into the United States from Canada exceeded by $11,069,866 the imports into Canada from the United States.

For the five years (1906-1910) the value of imports of apples, peaches, plums, cherries, grapes, berries of all kinds, and preserved fruits by Canada from the United States was $4,-138,727, rangnig from $555,101 in the first year to $1,094,880 in the last, and under duties of twenty-five per cent. in the first to twenty-one and three-fourths per cent. in the last year. The value of exports from Canada to the United States in the same period was $1,814,882 against duties of twenty-five cents per bushel for apples, peaches, cherries, and plums, and twenty-five per cent. ad valorem for cranberries. To the British Islands, where no tariff duty was imposed, the value of our exports of fruits in the five years was $18,731,247, or ten times more than our total exports of fruits to the United States. The total value of our exports of fruits to countries in the five years was $23,180,104, while the value of our imports of fruits of like kinds from all countries was $5,113,461.

In the twenty-five years (1886-1910) Canada's exports of apples to all countries increased from 222,743 barrels valued at $477,004 in the first to 1,604,477 barrels valued at $4,417,926 in the last year of the period. To the British Islands the values of shipments in periods of five years were $3,694,056 in 1886-1890, $7,116,853 in 1891-1895, $9,788,822 in 1896-1900, $12,-508,124 in 1901-1905, and $17,286,903 in 1906-1910—making $50,394,758 in the twenty-five years. To the United States the values of shipments in the same periods were $916,754 in 1886-1890, $977,957 in 1891-1895, $384,612 in 1896-1900, $145,061 in 1901-1905, and $621,953 in 1906-1910, or only $3,046,-337 in the twenty-five years.

The British market was free for the whole period, and in the United States there was a duty of seventy-five cents per barrel in seventeen years and of twenty per cent. ad valorem in three years, while in the five years (1896-1910) they were free.

The values of our imports of apples in the same period of twenty-five years were $45 from the British Islands, $2,328,337 from the United States, and $23,995 from all other countries, under a duty of forty cents per bushel in twnety-three out of the twenty-five years, and a free rate in the two years (1888-1889).

Delegations of market gardeners and fruit-growers, numbering several hundreds—inspired by canners and wholesalers on the look-out for large profits—have gone two or three hundred miles from the Lake Erie counties to Ottawa during the past winter to protest to the Government against freer trade with the United States ofr their products, although the trade returns show that in the last twenty-five years they have met the conditions of a higher tariff against them, and have increased their exports of fruits and vegetables in that period by more than $70,-000,000; and all this time no outcry has been heard from the farmers of the country, whose market for barley had been destroyed by the operation of the United States tariff, bringing upon them a loss of nearly $90,000,-000 in seventeen years, three-fourths of which has fallen upon the Province of Ontario.

What have the opponents of reciprocity to say for or against a trade policy that gives results like these to the country? The fruit and vegetable men can hold their own and prosper in a free market, but a duty of thirty cents per bushel on barley is killing.

THE METROPOLITAN LIFE MAKES GREAT SHOWING

Of unusual interest, in view of criticisms which have in the past frequently been made of so-called "Industrial Insurance," is the recent report of the Honourable William H. Hotchkiss, Superintendent of Insurance of New York. Superintendent Hotchkiss' examiners have in the last sixteen months made an exhaustive investigation of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, and the report embodies their conclusions.

Incidentally, the report brings out other interesting information regarding the Company. It will probably come as a surprise to many of our readers that the Metropolitan is not only the leading Company in Industrial insurance, but that during the last year it wrote practically $150,-000,000 Ordinary insurance, the maximum permitted by the New York law. For a Company that has been known in the past primarily as an Industrial Company, this is a remarkable showing. If business written in foreign countries other than Canada be excluded, the Metropolitan wrote $20,000,000 more Ordinary insurance than its nearest competitor. There are at present over $700,000,000 Ordinary insurance in force, and, including Industrial insurance, over $2,215,000. In fact the Company was compelled to stop issuing policies for which application was made during the last days of the year in order to keep within the law.

Mildly speaking, the report is decidedly commendatory. In an impartial and judicial manner, Superintendent Hotchkiss expresses his profound conviction that Industrial insurance as practised by the Metropolitan has had the welfare of the policyholders only in mind, and that the Officers of the Company have bent every effort to cheapen the cost of such insurance to reduce lapsed, and in general to safeguard at every turn the interests of their upwards of seven millions of policy holders. The Superintendent writes almost admiringly of the reduction and management expense of nearly 7 per cent. and in the large rate of approximately 10 per cent. Tersely stated, Mr. Hotchkiss shows that insurance for the masses is given practically at cost, and that the dividends to stockholders, limited by the by-laws of the Company to $140,000, were insignificant when compared with annual premium receipts of $70,000,000.

Nothing more clearly indicates the character of the service which the Company renders to its policy-holders than the unadorned statement that of the total claims presented for payment, only one-quarter of one per cent. was rejected; that the Company will voluntarily return to policy-holders in 1911 over $5,700,000 in cash bonuses, making a total of over $25,-000,000 thus returned, without any obligation of any kind on the part of the Company to do so.

One thing more should be mentioned here in this connection to prove the force of Superintendent Hotchkiss' statement. Since January 1, 1907, the Company has twice increased the benefits of new policies 10 per cent., and has set aside over $4,000,000 additional reserve to pay additions to policies in the shape of mortuary benefits.

Summarizing his conclusions, Superintendent Hotchkiss expresses his belief that Industrial insurance with premiums payable weekly to collectors is a necessity for the industrial masses, and that such insurance must be furnished either by private corporations or by the State. In his opinion however, the State is not ready to assume such a burden. We can readily believe that under the leadership of companies like the Metropolitan, as shown by Mr. Hotchkiss' report, Industrial insurance is in safe hands, and its further development can wisely be left to such companies.

CITIZENS' SERVICE IN CENTRAL PARK TO-MORROW

The arrangements for the Citizens' outdoor service in Central Park at 3 o'clock to-morrow (Good Friday) afternoon, have been completed, and the service will be held regardless of the weather conditions. The different ministers of the city will participate and the selected speakers are Rev. Canon Davidson and his Honour Judge Huycke. The musical portion of the programme will be led by the massed bands of the Hamilton and Peterborough Salvation Army—seventy musicians in all, and the service will be bright and profitable. The meeting will be one of the central features of the observance of Good Friday in the city and there should be a very large attendance.

BAD KICK FROM A HORSE

Mr. I. S. Kelly, of Markerville, Alta., says: "We have proved Zam-Buk of great value on the farm. I was kicked by a horse and sustained a nasty wound, which finally turned to an open sore. This caused me considerable pain, but as soon as Zam-Buk was applied I got relief. In a short time Zam-Buk completely healed the wound.

"My father sustained a bad burn on his leg, which for a long time would not heal. Zam-Buk healed it, and quickly brought on a covering of new, healthy skin all over the wound."

Zam-Buk is also a sure cure for eczema, ulcers, bad leg, piles, abscesses, cuts, scratches, burns, children's rashes, and all skin diseases. Obtainable, druggists and stores, everywhere, 50c. box, or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

Try Zam-Buk Soap for baby's bath and for skin rashes and blemishes. 25c. tablet.

MARRIAGES.

SHEARER—DALE.—On Wednesday, April 12th, 1911, by Rev. G. W. Henderson, of Charlotte street Methodist church, Frederick Nible Shearer and Florence May Dale, both of this city.

A WOMAN MADE HAPPY

"I could scarcely get about the house to attend to my work and felt miserable nearly all the time," writes Mrs. Alex. Buchanan, Island Brook, Que. "After using Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food my system is wonderfully built up. There is no further trouble from dizzy spells and stomach weakness, and with health and strength restored, life has a new pleasure for me."

"THE BLACK CROSS" TO COMMENCE ON SATURDAY

Examiner readers should not fail to read the opening instalments of the Examiner's new serial story, "The Black Cross" by Olive M. Briggs, which will commence on Saturday. Different in tone from some of its predecessors, it however is of Examiner standard in point of brightness and absorbing interest and will be, it is safe to say, as eagerly read as the other successful serials that the readers of the Examiner have been provided with through this paper. "The Black Cross" is a fascinating story of adventure, love and intrigue, with a well sustained and unusual plot and some clearly delineated characters who are as realistic as the people you meet on the street every day. You will enjoy every minute of "The Black Cross." Read the first instalment and be convinced.

Funeral Of Mr. F. J. Bell

Took Place This Afternoon Under Masonic Auspices

The funeral of Mr. F. J. Bell took place this afternoon from his late residence, George street, to Ray cemetery, Lakefield. The funeral cortege was large and exhibited the esteem in which the late Mr. Bell was held. He was a member of Corinthian Lodge, A. F. and A. M. and the funeral was under Masonic auspices. The pall-bearers were Messrs. E. A. Peck, H. Nesbitt, G. W. Bennett, R. J. Munro, H. C. Winch and J. D. Craig.

PRESENTATION MADE TO MR. R. N. MERRITT

A very interesting and instructive debate took place on Tuesday evening at Park Street Church, when the St. James' Literary and Debating Society met the Park Street Debating Society in the debate "Resolved that Reciprocity will lead to Annexation." The affirmative side was taken by W. Robinson and W. McLaren, representing St. James', and the negative side by G. Dawson, and R. Jackson, representing Park Street. The judges were Messrs. Collins and Garside. Some very interesting points were brought out on both sides, and some healthy discussion followed, which the crowd enjoyed. A good spirit prevailed throughout the debate. The judges decided that the affirmative side had won the debate, gaining the most points. Both pastors were present and gave a very interesting and short address.

SAVED SELF AND DAUGHTER

Mattoon, Ill.—"Will you allow me for the benefit of others who may be in the same condition as I was to make a statement in this paper.

"I was in very poor health for years, was weak, ailing, and all run down, and had lost in weight until I only weighed ninety pounds. I had been under a physician's care, without any benefit, for so long I was discouraged.

About a year ago I decided to try a tonic called Vinol, concerning which I had heard many favourable reports. I commenced to gain, and increased in weight until I now weigh 127 pounds, am in perfect health — and never felt better in my life.

Then, my daughter who lived in Martinsville, Ind., was an invalid, and no encouragement was held out for her recovery. After my experience with Vinol, we went to Martinsville and brought her to Mattoon, as she was helpless. When we got her here I put her on Vinol, with the same good results from it's use which I had—she gained in weight and to-day she is well and strong and feels better than she ever did in her life." Mrs. O. M. Watrous. (We guarantee this letter is genuine.)

We have for years recommended Vinol as a grand tonic and body builder, and every year we gain more and more faith in its wonderful virtues. It is certainly the best and simplest tonic restorative we know. McDermid and Jury, corner George and Charlotte streets; also Payne's drug store, corner George and Simcoe street.

SPLENDID DEBATE

An interesting event took place at the Collegiate Institute this morning when the teachers of the Collegiate assembled to say good-bye to Mr. R. N. Merritt, who, for the past five years, has been a member of the staff and who is leaving to accept the position of principal of the Newmarket High School. They incidentally showed their esteem for Mr. Merritt by presenting him with a very handsome travelling bag. He has been a very popular and useful citizen, not only in his profession, but socially, and as a member of the 57th Regiment and will be missed in many circles. His friends here will unite in wishing him every success in his new and important position in Newmarket.

500 MILES OF CARPET

Largest and Most Valuable Shipment Ever Made.

Carpet enough to lay a width the entire length of the main line of the New York Central from New York to Buffalo, thence to Niagara Falls and across the Niagara River into Canada. This is the stupendous shipment that will leave New York, Thursday, April 13, in a special train over half a mile long, made up of 60 freight cars, through from New York to San Francisco via the New York Central and Michigan Central Railroads and connections. It is the product of the Alexander Smith & Sons' Carpet Works, Yonkers, N.Y., and is the largest and most valuable single shipment ever made in this or any other country. The weight of the carpet is 1,500,000 lbs., and it is valued at about $1,000,000. It goes to supply the ever increasing demand on the Pacific Coast. Such a shipment even a decade ago would have been beyond the imagination of the most optimistic weaver, and is tangible evidence of the remarkable growth of the carpet weaving industry in America.

To make this carpet required the labour of 8,000 workers for eight days, an equivalent of one day's work for 64,000 operatives, and if it were piled up in rolls one on top another over an area of 400 square feet, it would over-top the Singer Building tower.

HOW TO LIVE LONG

With healthy kidneys, one has a good chance to live long, but weak kidneys afflict old age with great discomforts. The back becomes bent and lame, rheumatism is chronic, eyesight fails and too frequent or involuntary passages of the urine cause embarrassment by day and loss of sleep at night.

Booth's Kidney Pills

Booth's Kidney Pills bring new strength to old backs and quick relief to weakened kidneys. They banish backache and rheumatic pain, regulate the bladder and urine.

Booth's Kidney Pills are for sick, kidneys in old or young and are guaranteed by the proprietors, The R. T. Booth Co. Ltd., Fort Erie, Ont. Sold everywhere 50c. box. Free trial sent on request.

THE FIRST GOOD FRIDAY

And they crucified Him, and parted His garments, casting lots. * * And sitting down, they watched Him there and set up over His head His accusation: THIS IS JESUS THE KING OF THE JEWS. There were two thieves crucified with Him; one on the right and one on the left. * Jesus, when he had cried with a loud voice, yielded up the Ghost, and behold the veil of the temple was rent in twain, from the top to the bottom and the earth did quake and the rocks rent, and the graves were opened and many bodies of the saints which slept arose and came out of their graves after His resurrection, and went into the holy city and appeared unto many.

HALL'S EASTER SALE

Come, Compare and Criticize—That's What Our Easter Sale Is For

If you do this you cannot help but buy your Easter needs here. Surprisingly little prices rule. Quality and satisfaction guaranteed with every purchase.

Learn what other stores are offering. Then come here and compare. This is the best argument we have to offer. Our Easter stock is the last word. It is the finest showing of spring merchandise we ever assembled. A harmony of color and a wealth of selections form a combination that is unbeatable. We never held a sale of such far-reaching proportions—of such magnificent success. Every item offered has its coterie of admirers and buyers.

Even with the enormous inroads that have been made on our stocks, we are still in a position to fill your every want. You still have an opportunity to get your Easter Suit for less than actual cost. All those many little Easter wants can still be satisfied. We saw to it that our stock was ample enough to meet the demands of all. But—the sale ends Saturday—take our advice, attend at once.

HAVELOCK COUNCIL HOLDS MEETING

Special to The Examiner.

HAVELOCK, APRIL 13. — The annual meeting of the Girls' Guild was held at the residence of Mrs. (Dr.) Holderoft on Tuesday night last, 4th April, at 7.30 o'clock. The meeting was largely attended. The yearly report showed great success during the past year ,which is very encouraging. The following were elected to fill the offices for the ensuing year:

Superintendent—Mrs. (Dr.) Holdcroft.
President—Miss L. Henshall.
Vice-Pres.—Mrs. H. W. Roche.
Secretary—Miss E. Hogg.
Treasurer—Miss J. Barlow.

After the business part of the meeting a short time was spent in missionary study on China, papers being read by Misses Henshall, Barlow and Bryans, all of which proved very interesting.

Council met on Monday night, April 3rd, in the Council chamber at 8.00 o'clock.

Present, Reeve Knox, Councillors Weese, Phillips, Toman and Matheson, Councillor Toman having taken his declaration of office took his seat. Minutes of last meeting read and approved.

Moved by Phillips, seconded by Toman, that the following accounts be paid:

Electric lights, March	$ 21.41
School Board	450.00
S. S. Joyce	1.20

Mrs. Geo. Young and family left last week to reside in their new home, Bobcaygeon, where Mr. Young is employed on the C.P.R. Their many friends deeply regret their departure from Havelock, but send with them their best wishes for every prosperity and happiness in their new home.

Mr. Thomas Cummings, of Bancroft was home for a few days last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Brennan are visiting at the former's home at Gravenhurst, Muskoka.

Miss Hutchison, of the Public school staff, left last week for Toronto, where she has been engaged to teach on the city staff. Miss Chandler, of Norwood, has been engaged to fill the vacancy.

On Friday afternoon, March 31st previous to the departure of Miss Huchinson, the pupils of her class met and presented her with a beautiful ladies own companion, accompanied by the following address:

Dear Teacher,—We have learned with regret that you are about to leave us, having handed in your resignation to accept a position in Toronto. We feel it our duty to present you with this address and to express our sorrow at your departure. You have treated us very kindly during your stay. You have taught us in a kindly, patient manner, and we wish you to accept this small gift as a token of our respect and love for you. We hope you will have good success and a good time during your whole life.

Signed on behalf of the room,

THE POSTMASTER TELLS HIS FRIENDS

That They Should Use Dodd's Kidney Pills for Kidney Ills

He had Backache for a long time but Dodd's Kidney Pills cured it. That is why he recommends them.

Dyment, Ont., April 12.—(Special.)—John Oudberg, postmaster here, and well-known throughout this entire neighbourhood, is telling his friends that Dodd's Kidney Pills are the cure for all forms of Kidney Disease. And when they ask how he knows, this is the answer he gives:

"I was troubled with Backache for a long time and Dodd's Kidney Pills cured it. That's why I recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all sufferers from Kidney Disease."

And the postmaster is not the only one in this neighbourhood who has found relief from their Kidney ills in the old reliable remedy, Dodd's Kidney Pills. Others there are whose Rheumatism has been relieved, whose Dropsy has vanished, and whose Urinary Troubles have been cured. For if the disease is of the Kidneys, or caused by the Kidneys being out of order, Dodd's Kidney Pills never fail to cure.

Stainer's "Crucifixion" will be solemnly sung by St. John's Choir in the Church at 8 p.m. on Good Friday night. Invitation to all. Conductor, Mr. Richard J. Devey. Offertory for Choir Choral Music.

PETERBORO FIGURES IN WAR GAME

OTTAWA, APRIL 12.—A party of officers from the local forces of the Eastern Ontario command left Ottawa this morning for Brockville, where it will meet a party from Kingston, and carry out tactical exercises in continuation of the big war game now in progress between the officers of the Eastern Ontario command.

The two sides, red and brown, have been represented respectively by the Ottawa and Kingston garrisons. Col. Benson commanding the red, and Col. T. Hemming, D.O.C., Kingston, the brown. Its object is to afford the officers a chance to study strategical and tactical problems by working them out on a map, blocks representing troops.

The war was supposed to have started with Col. Benson's forces at Petawawa and Carleton Place. The force commanded by Col. Hemming was at Toronto and Peterborough. The latter's object was to get east of the Prescott and Ottawa railway, and the object of Col. Benson was to prevent him. The conflict will culminate within the next few days. Officers of the militia headquarters will give the decision. The competition is a most valuable one, and has aroused wide attention among military experts.

A UNIQUE SALE

The sale of fine chint, art ware, silks, etc. etc., in Japanese and other makes, which begins at 2.30 p.m. on Saturday 15th inst. at China Hall, should attract a large attendance. The stock is the finest that has ever been offered in a city the size of Peterborough, and as it is to be sold by auction and without reserve, the public of Peterborough should secure some rare bargains as the stock is really a beautiful one and must be disposed of as quickly as possible. A visit to the store will prove a real treat, as one would hardly believe that such beautiful goods could be sold in a town of this size. The sale will be watched with interest by the Peterborough public.

PRESENTATION MADE TO RETIRING MANAGER

Mr. C. J. Caley, Who Has Resigned His Position With the Peterborough Lock Company—Honoured by the Employees.

RECEIVES TEA SET.

Mr. C. J. Caley, Works Manager of the Peterborough Lock Company, has resigned his position and retired from active work to spend the balance of his time taking things more easily. Mr. Caley has been with the Peterborough Lock Company for about a year and will return to his former home on Friday morning.

Mr. Caley served his apprenticeship in the Norwich Lock Co. He was foreman with the Sargent Co., New Haven, Conn., for seven years and foreman of the Yale Towne Co. of Stamford, Conn., for nine years. For eleven years afterwards he was general superintendent and later general manager of the Russell Erwin Company of New Britain, Conn. He is a past master of the A.O.U.W., a member of B.P.O.E. Lodge of Elks, and of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. He is also a past president of the American Brass Founders' Association and vice-president of the American Foundrymen's Association, as well as a member of the Institute of Metals, London, Eng.

Last evening the employees of the company met in the shipping department and took Mr. Caley completely by surprise by presenting him with a very handsome silver tea service and an eulogistic address, read by Mr. E. H. Howson, the secretary of the Company, while the presentation was made by Mr. John Emmerson the foreman of the Tool Room. The address was as follows.

Dear Mr. Caley,—May we say that when it became known throughout the shop that you had resigned from the position of manager and intended leaving the end of the present week, it was felt by everyone in the factory that they would like an opportunity of meeting you in a body to have a handshake and say good-bye.

We feel in the present instance that we are not only taking leave of a friend, but also of a man who has always been willing to give us the benefit of his extensive knowledge of the hardware business, and give it in a gentlemanly way.

Your many good qualities will remain long in our memories and the improvements made by you in the factory will further strengthen this memory. We trust that this small remembrance that we now ask you to accept will, on your part, bring back to mind your old friends in the Lock Company.

We wish you and Mrs. Caley a safe journey home and every success and happiness in the future. May the dial that indicates the course of your lives from month to month always stand at fair weather, and that all good influences may radiate from your esteemed personality, doing good to others and prove a pleasure to yourself.

Signed on behalf of the employees of the Peterborough Lock Mfg. Co.

In reply Mr. Caley thanked the men for the assistance they had given him. He stated that he was not really leaving the company, but hoped to visit the plant from time to time and to keep as it were, a fatherly eye over them. He would always be ready to give them the benefit of his experience and if he could do anything for the former employees to increase their knowledge in hardware business, he asked them to communicate with.

Accompanied by Mrs. Caley, he leaves to-morrow for his home in New Haven, Connecticut.

VOTE ON SEPARATION OF CHURCH AND COLLEGE

A Queen's graduate, writing on the method of taking the vote as to the future relations of Queen's and the Presbyterian church, puts the case says the Globe, forcibly, as well as wittily, when he says: "Reference has been made to the fact that the graduates of Queen's have been asked to vote for one of two plans: (1) Separation from the church, or (2) a modified connection. Those graduates who want to vote for the retention of the present connection are given no chance to express themselves. The University trustees' reference of the question to the graduates is like the negro preacher who told his flock: 'Breddern, dere am just two roads for you to take. Dere am de road that leads to damnation and de narrow way dat takes you to perdition.' 'Is dat so brudder?' said a venerable darkey in the audience. 'Is dat so brudder? Den dis nigger mus' take to de woods.'

MUSIC AND DRAMA

THE JOY RIDER.

There was only a fair-sized audience at the Grand last night to see George Sidney in his new musical frolic "The Joy Rider," but those who were there had the laugh on the stay-at-homes. "The Joy Rider," a quick-moving melange of girls, songs, and funny mix-ups proved one of the most entertaining propositions of the season and cornered the laugh market early in the proceedings. George Sidney, as Busy Izzy, was one of the funniest comedians seen here this season, his Hebrew delineation being a scream from start to finish. He was surrounded with a capable corps of giggle dispensers of which Dick Hume, as Dip Whipple, a detective with a nose like a pike-pole and a voice like Hon. Rich. McBride's, was decidedly funny. The situations were not strikingly novel, but the company got the most out of them. Carrie Webber was very pleasing as Merri Lee, and the biz chorus left nothing to be desired, either in the way of looks or costumes. The song numbers were generous in quantity and catchy, if reminiscent and quality. The funniest feature was a very amusing shadowgraph burlesque of the Jeffries-Johnson fight, which brought down the house.

their faculties. Longevity seems to be a habit with the Rose family. His sister who lives with him is almost eighty years of age, but appears years younger, and Mr. Rose's mother succeeded in reaching her centenary. In this connection the following extract from the Sittingbourne (St. Michael's) Parish Magazine of August 1895 will be of interest: "Notwithstanding the alleged unhealthiness of our town and neighbourhood, there are many who have gone beyond the "three score years and ten." Notably is the very remarkable age of Mrs. Rose, late of 16 Murston Road, now living with her son at Milton." The following is an extract from the Baptismal Register of Lenham Parish church, 'Baptism 1795, Sept. 8, Anne dr. of Isaac and Elizabeth Burton." Allowing her to be about a month old at the time of her baptism, she will attain her centenary about the first week in August. At the age of 19 she left Lenham, where she was born and went to service at Bobbing. Here she remained for four years, then married and from that time till now she has lived in Sittingbourne and Milton. This remarkable old lady, up to the time of writing is active, sleeps well, and has a good appetite, her memory also being clear. She has two sisters, one of which reached the age of 98, the other lived up 103. Strange to relate, her three brothers died before they were fifty. Her children number 9, grandchildren 55, great grandchildren 101 and great great grandchildren 28. For more than 66 years our aged friend has been a member of the Wesleyan body; her daughter, Mrs. Smith, 16 Marston Road, aged 74 has in possession over 200 quarterly tickets of her membership."

"HER IDEAL"

A Short Story

The playmate of his childhood, he loved her better than aught else in life—and she?

"Jack, that skate is not nearly tight enough. If you can't fasten my skates better than that I shall have to go to someone else."

He looked up into her face almost beseechingly.

"It is very well to put pleading into your eyes, but it won't prevent me from falling if the skate gets loose."

He laughed.

"Oh, Jessie—Bessie! Can I never please you?"

Her look of satisfaction with his efforts did not seem to displease him.

Perhaps his belief in himself and his social position made him think himself to an extent infallible. That she was not of this opinion less interested eyes might have observed.

Yet to some her charms, and she liked him—was good to him as one is to an old clock—or a riveted cup, from which we would part with regret.

He was a well-developed young fellow, not lacking the strength women so hugely appreciate, handsome and honest looking withal.

Bessie Vernon might find a worse parti than her cousin, Jack Trevelyan, on whom, however, she seemed to set but little store, partly because all her relations were bent on her marrying him, since Jack was heir to a baronetcy and a considerable fortune; but what girl who believes in love, and the feminine fallacy that life contains only one man with whom it is worth living, ever gives any consideration to social position or the pleasures that gold can produce. "Bessie was romantic," so her mother, Lady Vernon said; "when she was a little older she would have more sense."

Would she? That was a question that two rival men would have to decide between them, perchance even on that bright December day.

For the moment Jack Trevelyan was having an innings, and he was permitted to adjust the skates on the tiny, dainty feet. Later, when they circulated among the skaters, he might not find that he still held first place.

Branksome pool, where the ice was thick and strong, was some three miles from Hurst Grove where the Vernons lived. That Bessie had been allowed to go there, under Jack's escort showed the esteem he was held in by the paternal authorities, who had given it as their intention that they would drive over with a hot luncheon and eventually take the young people back in the carriage.

When Sir Hugh and Lady Vernon arrived, which they did about two o'clock not a sign of either Bessie or Jack was to be seen; though the pond was by no means extensive, and the ice was bearing firmly.

Lady Vernon put on an anxious expression, but Sir Hugh treated the matter quite jovially, as was his wont; nevertheless, he went on to the ice, and soon met some acquaintances.

"Seen Bessie and Jack?" he asked. "We've brought luncheon for them, but I can't find them anywhere."

"Not for a long time. Quite early they were skating."

This was the invariable answer, and such a very constrained, enigmatical expression came into the faces of those whom he questioned, that even cheery Sir Hugh was beginning to feel a worrying amount of perplexity. "Where the deuce can they be?" he muttered, as having gone twice round the pond he still could discover no trace of them, "and what the devil do these people mean by looking as if they had eloped"—and at this part of his own soliloquy he laughed. "Not likely! I am afraid Bessie does not care enough about poor old Jack to elope with him."

Still, notwithstanding this little aside, Sir Hugh scarcely appeared as suave and benign as usual when he returned to the carriage, and informed his wife that he could not find the children anywhere, and that "people looked what they did not say."

Lady Vernon, womanlike, jumped far more quickly at a conclusion than did easy going Sir Hugh. "See there is Lady Frampton," she said. "Ask her if she has seen anyone with Jack and Bessie to-day—or stop, let me get out of the carriage and speak to her."

"No, no, my love. You will catch your death of cold."

So saying Sir Hugh went up to Lady Frampton and put the suggested question, of which he, however, did not see the gist.

It brought Lady Frampton to the carriage.

"Can you throw any light on the very strange conduct of my daughter and nephew, who were told to expect us with luncheon, but who have absented themselves, in the most mysterious way?" asked Lady Vernon, speaking with dignity, though Lady Frampton was a familiar friend.

"I am afraid I can," was the answer. "Louis Mieville was on the ice this morning."

"Mieville?" interrupted Sir Hugh, "what a ridiculous, foreign name!"

"And he is a ridiculous foreign person," put in his wife, "nevertheless he is Bessie's ideal."

"Gob bless my soul, Matilda—you have never told me about this. How very remiss of you. I would at once have stopped foreign danglers."

"I thought the man had left the country, and I did not want to worry you, Hugh dear."

"Absurd! I am the individual that ought to have been worried, especially as, from the look on their faces, everyone in the county knows more than I do about my own daughter."

Without answering him, once more the anxious mother turned to Lady Frampton.

"I do not understand how the coming of this Mieville accounts for the absence of these two children."

"Nor do I. All I can tell you is, they were all three here together this morning. None of them are here now."

"Perhaps it is a mere coincidence," was the feeble hope, feebly uttered, while Lady Vernon looked white and troubled.

"You look as cold as if you had got a chill. I must insist on your driving home. I will look about for them myself, meanwhile, trusty fur, at once, Matilda, and send the carriage back to bring us home when I have found them."

Of course it was Sir Hugh who thus dictated, but his wife was not inclined to be obedient.

"No—no. Let me stay, Hugh. To go home alone would make me too miserable."

Instead of acquiescing, Sir Hugh shouted:

"See there is Jack!"

"But Bessie is not with him," was the mother's whisper to herself.

"Where is Bessie?" asked the anxious parents as in one voice.

"I don't know," was the by no means inspiring answer.

"You do not know, Jack, yet you were placed in charge, therefore responsible," and Sir Hugh, angry and anxious, spoke to the point. The younger man winced, while Lady Vernon asked eagerly.

"How and where did you lose her?"

Jack hung his head. He also was angry—and ashamed.

"She went along the little backwater towards the Mill with Mieville. They said there was good skating there. You know where I mean, Uncle Hugh."

"Perfectly; but why did you not go with them?"

"I did, of course, but I had not proceeded far before one of my skates came off, by the time I had managed to re-arrange it they were out of sight."

"And you followed?"

"To the Mill—yes. Jessop, the miller, said he knew nothing about them, and had not seen them."

"And you believed him?"

"No, I did not, but I could see nothing of them myself, I waited there for more than half an hour, and then I returned, hoping they, for some reason, had preferred the pathway, and that I should find them here."

"Do you know this Mieville?"

"I know him to be the most abject cur and villain in Great Britain. If ever I come across him I will pay him out for this day's work."

"So!"

Sir Hugh looked thoughtful and crestfallen. That his daughter—his Bessie—he had ever passed as a man who held his head above the heads of most people—should make herself notoriously county-talk was indeed a bitter pill for him to swallow.

Though baffled as he apparently was, he was not the man to allow himself to appear crushed.

"It is useless waiting here," he said. "Get into the carriage, Jack. No doubt we shall find Bessie there on our return."

Lady Vernon shook her head, and some tears quietly dropped, but she did not remonstrate.

Poor woman, she was petrified by the cold, which was intense, and she had not an atom of resistance left.

"Had I not better stay, Uncle Hugh?" suggested Jack.

"Certainly not. If Bessie has chosen to go off with that fellow, she must choose to return with him!"

Almost heart-broken, for he loved Bessie very dearly, and determined to wreak full vengeance on Mieville, whenever he came across him, Jack got into the carriage.

In the conclusion he had arrived at Sir Hugh was correct. Bessie was standing on the door-step laughing as they drove up to the front door at the Grove.

It was not, however, with laughter that she was received, but with ominous disapproval and coldness. Never in all his life before had Sir Hugh shown so much anger at the not infrequently wayward behaviour of his "dear, sweet Bessie," while Lady Vernon said nothing. She showed her feelings in tears, and as for Jack, he was glum and savage looking, as if the bank in which all his wealth was stored had collapsed—perhaps he thought it had.

"Whatever has happened to you people? Has the cold got into your marrow?" asked the girl, with an amount of flippancy, that under the circumstances jarred, even on her usually indulgent father.

He spoke in a loud angry voice.

"What do you mean by careering about the country with a low scoundrel, whom you scarcely know, and giving all this trouble and anxiety? Is not Jack good enough for you? Since you went out with him, could you not remain with him?"

Spoilt as she had always been, Bessie was surprised by her father's unusual tone, which was so furious she dared not retaliate, so she rounded on Jack.

"You sneak," she said, "so you have been telling and complaining."

Jack's anger, which during the last hour had been by no means dormant was now thoroughly awakened, and he in his turn answered fiercely:—

"I shall know how to speak plainly to the fellow who has played me this scurvy trick. Only let me come across him—there will not be many whole bones left in his body."

"Indeed! And by such means you think to win me, to keep me from—"

"Silence. Go to your room," thundered Sir Hugh, who had suddenly become alive to the fact that the servants were witnesses of this unpleasant family broil.

"I will not go to my room till I have told you about Mr. Mieville—"

Sir Hugh again interrupted.

"Jack and I will know how to deal with the fellow. We don't want your assistance. Go to your room."

Bessie thus summarily ordered, felt compelled to obey, but as she did so she said to her mother, who followed her—

"Why there should be such a storm in a teacup because I skated with a pleasant man, and then came home through the woods I can't imagine."

"But Bessie, it was not the right thing to do, indeed it was not—and poor Jack!"

"Bother Jack! He has been my slave all my life—why this fuss now? He is not to be compared to Mieville who is my ideal of what a man should be."

"Oh, Bessie, I have always hoped that you would marry Jack."

"Indeed!"

"And to think that this Mr. Mieville, this varrien, should have come between you, while Jack is as brave and true as any man in England."

Bessie tossed her head.

"We will not discuss the subject further, mother, because evidently we shall not agree."

She had by this time taken off her hat and warm wraps, and was sitting in front of a good fire, with her feet on the fender, for the December day was waning, and Bessie, though her replies were tart and off-hand, was not in her inmost heart absolutely satisfied with her own conduct. She liked Jack from long usage, but she could not believe that she loved him.

"Poor Jack," she thought, "I have treated him rather barbarously, but is not Louis Mieville a man to make a girl forget everyone else on earth."

The current of her thoughts was temporarily broken by Lady Vernon putting the material question, "Will you have some luncheon?"

The answer, "Thank you, I have lunched," so stirred the mother's curiosity and anxiety about "the child's conduct" that, fearing she had no more to say, she went off in search of her husband and nephew.

She urgently wanted to find out what they had in their minds to do, for she saw plainly they were both in a mood for violence.

Sir Hugh was chewing the cud of his ill-temper in his own den, that is he was smoking with very vigorous puffs. Jack Trevelyan had apparently absented himself.

It was of Jack rather than of her husband that Lady Vernon was thinking, in that hour of trouble about Bessie.

"Where is he—where is Jack?" she asked in the subdued voice that women assume when they are frightened.

Sir Hugh did not know where Jack was, though he said he might probably have gone to look at the horses, as he often did at that hour.

He was not, however, particularly agreeable or communicative. He was angry with his wife for keeping him ignorant about Bessie's penchant for "that fellow Mieville," and not being one of those husbands who habitually quarrel with their wives, he preferred to say nothing, rather than enter into a bitter discussion.

That he had had one with Jack, who it now appeared had also known—to his own keen sorrow—of several meetings between his cousin and this Mieville, did not make Sir Hugh any the more desirous to thresh the matter out again with her ladyship. Finding she could gain no information from Sir Hugh, Lady Vernon went into what was called "the little drawing-room," where the family usually met for five o'clock tea, and took her seat in her own particular arm-chair by the fire.

There was, however, no chatter and laughter round the tea-table on that cold December afternoon. The atmosphere was as dull inside the room as it was without, and not even the large logs, which in anticipation of approaching Christmas had been placed on the fire, would keep the solitary lady warm.

Sir Hugh did not come for the one strong cup he daily drank under protest that it was "unmanly stuff."

"Mr. Trevelyan," the butler said, "was not in the house," and even Bessie, who at that hour was always full of chatter and fun did not put in an appearance.

Lady Vernon's nerves were wrought to such a pitch of tension that she felt that she could endure the silence and the suspense no longer.

"What has happened? What was going to happen? Something," she felt certain.

She had a strong belief in presentiment, and that trouble lay athwart her life, she felt sure.

She rang the bell.

"Tell her maid to inform Miss Bessie that tea is ready."

Several moments passed while the order drifted into the proper channel. They seemed an eternity to Lady Vernon, so anxious was she, without quite knowing why she should be so.

At last the butler returned with the answer that Miss Bessie was not in her room.

Lady Vernon had the greatest difficulty in repressing a scream. It was only a strong desire that the servant should not observe her anxiety that forced her into controlling herself.

With the enforced control came the reflection that to be anxious was silly. "Of course, Bessie had gone out to find Jack, and make up the difference they had had about that wretched Mieville."

Even while these thoughts were flitting about her mind a vigorous ring came at the front door bell.

That visitors could have arrived, at that hour, she could not for a moment deceive herself into imagining, and the colour faded out of her cheeks as she wondered who it could possibly be.

Once more she pulled herself together, and went into the hall.

The outer door already had been opened, and the winter's blast curled in out of the darkness, penetrating and chill.

There was a murmuring and a fuss as of several people talking in muffled tones.

"What is it, Mason? What is it?" she asked, speaking to the butler.

"Mr. Trevelyan, my lady—he is hurt."

"Hurt—merciful heaven."

A few rapid strides, and she was beside a roughly made litter on which Jack lay unconscious.

"Is he dead?" she asked, in a dead level voice. All feelings for the moment being apparently dormant.

"Oh, no—no," was the cheery answer from the head gamekeeper. "He'll be all right, my lady—it he's tended and nursed."

"But what has happened—was it an accident?"

"Not exactly an accident—a quarrel: but let us get the young gentleman up to bed—I've sent for Dr. Jenks."

As Sir Hugh arrived on the scene, to ask what all the commotion was about, Bessie came in at the open door.

In the electric light, which filled the hall with brilliancy, she looked pale and wild-featured—totally unlike the bright girl everyone was accustomed to see.

Though she was clad in warm wraps, she had no hat on her head, and the strong wind, which had evidently carried it away, had blown her hair about her shoulders. She had fortunately reached the threshold of her home, for it seemed as if her tottering footsteps refused to take her any further.

She held out her arms as though seeking support and refuge.

It was Lady Vernon who took the sobbing child to her heart.

"Save him—save Jack—it is all my fault—save him."

Roused into activity by circumstances, Lady Vernon was no longer limp and frightened.

"Call Renton," she said, turning to Sir Hugh, "she can look after the child while I go to Jack."

"No, no," cried Bessie, pulling herself together with an effort, "I am going to Jack myself."

Strength seemed suddenly to have returned to her; before anyone could stop her she sprang up the stairs to the room where they had already laid Jack on the bed. He had just opened his eyes, when Bessie knelt down beside him.

"Jack—dear Jack. Say you forgive me. I have been selfwilled and blind—but, Jack, only get well and I will never love anybody but you."

Her mother, who had followed, tried to get her away, fearful lest excitement might endanger Jack's life, but Dr. Jenks, who had arrived most opportunely, stopped too hasty interference.

"A little love never kills," he said in his jocose way, "still, young lady, I should like to find out what injury my young friend has received. Suppose you go into another room and rest yourself a bit. You shall come back presently."

Only retaining Sir Hugh and Laurie, the keeper, whose aid he knew was valuable, he sent all the others away.

Once in her own room, where Bessie was led by her mother, she sat and sobbed and cried, as if her heart would break. It was only in the most disjointed way that Lady Vernon could arrive at knowing what had occurred.

"It is all my fault—I went out to meet Mieville—went more out of bravado than from inclination—because Jack was so jealous and angry—more angry than I thought he had any right to be, and now—oh dear—mother, do you think Jack will die?"

"No, love—no—but what happened? Did they fight?"

"Jack met us, and asked me to come away with him. I refused and then he went for Mieville with his doubled fists, and called him vile, rude names—asked him how he dared lure me out of my father's house—then—then—oh, mother to think I should have called such a man 'my ideal'—Mieville took a knife out of his pocket and stabbed Jack."

"A knife, child—what sort of knife?"

"A long foreign looking knife. I believe he would have killed Jack only my screams brought Laurie to the rescue, and Mieville ran away. Laurie I think has the knife."

At the recollection of the scene, Bessie once more broke down and sobbed convulsively. "What a Christmas we shall have, and I thought it was going to be so jolly," she said at last, looking up through her tears.

"And so it will be—jolly—Miss Bessie, though you don't deserve it," said Dr. Jenks, who came into the room. "It wants a fortnight to Christmas—by then my good friend Jack will be fully ready to punch the head of any other lover you may think fit to start."

"No more lovers, Dr. Jenks. Never again will I listen to any man."

"Stop—stop, young lady. You forget Jack. If you tell him you won't listen to him I won't answer for his life. Even mere flesh wounds want kind treatment."

"May I go and tell him that I will listen to him?" asked Bessie meekly.

"You may, if you will only stay three minutes."

It was Christmas Eve, and Dr. Jenks' promise of betterment had been fulfilled.

Jack was convalescent and was the life and spirit of a large party of young relations, who had arrived, as they did every year, to keep high revel at First Grove.

On the faces of both Sir Hugh and Lady Vernon content and happiness smiled. Their spoilt child was absolutely forgiven, and all recollection of Louis Mieville and the trouble he had occasioned, was apparently forgotten. Since he had gone off abroad, afraid of the consequences of his intemperate act, and Sir Hugh and Jack in order to avoid scandal, had made no search for him, he would they knew annoy them no more. Only over Bessie's brow even during these days of joy and mirth there came an occasional dark shadow. No one, however, noticed it but Jack, and he fell to wondering why it should be there. At last he asked the meaning, it was his right to ask now, since he was her acknowledged fiance.

"Oh, Jack, how can you expect me to forget? That 'ideal' will always stalk about my life like a nightmare. I don't believe the day will ever dawn when, during some hours of it, the recollection of the pain and torment I have brought you, will not darken even the brightest joy."

"Dearest Bessie, the 'ideal' is dead, and must be buried forthwith. If you really care for the living man with his many imperfections—love him—love him only, and think no more of the past, which has ceased to fill any place in my mind. Say, little woman—you will promise—won't you—that, if my love is sufficient for you, forthwith you will think only of me."

"Only of you, Jack—only of you."

Under the mistletoe that hung over their heads the past was sealed by a loving kiss.

BIG LEAGUE BASEBALL SEASON NOW OPEN

Some Loosely Played Games Yesterday in Both Leagues—Cincinnati Bumped 14 to 0 by Pittsburg—Earl Moore's Great Pitching Against the Giants.

THE NATIONAL OPENING GAMES.

New York, April 12.—A pitchers' duel, which went for eight innings without score and ended in the ninth with two runs for Philadelphia, marked the opening game of the season here to-day. Over 30,000 noisy fans filled the Polo grounds. The city's Chief Executive gave official distinction to the opening. Mayor Gaynor tossed out the ball, and under a clear sky, albeit a bit chilly, real baseball began. Ames twirled sensationally for six innings, not allowing a hit, but he weakened toward the end. With two men out and men on second and third Luderus, the Philadelphia first baseman, hammered out a two-bagger against the left field fence, driving in Lobert and Paskert. Score by innings:

	R.	H.	E.
Philadelphia	00000002	2	4	1
New York	00000000	0	2	2

Batteries—Moore and Dooin; Ames and Meyers. Umpires—Johnstone and Eason.

Boston, April 12.—Timely hitting in the eighth inning won for the Boston Nationals their first game from Brooklyn at the Walpole street grounds this afternoon. The game was anybody's up to the eighth inning, when the visitors connected with Brown, the local pitcher, and secured a single run before the side was out. With Boston up, a pass, followed by an error and a two bagger, gave the home team two runs and the game. The usual ceremonies marked the opening of the game, Mayor Fitzgerald threw the first ball, and President Lynch was a guest. Score by innings:

	R.	H.	E.
Brooklyn	00000010	1	4	1
Boston	00000002x	2	5	1

Batteries—Brown and Graham; Barger and Bergen. Umpires—Klem and Doyle.

Cincinnati, April 12.—Pittsburg overwhelmed Cincinnati this afternoon by a score of 14 to 0 in the opening game of the season. Both the Cincinnati pitchers were hit hard and often, while Adams for Pittsburg was well nigh invincible, holding Cincinnati to four scattered hits. Byrne's batting was the feature of the game, he getting five hits and a base on balls out of the six times that he faced the pitcher. Cincinnati played miserably in the field. Score by innings:

	R.	H.	E.
Pittsburg	00172020	14	17	1
Cincinnati	00000000	0	4	6

Batteries — Adams and Gibson; Fromme, Tannehill and McLean and Clarke.

Chicago, April 12. — The National League baseball season in Chicago was inaugurated to-day, with St. Louis as opponents, when Carter Harrison, Mayor-elect, tossed the first ball into the diamond. After eleven innings the teams were on even terms and the umpire announced that the game was called on account of darkness. The final count was 3 to 3. Score by innings:

	R.	H.	E.
Chicago	10000101000	3	10	0
St. Louis	30000000000	3	4	1

Batteries—Reulbach, Weaver and Kling; Salee and Bresnahan. Umpires—Rigler and Finneran.

THE AMERICAN LEAGUE OPENING.

Philadelphia, April 12.—New York defeated the world's champion Athletics this afternoon in the opening game of the American League season here by 2 to 1. Vaughn pitched remarkable ball for the visitors and only three hits, two doubles and an infield single were made off him. Philadelphia's run was the result of a muff of Bender's fly by Wolter, and Hogan's two-bagger. Before the game began Collins was presented with an automobile. Score by innings:

	R.	H.	E.
New York	00100010	2	7	3
Philadelphia	00001000	1	4	3

Batteries—Vaughn and Blair; Bender and Thomas. Umpires—Evans and Egan.

Washington, April 12.—For the second time during his term as Chief Executive, President Taft to-day officially opened the American League baseball season. From his box in the new grand stand at the local grounds he tossed the first ball to Pitcher "Dolly" Gray of the Washington team and saw Washington romp away from Boston in a very ragged game by a score of 8 to 5.

A crowd estimated at 16,000, breaking all Washington records, cheered the President first, and then forgot all about him when in the sixth innings the home team, over coming a lead piled up by the visitors in the third and fourth innings, batted Wood out of the box and scored six runs.

The Boston team did not make a very good impression, its fielding being decidedly off colour.

"Uncle" Nick Young, former President of the National League, was one of the distinguished spectators. Score by innings:

	R.	H.	E.
Boston	02020010	5	7	4
Washington	00001601x	8	10	2

Batteries—Wood and Gleinow; Gray and Street. Umpires—Connolly and Mullen.

St. Louis, Mo., April 12.—Twelve thousand spectators saw St. Louis go to the Cleveland pitchers for sixteen hits, and win the opening game of the local American League season by a score of 12 to 3. The visitors used three pitchers and ragged fielding added to the locals' score. Score by innings:

	R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	10351002x	12	16	1
Cleveland	02000001	3	9	7

Batteries — Powell and Clarke; Blanding, Ringling, Gregg and Smith. Umpires—O'Loughlin and Dineen.

FARMERS TELL OF BUYING FEED FROM THE PRISONER SHEARER

The charge in the assault case, which was postponed yesterday morning, was withdrawn. The charge was laid against Mr. Coulter, by Andrew Gray, two men working at the new Power House. Gray withdrew the charge and paid the costs, which amounted to $2.90.

Frank Burns and Michael Hurst, who stated that they came from Belleville, and were on their way to Lindsay, were arraigned before his Worship Magistrate Dumble on a charge of vagrancy. Neither would plead, but proceeded to explain the circumstances of their visit to this city. Burns stated that he had arrived here the day before yesterday, and was arrested in a local hotel. The Chief asked that they be remanded for a week, in order that he could find out what their record was like. The remand was accordingly made.

Herbert Niff was charged with refusing to pay Mrs. Robert Glover for work she had done for his family. Mrs. Glover appeared against him, and stated that she had worked for thirteen days, and when she had asked for her pay, she was answered that none was due her.

His Worship told Niff to pay the $12 but that he had told her he would pay her as soon as he could get the money. He had been out of work, and his wife was sick, so that he had not been working, and just as he had got work, she asked for the money. His Worship told Neff to pay the $12 to the City Clerk or to the Chief inside of eight days and they would pay Mrs. Glover.

Ross McColl, John Copperswaite, and Joe Shearer were again arraigned before his Worship Magistrate Dumble this morning. But as Louis Houdrey, one of the necessary witnesses was sick in the Hospital, it was necessary to remand the case for a week from to-morrow. McColl and Copperswaite were allowed to go on the promise that they would appear on that date, but it was deemed prudent to remand Shearer.

G. W. Hatton appeared for the farmers who, it is said, received the goods, and R. E. Wood, K.C., prosecuted. G. N. Gordon appeared for the defence. Mr. Gordon asked that Shearer be allowed to change his election, but this was not granted.

The farmers implicated in the case are respectable men of Otonabee and in the evidence told a straightforward story. Only one of those connected with the case, gave evidence. He stated that he got feed from Houdrey's mill on the first of February. He had not gone there for feed, but went after some seed peas, and when he went in he met Shearer coming out of the office. He asked me if I wanted any damaged feed and I replied that I did. He said the witness offered them to me for 50 cents per sack, and I took six sacks. I paid him $3.00 and took the feed home. My father was sick at the time and did not see the feed for three or four days. The feed was branded "Red Dog." The second time I went to the mill, Shearer was there as the first time, and came out as before, and asked me if I wanted any more of that feed. I replied that I did. I went several times and got in all about 46 bags ($23.00 worth). The last time I was there was the 29th of March. Shearer was there, also two other boys, who are in Court—McColl and Copperswaite. I thought that Shearer was an employee. He told me, the last time, that they were going to divide the money between themselves, and a fellow they called Louis. Another man with a gray team also came for feed."

At this stage in the evidence it was necessary to remand on account of the absence of Mr. Houdrey.

POST CARD COLUMN

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir,—We regard the statement of the Hon. J. R. Stratton, made at the service held at the Salvation Army Barracks in reference to the Higher Critics as true and timely. We are pleased to find that we have some laymen and ministers who do proclaim this teaching as false and dangerous.

When a minister will take a whole service in denying the miraculous gift of tongues on the day of Pentecost, one of the greatest and grandest events in connection with the establishment of the Christian church; when a minister will, during two services, hold up before the young and the old, as he supposes errors and contradictions of the Bible and at another service proclaim that God did not appear to Adam as is recorded in the Book of Genesis, we think, unless we regard the Bible as false and misleading, that it is time for us Christians to speak out in no mistakeable language against this false teaching, although we may be called by them, narrow-minded and ignorant.

Yours,

"B."

ENTERTAINED IN THE WEST

Lethbridge Herald: Mrs. C. F. P. Conyoeare invited a very few of the younger set in last night for a game of cards with F. L. Roy, of Peterborough, who was a guest at "Riverview" during his short visit in the city. Games were in play at three tables, "500" at two and "bridge" at the other. A shower of crimson carnation lent brightness to the drawing room, and the attractive supper table was centred with a tall cut glass vase holding similar flowers in pink and white. The favours, both popular books, were awarded to Gladys Downer for the highest "500" score and Mr. Martindale for bridge.

Don't Let the Tape Line Fool You

There's a certain air of mystery about a custom tailor and his tape-line, that seems to befog the minds of many men. They cling to this old method of buying clothes in spite of constant repetitions of misfit & dissatisfaction.

Try, this Spring, the better way—the "Sovereign Brand" way—that permits you to select the style you think best suits you—and then make sure it suits you by trying it on before you buy.

Scientific methods to-day enable us to produce, not only "better value" clothes than is possible by "Special Orders" stunts and custom tailor methods—but also to produce in "Sovereign Brand" a better fit for every varying type of physique.

There is a shop in your town who's Sovereign Brand Clothes are on sale. Why not find that shop to-day and settle this clothes question for all time.

Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

OF NEW YORK

JOHN R. HEGEMAN, President

INSURANCE SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

The New York Insurance Department has had the Company under examination, pursuant to law, for about fifteen months. After this examination the Superintendent of Insurance said:

THOROUGHNESS.—"It is thought that no Company of this character under the supervision of any Insurance Department in the United States has ever been so thoroughly examined by such a Department."

PAYMENT OF CLAIMS.—"The claims received averaged from 600 to 800 each working day; the percentage of rejections is small, being in 1909 less than one-half of one per cent."

CAREFUL INVESTMENTS.—"On an investment of $100,000,000 in real estate mortgages this Company now holds through foreclosure but one piece of realty."

INDUSTRIAL POLICIES AT COST.—"On this basis this Company, from all of its departments, added to its surplus in 1909, after setting aside in that year as a liability its dividends and bonuses for 1910, about $800,000; in other words, the volume of its business being considered, seems to have furnished insurance substantially at cost."

PROGRESSIVE MANAGEMENT.—The Department Report shows during the last five years:

Reduction in the ratio of expense to premium income.. 7.13%
Reduction in the ratio of lapse to issue..... 10.36%
Reduction of cancellations in first year of insurance.. 8.92%

ORDINARY DEPARTMENT

In 1910 the Company wrote a larger amount of Ordinary business in the United States and Canada than any other company, by TWENTY MILLIONS!

In 1910 the Company placed Ordinary Insurance up to the Limit of the Law and was obliged to hold back hundreds of thousands of dollars of insurance by reason of the New York statute limiting amount in any one year.

MORAL: Get in early this year and avoid the rush at the end. Best plans; cheapest rates; all policies non-participating—that is, the money is not collected on promise of repayment in dividends, but is left in the pockets of the insured by reduction of premium.

INDUSTRIAL DEPARTMENT

OLD POLICIES.—A bonus has been declared to Industrial policy-holders amounting to nearly

SIX MILLIONS OF DOLLARS

payable in 1911 on Whole Life and Increasing Life and Endowment policies issued prior to 1907, which bonuses give reduction of premiums varying, according to period of persistence, from

EIGHT TO ONE HUNDRED PER CENT.

The Company added not one dollar to surplus at the end of 1910 out of income from Industrial policies.

NEW POLICIES.—The benefits on policies issued since January 1, 1907, are over

TWENTY PER CENT. GREATER than the benefits promised by policies issued previously.

In the last eighteen years it has declared

TWENTY-FIVE MILLIONS OF DOLLARS

in voluntary bonuses over and above all requirements of policies.

WELFARE WORK FOR POLICY-HOLDERS

Extracts from the Report of the Superintendent of Insurance of the State of New York.

"No summary of this examination of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company would be complete which omitted reference to certain agencies for social service which it has inaugurated and is now conducting."

"CAMPAIGN AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS.—Among the activities of this Company begun since the Armstrong investigation is its participation in the nation-wide crusade against tuberculosis. As to policy-holders, its work has thus far been confined to the dissemination of the literature of prevention and instruction; a work which its great Agency force and close contact with the industrial classes makes easy, as well as effective. As a matter of mere business economics, the Company's activities in this direction entitle it to the approval of the Department."

"NURSING SYSTEM.—About two years ago this Company inaugurated a system whereby trained nurses would, upon request, be sent to the homes of sick or bedridden policy-holders in its Industrial Department. . . . While this service has been but recently established, and while, therefore, the examiners are in some doubt as to its ultimate effectiveness either from the standpoint of saving the lives of policy-holders or minimizing unhealthy conditions, no one can make a personal investigation into what has already been done without being profoundly impressed with, not only the economic, but, more, the beneficent value of the work. Numerous cases where lives have been saved are already on record. Many instances showing improvement in home conditions due to the visits of the nurses are known."

LARGEST COMPANY IN THE WORLD

The largest amount of insurance in force of any Company in the world—$2,215,851,388, covering 11,288,054 policies.
In 1910 the Company made the largest gain in insurance in force of any Company in the world.

WEDDING BELLS

MONTGOMERY—HOWELL.

A very pretty house wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, April 12, at the home of Mr. J. W. Gardiner, when Miss Izabel Howell, the only daughter of Mr. Richard Howell of when Miss Lizabel Howell, the only bonds of matrimony to Dr. Wilson Montgomery of Embro, Woodstock, formerly of Bailieboro.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Clarry of Cavan, in the presence of the immediate family and a few of the friends. The bride who was given away by her uncle, looked charming in a travelling suit of brown serge, with hat to match. The groom's gift to her was a check for one hundred dollars.

After the ceremony the bridal party accompanied by their friends, drove to the station, and the happy couple left on the 4.50 p.m. train for their home in Embro, Woodstock.

Among the many presents received by the bride was a check for one hundred dollars, a gift from her uncle, Mr. J. W. Gardiner, and a similar check from a cousin, Mrs. McBain, of Millbrook.

Among those present were Mr. Samuel Russell and Mrs. L. Russell, Dr. Jameson, Mrs. and Miss McBain, Miss May Needham, Mrs. Wm. Westall and others.

While wishing them every success in their new field of life, their departure from this section of the country will be regretted, as they were well and favourably known, and were held in the high esteem of all with whom they associated.

THREE YEARS FOR BURGLARY

Special to The Examiner

ST CATHARINES, APRIL 13.—William Chapman, married, of Toronto, was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary for burglaries here. There are charges pending against Chapman in Toronto, Windsor, Peterborough, and other cities in Ontario. Just a week ago the same Judge gave William's brother, Percy, eight years for complicity in the same crimes.

This despatch is somewhat in error as Chief Thompson informs the Examiner that there is a charge against Percy Chapman, the man sentenced last week, but not against his brother.

THE LEAGUE OF GOLDEN LADDERS

(BY THE KHAN.)

Let me quit making shirts and sleeping-sacks, pyjamas and prayer rugs, for the happy heathen, and join the Golden Legion of Laddermakers, and help our own folks a little. Listen to this, received by the S. N. Steamship Company:

"I am an English girl, and would like to go to Canada, and I would like a young man for my husband, and my age is twenty in the third of May. Please let me know if you advance the passage fare. If you do, write back and let me know when you want me to come. So I will close x x x x x x x x with fond love and kisses because I am a poor girl, and I would like to go somewhere from home, because we are thirteen in family, with father and mother, and we have six sisters, if you would like more than one from the same family."

For unconscious humor and naivette, for downright heart-touching pathos, this is hard to beat. It brings the moisture to one's eyes, and yet one smiles through one's tears. It is so sad and yet so ridiculous. But is it ridiculous? I have but little patience with the suffragette, but here is the kind of suffragette who appeals to me. Even more pathetic than the "we are seven" and "we are thirteen" drums on one's thinker incessantly. They are very poor—of course, they are very poor—and they live in a slum, likely; and she is a girl twenty years old. I warrant she is pretty in her English way, with thick, wavy hair and fine eyes. She is pale and not very well nourished, and, perhaps, she never had a really good feed in all her life—she never heard anyone say to her: "Set up to the table, missie, an' just eat till yer plumb full. If you don't see what you want, just holler for it."

Stop a moment, oh, my people, and try and realize what this London is, what this Manchester, this Liverpool, this Glasgow, this Belfast, is. Each of them is a great big slave pit, walled higher than the walls of Nineveh ever were, and its gates are guarded and sentried by the shaggy monsters of Despair and Hunger.

Climb up to the top of the wall and look down into the pit, and what do you see? You will see the girls—myriads of them, nice girls, pretty girls, good girls, all of them, if they got the least bit of a chance. They want to be honest and good if they only can; but, oh, it is made so hard for them.

And they can't get out. They would like to have a home. Any one of them will tell you: "I would like a young man for my husband," and she would work her fingers to the bone for him.

Ye talk, oh, my people, about the Porcupine gold camp. Here is a camp—a pit—richer than Porcupine ever can be; full of priceless, precious, sacred girls. They haven't enough clothes on them, and some of them are barefoot, but they are holy—and they are held for ransom!

Let us plan a great big elopement scheme. Let us smuggle a golden ladder to each and every one of them and help them up out of the pit, up over the wall into Canada.

THE SEASON OF MOTOR BOATS

This season motor boating has a bright outlook, especially in the speedy runabout style and the racer, says the Lindsay Post. The family launch is still in the market and is purchased by the man who desires only to be on the water, and is not particular about breaking records travelling about. Since 1902, when the first gasoline launch race was held on the Kawartha Lakes at Sturgeon Point, the speed of this variety of pleasure craft has been steadily increasing, and the limit has not yet been reached. At that time the swiftest launch made 5½ or 6 miles an hour; to-day double, or treble as much is realized.

About four years ago the Miss Fidgety started the extreme speed mania by making a tour through the lakes and defeating all the local boats by a disheartening margin. She was supposed to make 22½ miles an hour, and really looked as if she were travelling at that rate, but now, when fast launches are more common, the general opinion is that 18 miles was her limit. Three summers ago, an American designed craft, the Blue Streak, called after the Toronto flier, was brought to Fenelon Falls by Mr. Cliff Scott, and with this 22 footer, equipped with a 6 h.p. motor, he easily won the championship of the lake. The following winter he sold this outfit and purchased a 30-foot 10 h.p., which was built by J. Perrin of town, from plans furnished by American designers. That summer not a single launch on the whole Kawartha chain had the slightest chance against him.

Last summer several boat builders tried their best to place a winning racer on the water, so the contest was very keen. At Stony Lake regatta there were three particularly fast boats, the Avis, the Black Arrow, and a French speed craft. The Avis was a 22-footer, with 12 h.p. Ferro engine, and was built and driven by the Gordon Boat Building Co., of Bobcaygeon; the Black Arrow, was built by a Peterboro firm, and a 22½ h.p. Schofield Holden motor used; the other boat had a four-cylinder French engine. In the race the Avis dropped out on account of engine trouble when leading, and the finish was a dead heat between the other two; but in the final race the Black Arrow won by a boat length. At Sturgeon Point the Black Arrow was not in condition to run on account of a minor break, so the flag was contested by Mr. G. H. Hopkins' new launch, Viking 2nd and the Avis. Although several others entered the race was between these two. The Viking 2nd won quite handily (the Avis claiming engine trouble), thus winning the championship of the lakes. However, there was a discussion as to whether Scott's Thief could defeat it; so in September a race was arranged, and another scalp was added to the Viking's belt. This season, however, there will be many new fast runabouts and racers which should make an interesting event at the regattas. One unusually fine launch will be a 30-foot, 5 feet beam, racy runabout, just built to the order of Dr. Cavan, of Toronto. It will have a 25 h.p. Buffalo motor installed in the bow under a hood and controlled from the steering wheel entirely. A speed of 14½ to 17 miles is expected. Mr. Cliff Scott anticipates having a faster launch than ever, probably obtaining something over twenty miles. The Toronto Marine Construction Co. are contemplating placing a high speed demonstrator on the Kawartha Lakes.

CARRIED OFF TRAP

Some ten days ago a crane unfortunately got into a trap set out for muskrat, and carried off the trap and chain, says the Bobcaygeon Independent. Thursday morning Mr. S. Cluxton was down to his boathouse at Little Bob, and hearing an unusual call of a bird saw a crane chase by the shore and unable to get away. Mr. Cluxton managed to get out and catch the bird, a very fine specimen, but weak from the burden of the trap and chain, which had no doubt prevented it from catching its food. The trap had only caught a toe, and when released, the foot was not seriously injured. Mr. Cluxton let the bird go, and it no donbt went off happy. Mr. Cluxton also found a crow in a trap this week, with its leg broken, and taking it to the boathouse he put the leg in splints and bound it carefully. He then covered it with some burlap, intending to take t home and tame it as a pet; but while he was otherwise engaged, some crows flying over cawed and the wounded bird scuttled out of the boathouse and flew off. If he is a sensible crow he will come back when the leg is healed and get the splints removed.

ST. JOHN'S STORY OF THE RESURRECTION

The first day of the week cometh Mary Magdalene early, when it was yet dark, unto the sepulchre, and seeth the stone taken away from the sepulchre.

Then she runneth, and cometh to Simon Peter, and to the other disciple whom Jesus loved, and saith unto them, They have taken away the Lord out of the sepulchre, and we know not where they have laid him.

Peter therefore went forth, and that other disciple, and came to the sepulchre.

So they ran both together; and the other disciple did outrun Peter, and came first to the sepulchre.

And he, stooping down, and looking in, saw the linen clothes lying; yet went he not in.

Then cometh Simon Peter following him, and went into the sepulchre, and seeth the linen clothes lie.

And the napkin that was about his head, not lying with the linen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by itself.

Then went in also that other disciple which came first to the sepulchre, and he saw, and believed.

For as yet they knew not the scripture, that He must rise again from the dead.

Then the disciples went away again unto their own home.

But Mary stood without at the sepulchre weeping; and as she wept, she stooped down, and looked into the sepulchre.

And seeth two angels in white, sitting, the one at the head and the other at the feet, where the body of Jesus had lain.

And they say unto her, Woman, why weepest thou? She saith unto them, Because they have taken away my Lord, and I know not where they have laid him.

And when she had thus said, she turned herself back, and saw Jesus standing, and knew not that it was Jesus.

Jesus saith unto her, Woman, why weepest thou? Whom seekest thou? She, supposing him to be the gardener, saith unto him, Sir, if thou have borne him hence, tell me where thou hast laid him, and I will take him away.

Jesus saith unto her, Mary! She turned herself, and saith unto him, Rabboni! which is to say, Master!

Jesus saith unto her, Touch me not; for I am not yet ascended to my Father: but go to my brethren, and say unto them, I ascend unto my Father, and your Father; and to my God, and your God.

Mary Magdalene came and told the disciples that she had seen the Lord, and that he had spoken these things unto her.

MAN CAN LIVE ON SEVENTY CENTS A WEEK

A YEAR'S NUTRIMENT FOR THE AVERAGE MAN

Including—

Pounds of food	1,642
Carbohydrates, pounds	365
Protein, pounds	114
Fat, pounds	68
Water and salt, pounds	1095

Boston, April 12.—That all human food may be reduced to five simple elements in the assertion of Professor J. L. Henderson, of the Harvard Medical School. Water and salt, which cost virtually nothing, are two, while the other three are carbohydrates, protein and fat.

The average man of 155 pounds needs only about four and one-half pounds of food a day, and this quantity includes the 70 per cent. of water according to Dr. Henderson, who points out that the essential food values needed to sustain a man for a day may be purchased in the open market for ten cents.

An interesting explanation of the place these simple elements hold in the diet of men, Dr. Henderson points out, is that the human being is made up of just these things. Since food repairs the waste of the body, he says, the process is merely that of replacing like with like, and as he points out in the matter of proteins supplied mainly by meats, the nearer the meat protein is to human protein the better it is for the person who eats it. In speaking of this, Dr. Henderson says:

"We eat what we are made of and this is what we must know if we are to understand the subject clearly. Except as proteins are more like us, such a sheaf for example, one sort of fat, carbohydrate or protein is as good as another.

"All proteins are not of equal value, however, and the closer the protein is to man the better. Thus the muscle of an ox is nearer the protein we want than is the protein in the seed of wheat.

"It might be described roughly as similar to the question, which might arise as to the better place to repair a locomotive. As between sending the locomotive for repairs to a machine shop or to a place where farming tools are manufactured, the choice would naturally be given to the machine shop. It would be there that one would expect to find the parts necessary for repairs for the locomotive. In the same way, when man seeks food to furnish protein for the repair of waste in his body, he will look for it in material similar to that of the body.

"The statement of this plain principle that we eat what we are made of and that in proteins the protein which is closest in kind to ourselves is the best led to an absurd statement some three years ago. A writer announced that a dietician had advocated cannibalism, which, of course, was carrying the principle to a gruesome absurdity.

"Since we eat things such as are in our bodies, the proportions of these different elements are of importance. First comes water, which is about 70 per cent. of our food. Second in importance is the minerals, of which the chief is salt. After these two, which cost virtually nothing, come the three sorts of organic substances, the fats, the carbohydrates and the proteins. Of these organic substances the average man of say 155 pounds weight consumes about a pound or a little over of carbohydrates a day with four or five ounces of protein and two or three ounces of fat. These, with the water and salt together, make his food daily weigh about four and a half pounds.

In view of the high cost of living, it is interesting to observe how cheaply these substances may be obtained.

"For example, a pound of sugar, costing five and one-half cents, will furnish almost enough carbohydrate for a day. Two pounds of cracked wheat, at five cents a pound, will furnish eighteen ounces of carbohydrates and three ounces of protein. Of course, I do not any any one should obtain his food elements entirely in such forms, but it is plain that to get simply the food substances needed a man might well pay about ten cents a day for food.

"A very important element in food, though, is flavor, and it is to obtain this that we pay for high-priced, delicate foods. The stimulation of the digestive organs by appetising flavor is of the greatest importance. It is obvious that a highly nervous woman will require more delicate food than a laborer."

PRICES OF HORSES

From Farm and Dairy.

The low prices that are said to prevail for horses in the United States have been held out as a danger signal to the farmers of Canada by the opponents of reciprocity in their efforts to blind us to our own best interests. In a railway carriage last week an editor of Farm and Dairy dropped into conversation with a gentleman who turned out to be a large dealer in horses, Mr. Aimson, of Ontario Co., Ont. Mr. Aimson was returning from a trip to the States, where he had disposed of a carload of Canadian-bred horses.

Mr. Aimson had been absent from Canada for some time and was surprised to hear that it was said that horses could be bought cheaper in the Eastern States than in Ontario. "I have," said he, "dealt in horses extensively in both countries, and taking grade for grade I do not believe there is any appreciable difference in prices. The large market of the United States would be an advantage to Canadian horse owners in that its extensiveness would always be a guarantee of a market for as many horses as we care to raise. Those fellows who tell us about the cheap horses of the United States have never tried to buy horses there as I have or they would know better."

On being asked for his opinion of the effects of reciprocity in other lines, Mr. Aimson said that he could not see where Canadian farmers would have anything to lose from reciprocity unless it were in early vegetables. Peas and barley in particular are very much higher in the United States than in Canada, and he had noticed in Detroit that Canadian fruits were much in demand on account of their superior quality.

Asked as to the comparative values of dairy products, he answered that for the best grade, prices in the United States were decidedly higher.

"If we get reciprocity," said Mr. Aimson as he got off the train at Toronto, "I shall spend more time on my farm and less time running around dealing in horses, for there will be more money in it then than heretofore."

Optical Institute Creed

We believe in the glasses we are supplying that in quality, style and accuracy, they are unsurpassed. We believe that honest glasses can be supplied to present people by honest methods. We believe in working and writing, laughing and weeping, in hoping and praying, in sum, the element of the paradox of Christianity. We believe we are getting the Optical Frontier that we are after and that there is plenty to do for, and when we are ready. We believe in to-day, in the work we are doing, in to-morrow and the work we hope to do, and in the rewards of both.

We believe in courtesy, in kindness, in generosity, in good cheer, and in honest competition. We believe this in an order for a pair of glasses ready for every man who is ready to take it. We believe we are ready, right now, & we are taking it

FOR SKIN DISEASES

A Treatment That Costs Nothing Unless It Provides Satisfactory Relief.

We have a grayish-white ointment with a very pleasant odour that is clean to use, which we believe is the best known remedy for the relief of skin diseases. It is especially efficacious for overcoming eczema in all its various forms, ring worm, acne, pimples, blotches, insect bites, tetter, certain forms of ulcers, sores and wounds. It is strongly antiseptic, cleansing, soothing and healing. It stops all itching and burning caused by skin eruptions.

We are so positive this ointment is unequalled that we offer it with the distinct understanding that if after having given it a reasonable trial, you are not satisfied with the results, you have only got to tell us and we will, without quibbling, return every cent paid us for it. We exact no promises or obligations whatever.

We want you to try Rexall Eczema Ointment. The first application gives a refreshing sense of relief, and because of its germ destroying power, it eradicates the germ or parasite which causes eczema and many other eruptions. It quickly allays the inflammation, gives protection to the inflamed surfaces, and helps restore healthy tissues. It is particularly active in relieving skin ailments peculiar to children. You certainly cannot lose anything by trying it. We would not dare make this offer except we are positive Rexall Eczema Ointment will satisfactorily benefit you. Two sizes, 50c. and $1.00. Remember, you can only obtain it at our store,—The Rexall Store, McDermid and Jury.

AFTER DOCTORS FAILED

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Cured Her.

Midgic Station, N. B.—One can hardly believe this as it is not natural, but it was my case. For ten months I suffered from suppression. I had different doctors, tried different medicines, but none helped me. My friends told me I would go into a decline. One day a lady friend told me what your medicine had done for her, so I wrote you for advice and received your reply with pleasure.

I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and at the second bottle showed improvement. Now I am regular and never was so well in my life, thanks to Mrs. Pinkham's medicine.

Please publish my letter for the benefit of others.—MRS. JOSIAH W. HICKS, Midgic Station, N. B.

Indian Head, Sask.—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is indeed a boon to women who suffer from female ills. My health is better now than it has been in my five years of married life and I thank you for the good your advice and medicine have done me. I had spent hundreds of dollars on doctors without receiving any benefit.—MRS. FRANK COOPER, Box 448, Indian Head, Saskatchewan.

The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

THE WAITING MAID AT THE INN

A Short Story

I had lost my way in this wild Irish country, an abhorrent waste to me looming full of bogs and mountains, for I was as hungry as a hunter. I acknowledge that in another mood I might have found something to admire in the immense glooming mystery of the mountains and the streamers from the wild evening sky. But now I had rather see a cold cerloin than the finest landscapes, and drunk a flagon of ale than love at Beauty's eyes, although I am not a cold fellow where the sex is concerned.

I had come out at last upon the miserablest village, a squalid collection of huts crouching to the wet earth as though they feared a blow.

There was not even the meanest house of public entertainment in the place, and I will confess that my empty stomach turned my temper sour. Anyhow, I swore at the place and the people as I began to mount the hill, which is a thing I would not have done except fasting, for the poor wretches were not to blame for their poverty.

The hill was a steep one, and I dismounted and walked by Sancho's side. It is but truth that I was as much grieved for him as for myself when I saw that we were like to go supperless, for we had ridden far that day, and I was always one to love my horse like a brother. We were trudging along in the blackness of trees—at another time I could have liked the splendour beyond them of the scarlet West filled with flying fire—when I heard behind me the patter of bare feet in the dust.

"May it please your Honour," said a voice.

I felt in my pocket for a coin, but he had no such purpose. I turned about and saw the shining eyes under a falling mane of black hair of the lad to whom I had spoken in the village. I had noted his wide, jocular mouth, and had commented to myself that in spite of their rags and starvation, these people carried light hearts.

"May it please your Honour, you'll get a lodging for the night at the top of the hill, and the best of entertainment. The house is kept by the Widow L'Estrange."

He was gone like a wild thing before I could thank him. I flung a handful of coins upon his track, and blaming myself for the roughness of my speech a little while before, I went on with my arm across Sancho's neck comforting him with the tidings that he was within reach of a bed and a manger of oats.

At the top of the hill we came out again upon a bare tract of bog and mountains. There was not a habitation in sight except one, and I saw that at some distance, beyond a long avenue of trees, and since there was no other, conjectured that it must be the one of which the boy had informed me.

It is a country of topsy-turvies, and since I have come into it I have learnt to be surprised at nothing. Besides which, my friendship with Gilbert L'Estrange in Paris had taught me something. Remembering Gilbert, it struck me that this was his country and the name the same as that of my hostess for the night. But then, since they run in clans in this country, that was to be expected.

The place looked poor enough at the first sight of it, although the house, backed by the trees, appeared important at this distance. But the entrance gates swung from their hinges. The lodge was empty and a ruin, so 'twas as well the gates were open. Part of the domain wall lay scattered in great stones by the roadway. The house might have been deserted to judge by its entrance.

I gathered Sancho's bridle-rein about my arm and walked up the dreary avenue to the house. Presently I came out clear of the trees and saw it more plainly—a long, low house with wings, facing the blood-red sunset, and with every window-pane of it that was not broken, on fire with the reflection. There was an Italian balustrading before the house, most of it on its side. The steps that led down to an ancient orchard in front were covered with lichen and broken. Vases and urns ad statues had in many instances shared the same fate. Some house of gentlefolk, I thought to myself, which being deserted by its ruined owners had fallen on evil days, and was now used as a house of entertainment for the passing traveller. That anyone should desire to sojourn in these wilds I did not believe.

I led my horse up to the door-steps, and as I did so a very old serving man came out and stood in the sunset. A couple of dogs by his side gave feeble tongue as I approached. They were old hounds on tottering legs, with drooping heads and half-blind eyes.

The old man was as pitiful. He looked in my direction, but it was plain that he saw me, if at all, dimly, for the grey film of disease was over his eyeballs.

"What may your Honour be pleased to want?" he asked.

"Is this the house of the Widow L'Estrange?" I asked in my turn.

"That is my mistress's name," he replied.

"I am a traveller here," I said, "and I and my horse are hungry. Can you give me food and a lodging for the night?"

"Madam will not turn your Honour away," he answered, "though the place is not what it has been."

I was amused at the old fellow's pride, but could only suppose that he had descended to the service of the hostelry from, perhaps, the ancient owners of the house.

"Is there anyone to take my horse?" I asked.

"If your Honour will come this way."

He descended the steps, seeming to grope a little as he went, and having led me around the corner of the house and to a stable-yard fit to take a troop of horses, he called for Patsy. An urchin, so like him who had directed me that I thought he must be a younger brother, came and took Sancho.

"Give him a feed of oats and a comfortable bed," I said, with some misgiving, for the pace looked pinched. "But first rub him down and let him have a warm drink."

The urchin pulled at his wild forelock.

"You can trust him, your Honour," said the old fellow. "What Patsy doesn't know about horses isn't worth knowing."

The urchin grinned all over, and led away Sancho, rubbing his neck and making a soft hissing sound to it that gave me assurance of his knowledge of a horse.

"The sight has got rather bad with me," the old fellow went on as he returned to the house. "We were looking for someone else, and I thought your Honour might be he."

"If you give people entertainment," I returned, "you will doubtless always be looking for someone else."

He made no answer, but seemed a little puzzled.

As he entered the great hall I saw the prettiest waiting-maid I had ever seen in all my life coming down the stairs towards me. She was like a serving-lass in a comedy farther than anything to be found in this wild country, yet she wore a dignity and innocence which there would have been missing. It was indeed but her dress that provoked the comparison, for she wore a mob cap upon her dark curling hair, and her gown of flowered cotton was so daintily bunched that a fine lady might have envied it. Also the minx had set a patch by her scarlet lips, and its presence there were provocative if it were not that there was something in her air which forbade a freedom.

"Is it Molly or Kate," asked the old fellow, lifting his head to listen as the blind dogs lifted theirs.

"It is I, Terry," answered the girl, and she had the delicious accent which they speak of as "the brogue," and withal her voice had the sound of falling waters. "And this gentleman?"

"Asks a lodging for the night," said I.

"You are heartily welcome," she replied. "Take the gentleman to the Blue Room, Terry. I will inform Madam L'Estrange."

"The Blue Room," the old fellow repeated in a grumbling voice. "It is made ready for—"

"For the man coming over the hill, Terry," she said. "You know Madam will grudge nothing to a stranger."

The room was spacious and clean, and through its open windows came a smell of the sea. Before leaving me, the old man, who still grumbled to himself, set a light to the fire and lit two candles in tall old silver candlesticks that stood either side of a couch-shaped glass on the dressing table.

The room was hung with a blue and silver material which doubtless gave it its name. I lifted a fold of it. It was old damask worn thin and with many holes in it. Carpet there was none, and as I drew the curtains across the windows I noticed that some panes were gone and the empty spaces had been filled in with paper. The bed was a canopied one, great enough for half a dozen persons. The linen looked inviting, the bed softness itself. But the crockery common and chipped, and the chairs untrustworthy. Indeed, the few articles of furniture the room contained were crippled. What matter! I should sleep well to-night. The place was fit for a king to a tired man, and I was that.

As I went downstairs I encountered again the pretty waiting-maid. She poked at me modestly, and I thought her glance approved me. I had put on my pearl-grey suit which I carried in my knapsack in case I encountered gentlefolk. I hardly knew why I should wear it now, except in deference to the past consideration of the mansion. The maid would have passed me, but I arrested her.

"How long?" I asked, "has this house been open for the convenience of travellers?"

She looked at me, I thought, in amazement, and I feared she might not understand my English manner of speaking.

"A lad in the village," I went on speaking slowly and distinctly, "sent me here for a house of entertainment. I can see the house must have come down in the world since it takes guests for payment. You are the waiting-maid? And your name?"

The oddest shadows and lights passed over her face, pride, merriment, demure shyness. I was so confused by her charming aspect under all, that I did not think to wonder what provoked them.

"I am the waiting-maid," she said, "and my name is Phyllis."

"Tell me, Phyllis," I said, as much by way of prolonging the conversation as anything else. "I have a friend, a captain in the Irish Regiment of the French Army. His name is the same as your mistress's. He is Captain Gilbert L'Estrange."

"'Tis a common name among the L'Estranges," she said, with another bewildering change of expression.

"You know where his house is?"

"Alas, sir, in ruins," she answered, and a sudden moisture flashed in her eyes. "As you know, he took the losing side in the quarrel. The L'Estranges have always taken the losing side. He lost everything. If he were to come back to-morrow he would come back to a heritage of ruins."

"He is high in favor at the French Court," I said, "and very handsome. They talk of his marrying an heiress. He might come back and restore the ruins."

"Heaven grant it," she said, and then blushed deeply.

"Excuse me, Sir," she went on hurriedly. "I forget that I am but a poor waiting-maid. The L'Estranges are a great family, and there is hardly one in the country that would not die for them. That is the door of Madam's drawing-room. You will find Madam and her daughter ready to welcome you."

She was gone, and when the place was clear of her presence I felt as though a fragrance of roses had gone with her. I turned away slowly and found the old man she had called Terry now in a suit of faded livery awaiting me by the drawing-room door. He wore the strange air of patience of the blind, but he announced me with dignity.

Then I found myself within the screen that protected the door, and going down a long stately room panelled in gold and white to where at the other end an elderly lady with her hair over a cushion stood awaiting me.

This room also spoke eloquently of poverty, but of a gracious and noble poverty; and the lady herself was as proud a figure as ever I have seen.

"You are very welcome, Sir," she said, "to what poor hospitality Castle L'Estrange can afford you. Will you not take a seat by the fire? My daughter Lettice, Sir Willoughby Danvers."

A younger lady, who had sat retired with an embroidery frame that at first had screened her from my observation, came forward now and bowed. They were certainly the prettiest pair this mother and daughter. Sir Anthony Watteau painted nothing prettier; but something flashed in the brilliant dark eyes of each which is not in the eyes of the Court painter's ladies, something of pride and spirit which made their beauty a thing more imperishable.

Gentlewomen I could not doubt; and I remembered what Gilbert had said to me that one found the breeding in the most unexpected places, since this unhappy country had always been in upheavals.

They received me with the air of queens.

I confess I had a whimsical thought of how I should ever dare pay them for their hospitality to myself and my horse; but doubtless if poverty had brought them to the straits of entertaining the passer-by it had also obliged their delicacy to receive his gold and silver.

Presently we went in to dinner, the elder lady having accepted my arm with the prondest air of doing me an honour, and the younger lady on my other side.

I sat between them, one having taken the head, one the foot of the table.

I had been living from inn to inn lately, and the delicacy of the table delighted me. Everything was exquisite of its kind, although the silver was thin and the napery much darned.

The dinner, too, was excellent, though of a plainer kind than the Worcester dishes were used to hold; and the wine was as good as ever I tasted. But that I had expected, having been told how much commerce with smugglers these islanders had in the old days, and how much of the spoils yet remained.

But if it had been worse I had not known it, for Phyllis served it to me, and I was thinking more of the sweetness of her hands and the fragrance her presence seemed to bring with it, whenever she stood by me, than of my dinner. And while I talked to Madam L'Estrange and her daughter as though I had been at Court, my real thoughts were busy with Phyllis, so that at times I made random answers whereat the ladies' fine thin brows would be raised till I saw my mistake and was covered with confusion.

That night I dreamt of King Cophetua and wondered if the Beggar Maid were as sweet as Phyllis, and one not of his own country.

And the next day although I had intended to ride on, and was indeed expected at the hospitable house of Lord Claremorris, I stayed, and day after day I stayed, alleging that the country interested me, while all the time I knew I stayed for Phyllis's sake.

Certainly their hospitality was of an order such as I had never met at any time, yet I know most of the hostelries of Europe. I blushed afterwards to think of the patience with which Madam and Mistress Lettice endured me.

Old Terry seemed after the first to take some interest in me, and found for my use guns and fishing rods which had belonged to the son of the house, somewhat old-fashioned, but kept as though someone loved them. So that I was abroad most of the day; and but troubled my hostess of evenings. And those evening hours were pleasant even when I saw little of Phyllis.

Madam and her daughter played and sang to me; or I held Madam's wools across my hands while she wound them; and there grew between us a certain gentle intimacy which was delightful to a man long a wanderer as I had been.

I sought out that lad of the village who had directed me to Castle L'Estrange to accompany me in my fishings and shooting expeditions, for I felt I owed him a debt of gratitude. He proved to be the brother of Patsy who tended my Sancho; and the first time he caught sight of me he bent swiftly with upraised arms as though to avoid a blow; but afterwards when I mentioned that I was pleased with my entertainment he grinned and muttered a blessing in which I thought I caught Phyllis's name.

At last a day dawned on which there seemed to be some commotion in the house. I could not tell what it was, only that it was something which I seemed to be pushed outside of; and faith, I had taken kindly to the intimacy of the house, and felt somewhat a-cold because everyone seemed too absorbed to think of me. I fished as usual, and noticed that even my ragged lad carried a proud and exhilarated air.

That evening at supper Madam fluttered out a speech of how excellent the fishing was ten miles away, and then she and Mistress Lettice blushed and looked upon their plates. And when I said something about its being time I should go on to Lord Claremorris's house their eyes looked as though they sought forgiveness for a wound they must inflict.

The next morning I was early astir. The morning was so beautiful that it seemed a pity to sleep; yet I rose because the shadow of my departure hindered my slumbers.

In the hall I met with Phyllis, carrying a heavily-laden tray into the sunny room where we breakfasted. I took it from her and carried it to the table and set it down.

"Phyllis," I said, "I ride after breakfast." She changed color, but said nothing.

"Madam is tired of me," I went on with a little bitterness. "I suppose it is the privilege of an innkeeper to be tired of custom in this strange country where fine ladies keep the inns."

"Madam is most unwilling for you to go," she answered with her eyes on the ground. "Believe me, Sir, there is a reason. And there is one thing I implore of you, Sir, which is not to offer Madam any money for your entertainment."

"Why," I cried half in a rage; "it is a very Bedlam of a country. What! stay at an inn and pay nothing!"

"I should have told you before," she said. "It was Corney MacHale's trick upon you to send you to the prondest house in the country, if the poorest, for an inn."

"And I have been forcing myself upon Madam's hospitality all this time," I muttered, dumbfoundered. "I will kill the rascal."

She lifted the most beautiful blue eyes to me.

"Oh, Sir," she said, "the hospitality of the L'Estranges is free and unforced. Madam loved to receive you. She is now only covered with confusion because she has had to seem inhospitable. You have been a pleasant guest."

WHAT CAN I DO FOR MY SKIN-TORTURED BABY?

In the Despairing Cry of Thousands of Mothers. A Scotchwoman Tells How Her Child was Cured.

"What can I do for my skin-tortured baby?" How many worried, worn-out mothers, whose children are suffering with eczema, tetter or other torturing, disfiguring humor, have asked themselves this question. Through neglect or improper treatment, some minor eruption has developed into a distressing and unsightly affliction. Simple treatments fail, and stronger ones are tried, sometimes so harsh that the suffering is increased rather than allayed. Even professional aid has proven useless, and the fear is ever-present that the skin disease will become chronic, turning the child's future into a nightmare of physical and mental misery.

Such mothers, who have witnessed their children's suffering and who have undergone the long, sleepless nights and distracting anxiety which they alone can realize, will understand the gratitude that prompted this letter from Mrs John Ewan, 8, Victoria st., Inverurie, Scotland, and will read it with keenest interest:

"I use Cuticura Soap steadily for my baby's skin. She had the eczema when she was three months old. She was in an awful mess all over her body. We never thought she would get over it. We sat with her night and day for about a month, expecting every minute to see her die. The doctor gave me an ointment to rub her with but it did her no good. My mother was home from America and she told me to try Cuticura Ointment and to wash her with Cuticura Soap. There was a great difference when I used the first bag. It seemed to soothe her and she slept. I used three boxes of Cuticura Ointment and she was quite cured. She has the purest skin and is the fattest baby now! She is a miracle, the doctor declares. I am glad to tell anybody about it."

And that the success of the Cuticura Remedies is not confined to the treatment of eczema, is amply proven by Mrs. M. A. Schwerin, 676 Springwells Ave., Detroit, Mich., who writes:

"When my little Vivian was about six months old, her papa had a boil on his forehead. At that time the child was covered with prickly heat and I suppose in scratching it her own head became infected, for it broke out in boils, one after another. She had about sixty in all and I used Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment which cured her of them entirely. We do not think any one can praise Cuticura Remedies too highly."

That mothers may test the efficacy and economy of the Cuticura Remedies for themselves, the Potter Drug and Chem. Corp., 131 Columbus Ave., Boston, Mass., will send free on application, a generous trial box of Cuticura Ointment, sufficient to afford immediate relief in the most distressing forms of eczemas, rashes, itchings and scalings of the skin and scalp. Under the influence of Cuticura Ointment, the itching and burning stop, the child falls into a refreshing sleep, the mother rests, and for the first time, perhaps, in many weeks, peace falls on a distracted household. The Cuticura Remedies are sold by druggists everywhere.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS

A Germ Disease Which is Baffling the Doctors and Alarming the People Generally

It may be said that doctors are only agreed on two points regarding this much dreaded disease.

First, that it is a germ disease, and, second, like all germ diseases can only be fought with pure, rich blood.

Prevention is always the better way and that is why we are always talking about the wisdom of keeping the blood pure and rich and the nerves healthy and strong by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Rich, red blood is a deadly foe to disease germs whether they are germs of infantile paralysis, of colds, of consumption or any other disease.

Don't let the blood get thin and watery. Don't let the nerves get exhausted. The risk is too great. Every dose of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food goes to the formation of a certain amount of pure, rich blood. For this reason you are certain to benefit by this treatment.

You need not wait until you have some form of paralysis before testing this great medicine. Be warned by headaches, sleeplessness, irritability, failing memory and power of concentrating the mind. Restore the system while still you have something to build on.

Get new energy and vigour into the system by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. 50 cents a box, 6 boxes for $2.50; at all dealers or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

An Encouraging Message

I have a message of hope and good cheer, of encouragement and inspiration to every suffering woman. I have endured the torture due to female troubles and the consequent despondency and mental agony almost to the point of despair, and I have been restored from this condition to a state of vigorous health, and to the happy, exhilarating frame of mind which accompanies physical well being. This change has been brought about wholly by the use of ORANGE LILY.

In addition I have had the privilege and pleasure of inducing multitudes of other suffering women to give ORANGE LILY a trial, and have received thousands of enthusiastic acknowledgments of the blessings it has brought to them. The following is a sample:

Truro, N. S., April 5, 1909.

Dear Mrs. Curran,—Your very kind letter was received yesterday. In reply to your question about my health, I am thankful to say that I am very well. As I have never given you a statement of my case you may be interested in it.

For several years I have suffered untold agony. This suffering was continuous, but I would have violent attacks every few weeks, each attack lasting several days. The first Sunday in November, I felt the pain increasing and so did not go to prayers. The rest of the family did go, and soon after the forcing down pains seized me and I had to remain on the floor until their return. I was in great pain all night and was very sick for a whole week.

Then Mrs. L. came to see me and told me of your wonderful medicine. I got my husband to send for it right away, as I was too sick to write myself. (My doctor could do nothing for me.) I have used 5 boxes of ORANGE LILY, have had three months of good rest, and am now well, never better in my life. I have not had the old pains since. I often ask my husband if it is myself that is going around and doing my own work. I can scarcely believe it. It brings tears of joy to my eyes. I could shout it to all the world. I cannot speak enough in its praise.

Your friend, MRS. E. H. F.

Receiving, as I do, dozens of such reports each day, I feel impelled to make known to my suffering sisters the merits of ORANGE LILY. It differs from other so-called remedies in that it is not taken internally. It is a strictly local treatment, and is applied directly to the affected organs. Its curative elements are absorbed into the congested tissues, expelling the stagnant foreign matter which has been irritating the membrane and oppressing the nerves, and a growing feeling of physical and mental relief is noticeable almost from the start. It is a positive, scientific remedy, and even if you use no more than the Free Trial treatment you will be very materially benefited.

FREE TRIAL OFFER

I want every reader of this, who suffers in any way from painful monthly periods, irregularities, leucorrhoea, inflammation or congestion of the womb, pains in the back, etc., to send me their addresses, and I will forward at once, without charge, 10 days' treatment. If your case is not far advanced it may entirely cure you, and in any event it will do you much good. I am so earnest in making this statement, and so positive that it is true, that I trust every sufferer who reads this notice will take advantage of my offer and get cured at home, without a doctor's bill. Address, enclosing 3 stamps, MRS. FRANCES E. CURRAN, Windsor, Ont.

THE WAITING MAID AT THE INN

Then I threw everything to the winds. If this was loving beneath me, then who could be my equal?

"I go, Phyllis," I said, "but I shall return. I shall come back and claim you. Why, I love you to distraction."

"A poor waiting-maid," she stammered.

"The Queen of all women," I answered. "I shall speak to Madam before I go. I am a man of honour, and my name is well known in Devon. You will be the loveliest Lady Danvers who has ever ruled at the Manor House."

"Let me confess," she said, as I held her in my arms.

"Nothing, but that you love me," I cried in a rapture.

There was a sudden commotion outside and the door was flung violently open. A young man wearing riding-dress rushed into the room, and to my fury caught Phyllis in his arms and kissed her and lifted her as high as the ceiling before setting her down.

"Why, Phyllida," he cried, "little Phyllida, I have arrived before my time. And how are Madam my Mother, and Lettice? And—who is this gentleman?"

The blood was in my eyes, yet I fancied I knew the voice.

"It is Sir—" began Phyllis, but got no further, for the young man took my hand in a friendly grasp.

"Why, Danvers! who would have thought of seeing you here, under my Mother's roof? Let me welcome you."

Then said Phyllis, clinging to his arm—

"I was just explaining to Sir Willoughby Danvers That imp of mischief, Corney MacHale, sent him here for an inn. And since old Terry was too blind to wait I played Waiting-Maid. I was most anxious that everything should be done in order because I knew he was your friend, Gilbert. He has become ours while he has been our guest."

"More than that," I said soberly, "for I have fallen in love with Phyllida."

"And you shall have her with my blessing," cried Gilbert wringing his hand.

Then the mother was in the room and Lettice on her heels and old Terry looking wistfully through the chinks of the door; and the kitchen wenches in the hall, and the blind dogs sniffing and whining; and Patsy MacHale and that rascal Corney, pressing above the shoulders and under the arms of the others.

When I left Castle L'Estrange I took Phyllida with me as my bride.

THE TRUTH

Friend, though thy soul should burn thee, yet be still.
Thoughts were not meant for strife, nor tongues for swords.
He that sees clear is gentlest of his words.
And that's not truth that hath the heart to kill.
The whole world's thought shall not one truth fulfil.
Dull in our age and passionate in youth.
No mind of man hath found the perfect truth,
Nor shalt thou find it; therefore, hearken friend, be still.
Watch and be still, nor hearken to the fool,
The babbler of consistency and rule:
Wisest is he, who, never quite secure,
Changes his thoughts for better, day by day;
To-morrow, some new light will shine, be sure,
And thou shalt see thy thought another way.

In Germany, the Record of Christian work says:

"The Zentral-Blatt reports from well-informed circles that the Kaiser is becoming more and more anti-alcoholist. He recently invited five representatives of student groups to his dinner table to urge them seriously to curb student drinking. He has forbidden the cadets in the military school at Ploen to drink anything alcoholic. At the recent manoeuvres only alcohol-free drinks were carried in his baggage. His own children, as long as they lived in their father's house, were allowed only non-alcoholic wines. At the table, he himself drinks only mineral water, and though at high functions he still conforms to traditional customs, in private life he has almost entirely abandoned the use of alcoholic wines. Winally, the news has just come that he has declared, in speaking before naval cadets, that the nation which uses the least alcohol will march at the head of all others, and urges these young officers not only to become abstainers, but to enter the Good Templar organization."

Let us take new courage from the increasing purpose of all nations to become free from this burden. We need not fear to be called fanatics when the best men of the world are joining the increasing crusade.

"To fight a prejudice of any sort," says Dr. Ferrari, the Italian anti-alcoholist, "is always to give good battle, but to fight a belief (for example, the superstition as to the value of wine) in thename of which humanity is being poisoned by the wholesale, degenerated and given over to crime, is a work which should be taken up by every one with social spirit and love for his fellows. For this reason we believe that no war should stir such noble energies and gather about our flag so many serious men as that on alcohol."

NEW ZEALAND'S IDEAL

All loyal Canadians who have given some thought to nation building and statesmanship, have been encouraged with hope by hearing of what is happening in New Zealand, from the Hon. Dr. Findlay, Attorney-General of the Government of that country, who is in Canada en route for the conference of Colonial Premiers in London.

"All our efforts in New Zealand, both in legislation and in administration, is directed, consciously directed, along definite lines to a clearly recognised ideal. The ideal we keep in view is a democratic State in which the average citizen is offered the freest possible access to all the opportunities of life, and is encouraged to take advantage of those opportunities in the interest of the State. If you disregard that organising idea you will miss the real significance of what is happening in New Zealand." It is the ideal to hear of a government whose "plan is to lead." Some few women and temperance fanatics have conceived that idea believing that statesmen should be lovers of truth, of "comprehensive head all interests to weigh," and faithful in action to lead on. The Government of New Zealand, a country comprising 66,000,000 acres, and a population of one million, is aiming "to secure to each of these people the freest possible access to all the opportunities which life in New Zealand affords."

There are mistakes and failures, but the plain facts abundantly justify the policy. Both the material progress of our people and their moral character give the lie to all that ignorant or interested outcry about Socialism which you may have heard even in Canada. We repudiate and combat those forms of Socialism, defined and maintained elsewhere, under which class privileges grow up and by which the few are enriched at the expense of the many. But we have no fear of Government ownership or operation of those public services which can be managed more satisfactorily by the community than by private individuals.

Their land policy is "God made the land for the people." One-sixth of all New Zealand is owned by the Government and will not be sold, but only leased and re-valued every sixty-six years. All transportation services are owned and operated by the State.

A weekly half-holiday in every shop and factory is universal, and so firmly fixed, says Dr. Findlay, that even were the law repealed, the practice would continue.

With regard to crime, to quote again:

"Vengeance is wholly eliminated from our administration of the law," said the Minister of Justice. "Men are punished, but the constant objective is their reclamation and restoration to social usefulness." Hence discretionary powers granted to the courts, and the shops and farms and schools attached to prisons and reformatories.

Dr. Findlay's report of the working o fwoman's suffrage comes with great force from such a practical, progressive statesman. "The women take quite as much interest in public affairs as the men, and they go to the polls quite as freely. More than eighty per cent. of the electors vote in any ordinary election, even when temperance or other social or moral questions in which women are specially interested are not an issue. The votes of the women certainly have made advanced temperance legislation possible and effective. Great areas of New Zealand are now dry, and in a very few years national prohibition, forbidding the manufacture, importation or sale of alcoholic stimulants anywhere in our Dominion, will be enacted. Thousands of men stand for absolute prohibition who have not been total abstainers, but who have come to see that the use of alcohol is a hurt to the individual and a menace to the State.

"The general effect of woman's suffrage has been the toning up of our politics. What would most surprise and interest you in New Zealand is the strength and activity of the social conscience. That phrase is often a vague thing, but with us the social conscience is a real power making for righteousness in politics and in all departments of our organized activities. It is indeed the compelling force in our effort to make New Zeasand a true democracy in which the ordinary man has a man's chance."

May Canada "clutch the golden keys" that open the highest possibilities of true enlightened citizenship to all.

Golden Text—Blessed are they that keep his testimonies, and that seek him with the whole heart.—Psalm 119: 2.

1. Verses 1-3—Who was Athalia, her parentage, position, character, etc?

2. When a child turns out bad, whose heredity and environment were as vile as they could be, how much is he or she to be blamed?

3. Whose son was Joash?

b. Who was Jehoiada?

5. Who was instrumental in saving the child Joash from the murderous intent of his grandmother Athalia, and how was it done?

6. Verses 4-12—If an individual, a company, or a nation is established and carried on by unrighteousness, what will be the probable result?

7. Can you give from your own experience, or from history, any instance where wrong actions have brought about right results, or can you conceive of such a thing as possible?

8. When those who are in authority are usurpers, and when the regular legal processes fail to dispossess them, what should the people do?

9. On what grounds do you justify the high priest Jehoiada for planning the death of the reigning queen, and, by force, putting the boy Joash on the throne?

10. What can you say from this history in favor of the possibility of right environment overcoming in a child the worst kind of heredity? (This question must be answered in writing by members of the club.)

11. What can you say for or against private citizens carrying firearms?

12. Verses 13-16—How did Ahab and Jezebel, the father and mother of Athalia, die?

13. What are the chances that those who practice violence will themselves receive violent treatment?

14. Why, as a rule, is it impossible for us to get from others any different kind of treatment to that which we give them?

15. Verse 17—What are the chances for national success when both rulers and the people are serving the Lord?

16. What is the probability for national greatness when the rulers and the people are corrupt?

17. Verse 18—What relation does the success of a people bear to their religion?

18. How many centuries will the prosperity of this country continue, if we forsake the precepts of Jesus Christ?

19. Verses 19-20—Why is it impossible for a really happy people to be turbulent and revolutionary?

20. What is the relation of the present day Christian Church to the prosperity of the masses?

ITS WORRY THAT KILLS

Nothing so wastes the vital nerve force as worry. Nothing so certainly retards restoration to health. Get out into the sunshine, be cheerful, use Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food to rebuild the wasted nervous system, and you will be surprised how quickly there will be a change for the better. This advice will be better than gold to you if you will but follow it.

Can You Have Your Ceilings Washed?

You cannot if they are plaster. You could, if you ceiled with PRESTON Steel Ceilings. And unless you do your home, your office, your store, has at least one surface that is a dust-trap, a harborage for germs, an absorber of grime and dampness—as every plaster ceiling is. Put a PRESTON Ceiling on over the old cracked, crumbling, dangerous plaster ceiling. It will cost but little; it will be fire-proof and damp-proof; and it will outlast the building itself. Will you look at some of our beautiful new designs? Just send for the book to-day.

NEWS OF THE WEEK FROM BERLIN, LONDON, PARIS AND ROME

QUEEN MARY HAPPY AS A HOUSEWIFE

Delights to Find Her Time Occupied With Details of Home Life.

[Special Despatch.]
London, Saturday.

QUEEN MARY is never happier than when occupied with the smallest details of her housewifely duties. Now that the court is in residence at Buckingham Palace for some time, all her spare time is occupied in directing the arrangements of the rooms which will form her private suite, for, owing to the amount of work that has yet to be done, she is for the time being occupying another part of the palace.

The rooms which form the suite set apart for the royal children were her first care, and she also wished, it is understood, to be on the spot to supervise the completion of her own suite. Personal friends said admirably another favorite hour for receiving them, which, after tea served in the boudoir, she has one of taking her guests round the palace and showing them the alterations effected and her collection of souvenirs, among which the gifts from the late King Edward occupy the place of honor.

They include some rare pieces of old china and valuable tortoiseshell ornaments. Some lovely specimens of enamel form a special collection, some of the work of Princess Louise of Schleswig-Holstein, and the others gifts from Queen Maud of Norway.
